Only one case was before his Worship at yesterday's session of the police court. Harry Waters was assessed $2 for having dallied too long with the seductive corn juice on Thursday evening. Not having the necessary collateral, Harry loaned the yellow and black contingent at Uncle Nesbitt, and will work out his enemy doing stunts at the business end of a rake in Victoria park.

POLLUTION OF THE RIVER

Meeting of Board of Health Unable to Do Business.

Yesterday morning the meeting of the Board of Health, which had been called was unable to do business, as our Chairman Eyres, Dr. Burnham and Mr. Parker turned up. Medical Health Officer, Dr. Bingham and Inspector Chief Reesel were also present.

The chairman said that he understood that several residents along the creek, which runs right down through the heart of the city were emptying their filth and sewage into the creek. This was a thing which the Board of Health must not stand for, and the chairman suggested that an inspector be appointed to travel up the creek from its mouth to the western boundary of the city, and to report to the Board every person violating the law.

The chief was present, and he said he could give a good idea, of who were using the creek, but he said he could not send a man to inspect the creek for some time. Mr. Eyres then stated that the Board of Health should have an inspector of their own, and he thought that the city council should be asked to furnish funds for such a man. The police have too much to do without this work.

It was also reported that the people in Lakefield are dumping their sewage into the Otonabee river, irrespective of any requests made to the contrary. The chairman has a list of all the parties using the river for this purpose, and it will be presented to the next meeting of the Board. It is quite probable, too, that several prosecutions will follow, unless the practice is stopped at once, and retains stopped.

The Board adjourned, to meet on Monday morning, when the sedation hospital question will also be taken up.

WARSAW WANTS R. R.

A deputation from the Warsaw Board of Trade was in Montreal on Thursday, with reference to the extension of the Lakefield branch of the G.T.R. to Warsaw.

The deputation, which was appointed by the Warsaw Board of Trade made strong representations to the G.T.R. authorities to the effect that Warsaw was an important village, having a number of industries.

The Lakefield Portland Cement Co., has a track running out from the village to Buckley Lake. It is possible that this could be leased or that running privileges could be obtained over it for the proposed extension. The new line would be through a perfectly level country and would be easy to build. It could be extended east from Buckley's Lake into Douro, running between that lake and Long's Lake, or it might go around the head of Long's Lake and then come south east to the village of Warsaw by a natural route. This would touch the stone quarry and lime kiln about a mile north of this village. In any event the distance to be constructed would not be more than eight or nine miles.

The Warsaw people and Board of Trade, are determined if possible, to have railway connection, either steam or electricity.

Flood of Flame Now Checked Fire Has Eaten Itself Out

One Quarter of the City May Be Saved From Destruction, Although There is Still Danger For the Unburned Area---Nearly 300,000 People Without Food For Two Days.

New York, April 21.—The Western Union received the following despatch from San Francisco shortly before 9 o'clock yesterday, Pacific Coast time;

"The fire in the residence section has been stopped at Octavia street, and is now confined to Telegraph Hill.

"Inasmuch as there is a large burned area between that part of Telegraph Hill now on fire and the section of the city farther west, and since the fire is practically out in this burned area the flames will probably not spread much farther in this section.

"One great danger which may lead to fresh fires about the city is likely to be the kindling of fires in stoves by ignorant persons. There is scarcely a chimney in town that is safe to trust to a stove fire."

Ferry Building, San Francisco, April 21.—The fire is under control, it having been checked at Van Ness avenue and to the Mission. The fire is now raging north of Russian Hill toward the bay, but will not spread west. Probably a fourth of the city is safe.

---

San Francisco, April 20.—At midnight the flames were slowly but steadily moving on portions of San Francisco still untouched. The sky presented a lurid picture. The strongest fire seemed to be in the western end of the city, while the volume of flame in the Mission district would indicate that the conflagration was less severe than during the day.

"San Francisco, April 20.—The fire which heretofore has crept around the base of Telegraph Hill and left the few houses standing there like crept back from the west, and is now in full possession of the houses on the hill, and will no doubt take everything down to the waterfront on Van Ness avenue and west of there. The main fire has reached Octavia street and is going at a fast rate. There is no one inform the fire since midnight. At that time it had started afresh on the south end of the line of fire and was burning fast.

"The ferry landing presents a fearful scene of men, women and children, and the few autoes they have tried to save. They will leave the city by the first boat they can get away on.

"The roads leading from the ferry north and around the shore of the bay as far as Fort Mason are strewn with all sorts of vehicles that have broken down. Baby carriages, wheelbarrows, etc., that would not stand the loads over the rough way have been abandoned, and in some cases with their loads.

"The fire came very close to Fort Mason last night, and the big Fonsan warehouse and nearby cemeteries will no doubt go today. I think the fire will make a clean sweep of everything as far as Golden Gate Park. Would not be surprised to see it take this Eucalyptus trees that line the park and burn the shrubbery clear to the ocean beach."

Washington, April 21.—The following telegram was received by the War Department shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning from General Funston;

"Burned district now approximately as follows; From water front up Broadway to Mason street, thence to California street, thence west to Jones, thence diagonally to Van Ness and Golden Gate avenue. All this line now actively burning.

"Indications are that active fire line will advance west to Van Ness and North to Union and Montgomery avenue.

"About three hundred thousand people homeless. Everything quiet. Troops co-operating with police. Famine seems inevitable. All large supply stores burned. Most energetic efforts from outside only can prevent frightful suffering.

"Weather now fine, and it is expected to remain so. I request that everything possible be done in the way of food supplies, tentage and blankets. No more troops needed at present."

San Francisco, April 21.—The report that the famous Cliff House had toppled into the sea cannot be verified, and is probably untrue. In the confusion, it is impossible to get to it.

FORCED TO DIG GRAVES.

San Francisco, April 21.—Out at the Presidio soldiers pressed into service all men who came near and forced them to aid in burying the dead. So thick were the corpses piled up that they were becoming a menace, and early in the day the order was issued to bury them at any costs The soldiers were needed for other work, so at the point of rifles, the citizens were compelled to take to the work of burying. Some objected at first, but the troops stood no trifling, and every man who came within reach was forced to work at least one hour. Rich men, unused to physical exertion, labored by the side of workingmen digging trenches in which to bury the dead. At the present writing many still remain unburied, and the soldiers are still pressing men into service.

THE PEOPLE ARE BRAVE.

San Francisco, April 21.—The people of San Francisco, homeless and starving, are facing the calamity which has overtaken them and practically swept out of existence the great city of which all were so proud. There are no evidences of weak souls to be seen among the crowds of stricken people moving back reluctantly upon each advance of the destroying flames, which continue to sweep toward the ocean. Appalled for the moment, but undaunted, the bravery exhibited by men, women and children in face of overwhelming disaster is that of a race destined to arise stronger than ever out of the ruins which now surround them.

There is little left today of the gay city by the Golden Gate. There seems little hope now of saving the choicest residence section of the city, lying west and north of Van Ness avenue. The men of the fire department, who have throughout the entire conflagration done splendid work, are still making brave efforts.

A MASON HONORED

Bro. W. J. Francis is Presented With Diamond Studded Emblem.

One of the specially interesting features of Masonic brotherly love, was in evidence Thursday, when Mr. W. J. Francis, who has for some years been a member of this Blue Lodge, and also of the associate institutions of the Chapter and Preceptory, and who has accepted a professional engagement with a large company at Nelson, B.C., was presented with a beautiful and costly jewel, set with diamonds and rubies, and inscribed as follows;—Presented to Ex. Comp. Walter J. Francis, by Corinthian Royal Arch Chapter, No 26, G.R.C., and other Masonic friends, Peterboro.

The presentation meeting was held in the refreshment hall with W. Bro. J. G. McWilliam in the chair, and Rt. W. Bro. W. H. Watling in the vice chair. Rt. W. Bro. R. E. Wood, on behalf of the Royal Arch Chapter, spoke in very kindly terms of Bro. Francis and the work he had done for the order. Reference was also made to his professional work done as engineer on the Hydraulic lift lock.

Rt. W. Bro. W. H. Watling, for Moore Preceptory K. T., mentioned the regard in which Mr. Francis was held by the confreres. W. Bro. Tovey, for Peterboro Lodge, spoke most eulogistically of the Order's association with Bro. Francis.

Ex. Comp. W. Saunderatt of Corinthian Chapter, then in a brief speech, made the presentation.

Mr. Francis, who was visibly overcome by natural feelings of emotion, in very well chosen words thanked those present for their kind remembrance, and regretted his leaving the city.

Mr. Francis leaves for the west today, and will take up his professional duties on arrival.

"TEMPLE OF FAME"

Interesting Event in Charlotte Street Sunday School.

The vocal numbers most admirably rendered by Miss Clara Bellegham, Miss Olive Howell, Mr. Norman Jolliffe, Misses Jobbitt, and Miss Sperry.

The duties of accompanist were ably performed by Miss Curry, whose skilful playing was of great assistance.

A CORRECTION

Mr. Carton Says He Did Not Sell His Property.

In our issue of yesterday, we noted that Mr. Lowes, of Pontypool, had purchased from Mr. Geo. Carton, the property recently owned by the Peterboro Cold Storage Co., for the sum of $5,000.

Mr. Carton yesterday called at this office and denied any sale of the property having been effected.

Our information was based upon statements made by the alleged purchaser who, in a public house, the Queen's Hotel, to wit, said he purchased this property, and mentioned the price paid, as quoted by The Times. Mr. Lowes, it is said by those who heard him even added that he was going to have Contractor Rutherford make certain alterations and improvements.

In giving this news there was no intention of hurting Mr. Carton's feelings. The matter simply amounts to this, that those hearing Mr. Lowe's remarks may have taken them as facts.

A PRESENTATION

Mr. A. O. Sawyer Presented With a Handsome Gold Locket.

A very pleasing event took place this week, when Mr. A. O. Sawyer, who for the past eight or nine years has been manager of the Peterboro business of J. Sutcliffe & Son, was presented with a suitably engraved gold locket and an appreciative address by the members of the establishment here.

This generous mark of appreciation was presented partly on account of Mr. Sawyer's approaching removal to Brandon, where he will locate, having been appointed manager for Rankin & Co., of that city. Mrs. Sawyer and family will remain in the city until June.

Mr. Sawyer left yesterday for Kingston, where he will visit relatives for a few weeks previous to going to his new home.

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water, the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the acaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investers, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co., forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

REBUILD YOUR TIRED, ACHING BODY

Winter has left you in a state of fatigue and weariness.

The vitality of your blood is gone.

Your nerves are wretchedly weak and you find it hard to sleep.

The temptation to "brace up" with an alcoholic mixture is great,—but it's uselessness is plain to everyone.

First create new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, nourishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic "Ferrozone" which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every sickly person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Sadie E. Hislop, of Whitby, Ont., who writes: "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerve force was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

Your druggist sells it in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Vesuvius seems to have calmed down again, and the people have already begun to move back to their old quarters right under the jowl of the nasty old beast. Well, it's everybody to his liking, but this part of the country suits us very well, thank you.

Now the Canadians, as well as Americans, want to see Niagara for power purposes. If the thing goes much further, the hack drivers at the Falls will have to move away and invent some other way to hold up the public.

The man who has a dollar to spare might do worse than contribute it to the Neapolitans and their fellow-sufferers in the great volcanic disaster. God grant that our ears have not yet grown too dull to heed a cry of such bitter need as that which comes from the fiery throat of Vesuvius.

INS AND OUTS

Mr. Phillips, of York Loan fame, will give up some of the money, but up to the time of going to press the members of Parliament were still glued tighty to theirs.

If the politicians of the world could now be sent to the vicinity of Vesuvius they might learn a few new points. The old mountain is engaged in one of the greatest feats of mud-slinging ever witnessed in history.

Mr. Robert Neill, of the Machine Telephone fame, is reported to have said that his company will yet be the leading one in its line in Canada. This great family journal wishes nothing worse to Mr. Neill than that he will live as long as he cares to, but this g. f. j. don't mind saying that he will be a long time dead before his ideas in this particular will be realized. ### GROWTH OF GREATER JAPAN

Something Like 50,000,000 of People Now Under the Rising Sun Banner.

London, April 20.—The population of Japan is a rapidly increasing one. The "Hong Kong Daily Press" says that from the beginning of 1872 to 1905 the population of the Empire proper, excluding Formosa or residents out of the islands, increased from thirty-three millions to nearly forty-eight millions or as near as may be, 50 per cent. This, however, does not include the whole of the increase. During the last eight years the population of Formosa has grown by 600,000, of whom practically the whole were Japanese, while continually greater numbers have since 1880 been settling in Korea, and since the war in Liao Tung, and for the last two years since the fighting with Russia, the Japanese settlers in Kirin are becoming a by no means unimportant element in the population of Manchuria. This growth of an outer Japan is in effect one of the more marked developments in the Far East, and constitutes an element which politically cannot be lost sight of. In Shanghai, where but a few years ago the number of Japanese residents within the settlements was insignificant, the Japanese population now ranks next to the English; and as it is being recruited at a more rapid rate, it may be anticipated that it will soon constitute the largest element in the foreign population. Even in the densely populated districts along the Yangtse Valley, where it might be anticipated that room did not exist for a single inhabitant over and above the present number, the Japanese succeeded in gaining a foothold; and scarcely a town in the interior of China is too remote or too insignificant but that, under one form or other, a search will unearth a little colony of Japanese, each of whom, to the utmost of his personal ability, is engaged in promoting the influence and interests of his own country.

ARTILLERY FOR KINGSTON

Eastern City to Have One of the Largest Permanent Garrisons in Canada.

Kingston, April 18.—Lt.-Col. Paul Weatherbe, Director-General of the Engineering Services of the Militia Department, accompanied by the chief architect of the department, are here looking over Tete de Pont Barracks with a view to remodeling it. It was the original intention of the Government to erect a new barracks on Lake Ontario park. It is understood that the old frame building will be torn down and a new stone building erected for a very large garrison. Fort Henry will also be remodelled, as the intention of the Militia Department is to place a garrison artillery there. At present Kingston has the R.C.R.A., Royal Engineers' Army Service Corps and Army Medical Corps of the permanent service in addition to these a squad of cavalry and a company of infantry are to be added, making Kingston one of the largest permanent garrisons in Canada.

JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT

Was Alarmingly Afflicted With La Grippe. Cured by Pe-ru-na.

The Grip is Properly Termed Epidemic Catarrh.

As Pe-ru-na Cures Every Form of Catarrh, It Has Relieved More Cases of Grip Than All Other Remedies Combined.

HON. W. H. PARSONS, 925 H. St., N.W., WASHINGTON, D.C.

The Fear of Grip Makes People Nervous.

There is no remedy in the world that meets the conditions produced by the grip better than Pernas.

Peruna is not a purgative, or cathartic or sedative, or stimulant, nor a vegetable or mineral poison.

It reaches the source of all diseases of the mucous membranes by its action on the vaso-motor system of nerves.

After-Effects of the Grip.

Every person who has had la grippe during the last year should take a course of Peruna. No one need expect perfect recovery unless they do so.

The grip has produced catarrhal inflammation of the whole mucous membrane, and good health is impossible until these are restored to a normal condition. This Peruna will do.

A great many remedies have been suggested for this condition from time to time, but Peruna is the only remedy that has any substantial value in these cases.

It has never failed to give satisfaction during forty years' experience and still occupies the unique position of being the leading (if not the only) specific remedy for the after-effects of la grippe.

No Time Like the Present.

If you are suffering from the after-effects of la grippe—if you have become discouraged in your attempts to cure yourself with other treatments, take a bottle of Peruna now.

A bottle of Peruna taken during the beginning of the disease is worth more than a dozen bottles after the trouble has become deep-seated.

Miss Eugenie Lafortune of 110 Berrie street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"Peruna cured me of a severe case of la grippe when nothing else had any effect on me. Five bottles did the work and they were worth hundreds of dollars for the comfort and health restored to me. I therefore feel that the least I can do is to gratefully acknowledge its merits."—Eugenie Lafortune.

W. H. Parsons is Ex-State Senator and Ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, and was also Brigadier-General in Confederate Army. In a recent letter from 925 H street, N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials as to the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grippe with which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment with this justly celebrated formula. I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week.

"It is especially good in toning up the stomach and has had a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration.

"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of her Veteran Cavalry in a four years' war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merits of Peruna as a sense of obligation on my part for its wonderful efficacy."—W. H. Parsons.

A reward of $10,000 has been deposited in the Market Exchange Bank, Columbus, Ohio, as a guarantee that the above testimonial is genuine; that we hold in our possession authentic letters certifying to the same. Every one of our testimonials are genuine and in the words of the one whose name is appended.

PROGRESSIVE TAX ON ALL FORTUNES

Bold Speech Delivered by President Roosevelt Which May Make Enemies.

Washington, April 17.—The President delivered his speech on "The Man with the Muck Rake," in which he expressed his opinion of the "campaign exposure" carried on in some of the 10 cent magazines. The address was delivered as a part of the ceremony of laying the cornerstone of the office building of the House of Representatives. In the course of his speech he made this suggestion as to limiting great fortunes:

"It is important to this people to grapple with the problems connected with the amassing of enormous fortunes, both corporate and individual, in business. We should discriminate in the sharpest way between fortunes well won and fortunes ill won; between those gained as an incident to performing great services to the community as a whole, and those gained in evil fashion by keeping just within the limits of mere law honesty. Of course no amount of charity in spending such fortunes in any way compensates for misconduct in making them. As a matter of personal conviction, and without pretending to discuss the details or formulate the system, I feel that we shall ultimately have to consider the adoption of some such scheme as that of a progressive tax on all fortunes beyond a certain amount, either given in life or devised or bequeathed upon death to any individual—a tax so framed as to put it out of the power of the owner of one of these enormous fortunes to hand over more than a certain amount to any one individual, the tax, of course, to be imposed by the national and not the state government. Such taxation should, of course, be aimed merely at the inheritance or transmission in their entirety of those fortunes swollen beyond all healthy limits."

London, April 17.—Most of the morning papers devote their leading articles to President Roosevelt's speech. Their comment generally is favorable to the President's words. In the view of the papers it was a bold speech, but only what was to be expected of President Roosevelt. His defense of public men appeals strongly to Englishmen.

His outspoken words in the suggestion of a progressive tax to prevent any individual inheriting over a certain amount, the critics believe will make him more enemies in America, but here they say the words do not sound dreadful, as England has what he is aiming at in an income tax combined with a system of graduation and a succession duty which does not limit the amount an heir may inherit, but produces a big revenue from estates.

New York, April 17.—The American says: "Roosevelt probably had his eye on a third term when he delivered disquisition on the 'man with the muck rake.'"

The Times says Roosevelt has set a pace which the wildest socialist cannot exceed toward the goal that the anarchist is seeking.

Today we will sell dolls, toys and games at greatly reduced prices. Hines Bankhouse.

Will Force Vote on Indemnity "Grab"

Mr. Wilson to Introduce Bills in Respect to Matter - - Would Wipe Out Pensions.

Ottawa, April 16.—The members of the House of Commons who had hoped to be able to get through the present session without having to face a vote on the question of the increased indemnity, popularly described as the "indemnity grab," run a big chance of being disappointed.

In the very early days of the session, Mr. Uriah Wilson, member for Lennox and Addington rose in his seat and declared against the action of the House in passing this measure in the closing days of the last session. He said that during the recess he had been convinced that his constituents, the majority of whom are farmers, are adverse to the measure. He considered it his duty, therefore, to bring the matter up in the House and to urge that the question be reconsidered.

Dr. Barr, of Dundas, spoke along similar lines. The member for Dufferin has a big majority at his back, but he was evidently impressed with the fact that ther was enough indignation in his constituency to wipe it out if he did not beat a retreat. Dr. Barr said he was convinced by what he had been told, that the feeling was against the measure, and he also urged reconsideration.

After a few heated remarks by a couple of members in favor of the increased pay, the discussion was allowed to die out.

WON'T LET IT DROP.

But Mr. Wilson is not content to let the matter drop. He has just returned from spending the Easter holidays in his constituency, where he probably heard a few more expressions of opinion in regard to the grab, and encouraged by the idea that the men who are responsible for sending him to Parliament, approve of his course, he has decided to return to the attack.

Thursday's "Notices of Motion" contain the announcement that Mr. Wilson will introduce two bills in the House, viz.: "An act to repeal the act respecting annuities for certain Privy Councillors," and "an act respecting the seasional allowance of members of Parliament."

As will be seen from the names of the first bill, it is intended to wipe out entirely the pension of $3,500 to ex-Ministers of five years' standing.

The bill in respect to members will simply change the indemnity from $2,500 back to the old figure of $1,500 a year. This means that the features of last session's bill, which have met with general approval, such as the increased salary to the Premier and a salary to the leader of the Opposition, will stand.

MEMBERS SEEM AGAINST.

Those who are in favor of the proposals made in this bill are not very hopeful that it will receive the support of the majority of the members of the House, but a vote will be forced, which will do much to clarify the situation and let the country know just where the members stand.

VERY SERIOUS CHARGES

United States Constabulary Charged With Killing Defenceless People.

Manila, Phil. Is., April 16.—Grave accusations have been offered against the detachment of United States, constabulary which has recently been operating near Balambang, on the western coast of Sebu.

It is stated that at a recent attack where many people considered erroneously as ladrones have been killed, erously as ladrones have been killed, several defenceless villagers who were working peacefully were also killed.

About five days ago a woman who lives about six miles from the town of Balamban reported to the authorities that a detachment of constabulary had killed her defenceless husband as he was working in the fields near the town. While he was engaged in his task as a farmer, the detachment came up to a distance of thirty feet from him, and, according to her, opened fire without giving any warning. At the first discharge, they struck him in the shoulder, and he turned around and called out to them that he was an "amigo." They again fired and killed him.

The next day a boy of eight years, who was looking for his father was also killed by a shot. He had hid himself in the undergrowth, where he was killed. It has been discovered that the detachment which was operating in that neighborhood is the Danaw detachment.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

TRICK WITH A PLATE.

A Feat of Balancing and Spinning That Demands Care.

If you are not a careful girl or boy do not attempt this feat, because to do it successfully requires both care and patience, and if you are careless and try it there will probably be a broken plate and a scolded boy or girl in the house.

to cause it to spin steadily upon this delicate support: Cut two corks down the middle, and in the ends of the four halves thus obtained insert forks inclined to the smooth sides of the corks at a little less than right angles. Place these four corks, as in the illustration, around the rim of the plate at equal distances from one another and see that the teeth of the forks are in contact with the rim to prevent them from swaying.

With a little care this plate can now be balanced on the point of a needle whose eye has been buried in the cork of an upright bottle. By giving it a gentle rotary motion the plate may be made to spin around, which it will do for quite a long time.

HOW BRUIN LOST HIS TAIL.

The Smart Trick That a Cunning Fox Played on a Bear.

The bear is not as smart as his friend, the fox. Long, long ago the bear used to have a long tail, but one winter's day he met his friend, the fox, who sat on the bank of a river, just finishing a meal of fish.

"Give me some," said the bear, "for I am hungry."

"That was all I had," said the fox, swallowing very fast, "but if you will give me some honey the next time you find some I will tell you how to get the fish."

"I will," said the bear.

Then the fox told him to go to the river and cut a hole in the ice, drop his tail in and wait for a bite.

So the bear went to the river and did just as he was told. Shortly after he had stuck his tail in it turned very cold and began to freeze the bear's tail in with the ice.

Not knowing better, however, Master Bear still sat patiently on the ice waiting for the fish to bite. At last he thought he would get up and walk around a little, as he was tired of sitting in one position so long. As he started to move he felt a tug at his frozen tail, and, thinking it was a big fish, he gave a mighty jerk, when off came his tail.

Ever since that time the bears have all had short tails.

Origin of the Name "Puss."

A great many years ago the people of Egypt, who had many idols, worshiped the cat among others. They thought she was like the moon because she was more active at night and because her eyes changed like the moon, which is sometimes full and at other times only a light crescent, or, as we say, a half moon. Did you ever notice pussy's eyes change? So they made an idol of a cat's head and named it Paaht. The same name they gave to the moon, for the word means the face of the moon.

The word has been changed to "Pas" and "Pus" and has come at last to be "Puss," the name the most of us give to the cat. Puss and pussy cat are pet names for kitty anywhere now. Who ever thinks of the name as given to her thousands of years ago and the people who then bowed down and prayed to her?

The Value to Man of the Thumb.

You must know that it is because man has a thumb and for the reason that his thumb is so beautifully jointed, supple and adjustable that he has been able to overcome all difficulties. The other fingers are all very well in their way, but it is the thumb that controls the real movement of the hand. Without a thumb we could never wield a heavy sledge hammer or the most delicate of watchmaker's tools. It is not out of the way to say that man is the master, holding every other living thing "under his thumb."

Jokes With Cards.

Take a pack of cards and get two or more—better more—to select a card. After they have looked at them shuffle them in the pack. Then deal a few off as though you were going to tell them their cards. But after you have dealt off a few ask them if they know their cards. If they all agree, you may say, "Well, if you all know your cards, I needn't tell you."

A Capital Guess.

"For whom was our national capital named?" the teacher asked one day,
And Johnny Jones responded in his hesitating way—
But clearly proved beyond a doubt he had the fact at least—
"Our Washington, D. C., was named for Washington, deceased."
—Nixon Waterman in St. Nicholas.

HOME COMFORT.

Why Not Have Every Room in the House a Sitting Room?

"Every room in your house seems to be a sitting room," remarked the relative who was being "taken through the house."

"So it is," was the reply. "I don't believe there's a bedroom in the house that is merely a sleeping apartment and nothing more."

Both comments indicate the tendency in many homes toward turning the bedroom of each individual into a private sitting room, where its owner may retire from the bosom of the family when desirable and put be quite as luxurious as if downstairs in library or family sitting room.

Jill's room contains not only her little white bed and dressing table, but also her bookcase, her desk, her lounging chair, her alcohol teakettle and all the small personal belongings which make it possible for Jill to live a quite complete existence in her own little room, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Jack, too, has his lounging chair, his desk and books and prints and smoking things up in his room, and perhaps you will hunt in vain for his bed, for very likely it disappears in the daytime in the guise of a big, roomy davenport or a wardrobe, with a plate glass mirror.

Downstairs is the commodious family sitting room, where all assemble when socially inclined. But when the spirit of solitude impels then the bedroom sitting room offers a refuge unknown in the old days, when in the middle class home there was no place to sit except with the whole family or in a cheerless, barren sleeping apartment.

This tendency toward isolation may be decried by some as selfish, but one wonders if it is not one of the most helpful aspects of the steady growth of individualism. We all become a little weary of each other, and a brief respite from the society of even the best beloved is sometimes desirable.

PORTABLE WORKBOX.

Mounted on Casters It Is Easily Moved From Room to Room.

I have an oblong workbox on legs and casters, which I easily take from room to room wherever I want to sit, and I have all my work and all my "tools" before me. Mine is a box twenty-five inches long, eighteen wide and fourteen deep, with a handy shelf added. The cleat in the back with nails in holds my thread, darning cotton, thimble, shears, etc. I tacked cretonne both inside and out and padded the cover on both sides, tacking a band of ribbon across to hold handy things. The padding makes a nice cushion for needles and pins. I do not roll my patterns up, as it makes them unhandy to cut from. I pin them together flat and lay them in the bottom. On this I place a false bottom of pasteboard the size of the box, padding and covering it. This not only covers my patterns, but is easily removed and brushed when dusty. Pockets or other additions may be put in to suit each one's fancy. —Mrs. L. B. Ellison in Good Housekeeping.

Simple Plays For Children.

A mother called upon to plan many entertainments for her children has hit upon the plan of taking the children's favorite story and making a simple dramatization of it and allowing the children to give it before their little friends.

The parts are divided between her own children and their friends. Sometimes the story is given as a series of tableaux. In no case is the dialogue long or heavy or the scenery elaborate.

This mother argues that all children love to imitate and to dress in costume and that these little home dramas train them in many ways, besides giving them much pleasure.

They memorize the words, they form the habit of telling the story, and, as the mother leaves the arrangement, scenery and the costumes to her older boys and girls and they are not allowed to expend any money on these, she claims they are becoming expert carpenters and dressmakers, besides showing great ingenuity in making the most of their materials at hand.

Room Moldings.

It is often more refreshing to gild moldings in part then to gild them wholly. Thus an inch bead may be divided into short chunks of three inches in length and alternating gilt and cream color, thus saving half the gold and enhancing the effect. It must, however, be borne in mind that in such a case there must be sufficiently strong confining members of red or other emphatic color to keep the molding rigid or a loss of repose would result instead of an accession of richness. Curved members should be enriched by the application of straight line ornament, and vice versa. This is a good rule and gives full value for the expenditure of time. Another rule is to put the darker tints on the recessed parts and the lighter on the raised parts, a practice approved by the best taste.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps, and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 400 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 305 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionaires in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

THE MAELSTROM.

How It Feels to Be on the Edge of the Great Whirlpool.

Off the coast of Norway, between two islands of the Lofoden group, is the largest whirlpool in the world. Its name, Maelstrom, means "whirling stream," and the title is well earned.

The great Maelstrom is no longer held in superstitious fear, and maritime charts have taught the sailors of the world where the danger lies and how to avoid it, so that accidents rarely occur—never except through ignorance or a previous disaster that has rendered a vessel unmanageable.

Several years ago the captain of a sailing vessel, desirous of seeing the famous whirlpool at close quarters, was assured by his Norwegian pilot that he might venture near enough for examination without danger. And here is what the captain saw:

"I went on the main topsail yard with a good glass. I had been seated but a few minutes when my ship entered the disk of the whirlpool. The velocity of the water altered her course three points toward the center. This alarmed me extremely for a moment. I thought destruction was inevitable. But she answered her helm nobly, and we ran along the edge, the waters foaming round us in every form.

"The sensations I experienced are difficult to describe. Imagine an immense circle running round of a diameter of one and a half miles, the velocity increasing as it approximated the center and gradually changing its dark blue color to white, foaming, tumbling, rushing to its vortex, very much concave—as much so as the water in a funnel when half run out. The noise, too, hissing, roaring, dashing, all pressing on the mind at once, presented the most awful, grand and solemn sight I ever beheld. We were near it about eighteen minutes and in sight of it two hours. It is evidently a subterranean passage. From its magnitude I should not doubt that instant destruction would be the fate of a dozen of our largest ships were they drawn in at the same moment. The pilot says that several vessels that had become unmanageable have been sucked down and that whales have also been destroyed."

Ink Spots on Leather Chairs.

To remove ink spots from leather chairs try washing the spots with milk, renewing the milk till it is no longer stained and the spot on the leather has disappeared; then wash with warm water and when dry polish with boiled linseed oil and vinegar mixed in equal proportions. But an ink stain should really be removed as soon as possible after it is made. If it has dried and hardened it is doubtful even if, with several applications, you will be able to remove it entirely.

FACTS ABOUT NEVADA STOCKS

The table above does not begin to tell of the money that has been made by the public in Nevada stocks. It only shows the profits made during the last nine months, and only a few of them at that. The Bullfrog list is quite incomplete, and the stocks shown only represent those most popular with the public, and does not show the great number of securities which are closely held by a few people.

Tonopah Mining sold originally at par value of $1 per share. The treasury stock, a portion of it, was sold below that figure. From this it may be seen that the purchasers of the stock of this one company, not including the regular dividends which they have received, have a profit of more than $17,000,000 in their holdings. Hundreds of companies have been organised of which there is not a share of stock in the hands of the public. Many of these mines are big dividend-payers.

For illustration, the Great Combination Mine at Goldfield, one of the greatest, and perhaps the biggest, dividend-payer in Goldfield, is not included on the above list, because its shares are now held by a few men, and they are not traded in by the public. The firm of Patrick, Elliott & Camp, one of the chief owners of this great mine, promoted the property, and it is to-day paying very nearly $400,000 annually in dividends, on a capitalization of that many dollars, or a return of 100 per cent. annually to the stockholders. Columns could be used in enumerating the rapid transition of prospects to the estate of producing mines, but the space will not permit.

Goldfield, Nevada, U.S.A., April 5.—Nevada is coming into her own. No words more truly express the outlook of the sage-brush State, and it is not too much to say that no young State in the Union ever faced conditions which were destined to place its star among the most brilliant of the sisterhood of States. The State is just awakening from a long period of somnolence. Forty years ago the sturdy Argonauts who blazed the trail through the mountains, with ever-watchful eye for the lurking redskin, trailed their serpent-like caravans across the great American desert. Their hardships and the early folklore of the west have been sung of in story and verse by the Hartes and Twains. A mighty empire in the westland was before them. They carved from the rude material of the virgin land the foundation for States and citadels that were to become the theatre of activities that would make their centre the greatest mineral-producing section in the world. It is a little more than forty years since the then territory of Nevada gave to the world the story of the Comstock—a story which was only completed in the early 'eighties, when six hundred million dollars in rich precious metals had been taken from the mines at Virginia City.

Virginia City was not the only mining centre of the great sage-brush State. Numerous other camps added their figures of production far into the millions, but Virginia City was the greatest. When an all-wise Government demonetized silver and reduced its value, Nevada sustained the blow from which she did not speedily recover, until over the same ground that has been worked for white metal the prospector found gold.

It was but little more than six years ago that Tonopah was discovered with its great Mizpah ledge—a mine which passed from its first owners for $300,000, and whose enormous deposits of gold give it a conservative value to-day of more than $35,000,000. To tell the story of the subsequent development, of the tremendous wealth uncovered at Mt. Oddie would require much more space than is at the command of the writer in a limited article.

That a recalcitrant burro, long-eared and shaggy, should have been the means of discovering what is to-day one of the many greatest mining camps of southern Nevada, and consequently of the world, adds just a touch of the picturesque to the town of Tonopah and exemplifies the aphorism "that gold is where you find it." Jim Butler, a desert rat, a man upon whom fortune had occasionally bestowed only to reward with a smile, had prospected the length and breadth of many desert miles during the summer which was fast waning. The August sun was rising from behind a range of precipitate mountains, but Butler's courage fell with the awakening day, as to him it would be like the many that had preceded it, spent under the rays of a blistering and torrid sun reflected from the alkali sands of the wide expanse of waste. As he followed a slender path leading into the mountains the early morning dew was yet on the grease wood. His burros had escaped during the night, and this but added to his discomfiture. Finding his long-eared companion standing upon a crest of rock, he slipped a hackamore over its head, and in doing so his foot struck a likely looking piece of rock, which attracted his attention. It was not unlike the millions of tons of other country rock which he had seen, and half unconsciously he placed several specimens in his ragged clothes.

Three months later when the rock was assayed and proved to be the richest that had come out of the country Butler hurried back to the scene of his find and staked a number of claims. A quarter interest in these claims was given to the assayer who made the first test of the rock. That interest is to-day worth between seven and eight millions of dollars.

This was the original discovery made of gold in southern Nevada. Previous to this time the early mining operations had been confined chiefly to mining for silver. It was a red letter day in the history of the State when Butler, almost unconsciously and it might be said unwittingly, made the first of a series of sensational finds of precious ore-bearing rock that have since proclaimed Nevada as "The Golden." The mines which nestle and cluster around the base and sides of Mount Oddie are to-day producing millions, and it is variously estimated that the treasure vaults of this wonderful hill contain between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 of gold ore, that amount being blocked out and in sight.

Tonopah was the first of many wonderful camps opened up in a more wonderful country. Since the first discovery was made by Jim Butler new camps have been springing up like mushroom cities of the night. Fortunes have been made in a day, in a month, in a year, and for the most part these fortunes have been made by men to whom wealth had heretofore been a stranger.

Following the discovery of Tonopah and the two years of active development, which included the construction of an eighty-six-mile railroad by the owners of one of the greatest of its mines, came the rush to Goldfield.

The first discoveries from the "grass-roots" were of such a sensational character that the camp was at once marked for a brilliant future and a great producer of "high-grade." Goldfield to-day is a city of ten thousand busy, earnest men, who are engaged in wresting from mother earth's great storehouse of gold the wealth which is theirs to find and mine.

With its two score or more mines Goldfield is the envy of southern Nevada mining activities. The camp grew with a rapidity that would astonish even those who have followed mining with vicissitudes and rewards. Men assembled here from many climes and shores. They represented every walk of life from the college-bred man and soldier of fortune to the gambler and unspeakables. Elbowing and jostling each other upon its chief thoroughfares, the millionaire and pauper met on common ground.

In two short years Goldfield sprang from the estate of a tented city to a mining camp where metropolitan life was as keen as that in older settled communities.

When Horace Greely admonished young men to "go west" he spoke better than he thought. Those who have cast their fortunes in southern Nevada have won rich rewards. More men of ordinary means, of limited resources have placed themselves in positions of affluence in this State since the gold excitement started six years ago than in any other State in the land of golden promise.

Nowhere are the opportunities presented for profitable investment that offer in Nevada to-day. The State is teeming with wealth. Millions are being taken from the ground monthly. The development of its mineral resources have gone beyond the most rosy predictions of the most sanguine. Enormous bodies of low grade ore have been blocked out that will keep many mills running during the lives of generations to come.

The development of Nevada has but begun. The ground has scarcely been scratched. It is estimated by engineers of competent authority that with the showings which are made with the present developed mines Nevada will soon enter the first column of mineral-producing States.

Not alone are mining operations confined to one small, restricted locality, but over a wide territory as large as several eastern States thousands of prospectors are engaged in the frenzied search for gold. The hills are dotted with mounds and busy with the activity of the delvers. Like ants in a miniature city they hurry in and out with their burdens of precious stores. There is a golden reward for all, and it is a well-known fact, and a matter of much comment among mining engineers, that the richest mines and the greatest strikes have been made by men who, in the parlance of the frontier, are known as "tenderfeet;" in fact, a recitation of the names of the great mines of this district would reveal many such instances.

Some idea may be gained of the marvelous richness of this country when it is known that a few hardy and courageous prospectors during the first year or leasing period of Tonopah took out seven millions of dollars in gold, and at Goldfield the production during the first two years of its infancy made a return of more than ten millions of dollars for the men who braved the perils of an untamed country.

Goldfield and Tonopah, each of them, have many dividend-paying mines, mines which monthly or at stated periods return to their shareholders the profits of production.

One of the most remarkable features of the investments made in southern Nevada have been the enormous returns which the holders of securities representing newly discovered mines have received. Millions of shares of southern Nevada mining stock have found their way into the hands of the investors in distant States. These purchasers, with very few exceptions, have made enormous profits from their holdings. An illustration of this may be cited in any one of the scores of big producing mines of Tonopah, Goldfield or Bullfrog, and this will be, and is becoming, true of Manhattan.

The Tonopah Extension Mine, which was a tramp and a beggar among its brothers for a long time, and its shares were despised at a few cents a share, is selling to-day at $12.00 a share. The Mizpah Mine, whose shares sold below one dollar, is now an active factor in the market at $18.00 per share, and the mine is said to be easily worth twice that figure after all costs of operation and treatment of ores are deducted.

The same is true of Goldfield. Ground which sold for forty dollars is to-day worth three millions of dollars. Another famous mine which originally was bartered for a two-weeks' grub stake has the market value of $2,000,000 to-day, and so on down the list.

A dozen or more mines in this vicinity were stocked at a few cents a share, and the public invited to subscribe, that have since appreciated in value until they are worth anywhere from fifty cents to one dollar a share; truly a handsome profit for two brief years. It may be said that any stock representing a mine which was operated by men of integrity could have been purchased a year ago, or even a few months ago, at a figure which to-day, on the prevailing quotations would make anywhere from one hundred to five hundred per cent. profit on the investment.

Not before in the history of a mining camp has the money been so in being made in mining shares that to-day is finding its way into the pockets of lucky investors.

The past three months has been a sensational period for all the stocks. Patrick, Elliott & Camp, the pioneer brokerage firm of southern Nevada, four months ago, offered to the public shares in the Amethyst Mine at Bullfrog. This stock was sold at fifteen cents a share. It is to-day selling for $1.25 per share.

This same firm has put out numerous stocks and has made fortunes for its thousands of clients scattered through a widespread area. Laguna, a Goldfield stock, was oversubscribed by the public at fifteen cents a share four months ago and quickly advanced upon remarkable development showing to 45 cents. These are only two of the numerous successful flotations made by Patrick, Elliott & Camp. Mr. Elliott, who passed to his reward last week as the result of an overzealous interest in his life's work, was first in Tonopah, first in Goldfield, first in Bullfrog and first in Manhattan. The firm of Patrick, Elliott & Camp, having unlimited resource at its command and being able to secure the cream of everything which offers in a new district, has made good on everything that it has sold to the public. In other words, briefly stated, Patrick, Elliott & Camp have organized more than a score of companies, and every one of which has brought handsome returns for every dollar invested.

Mr. E. L. Patrick, President of the firm, was one of the first owners and locators of the Combination Mine, a property which is paying in dividends the handsome sum of $32,000 per month. As one of the pioneers of Goldfield, Mr. Patrick is also interested heavily in the greatest mines of this camp. Sol Camp, the Secretary of the company, who also acts as chief of a corps of engineers, is one of the best trained and experienced miners of the west, having spent a lifetime in the mines of Colorado and other western States. Up to a few weeks ago Mr. Camp was actively engaged as superintendent of the great January Mine, which has produced its millions, and is still consulting engineer for the owning corporation, the Goldfield Mining Company.

Three months ago, even before the stampede to Manhattan, which is to-day destined to become the greatest producer of high-grade ore in the west, Patrick, Elliott & Camp purchased and bonded several of the greatest properties in the now world-famous district.

The firm of Patrick, Elliott & Camp is now offering for public subscription a limited block of treasury stock in the Manhattan-Treadwell Gold Mining Company. This company promises to be another of the long line of successes that have characterized the operation of this firm in the Manhattan district.

The company owns four claims, admirably located, in the heart of the great gold-producing area at Manhattan. They adjoin the Buffalo, which Patrick, Elliott & Camp added to its list of companies several weeks ago, and the immense gold-bearing ledges which traverse the Buffalo and which have been proven to a considerable depth by a double compartment shaft, the only one in the new camp, dip towards the Treadwell ground, and have been traced a considerable distance across the lines on to the claims known as the "Red Top," "Sunlight," "Silver Stream," "Pineapple" and "Gold Crescent Fraction." These claims are located within three thousand feet of the great Consolidated Mine, whose property is now rated by mining engineers of repute to be one of the richest in the great State of Nevada. Some idea of the rapidity with which it has moved in Manhattan can be gained from the fact that the Consolidated stock within a period of six weeks has quadrupled in value. Several well-defined ledges, all of which give exceptional surface values, have been opened up by the company's prospecting work, and in addition a shaft is being put down by it, and a number of leases are now sinking on these ledges, which are bisected by a network of cross-ledges, all of which are highly mineralized. The greatest values on the Treadwell ground have been found at the junction of these ledges, or, in other words, wherever there is a fault in the formation.

Mr. Sol Camp, the company's chief of engineers staff, gives it as his opinion that the Treadwell Company's ground will prove among the richest in Manhattan.

From the ledge upon which the company is sinking its shaft assays ranging from $80.00 to $3,000 have been taken from a five-foot ledge. Exhaustive tests and careful sampling prove this ledge straight across to go better than $50.00 to the ton.

The first offering of treasury stock in this company is one hundred thousand shares at 15 cents per share. The company has made a reservation of two hundred thousand shares, which have been placed in the treasury, the proceeds of which will be used for development purposes. After the first allotment of one hundred thousand shares have been subscribed the price will advance from 15 cents to 20 cents per share.

The Seyler-Humphrey property in Manhattan embraces what was the original discovery in the camp. The stock was one of the first on the market. It was sold for thirty cents a share and within a few days after the first allotment was gobbled up it advanced to forty-five cents per share and every one who purchased this stock now has a handsome profit in his holding.

A Few Pertinent Facts About

NEVADA

The Sage Brush State.

Prior to date of recent gold discoveries, Nevada had decreased annually 6 per cent. in population.

Since 1901, the State has been peopled with such rapidity that it has more than twice doubled its population.

During a period of 20 years, during the activities of the Comstock and other camps, Nevada added to the world's wealth $720,000,000.

The State has just awakened from a long sleep. It is the centre, the theatre of the world's greatest mining activities.

Chas. M. Schwab during six months has spent many millions buying the best mining properties in the leading camps.

He bought Tonopah Extension for a few cents a share—to-day none is offered on the open market at $11 per share.

Every man who has invested in Southern Nevada stocks, and there is scarcely an exception to this rule, has made money. Millions have been made by eastern investors. The time to make money, and the way is to buy stocks that are put out cheap, and sell when the property has become a mine or held for dividends. It is surprising the number of persons holding stocks in the hundreds of Southern Nevada mines who are the original purchasers, who first placed their faith in money in the mine and put the stock away in the safe until the dividends commenced to come. Big money has been made by the speculator—the man who purchased and held for an advance.

It may be said that a lead pencil mark placed in front of the name of a stock with the eyes closed would have been a sure profit-getter if it had been followed by an investment. The invariable rule has been a continued advance in the value of Southern Nevada mines securities.

Much could be written of Manhattan. The first of the year saw a few hardy prospectors on the ground and within two weeks after the story of its marvelous showing was given general publicity the camp was a town of two thousand people, and in as many weeks more it doubled in population, and to-day contains no less than six thousand souls. What was three months ago a bleak, barren and desolate gulch seven thousand feet above the sea level, with scarcely half a dozen people within a radius of more than as many miles, is to-day the scene of the greatest gold excitement since the days of forty-nine, before the advent of the Pullman cars and the wireless telegraph. To-day investors go to this new El Dorado in a luxuriously appointed travelling palace, with all the comforts which modern trains and genius can give to the traveller.

At Tonopah an automobile line in which many big touring cars are enlisted carries passengers from the older camp to Manhattan, a distance of forty-five miles, in about two hours and a half.

Instead of seeing a large bunch of tents scattered about on the hills, the view which meets the eye of the visitor is a typical, hurriedly built western mining camp. Low-browed buildings whose sidewalks, where they exist, are crowded and jammed with roughly coated and hatted men, well dressed and even ragged individuals. Gambling runs rampant and unrestrained. The click of the gold pieces at the bank, the burr of the ivory ball and noise of the tumbling of the spotted cubes, accompanied by the shrill voice of the crap dealer and the low hum of a hundred, more or less, excited voices, give to the scene only that type of life which can be seen under these conditions. Baths cost $4.00 each, but ham and eggs sell for the world-wide price of fifty cents per plate. Beds, which are worked three shifts in every twenty-four hours, sell for $1.00 each, the purchaser being permitted to occupy it but eight hours, there always being a long line of men ready to "turn in" as soon as the place is vacated.

New strikes are reported every day. An excited miner exhibiting specimens of rock fairly freckled and seamed with gold may be seen as the centre of an interested group of men. With each new strike comes a renewal of zest and interest, and those interested in claims hurry back to their work and renew their search with fresh vigor. One man's good fortune is always the signal for greater efforts on the part of his neighbors. Some of the specimen ore—in fact very much of it—is so rich that when exhibited on the bars of the chief liquid dispensing emporiums it resembles the collection in the show windows in a jewellery store. One specimen brought from the hills this week weighed seventeen ounces, was six inches long and nearly one-half gold. It was impregnated throughout with a fine, close-grained, marble-like quartz. One side was worn smooth, as if by the action of a slide in a contact, and the other side irregular, just in the shape that it was deposited by the molten mass. Many such specimens have been exhibited here, and it has become necessary for the mine owners to shut off on the distribution of specimened rock among the many curious sight-seers who throng the sides of the hills.

A resume of the ore bodies developed in the many big properties in Manhattan could not be encompassed within the bounds of a brief newspaper story. One mine in Manhattan has an ore body twenty-four feet wide and developed by shallow shafts and surface trenching a distance of eight hundred feet on the surface and a depth of seventy-five feet. This marvellous deposit has stood the most exhaustive tests and returns as a result a general uniform assay value of between sixty and eighty dollars per ton. This mine is known as the great Consolidated, and is located but a few hundred feet from the famous Red Top Manhattan Company's property, which is being developed on an extensive scale by Patrick, Elliott & Camp.

On the Manhattan Buffalo this same company is sinking a double compartment shaft, the only one in the camp, on a ledge which averages in the vein matter eight feet, and whose assay value is upwards of two hundred dollars per ton. So great is the promise and so eager are its owners that three shifts of men are being worked to put down this shaft to a depth where the ore may be mined economically. Work never stops on this ground. It continues night and day.

So great has been the travel between Tonopah and Manhattan, which is yet in the swaddling clothes of its infancy, or the crop period of its infancy, that a railroad is soon to be built, which will give an outlet for shipping ores and an inlet for supplies. A telegraph line and a telephone line have been built, and this week the new El Dorado for the first time establishes direct communication with the outside world. Manhattan, three months old, has two newspapers, an electric light plant and six thousand people.

The extent of the developed ore bodies has been such as to make Manhattan a most attractive place for milling enterprises. Four mills, having a capacity of many hundreds of tons a day, are being built to handle the milling ore, which is present in all sections of the camp in immense quantities.

For the past six weeks Manhattan stocks have set the pace upon the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board and the Goldfield Stock Exchange. Many of the stocks which were listed a few weeks ago at from ten to twenty-five cents a share have advanced by leaps and bounds. Every listed stock has made rapid strides during that time and fortune after fortune has been made by those who purchased these shares. Five weeks ago the stock of the Consolidated Company was selling for 25 cents a share. It is now quoted at $1.25 bid, $1.30 asked. And one of the very significant features of this market has been the fact that the public has been getting a run for its money in Manhattan stock. For the public has been the purchaser. Every stock on the list has advanced from 25 to 50 per cent., and in some cases the appreciation in value has been two or three hundred per cent. The people who have made the most money in the stocks have been the outsiders. They have purchased and held on, while the man on the ground is always tempted to take a small or reasonable profit.

LOCATION OF PROPERTY.

The ground of the Manhattan Treadwell Gold Mining Company is situated in Nye County, Nevada, surrounded by some of the greatest mines in the marvellous Manhattan Gold District. Its claims are the Red Dog, Sunlight, Silver Stream, Pineapple and Gold Crest fraction, or about 90 acres in all. The entire area is highly mineralized, even the dirt from the hillsides showing bright gold colors when panned. Nowhere in the district is there a better showing than that obtained from this territory. The Company has opened up some marvellously rich veins, and its mill values in the several ledges, which are joined by cross ledges running at right angles, are of such a character as to at once stamp the property of the Manhattan Treadwell Gold Mining Company as one of the great mines of this wonderful district.

INVESTIGATE.

The firm of Patrick, Elliott & Camp are pioneers in the Nevada gold country. We ask you before investing a dollar in the Manhattan Treadwell Gold Mining Company, or any of the numerous other companies that are either controlled by us or for which we are the fiscal agents, to wire the State Bank & Trust Company, the banking house of John S. Cook & Company, or the Nye & Ormsby County Bank of this city, and ask them as to our reliability or standing. We can refer you to any of the other banks at Tonopah, Manhattan, Bullfrog.

DIVIDENDS ARE IN SIGHT.

The mines of Manhattan are nearer a dividend-paying basis than many properties which have been operated for years. Rich ore running into the thousands is uncovered from the grass roots. This is what has made Manhattan the talk of the mining world, and has attracted six thousand miners to the scene. Capitalists and large mine operators are flocking to Manhattan from all sections. We were on the ground when the camp numbered less than a score of people, and our clients are receiving the benefit of our good fortune, as we then tied up by bond or purchased the cream of the properties of the district.

WE WERE FIRST IN MANHATTAN.

Our properties are the best in that district. In making an allottment of treasury stock for subscription in Canada we have selected a property which has been experted by several of the best engineers in Southern Nevada, and one which promises to be a shipper of high grade within a very short time. The same great ledges which traverse the Buffalo property and which have been proven to a considerable depth, cross the ground of the Manhattan Treadwell Gold Mining Company,

AN ABSOLUTE GUARANTEE.

Our recommendation of a property is an absolute guarantee. Our clients reside in every section of the United States as well as many foreign countries. Thousands of them have joined us in the fortune making in Southern Nevada. The Alaskan country in its halcyon days never offered the opportunities that are at hand in Nevada to-day. John W. Gates, Chas. M. Schwab and other of the monied kings of the country have invested millions in Nevada mines within the past twelve months. The short span of one year has worked marvels in Nevada. Gold is being found in so many new places, and the development and proving up of the ore bodies of the older mines has progressed with such rapidity that Nevada to-day is the theatre of mining activities that are rivaling the days of the Comstock.

Fortunes for Those Who Grasp the Opportunity.

We organized the Seylor-Humphrey Mining Company two months ago for the purpose of taking over the original discovery at Manhattan. The stock was sold to the public at 25 cents per share. It advanced steadily in price, and during a period of weeks very nearly doubled in value. As this ad. is being written we are in receipt of a cipher telegram from our Mr. Sol. Camp, who is personally superintending our operations in Manhattan, stating that a phenomenally rich strike has been made in the main working shaft, and that the miners are sacking $20,000 ore—rock that runs $20,000 to the ton. So rich is this output that armed guards are present at all times, and the rock is mined and hoisted to the surface under the watchful eye of the officers of the company. The showing on the Treadwell Company's property is equally as good as that made by the Seylor-Humphrey at the same period of development.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tumbestone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularisation of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

"No; but it's only a question of time before he will be, I imagine," laughed Horace. "To tell you the plain truth, if you will pardon the language, Miss Flora Sanford, his partner's neice, has made a 'dead set' for Mr. Chesleigh."

Reine looked greatly interested, and it was a pleasure to Horace Arnold to have such an attentive listener, and he went on readily enough.

"She is a beautiful, dashing girl, this Miss Flora, but not quite the style, Mr. Chesleigh admires most, if I am any judge. She is tall and dark, like a Spanish princess. She always reminds me of a picture in the magazine.

"Every day she comes to the office and calls for her uncle; but we clerks know that's only a blind. It's Mr. Chesleigh she wants to see.

"She always manages, on one pretext or another, to sit and chat until Mr. Chesleigh is about to leave the office for the day, and she very kindly offers to drive him in her phaeton—which is at the door—to his destination. He cannot well refuse, and is quite used by this time to being made a captive of. She will get the noblest and best-hearted young man in New York when she does get him," young Arnold went on, meditatively. "He is certainly a capital fellow, and will make her a husband that any young lady might be proud of—"

"Why, what is the matter, Miss Waldron? Are you ill?" he cried, in affright. "Your face is the color of that paper in your hands. How stupid of me to tire you by recounting gossip concerning people whom you have never seen!"

"I am very tired; that is all," said Reine, laying down her pen wearily. "I think I will stop writing for to-day, and go up to my own room."

"It is tiresome work," admitted Horace, pityingly. "Let me finish those pages you have in your hand, while you go and rest."

Reine shook her head.

"You are tired enough doing your own day's work," she said. "I must not tax you by thinking of mine."

"It would be a great pleasure to me to do anything for you, Miss Reine," he said, modestly, his fair, handsome, boyish face flushing hotly.

"I have known her but few weeks," he soliloquized, "and—I love her."

All the beauty and warmth of the room seemed to fade as the door closed upon her slender, retreating form.

He quite believed that a romantic fate had brought Reine to his mother's home; that he should see her, love her, and in time win for his own.

Poor boy! how little he dreamed that fate had an altogether different purpose in bringing Reine thither!

Meanwhile the object of his thoughts went wearily up to her own room. All night long Reine tossed restlessly upon a pillow that was wet with burning tears.

"Why do I weep?" she asked herself, bitterly, over and over again. "Is it because they tell me my dear old friend is to marry and to be happy at last? Am I so selfish that, because I have found no happiness I weep when I hear of the happiness of others?"

Of course he would marry some day. Few men remained single because they failed to win their first love.

Yet the thought brought with it the keenest pain to her heart; not that he was, or ever could be, anything to her now—for a barrier that could never be beaten down was raised between them. That barrier was Waldemar Waldron.

True, he had deserted her—wilfully, deliberately—yet she was still his wedded wife until death should come to her to break the heavy bonds.

She must not complain, for she had fastened those heavy chains that shackled her, with her own white hands.

True, she could have found freedom through recourse to the divorce courts, but Reine shrank from dissolving the ties that bound her in that way. To her, those whom God had joined together in holy marriage could never be put asunder by the hand of man.

From that hour Reine commenced to droop and fade; still she kept at her copying with feverish energy, devoting her spare time, to keep her mind busied, by painting a Southern landscape.

Quite unconsciously many of the old scenes and picturesque spots in the vicinity of Fairlawn were worked out upon the canvas under her deft brush, even to a small cascade that flowed between two cleft perpendicular rocks at the rear of her father's estate.

Horace Arnold was delighted with it, and insisted upon showing it to an old friend of his—an artist who had a studio on Broadway.

"I am sure Reine possesses more than ordinary talent, mother," he declared. "Do persuade her to permit me to show it to my friend."

In vain Reine protested; mother and son carried their point, and Horace duly carried it to his friend's studio.

The young artist went in raptures over it.

"Why, it is a perfect gem, my dear boy," he cried, laying his hand on his friend's shoulder. "Whoever painted that is a genius. It is so true to nature. I went there sketching last summer, and upon my honor I did not do one-half so well as this. It is in the heart of the Virginia hills, near a grand old country-place, called Fairlawn. If you like, I will put it in my window with the artist's name attached, and who knows but what it will bring her in many an order," he said, kindly.

Horace Arnold was delighted.

"Put it into your window by all means," he said, "but as for putting on a card with the artist's name, I wouldn't advise it. She would not like it, I am sure."

Any young lady ought to be proud to put her name to a work like that," insisted the enthusiastic young artist; "however, let it be as you say. I should like very much to meet this young artist. Bring her down to the studio, Arnold."

Then Horace Arnold saw what mischief he had done. His artist friend was interested in Reine, if he were to see her, he would fall in love with her on sight. Ah, no, he must not see Reine; he must prevent that.

Frederick Ballou, the young artist, had the picture Reine had painted put into a superb and unique frame, and placed it in the window without delay.

It attracted great attention. New York pedestrians have an eye for such a gorgeous bit of coloring as was this; so true to nature, one could almost fancy himself transplanted on this cold, stormy day, to the cheery scenes among the green sunlit hills upon which they gazed.

Quite a little knot of beauty worshippers gathered about the artist's window ere Reine's picture had been there an hour; and this was what had attracted Bernard Chesleigh to the spot, as he was hurrying down Broadway.

For one moment he gazed carelessly enough; then, a sudden whiteness overspread his face, as his quick eyes took in every detail of that beloved and familiar scene.

The young artist answered in the affirmative; adding, that he would be pleased to send for the young lady who painted it, if the gentleman had any thought of purchasing it; or, if he was passing that way, he might call upon her himself in reference to it. No doubt she would be pleased to dispose of it, and at a very low figure.

The artist jotted down the street and number, apologizing for being unable to furnish him the name of the young lady.

Bernard Chesleigh put the slip of paper in his pocket-book. And, an hour later, finding himself in that vicinity, ran lightly up the steps and touched the bell, surprised to find the young lady living at the home of his clerk.

Mrs. Arnold was delighted to see him, and still more delighted to learn the errand upon which he had come.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Mrs. Arnold came up to Reine's room all in a flutter of excitement, and told her the wonderful news. Mr. Bernard Chesleigh, the great lawyer, had seen the picture in a window in passing—and, being told her number, had come to purchase it if it was for sale.

How Reine's heart beat as she listened!

"He wants to buy it because the scene recalls the home of an old friend who has but very recently passed away."

The lovely face into which Mrs. Arnold gazed was as white as death; a great trembling had seized Reine.

"Tell him he can have the picture at any price—he—he—thinks it is worth," she said chokingly. "I—I—cannot see him—and—and—Mrs. Ar-

USING A GAS STOVE.

How to Meet the Problem of Keeping Things Warm.

Keeping things warm is the problem which confronts every user of a gas stove.

Unless there is a broiling oven separate from the baking oven—and this is an expensive arrangement—there is no room in the ordinary gas range for keeping a course dinner hot. Even then the heat is of the kind that is death to both the flavor and looks of the dishes.

A way to manage a warming oven which is perfect, besides being out of the way, is to get a sheet iron or tin oven of the kind which is made to go over coal oil or little flat gas stoves. Get just as large a one as you can possibly afford, as every extra square inch will pay you in more ways than one. Get a couple of deep iron brackets to set in on and fasten to the wall at a convenient height and distance from the stove. Under it set a low box or fasten a shelf and upon this set one of the little coal oil stove lamps that sell for a little over a quarter. You will find that the heat is of the mild and even kind that keeps things perfectly. The top is an ideal place for raising bread, and things which require slow baking, as custard or rice, can be cooked in it to the saving of gas.

In a kitchen in which a coal range keeps its place beside the gas stove the problem is made simple by setting the little lamp under the warming oven of the range while cooking by gas.—Exchange.

FRENCH BREAD.

The Way It Is Made and Why It Is Always Sweet.

French bread is always sweet and good according to the way in which it is baked. A French baker never makes a thick loaf, no matter what the shape. The loaves are two-thirds crust and are so thin that the heat strikes through them almost as soon as they are put in the oven. This stops all fermentation, while in a large loaf the process goes on a long time before it is put in the oven, and part of the sweetness is lost.

Another point which helps make the peculiar sweetness of French bread is that it is baked a long time in an oven that is made "slow" after the first few minutes.

The glazing of the loaf is produced by a pipe with which professional French bakers throw steam into the oven, and the moist heat, coming in contact with the dextrin in the bread, changes it into what is called British gum. It is, however, the glaze which improves the bread not only in looks, but in flavor, and a good imitation of it can be acquired in the ordinary oven by keeping in it a pan of hot water.—Exchange.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES.

Dates are excellent for people with consumptive tendencies, are very easily digested and contain abundance of sugar.

Malic acid is peculiarly helpful to the body, and apples, pears, plums, peaches and cherries all contain it. Tomatoes also contain it.

Potatoes, the old standby, contain all the inorganic elements of the body except fluorin. They contain a quantity of potassium salts—good for nerve and muscle.

Lemons are excellent for curing colds or allaying feverishness. Their citric acid supplies the blood with a cooling agent, making this fruit a febrifuge. Oranges act in the same way, but with slightly less strength.

Tomatoes are among the fruits rich in potash, especially good for the blood and with a marked action on digestive operations. They provide alkaline matter for the bile and are wholesome for people who suffer from jaundice or sick headaches.

MAY MOVE TO KINGSTON?

Kingston, April 12.—It is expected that the Presbyterian General Assembly, when it meets in June, will deal with a proposal to amalgamate the theological faculties of Knox and Queen's by removing Knox to Kingston. The latter requires new quarters, and Queen's trustees will give the old Arts Building for a theological college. The proposition is to retain the name of Knox.

At present Queen's has forty theological students, and Knox about sixty. It costs $30,000 a year to maintain Knox. Half this amount could be saved by the amalgamation.

It has double the capacity of any independent refinery in Kansas; 1,000-barrel plant complete and in operation; 15 miles of pipe lines; 100 wells in touch with same; 14 tanks ranging from 500 to 11,000 barrels each; refinery site, 80 acres; three tremendous Gas Wells upon same, furnishing fuel for the entire plant; railroad facilities, the best in the West; lease on hundreds of acres of oil lands, amount sufficient to produce from 400 to 600 wells; properties valued $250,000, $100,000 in bank and bills receivable; references—Dun's and Bradstreet's Commercial Agencies, Kansas City, Mo., Bank of Erie, Allen's State Bank, Erie, Kansas; County and Town Officers, Erie, Kansas.

I want investors that can place from $25 to $10,000 to investigate this proposition thoroughly. In order to increase capacity of plant, lay from 30 to 40 miles more of pipe lines will keep a large lot of crude oil on hand, besides purchasing a number of 17,000-barrel storage tanks, will sell a limited amount of stock at the absurdly low price of 25c. per share. Par value $1.00.

There is nothing equal to this proposition in America today as an investment at this price.

Numbers of investors have examined the properties within the last few weeks and have purchased from $100 to $15,000 worth of stock each. This is one Company that will stand the most thorough investigation and the more you investigate the larger will be your purchase.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7 50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 150x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land as $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

TWO ALPHABET LETTERS.

"J" and "W" Comparatively Recent Additions to the List.

It is a fact, not so well known but that it may be said to be curious, that the letters j and w are modern additions to our alphabet. The letter j only came into general use during the time of the commonwealth, say between 1649 and 1658. From 1630 to 1646 its use is exceedingly rare, and I have never yet seen a book printed prior to 1652 in which it appeared.

In the century immediately preceding the seventeenth it became the fashion to tail the last i when Roman numerals were used, as in this example, viij for 8 or xij in place of 12. This fashion still lingers, but only in physicians' prescriptions, I believe. Where the French use j it has the power of s as we use it in the word "vision." What nation was the first to use it as a new letter is an interesting but perhaps unanswerable query.

In a like manner the printers and language makers of the latter part of the sixteenth century began to recognise the fact that there was a sound in spoken English which was without a representative in the shape of an alphabetical sign or character, as in the first sound in the word "wet."

Prior to that time it had always been spelled as "vet," the v having the long sound of u or of two u's together. In order to convey an idea of the new sound they began to spell such words as "wet," "weather," "web," etc., with two u's, and as the u of that date was a typical v the three words above looked like this: "Vvet," "vveather," "vveb."

After awhile the typefounders recognised the fact that the double u had come to stay, so they joined the two u's together and made the character now so well known as w. I have one book in which three forms of the w are given. The first is an old double v (vv); the next is one in which the last stroke of the first v crosses the first stroke of the second, and the third is the common w we use today.

Women Electrical Workers.

An industry into which women are going is that of making electrical apparatus, and because it is comparatively modern they have, at starting, more nearly an even chance with men than in most other lines. In lamp work especially more women are now employed than any one would suppose until an investigation had been made, and this is because, perhaps, of the manual dexterity needed. The deftness of woman's fingers is especially valuable in the delicate operations of inserting the tiny wires and filaments. The preliminary washing of the glass globes, which must be spotlessly clean, is another job generally intrusted to women and girls. It is said that when paid by the piece a woman makes generally more than a man in many of these operations because of the greater rapidity with which she works.—Philadelphia Record.

Branding Baby For Identification.

Let a mother study the appearance of her child's body well and decide for herself whether there be about it any ineffaceable mark by which she could identify him anywhere and at any time. If there is nothing that time may not efface, then let her have him marked in such a way that she would know him. It is only a question of a few drops of Indian ink, an operation no more painful than vaccination.—Family Doctor.

Shampoo.

There is a honey and rhubarb shampoo that is said to lighten the hair without injuring it. The preparation is made of an ounce of strained honey and an ounce of rhubarb stalks steeped for twenty-four hours in three ounces of white wine. Strain and wet the entire head and long hair, letting it dry in. Then wash off in clear water.

Cause of Earthquakes

Prof. Cox, of McGill University, Montreal, Refers to Vesuvius.

Montreal, April 19.—Professor Cox, of McGill University, explained the cause and effects of earthquakes and volcanic eruptions. He said that the convulsion at Vesuvius might have had some connection with the destruction at San Francisco.

"When the earth is disturbed in any part it might lead to disturbances in other parts," said the Professor. Continuing, he remarked: "When a disturbance takes place, it generally sends a wave through the earth which is perceived in all parts of the world. When a big eruption occurs there are generally two waves of disturbance—one travelling along the surface of the earth and the other through the solid interior. These waves which have travelled with different speeds and by paths of different lengths arrive at any other place at different times, and by means of the interval between their arrivals it is possible to estimate the distance of the original disturbance. In this way Professor Milne, from observations made in the Isle of Wight, has more than once given notice of earthquakes occuring in Japan and other foreign countries some hours before any telegraphic news had arrived."

Professor Cox also explained that the earth is all the time cooling and contracting and the crust is bound to settle in at intervals which, if sufficiently violent, will cause the whole earth to shake.

The Professor laughed when asked by the reporter if he thought there was any danger of a repitition of Vesuvius on Mount Royal in the near future.

Professor Cox said he could see no reason for alarm, but added: "You never can tell." He said that science had accomplished much, but scientists made mistakes like others. There must have been [illegible] in this part of the world at some time in the world's history, but he did not think that Montreal people should be unduly alarmed on account of the wreck and loss of life at Vesuvius or San Francisco.

AN OLD INDIAN FEUD

THE WAY IT WAS ENDED BY THE ACT OF A LITTLE CHILD.

Story of the Long and Bitter Enmity Between Crazy Wolf and Little Scar. The Incident That Paved the Way to Peace.

Crazy Wolf was a warrior of the Sioux nation who held to all the savage traditions of his race. For years he refused to receive rations from the hands of the whites, and this marked him singular among all the Sioux. His deadly enemy was Little Scar, who had made lasting peace in his heart with the whites and who had yielded little by little to the allurements of civilized living.

When the remnant of the stricken Pawnees had turned to fly Crazy Wolf and Little Scar quarreled over the right to take a scalp, and a hand-to-hand combat ensued. The chiefs parted them and said that neither must die, for the nation had need of all its men. Though the hands of Crazy Wolf and Little Scar were stayed by the chieftains, hatred still lived in their hearts.

It was ten years after the battle with the Pawnees and at the Pine Ridge agency, where a portion of the Sioux had been gathered, the government erected a schoolhouse for the Indian children. Instantly a division occurred between the fathers of the tribe. One-half of the warriors wished to send their little ones to the school. The other half declared that the teaching of the whites should never have place in the minds of their children. The children of Little Scar went to the school. The children of Crazy Wolf were kept in the wigwam.

Runners came to Pine Ridge from Standing Rock and the Rosebud. They told of the coming of the Messiah, that the buffalo were returning and that if the southern Sioux would but put their ears to the ground they would hear the thunder of the hoofs of the oncoming herd.

One-half of the warriors at Pine Ridge were seized with the Messiah craze. They danced the ghost dance and put on the ghost shirts. The one-half stampeded from the agency, and with it went Crazy Wolf, as savage in heart as he was when he fought the Pawnees on the frontier of Nebraska. Little Scar stayed at the agency.

One day after the battle of Wounded Knee had been fought a band of twenty Sioux braves broke away from the main body for the sole purpose of raiding Pine Ridge agency and killing the children who were gathered in the schoolhouse—the children of their brothers who had succumbed to the white man's ways. In the band was Crazy Wolf, his heart full of the lust of killing.

The warriors came within sight of the schoolhouse. It stood on a bluff and on one side was absolutely unprotected. Crazy Wolf knew the location of the room in which the little ones gathered daily at their lessons. The mounted warriors made a headlong rush down the valley skirting the ridge, and as they whirled by the school they poured volley after volley into the room where the children of the friendly Sioux daily were assembled.

It was not the fault of Crazy Wolf that on that day there was not a slaughter of the innocents. A teacher had seen the feathered heads showing among the willows by White Clay creek and, taking the alarm, had hurried the children to the cellar.

The raiding band went northward. There was cavalry at the post to take up the pursuit, and the fugitives succeeded in reaching the main body of Indians, who by this time were surrounded by the troops of General Miles and were being gradually forced into the agency.

Crazy Wolf, when he saw the surrender of his brethren was coming, mounted his pony and made for the Bad Lands. He foresaw the end of the uprising and the complete subjugation of his people, and he DIED IT BY the doors of the tepees of the Sioux who had refused to join the braves on the war-path.

Crazy Wolf made up his mind to kill Little Scar. He nearly starved in the Bad Lands, and his pony was dead. A week after the surrender he started for the agency on foot. His ammunition was gone, and he had nothing but his knife. He ate willow bark and roots. Hunger took his bodily strength, but his heart purpose was unweakened.

Crazy Wolf, starving, lay on the bank of the White Clay creek. The tepee of Little Scar was only 300 yards away. Crazy Wolf was famished, but he lay there in the bushes waiting for night and vengeance. He looked down to the water's edge, and there he saw a little girl with a willow basket full of food. The little one looked up and saw the famished eyes of the warrior, who smiled at him and held out her basket. Crazy Wolf knew his strength was going fast. It might not last him till the hour of revenge. He ate the proffered food. The child was molding clay. Suddenly she turned and offered Crazy Wolf the model of a peace pipe. "You have eaten," she said; "now smoke."

Crazy Wolf took the pipe and blew an imaginary cloud of smoke away from his lips. The little one smiled at him again.

"Whose child are you?" asked Crazy Wolf.

"The child of the great warrior Little Scar," was the answer.

Crazy Wolf had eaten the bread of Little Scar and had smoked the pipe of peace. He had never broken a tradition of the Sioux race.

GREAT VOYAGERS.

As a General Rule, They Came From the Smaller Countries.

Portugal is a small country, with a land area one-third less than the state of New York, but it has turned out in its time celebrated navigators, Cabral and Da Sousa among them.

It is a somewhat peculiar circumstance in the history of ocean navigation that the chief navigators of Europe have usually been natives of minor kingdoms and without the advantages which would naturally accrue to a representative of one of the larger governments.

Christopher Columbus, as every schoolboy knows, was a native of Genoa at the time when the Italian peninsula was subdivided among numerous petty governments. John Cabot was a Venetian, who sailed in the service of England, as Columbus had sailed in the service of Spain. Amerigo Vespucci was a Florentine, who sailed originally in the service of Spain and afterward transferred himself to the Portuguese service and then went back to the Spanish service for a second time.

Vitus Bering, after whom Bering strait was called, was a Dane by birth, who served under the naval flag of Russia. Magellan, after whom Magellan strait was named, was a native of Alemtejo, in Portugal, and was the first to complete the circumnavigation of the globe, in 1522.

Verazzani was a Florentine, whose voyages of discovery were undertaken under the protection of the flag of France. Hendrik Hudson was an Englishman, and it seems surprising to many persons in this day familiar with the pre-eminence of England as a maritime nation that he should have been in the service of the government of Holland when he discovered Manhattan Island.

Bottles.

Ancient bottles of glass, stone and metal have been found in many parts of Europe, Asia and Africa. Perfume bottles of glass have been discovered in great numbers in the tombs of wealthy ladies of Egypt. Many bottles, tumblers and other drinking vessels have been dug from the ruins of Pompeii. The most common bottle of the ancients, however, was of leather, the skin of a calf, goat or ox being taken off the carcass with as few cuts as possible and made into a receptacle for holding water or wine. The largest glass bottle ever blown was made at Leith, in Scotland, in 1747-48. Its capacity was two hogsheads.

Bad Habit.

"So you lost your position?" we ask of our young friend, who has demanded our sympathy.

"Yes; the firm told me I would have to quit."

"What reason was given?"

"I smoked cigarettes."

"Why, that seems hardly a sufficient reason for such drastic action."

"Yes, but I was smoking the boss' cigarettes, and he caught me at it."—Judge.

Matrimonial.

Three Germans were sitting at luncheon recently and were overheard discussing the second marriage of a mutual friend when one of them remarked: "I'll tell you what. A man what marries de second time don't deserve to have lost his first wife."—Life.

"The highways of literature are spread over," says Holmes, "with the shells of dead novels, each of which has been swallowed at a mouthful by the public and is done with."

Mrs. Heffernan Hurt Last Night.

Last night Ex-Councillor John McNaughton, gave the Board of Works a few pieces of his mind. It seems that last night an old lady named Mrs. Heffernan, whilst walking along Stewart street, by an alleged defect in the sidewalk, nearly broke a leg. The worthy ex-city father vehemently protested against the existing condition of the sidewalk.

Farmers Now Are Seeding.

And now the farmers of this county are busy getting in their seeding. The recent summer weather has dried up the land so that farming operations are easily possible. The men who drive the various stages delivering mail and passengers to various nearby villages, report that farmers are busily engaged, plowing, cultivating and seeding. This is considerably earlier than last year, when seeding was not general until the first of May.

—It was rumored yesterday that Mr. Bradburn, manager of the Grand Opera House, intends having a benefit performance for the earthquake sufferers next week. This is however only rumor. Mr. Bradburn being on when a Times' representative went to try and confirm the rumor.

WARNING

I wish to state positively that no one has in the past, nor will in the future be authorized or permitted to sell in Halls, Tents, or in any public places, my prescriptions—Dr. Shoop's Remedies. Reputable Druggists, or Chemists are my only legitimate representatives.

Certain parties, of questionable reputation, have been offering manufactured articles in the undignified manner mentioned above, said articles purporting to have been created at my Laboratories. Probably the persons responsible for this deception are aiming to gain the advantages that naturally will come to them because of the popularity of the genuine Dr. Shoop's preparations.

This article is published as a means of warning the public against the deception in question. Prosecutions at Law will follow.

THE EDITOR WRATHY

Millbrook Reporter up in Arms About His Barg.

Millbrook Reporter: Some fool writing in the Port Hope Guide from Millbrook anent the departures from here to the West speaks of our town as "A Deserted Village;" on account of the emigration. The facts are that not two families have left us and not more than half a dozen individuals. Some who had been up there and home for the winter returned again, and of the number that went nearly all were from the country. As a fact that Millbrook is booming as it never has in years and a decent house to rent is an impossibility, while real estate has doubled in value in five years. Don't foul your own nest or draw on your blinded imagination so much in future, petty correspondent, please.

SIX HOURS A DAY

Labour Unions Are Agitating for Six Hours' Work.

In Australia, which is practically being run by labor unions, a movement is under way for making it illegal and criminal for man to work more than six hours out of the twenty-four. We in Canada all know that the eight hours accorded in many of the smaller printing shops in Canada and the United States is immediately to be followed by a demand for seven hours. But Australian labor unions go one better.

Warsaw Wants Incorporation.

The good little village of Warsaw, which now claims a population of 900, is agitating to have Warsaw incorporated as a police village, and the necessary steps are being taken with this end in view. It is felt that Warsaw should now have a council of its own and control the expenditure of its money. The local branch of the Ontario Bank is proving a great convenience to the people of that village and is being largely patronized.

Dr. Shoop has created at his Laboratories a superior, sweet, toothsome candy tablets named Lax-ets. The ingredients are printed on very attractive little lithographed metal boxes, in which these tablets are sold. Lax-ets sell at the very low price of 5 cents per box. A better, safer, or more certain laxative than Lax-ets is, Dr. Shoop believes, absolutely impossible. Lax-ets are for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness, etc., etc. Sold by J. D. Tully.

HAMILTON INCENSED

The Ambitious City Kicking Over Curtailment of Royal Visit.

The loyal citizens of Hamilton are mad right through because the visit of Prince Arthur to the Ambitious City was reduced to a stay of only one-quarter of an hour. The mayor cancelled the municipal address and reception on account of the slight thus put on the city.

Local Educationalists Abroad.

Messrs. W. H. Hall and Wm. Prinale, who have been attending the sessions of the trustees section of the Ontario Educational Association, have returned to the city. Mr. V. G. Ferguson and Inspector D. ## Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skilful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers, of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder diseases and cachexia, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if needing a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

THE LAST CHANCE

T. H. McMILLAN, Cashier.

1. Moved by the Chairman, and seconded by Mr. Hamlin, that the report as read be adopted, printed and circulated among the Shareholders.—Carried.

2. Mr. Miller, seconded by Mr. Souch, moved that the thanks of the Shareholders are due and are hereby tendered to the President, Vice-President and Directors of the Bank for the manner in which they have conducted the affairs of the Bank during the past year.—Carried.

3. Mr. W. W. Tamblyn, seconded by Mr. Miller, moved that the thanks of the Shareholders be given to the Cashier and other officers of the Bank for their attention to the interests of the Bank.—Carried.

4. Dr. McIntosh, seconded by Mr. Gibson, moved that this meeting do now proceed to elect by ballot seven Directors to fill the place of those retiring, and that Messrs. F. W. Cowan and John McLaughlin be scrutineers for said election, and that the poll remain open for one hour to receive the votes of the shareholders, but that should five minutes elapse at any time without a vote being taken the poll shall be declared closed, and that the Scrutineers be paid $4 each for their services.—Carried

The Scrutineers reported the following seven gentlemen as having received the unanimous vote of the Shareholders, viz.: John Cowan, Esq.; B. S. Hamlin, Esq.; W. F. Cowan, Esq.; Dr. McIntosh, W. F. Allen, Esq.; T. Paterson, Esq. and J. A. Gibson, Esq., who were duly elected Directors for the ensuing year. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the Chairman for his able conduct in the chair, and the meeting then adjourned.

At a subsequent meeting of the new Board John Cowan, Esq., was unanimously elected President, and R. S Hamlin, Esq., Vice-President.

Ald. Graham Kept Busy.

Contractor James Graham will next week begin some extensive improvements to the Commercial House. The back part, to the east, now used only for storage of wood and other articles, will be torn down and a new roof placed thereon when rebuilt. He will also make extensive alterations in the interior of the building, such as rearranging some of the bedrooms.

Mr. Graham will next week put in a new front on the store now occupied by Mr. Redner on George street, as a bark shop.

Dredge Engaged Filling Hole.

Yesterday the dredge was kept busy filling in the big water hole, to the south-east of the Peterboro Cereal Company's works. The dredgings from the river are being used.

Mrs. Hefferman Hurt Last Night.

Last night Ex-Councillor John McNaughton, gave the Board of Works a few pieces of his mind. It seems that last night an old lady named Mrs. Hefferman, whilst walking along Stewart street, by an alleged defect of the sidewalk nearly broke a leg. The worthy ex-city father vehemently protested against the existing condition of the sidewalk.

Opportunities to Visit California.

Do not let this go by. Very low rates will be in effect via Grand Trunk Railway good going April 24th to May 6th, returning until July 31st; and good going June 24th to July 7th, returning until September 15th. Choice of any direct route going and returning, and certain stop over privileges. Call on Agents for full particulars or address J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Room 356, Union Station, Toronto.

Farmers Now Are Seeding.

And now the farmers of this county are busy getting in their seeding. The recent summer weather has dried up the land so that farming operations are easily possible. The men who drive the various stages delivering mail and passengers to various nearby villages, report that farmers are busily engaged, plowing, cultivating and seeding. This is considerably earlier than last year, when seeding was not general until the first of May.

—The Brass Workers "at home" in Foresters' Hall on Thursday night, was a huge success.

—The Peterboro Baseball team will practice this afternoon on the Murray street grounds.

Get Dr. Shoop's Free Book on Rheumatism. Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Tablets are sold by J. D. Tully.

—The meeting of the Licensed Victuallers' Association that was to have been held Monday has been postponed a few days.

The Peterboro Baseball Club will play an exhibition game with the Shellbeconas on Riverside Park a week from Saturday.

—You may catch suckers without a license, but don't forget to throw back such bass and maskinonge as may come on your tackle.

—Lindsay Post says under the heading "Baseball," Peterboro will be on hand good and strong again this year with a new battery to make things hum.

—Yesterday scaffolding was erected in front of the building in Hunter street, and workmen were engaged in altering and improving the premises.

—Lindsay Post says: It's now about time for our chief of police to be issuing his annual warning against issuing his annual warning to school boys and others against the killing of the birds. Why not do the same here?

—It was rumored yesterday that Mr. Bradburn, manager of the Grand Opera House, intends having a benefit performance for the earthquake sufferers next week. This is however, only rumor, Mr. Bradburn being out, when a Times' representative went to try and confirm the rumor.

WARNING

I wish to state positively that no one has in the past, nor will in the future be authorized or permitted to sell in Halls, Tents, or in any public places my prescriptions—Dr. Shoop's Remedies. Reputable Druggists, or Chemists are my only legitimate representatives.

Certain parties, of questionable reputation, have been offering manufactured articles in the undignified manner mentioned above, said articles purporting to have been created at my Laboratories. Probably the persons responsible for this deception are aiming to gain the advantages that naturally will come to them because of the popularity of the genuine Dr. Shoop's preparations.

This article is published as a means of warning the public against the deception in question. Prosecution's at Law will follow.

THE MURRAY ST. SCHOOL

Former Local Educational Institution is Now Out of Business.

The Murray street Separate school has been vacated and the key handed over to the military authorities. Unless the Public School Board makes use of the building, the school as an educational institution is a thing of the past.

The new Separate School will be ready for opening on Monday. The seats are being placed in it and other arrangements made for the accommodation of the pupils on Monday. Some of the seats from the Murray street school have been placed in the new building.

THE EDITOR WRATHY

Millbrook Reporter up in Arms About His Burg.

Millbrook Reporter: Some fool writing in the Port Hope Guide from Millbrook anent the departures from here to the West speaks of our town as "A Deserted Village," on account of the emigration. The facts are that not two families have left us and not more than half a dozen individuals. Some who had been up there and home for the winter returned again, and of the number that went nearly all were from the country. As a fact that Millbrook is booming as it never has in years and a decent house to rent is an impossibility, while real estate has doubled in value in five years. Don't foul your own nest or draw on your blinded imagination so much in future, petty correspondent, please.

Labour Unions Are Agitating for Six Hours' Work.

In Australia, which is practically being run by labor unions, a movement is under way for making it illegal and criminal for man to work more than six hours out of the twenty-four. We in Canada all know that the eight hours accorded in many of the smaller printing shops in Canada and the United States is immediately to be followed by a demand for seven hours. But Australian labor unions go one better.

Warsaw Wants Incorporation.

The good little village of Warsaw, which now claims a population of 300, is agitating to have Warsaw incorated as a police village, and the necessary steps are being taken with this end in view. It is felt that Warsaw should now have a council of its own and control the expenditure of its money. The local branch of the Ontario Bank is proving a great convenience to the people of that vicinity and is being largely patronized.

Dr. Shoop has created at his Laboratories a superior, sweet, toothsome candy tablet named Lax-ets. The ingredients are printed on very attractive little lithographed metal boxes, in which these tablets are sold. Lax-ets sell at the very low price of 5 cents per box. A better, safer, or more certain laxative than Lax-ets is, Dr. Shoop believes, absolutely impossible. Lax-ets are for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness, etc., etc. Sold by J. D. Tully.

HAMILTON INCENSED

The Ambitious City Kicking Over Curtailment of Royal Visit.

The loyal citizens of Hamilton are mad right through because the visit of Prince Arthur to the Ambitious City was reduced to a stay of only one-quarter of an hour. The mayor cancelled the municipal address and reception on account of the slight thus put on the city.

Local Educationalists Abroad.

Messrs. W. H. Hall and Wm. Pringle, who have been attending the sessions of the trustees section of the Ontario Educational Association, have returned to this city. Mr. W. G. Ferguson and Inspector D. Walker who were also in attendance, were in Guelph yesterday inspecting school buildings, in response to an invitation extended to the Peterboro delegation who were at the meetings.

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skilful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers, of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and catarrh, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if needing a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

The Scrutineers reported the following seven gentlemen as having received the unanimous vote of the Shareholders, viz.: John Cowan, Esq.; R. S. Hamlin, Esq.; W. F. Cowan, Esq.; Dr. McIntosh, W. F. Allen, Esq.; T. Paterson, Esq. and J. A. Gibson, Esq., who were duly elected Directors for the ensuing year. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the Chairman for his able conduct in the chair, and the meeting then adjourned.

At a subsequent meeting of the new Board John Cowan, Esq., was unanimously elected President, and R. S Hamlin, Esq., Vice-President.

Ald. Graham Kept Busy.

Contractor James Graham will next week begin some extensive improvements to the Commercial House. The back part, to the east, now used only for storage of wood and other articles, will be torn down and a new roof placed thereon when rebuilt. He will also make extensive alterations in the interior of the building, such as rearranging some of the bedrooms.

Mr. Graham will next week put in a new front on the store now occupied by Mr. Redner on George street, as a back shop.

City Sends Relief to San Francisco

Peterboro Council Granted $200, Saturday Night, as an Expression of Sympathy with Sufferers From the Earthquake.

The city fathers met in special session Saturday night when there were present, Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Wilson, Moore, Johnston, Graham, Elliott, Duncan and McWilliams.

His Worship explained that he had called the meeting to take action on the following telegram received Saturday afternoon in reference to sending relief to the sufferers in San Francisco:

Vancouver, B.C., April 20.
To the Mayor,
Peterboro, Ont.,

Vancouver pushing food supplies to San Francisco. If you are contributing, Vancouver Relief Committee, will, if you desire, purchase and transport promptly on your account,

ALEXANDER BETHUNE,
Acting Mayor,
R. P. MACLENNAN,
Pres. Board of Trade.

Commenting, his Worship declared that the corporation should appropriate something in aid of the sufferers from so appalling a disaster, if only to demonstrate in a suitable manner Peterboro's earnest sympathy with their fellow brother and sister mortals of the city of the Golden Gate in this their dire distress.

The Council were unanimous in concurring in Mayor Best's views, and Ald. McWilliams suggested that the Relief Committee at Vancouver be empowered to expend for Peterboro $200 as needed.

Ald. Elliott thought it would be more appropriate to send $200 worth of Peterboro's own products for the relief of San Francisco sufferers. He suggested that "Quaker Oats" to that amount be sent.

Of course it was r... that it would take some consid... time for this cereal to reach San Francisco, if forwarded from Peterboro; but the Council thought the American Cereal Co., might possibly have a distributing warehouse at Vancouver, in which event a telegram would assure quick delivery of the food.

As no means were available of ascertaining whether this plan would be practicable or not, the matter was left in the Mayor's hands, he to exercise his best judgment as to whether cereals or other food shall be forwarded, to the amount of $200, or the cash.

Ald. Johnston moved,—That this Council make a grant of $200 to the funds being raised for the relief of the sufferers in San Francisco from the results of the earthquake, and that the Mayor be authorized to send either the money or supplies, and that the Vancouver Relief Committee be asked to forward the same to San Francisco.—Carried unanimously.

The Council then adjourned.

SPRING ASSIZES

Open, With Mr. Justice Magee Presiding at One P.M. To-day.

There is a fair-sized docket to be considered by Mr. Justice Magee, when the spring assizes open at one o'clock today.

There are seven civil cases, six jury and one non-jury, and one criminal cause to be tried.

The criminal case is that of Patrick McAuliffe of Emily township, who is charged with killing Fred Hudson on June 1st, 1905.

Among the civil cases are several which will create much interest in the district and city. Of these the most important is the suit for damages brought by Robert Hill against John Dewart of Dummer for defamation of character.

Robert Hill, the plaintiff in both cases, is the father of Thomas Edward Hill, who was shot and killed by Chas. Gow on August 24th, 1905. Both the civil cases are the outcome of the shooting of the boy and the proceedings afterward.

Another civil case of great interest is that of Kidd vs. Kidd, which is an action to recover $10,000 damages, and the costs of the action for being dismissed from this position in the Provincial Secretary's office. The dismissal was due to the plaintiff opening and reading a letter intended for the defendant, so it is contended. This case, however, has been postponed as noted elsewhere in this issue.

The other civil cases for the jury are Delaire vs. Hall and Talbot vs. Hall, in which damages are claimed for injuries received in an elevator accident on the premises of Richard Hall & Son.

JURY CASES.

Thompson and Lee vs. Pett. L. and P. Co.—In this case the plaintiff, John Lee, 705 George street, and Etta Thompson, the housekeeper, claim that during the winter months of 1904-'05 the defendants permitted gas to escape from pipes into the house of the plaintiffs, the escape of gas being so great that the plaintiffs were made seriously ill, and the plaintiff Etta Thompson still remains in a precarious condition of health. In consequence of this escape of gas the plaintiffs claim that they were obliged to move away from their house, whereby they sustained heavy damage.

The plaintiff Etta Thompson claims $3,000 damages, and the plaintiff, John Lee, claims $500.

The defendants say that if gas escaped from their pipes, as alleged, the same occurred without negligence on the part of the defendant corporation, and that the company is not liable for the injuries, if any, sustained by the plaintiffs, John Green, Peterboro, for the plaintiffs; Denistoun Peck & Kerr, for defendants.

MISS HICKEY'S FUNERAL

Well Known Lady Laid to Rest Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon the last mortal remains of the late Miss Annie Hickey, who passed away Friday evening, were taken, and followed by many mourning friends, from the residence of her brother, Mr. Thomas Hickey, 91 Hunter street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

The late Miss Hickey was fifty-four years of age. She was born, and had resided in Peterboro all her life. Death was caused by a complication of diseases from which the deceased had suffered for some time. She is survived by one brother, Mr. Thos. Hickey.

She was a daughter of the late Daniel Hickey.

OUR SAVIOUR'S DEATH SENTENCE

Remarkable Document Discovered in Mexico.

BROUGHT FROM THE EAST

And is Believed to Be Genuine—Sold for $10 at Auction.

New York, April 21.—A musty old parchment upon which is written in Latin the death sentence pronounced by Pontius Pilate upon Jesus Christ was recently found in the Thieves' Market at Guadalajara, Mexico, by an attorney of New York, who paid $10 for the ancient document. He looks upon it as a rare find. The writing upon the parchment, when translated, reads as follows:

"I Pontius Pilate, here in Jerusalem, regent of the Roman empire, judge and condemn to death Jesus, known as the poor Nazarene, and of the nation of Galilee, a seditious man, opposed to the law and to our senate and the great emperor, Tiberius Caesar. And I determine that His death shall be on the cross, fastened with nails, as is the custom with criminals. Because here join and congregate each day many men, rich and poor, who have not desisted to provoke tumult throughout Judea, proclaiming this man the Son of God and King of Israel, and threatening ruin to this noted city of Jerusalem and its temple, and this sacred empire. And because He has refused tribute to Caesar, and has had the boldness to enter, with palms of triumph and with a great multitude, into the city of Jerusalem and into the sacred temple of Solomon, I, therefore, command the first centurion, named Quinto Cornelio, to remove from this city of Jerusalem this offender, putting upon Him such robes as shall make Him known to all, and the same cross upon which He is to crucify, and conducting Him through the streets between two robbers, who also have been condemned to death for thefts and murders, and in this manner making an example that all people and all criminals shall heed. And I further command that the public crier shall proclaim His offences as here expressed; and that after having traversed the public streets He shall be taken to the port of Pagora, now known as Antonia, to the mountain of Calvary, where it is the custom to execute all wicked criminals. There He shall be crucified on the same cross that He has carried, and His body shall be left hanging between those of the two robbers. And above the cross in the three languages that are now generally known, namely, Hebrew, Greek and Latin, shall be placed the inscription: 'This is Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews,' so that all may understand and that He shall be known to all. And let no one, of whatever state, rights or condition, under penalty of losing rights and life through rebellion to the Roman Empire, dare to interfere with the execution of the sentence with full rigor, as I have commanded, according to the Roman and Hebrew laws.

It is supposed that this relic found its way to Mexico long ago and that it was probably brought over by some Spaniard in the days of the conquest. How it found its way to the Thieves' Market is not known, as there is no record of who sold it.

MR. FRANCIS GONE

Ex-Engineer of Trent Valley Canal Leaves for the Coast.

The many friends, in this city, of Mr. W. J. Francis, whose resignation from the position of engineer on the Trent Valley Canal staff, was recently impelled, will regret to learn that he has left for his new field of usefulness in Nelson, British Columbia.

Mr. Francis who was not only a favorite socially and personally, but a most accomplished past-master of his profession, will doubtless make Nelson appreciate what Peterboro has lost by his absence.

Mr. Francis holds the degree of C. E., from Toronto University, one of six in the Dominion; is a member of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers as well, and an honor graduate of the Toronto School of Science.

Since securing this new position in west, he was urged very strongly to accept the position of superintendent of construction of the one hundred miles of railway about to be built on the Canadian border.

THE ALPINE CLUB

Red and Gun in Canada Made the Official Organ.

The Free Press of Winnipeg says that at the meeting of the Alpine Club of Canada held in that city a few days ago, and at which there were delegates from all parts of Canada, as far east as Halifax and as far west as Vancouver, Rod & Gun in Canada, the pioneer sportsman and tourist magazine, published at Woodstock, Ont., by W. J. Taylor, was made the official organ of the Club.

Shot to Save Suffering Pinioned in Debris as Flames Engulf

Incidents of the Earthquake Told by Refugees--"Like Rowing in Rough Water," One Description of the Experience--People Dazed.

Los Angeles, April 22.—"Soldiers shot dying beings to save them the tortures of death in the flames," said Miss Margaret Underhill, who arrived in this city last night from San Francisco. Miss Underhill is from Chicago and was the house guest of friends at Edd and Larkin streets.

"The horror of it all was so overwhelming," said Miss Underhill. "That its sight of the dead became common-place."

"The misery of the living received scarcely passing notice.

"Seconds seemed like hours and the two days like 20 years.

"I was in a three-storey frame building. The house seemed to swing like the pendulum of a clock. Plaster was leaving stone and cement walls from the wall as I sprang from my bed.

"At that moment the brick chimney of the Sacred Heart College adjoining, crashed through the ceiling, burying my bed beneath the debris.

"A second chimney fell a few feet behind me as I jumped down the hall.

"After the shock subsided I returned, dressed, and with the help of my friends, moved my trunk to the street, where I left it to be devoured by the flames.

"Three times my friends and I stopped to make a camping place in the street, where we thought the flames that were moving west would not reach us.

"We stopped to watch the soldiers, firemen and policemen, who with timbers from the wreckage, were at work on the front of a burning frame building. The front of a three-storey structure had fallen out.

SHOT SUFFERING MAN.

"Penned beneath the structure was a man who pleaded piteously to the men who worked to release him.

"His head and shoulders projected from the wreckage. With his free arm he tried to help the workers by pulling at the timbers. Eyes bulged from their sockets. One by one the men were drawn back by the approaching flames, until at last only one, a soldier, remained. His face was blistered by the heat.

"'Good-by,' the soldier shouted, as a sheet of flame swept round the corner of the building. The place was a roaring hell. The soldier picked up his rifle which was standing against a broken timber, and turned to go. From where he stood we could see the very timber that held the man down catch fire. His hair and mustache were singed.

"The soldier turned and went back to within 8 feet of the man, and said something I could not hear. Then he started to walk away.

"'Shoot me before you go!' the man yelled. The soldier turned quickly. His rifle was at his shoulder. The rifle cracked, and the blood spurted from the head of the man.

"I covered my eyes and walked on. "I saw mothers seated on the curbstones, trying to soothe the hunger of their babies with beer. As we walked along the waterfront I saw them digging trenches and burying piles of dead. Garbage wagons served as hearses.

"Wearied with the day, I slept soundly through the night. My bed was the rocks on North Beach."

LIKE BOAT IN ROUGH WATER.

Wallace H. Wells and wife of Philadelphia, arrived at Los Angeles on the early train yesterday morning. He said: "We occupied rooms on the ground floor in a large apartment house on Jones street. My first sensation was like being in a row boat in rough water. My wife said: 'It is an earthquake.'"

"We got out as soon as possible and went for high ground. In the afternoon I purchased a team and secured a driver, intending to get out of the city by way of San Mateo. We succeeded in getting to 25th and Valencia street when we found our way blocked. I turned the team over to the driver, and I guess he has it now, finally managed to get to the water front and over to Oakland.

"We have been touring the west, and had been in San Francisco two days. It was my first experience with earthquakes. If I have anything to say, it will be the last. We left our trunks, but are thankful to get out alive. It was an experience that will haunt me for life."

Mr. Wells left for the east on the afternoon train.

BUILDING SPLIT IN TWO.

"There was little panic of fright shown by the crowds on the streets after the shock," said A. Dalrymple, of New York, who was staying at the Grand Hotel in San Francisco, and is now at the Van Nuys, Los Angeles.

"I cannot describe to you the impression that orderly, quick, self-collected mass of hundreds of thousands of people made on me. As soon as I could get through the debris of plaster and wreckage of the hotel, I went over to the palace. The first sight I saw was a man with blood streaming from cuts on his head and body, carrying a dead woman in his arms. He placed the body on the floor of the court, and then told me he was the janitor of the building next the Crocker-Woodworth Bank. The first he knew of the catastrophe he found himself in the basement of the three-storey building, his dead wife beside him and all the belongings they had scattered about him, even to the cook stove. The building had simply split in two and thrown him and his wife down the three storeys into the cellar."

San Francisco, April 22.—For the first time in its history, San Francisco has had its taste of martial law. When darkness fell upon the desolated city, every inhabitant of the houses that were left standing grouped about their stoves in darkness early in the evening, cooking their suppers by fires built in front of their houses. The wind fanned many of the fires into nasty blazes, and for a time it looked as if many new fires would be started. But police orders were issued that all fires must be put out, and, with a score of assistants and soldiers, the building of fires in front of houses was summarily suppressed.

In all of the houses left standing no lights were allowed. In places where the orders of the police and the militia were disregarded, the occupants were forced to extinguish them. The only exception was in the case of hospitals. Soldiers patrolled the streets and no citizen was allowed to pass from one block to another except by written permission of the chief of police.

Every person left in San Francisco today breakfasted on food cooked in the open streets, no fires being allowed in the houses. A few bricks or stones gathered into a semblance of a furnace, with a few dry sticks beneath pans or kettles, was the improvised kitchen in which the food of the millionaire as well as the humblest workman was prepared. All through the fine residence section of Pacific Heights people sat on the sidewalks and took their black coffee, dry bread, crackers, and, in some cases, eggs and bacon.

AUTOS PLAY A PART.

Thousands of tons of provisions were brought over the bay during last night and sent to the various distributing stations in drays and automobiles. This latter vehicle has played an important part in the history of the past few days by carrying dynamite from place to place in the fight against the fire, in transporting troops and firemen to places of danger, in bringing supplies and in forwarding press matter and telegrams. Almost every private machine in the city are now in use, many of them voluntarily tendered, other commandeered by the military authorities.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Mayor Schmitz has issued the following proclamation, which citizens are instructed to observe:

"Do not be afraid of famine. There will be abundance of food supplied. Do not use any water except for drinking and cooking purposes. Do not light any fires in houses, stoves or fire places. Do not use any houses, closets under any circumstances, but dig earth closets in yards of vacant lots, using if possible, chloride of lime, or some other disinfectant. This is of the greatest importance and the water supply is only sufficient for drinking and cooking. Do not allow any garbage to remain on the premises, bury it immediately. Pestilence can only be avoided by complying with these regulations.

"You are particularly requested not to enter any business house or dwelling except your own, as you may be mistaken for one of the looters and shot on sight, as the orders are not to arrest but shoot down anyone caught stealing."

NO ONE HUNGRY.

Dr. Vorsanger, chairman of the committee to feed the hungry, reported that everything possible was done to provide food for the populace, and that not a hungry soul existed in San Francisco last night. There was no trouble in the distribution of the food, nor in procuring it, and a quantity and quality it was satisfactory.

At the Y.M.C.A. building on Page street, near Stanyon, and at the Park Lodge, thousands and thousands were fed from morning till night. All kinds of provisions and clothing, meat, vegetables, bread, canned goods, tea and coffee and the like were handed out in abundance, not a soul being turned away empty-handed. Dr. Vorsanger appeals to all citizens who own teams of horses to come to the front with them at once, as the committee has experienced much difficulty in moving the supplies. This morning 150 Stanford students will traverse the various districts of the city and hand out supplies from door to door, and at the same time additional stations will be established. Twenty carloads of food of various kinds will be here this morning.

BATTERY MAN DESERTS.

Kingston, April 22.—The schooner charged with being implicated in the McCabe robbery, was again before the police magistrate yesterday, but was further remanded.

Desertions from the two batteries are still going on. Gunner James McKenzie deserted last night. He had a pass till midnight and his soldier clothes were found in a lane this morning. These he had evidently exchanged for civilian's.

HARD TO DROP

But Many Drop It.

A young Calif. wife talks about coffee:

"It was hard to drop Mocha and Java and give Postum Food Coffee a trial but my nerves were so shattered that I was a nervous wreck and of course that means all kinds of ills.

"At first I thought bicycle riding caused it and I gave it up, but my condition remained unchanged. I did not want to acknowledge coffee caused the trouble for I was very fond of it. At that time a friend came to live with us, and I noticed that after he had been with us a week he would not drink his coffee any more. I asked him the reason. He replied, 'I have not had a headache since I left off drinking coffee, some months ago, till last week, when I began again, here at your table. I don't see how anyone can like coffee, anyway, after drinking Postum!'

"I said nothing, but at once ordered a package of Postum. That was five months ago, and we have drank no other coffee since, except on two occasions when we had company, and the result each time was that my husband could not sleep, but lay awake and tossed and talked half the night. We were convinced that coffee caused this suffering, so he returned to Postum Food Coffee, convinced that the old kind was an enemy, instead of a friend, and he is troubled no more by insomnia.

"I, myself, have gained 8 pounds in weight, and my nerves have ceased to quiver. It seems so easy now to quit the old coffee that caused our aches and ails and take up Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

MAY SEND MAN TO GALLOWS

Tensely Dramatic Scene in Montreal Court During Trial of Hackett.

Montreal, April 21.—Strong evidence against Hackett was given yesterday afternoon at the preliminary enquiry before Judge Dandurand into the murder of little Edith May Ahern—evidence which produced one of the most dramatic moments in the whole case so far.

Edward McCrae, an intelligent lad of 13, was the chief witness—a new one discovered by the police since the inquest. He described in detail his meeting the little Ahern girl and her drunken companion on the fatal Tuesday.

When the coroner's clearness of a practised mind, he examined each event and the appearance of the two fifteen years ago evening. "Do you see that man?" asked Crown Attorney Guerin.

A few moments of intense silence followed as the lad, whose head did not touch much above the rail of the witness box, cast his head around him, to learn strange scene.

Suddenly he caught sight of Hackett.

"There he is!" he cried impulsively, pointing to the prisoner, who visibly quivered and drew back.

A moment later he was made to stand up, and the boy was just as positive that he was the man.

Mr. O'Sullivan sharply cross-examined the lad until he broke into serious tears, but he stuck firmly to his story.

AFTER HIS WIFE

Port Perry Man After His Wife Who Left With Bar-Tender.

Our readers will remember that some few weeks ago, we noted that a bartender working in a local hostelry, left for parts unknown as rumor has it, and that there went with him a woman whose husband was at the time away and living in Port Perry.

The husband arrived in the city on Friday last, and as soon went to the place where the bartender had been working up to the day she left with the bartender.

On arrival he discovered that the bartender had to be asked to his room as wife-hunting did not have sufficient money to go to Nipissing. The keeper of the house, where the gay Lothario formerly worked here, supplied him with sufficient funds to finish his search.

It is said that the husband was armed with a weapon calculated to let sweetness different brands of sunshine through that man who took his wife, so further developments may be looked for.

It was rumored that the bartender the day he left with the woman, had married her just before leaving; if so this complicates matters considerably.

TOOK TO THE WOODS

Inspector Johnston Chases Spearers and Gets Two Fine Muskinonge.

On Saturday, Mr. Johnston, fishery overseer of the Otonabee and Rice lake waters, returned from an official visit of inspection to Rice lake. On Friday last, he accompanied by Mr. R. Thorndyke in a canoe, were prowling about in the search for law breakers.

On the shore of Rice Lake, just to the west of the river's mouth, they saw two men engaged in spearing from the shore.

On discovering the inspector, the two men took to their heels through the woods, and although pursued, had too great a start, and escaped, taking all their goods with them, excepting two muskinonge, that turned the scale at 45 pounds. Mr. Johnston says they were the finest pair of fish he has ever seen.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water, the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co., forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Chio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ON E!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

CAN YOU RESIST DISEASE GERMS?

Yes, and becomes "Germ-proof" by Driving Out Blood Humors and Restoring the System.

Why are doctors and hospitals so busy in spring-time? Easily answered. People haven't made surplus vigor in the spring; it was all used up in fighting off colds through the winter.

With thin blood and low vitality, the germs of disease become active and cause fevers and debility.

Your one protection is to get the abundant vigor that Ferrozone so quickly supplies; it gives spring sickness that "tired feeling," restores nerve energy and instills vim and force into every ailing organ of the body.

No ab ier restorative is known than Ferrozone; its influence is not temporary but lasting, laying a sound foundation of health that lasts till old age.

Mr. Nazaire Begin, of Watton, P.Q., Que., who received permanent benefit from Ferrozone, writes: "I cannot speak too highly in praise of Ferrozone. If any one had told me that any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I wouldn't have believed it.

"Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health.

"Ferrozone has filled me up with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Your health through the summer depends on clearing away all traces of spring sickness; the remedy is Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE UNEASY EARTH

Within a few weeks the earth has given many terrible proofs of its instability. An earthquake in the beautiful island of Formosa killed thousands of people and devastated flourishing towns. The eruption of Vesuvius destroyed many hundred human beings and laid waste a fertile and populous district. The west coast of South America, in the region just north of the equator, was visited by an earthquake which caused enormous damage, and killed probably 2,000 persons. Now comes the fearful disaster in San Francisco and its suburbs.

Several days ago an eminent German physicist declared his belief that the unexplained explosion in the French coal mine where more than a thousand miners perished was due to an abnormal condition of the earth's crust. He then predicted further disasters before the seismic disturbances, of which he deemed the eruption of Vesuvius only one feature, should come to an end. Since then there have been signs of activity in volcanoes long extinct, or nearly so. Aetna and Ranier, one in Sicily, the other on Puget Sound, have attracted attention in that manner.

Manifestly, the old earth is abnormal. The globe is uneasy. Why we cannot know. Sunspots are talked of as the explanation. It is possibly as good a guess as any other, but there is neither evidence nor logic to prove that any such theory explains the facts patent to all the world.

IN DOING THINGS.

The Whitney Government has been attracting a good deal of attention of late through the number of important measures it has decided upon or passed into law. Several weeks ago it established a Railway Commission giving it very wide powers, and the act was considered one of the notable events of the day. The License bill a few weeks later was also an important measure. While it meets with opposition from the extremists of both parties, the weight of moderate opinion seems to be in its favor. Again, the report of the Municipal Power Commission, of which one of the Ministry, though without portfolio, Hon. Adam Beck, was a member, has just been published, and it is safe to say no matter in Ontario is attracting more general attention than the subject with which it deals—cheap electric power from Niagara. The municipalities through western Ontario are keenly interested, and the report of the Commission gives hope of cheaper power than has hitherto been deemed possible. Then emphasizing the attitude of the Government towards public control is its declaration that it will go into mining for the benefit of the Province. It happens that there is a large timber limit, the Gillies limit, adjacent to the Cobalt mines. Prospectors have not been allowed on this since the lumbermen have sole control over the limit till October next, when their lease expires. Prospectors, if they could, would run wild over this territory in the next few months. Some lucky ones would make stakes, then the claims would pass into the hands of rich speculators, and a dozen or two outsiders would reap all the richness of Ontario's own hidden wealth. The Government intends to see that the Province itself benefits by what belongs to it, and if regulations can be so framed that private initiative will not be unreasonably discouraged, while the rapacity of the would-be-monopolists is checked it will be a good thing for the country. The Government already owns a railway into this new territory, the Temiskaming road, and it is already talking of another branch to serve this new, rich mineral district. Certainly Mr. Whitney does not seem to be lacking in courage of initiative, and these when combined with prudance are splendid qualities in a Government leader as elsewhere. Even The Globe suggests that Mr. Whitney seems to be doing things.

EARLY CREEK HISTORY.

In the Time of Cortes the Tribe Life Was Idyllic.

The Creeks are an entirely different race of people from the Cherokees and other northern Indians. They are of Aztec, or, rather, Toltec, origin, and in a teocallis, or pyramidal, temple, located in a secluded wild of the Creek country, the same religious rites and ceremonies are performed today that were performed in the imposing teocallis located on the bank of the beautiful Lake Tescuco, in the days of the ill starred Montezuma II. The archives of the nation are here preserved in hieroglyphics, beautifully painted on shells, strung together on deer tendons. Here are also preserved their most cherished relics, their green jasper altar and a life sized image of their great war god, both brought from their former home near Vera Cruz, Mexico.

At the time Cortes made his appearance in that neighborhood, bent upon a career of conquest and plunder, the Creeks, as they are now called, were living a peaceful, idyllic life in a land made sacred to them by having been the home of their ancestors for untold thousands of moons and containing the ashes and bones of their wise and loved old men through many generations. Gathering their warriors together, they gave battle to the invaders, but weapons of stone and flint could make but little impression upon the steel clad warriors of Spain, and they were defeated with terrible slaughter. Gathering wives and little ones together and taking with them their most cherished possessions, among which were the records of their race, the jasper altar and their war god, bolding in his extended right hand the sacrificial knife of flint, they made their weary way to the capital of Montezuma, the sacred city of Mexico, where they were warmly welcomed by that unfortunate monarch and where they fought bravely in defense of the devoted city. They assisted Gautomasin, the chivalric nephew of Montezuma, in his glorious, if ill fated, attempt to regain the throne of his ancestors, and upon its failure and the attendant death of that young chieftain by torture, after the manner of the ancient Israelites, they determined to seek a land that man knew not, where they might provide homes for their families and worship the gods of their ancestors.—Exchange.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The man who loves his joke is usually unpopular.

Put yourself in the other man's place and you may stop abusing him.

It is commendable to save your money, but it is not commendable to look it.

We worry as if we had to go through a whole year tomorrow instead of just one day.

The cares and worries of life look pretty good, after all, to those returning to town through the cemetery gate.

When a soldier returns from a battle his story of the fight is more interesting and less truthful if he returns alone.

Of course friends are a good thing, but when misfortune comes to you which do you wish you had more of—friends or dollars?

The Strenuous Life

Results in Stomach Troubles and Physicial Breakdowns.

The strenuous life of modern times forces people to rush through their meals hastily, hurrying from the table in the mad rush after the almighty dollar.

The result is incomplete digestion, inflammation of the walls of the stomach, and lack of secretion of the gastric juices, ending in chronic stomach trouble and nervous breakdown.

How much better would it be to eat more slowly, cure the stomach trouble with Mi-o-na and soon regain perfect health. The headaches, sleeplessness, nervous troubles, pain after eating, specks before the eyes, backaches, melancholy and gloomy forebodings would be soon overcome and perfect health and strength would be restored.

Proper treatment of the weakened digestive system with Mi-o-na will cure every case of stomach trouble. The results of this treatment are so astonishing and so pronounced, that those who have tried it never fail to appreciate its value as a healing agent.

Each box of Mi-o-na sells for 50 cents, and is invaluable to anyone who sufferers with indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 200 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 406 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionares in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

STOCKS - THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD - BONDS

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 18 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,600 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical development.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great copper mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper keeps with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

nold—I beseech you—do not mention my name to him."

This was a strange freak of Reine's; still, Mrs. Arnold consented to it. Chesleigh bought the picture, but not for many a long day after did he learn the name of the artist.

He was too noble to take advantage of a struggling artist. With the eyes of a connoisseur he saw that the picture was a little gem—and he showed his great nobility of character by paying for it accordingly.

But despite the sale of her picture, Reine felt heavy hearted; who could the old friend be, who had passed away so suddenly? A nameless dread seized her—terrified her—she dared not put the thought into words that flitted through her brain.

A great longing came to her to visit Fairlawn once again, and look upon her father's face. Yes, go she must.

Mrs. Arnold's parting with Reine, whom she had grown to love, was quite affecting.

The blow fell heaviest, perhaps, upon her son Horace. His face was deadly pale, but he preserved an outwardly calm demeanor. The inward cry that welled up from the very depths of his heart was:

"It has been my own fault. It has been my own hand that plunged the dagger into my breast. But for that picture which I begged her to place on exhibition, they would not have discovered my beautiful Reine, and taken her from me."

He bowed his handsome, boyish face over the little white hand that was stretched out to him at parting, and the fair moustache hid the grievous quivering of his lips.

"Good-bye, Horace, my dear friend," said Reine, earnestly. "I shall never forget how kind you have been to me. I shall always be most grateful."

"I shall always be your true friend until I die," he answered, huskily. "Try to remember those words. Say to yourself 'If I am ever in great trouble—if the whole world turn from me—I shall be sure of one true friend in Horace Arnold.'"

"I shall remember," said Reine, gently.

That was their parting; and when Mrs. Arnold entered the parlor an hour later, wondering why her son remained there so long, she found him with his head buried deep in the velvet cushions of the sofa; deep sighs, that were almost moans, breaking from his lips; then she knew the full extent of the mischief that had been done. Beautiful, golden-haired Reine had taken with her her boy's heart.

It was a love as mad as it was hopeless, she well knew, for her keen eyes had discovered the secret he had thought guarded so well.

From this she had drawn her own conclusions. She left the parlor quickly and noiselessly, and her boy never knew there had been a silent witness to the agony which the parting with Reine had cost him.

It was with a heart thrilling with strange conflicting emotions Reine took her seat in the outward bound Southern express. No matter how cruelly the world dealt with her, she had always whispered to her hungry heart she could always creep into the shelter of her father's arms, and find peace there. No matter what she had done, the old general would find forgiveness for her, when she came back to him crushed, penitent, humbled—a poor bruised butterfly, whose bright wings were broken and trailing in the dust.

It was a sweet hope to cling to.

How slowly the train on which Reine was a passenger seemed to creep along!

The darkness of night had gathered ere she reached the cross-roads, but a young moon hanging like a jewel in the star-studded sky, threw a faint white light over the sleeping trees and flowers.

It was quite three miles to Fairlawn, but knowing the road so well, Reine decided to walk the distance.

She remembered the last time she had passed over that road—fleeing from home with the man she loved—in defiance of her father's command.

Ah, me, every word of the old general's prophecy had proven true. How happy her young life might have been with the rose-bloom of an honorable man's love, brightening her existence! She was only a wilful girl then—only sixteen—it almost seemed to her long centuries had elapsed since that fatal day she had gone with handsome, spendthrift Waldemar Waldron, to follow his fortunes.

She paused a moment as she reached the gate, tears that quite blinded her, falling from her eyes down her pale, wan cheeks.

She heard a low lowing among the bushes; she knew before she turned her head, that it was the old Alderney cow Beatrix. She held out her hand and patted its sleek sides; the faithful creature rubbed her cold nose against her shoulder.

Reine opened the gate noiselessly and paused again. How still and dark the old gray stone house, with its turrets and gables, looked to her as she crept up the well remembered walk to the broad veranda!

A tidy maid she never remembered having seen before, was sweeping the dead leaves from before the door.

For an instant the girl stared blankly into the white face turned so wistfully toward her, and Reine repeated the words.

"Do you not know? Why, you must be a stranger hereabouts to ask that question," she said. "General Hastings—poor old gentleman—is dead; he was buried almost a fortnight ago. That is his grave, on that high hill yonder; you can see the tall white slab shining through the trees."

For a long, awful moment, the darkness of death seemed to enfold Reine; the world seemed to stand still, and her heart to slowly break then and there. She put out her hands blindly, and sunk down on the cold stone steps.

"Come round to the kitchen and let me get you a cup of hot tea," said the girl kindly, as she gazed pitifully at the white, pitiful face raised to her own. "You look faint and worn."

"No," muttered Reine, with white, stiffening lips.

"You'll be welcome to it, dear knows," insisted the maid; the old general used to say, 'no stranger should ever be turned from his door.' Come."

The rest of the servants did not seem to be about.

How natural the room seemed to Reine. Everything seemed the same except the strange face of this new, kind-hearted little serving-maid.

Reine almost expected to see the door leading into the hallway open, and her father come quickly over the threshold, his ruddy face beaming with love, and hear his hearty bluff voice, crying cheerily—

"You have come back to your old father at last, dear; I always knew you would come sooner or later—I have been watching for you, all these long, weary months. Your old father has been lonely without his wilful little madcap."

Reine roused herself from the stupor that was stealing over her. Was it true that he was dead—dead? Ah, pitying God! how could she realize it.

"Haven't you heard the story of the old general's death?" asked the girl, adding in the next breath, "no of course you haven't, or you wouldn't have called here from to-night."

Arctic Mosquitoes.

The presence of mosquitoes in myriads within the bare, uninhabited arctic circle is surely in some degree a mystery. The mosquito is a blood-sucker, but in these unvisited plains he is for the most part, and of strict necessity, a vegetarian. A few birds excepted (and the birds are furnished with impervious feathers), there is no local life whatever. The Lapp in summer drives his reindeer to the sea, and no native crosses the fjeld if he can help it. Yet in this region, "seemingly the most unsuitable for its effective working," the mosquito flourishes, "a primeval and enduring curse, inexplicably developed to its utmost."—London Chronicle.

Land of Surprises.

New Zealand is not exactly contiguous to or a part of Australia, as many seem to imagine, there being a slight difference of some 1,700 miles between them. Things go by contraries in the "land of the kangaroo." The farther north you travel the hotter it is—125 degrees in the shade in Queensland. Lignum vitae, which sinks in other waters, floats in Australian waters. The Christmas dinner is eaten in Melbourne and Sydney when it is over 100 degrees in the shade.

What You Do.

Where you are is of no moment, but only what you are doing there. It is not the place that ennobles you, but you the place, and this is only by doing that which is noble.—Home Notes.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry (or a duplicate is refused to perform the duties connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is entitled to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

A False Alarm of Fire.

On Saturday afternoon the fire brigade was called out to quench a fire seemingly located in the building occupied by the local Oddfellows' lodge. The lodge rooms and halls were filled with dense smoke and things looked bad for a time. However the firemen located the cause of the volume of smoke in the furnace of Adam's dry-goods establishment. The chimney had become plugged in some way. Little damage was done.

DELEGATES PLEASED

Warsaw Board of Trade Deputation Encouraged By G.T.R.

On Saturday morning a well pleased deputation arrived in the city, on their return from Montreal. They were Messrs. E. Hawthorne, President; Dr. Douglas, secretary, and Watson Lynn, Treasurer, sent by the Warsaw Board of Trade to the Grand Trunk authorities in Montreal in connection with the proposed new railway line.

On Thursday last the deputation was received and gave a lengthy interview by Mr. Fitzhugh, third vice-president of the Grand Trunk, Montreal.

Mr. FitzHugh thoroughly enquired as to the resources of the district of the two proposed routes, viz., one from Lakefield, through Douro, to McCracken's Landing, via Warsaw, and the other from east city along the valley which runs all the way to Warsaw, and thence to McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake.

Mr. FitzHugh was most impressed by the latter route, as it was the more direct to the lakes, and avoids expensive bridge building.

Mr. FitzHugh expressed himself as greatly favoring the scheme, and promised to send the general traffic manager in the near future to investigate both routes, and to report his investigations to the authorities. Of course the result of the traffic manager's investigations, and consequent report will decide whether the G.T.R. will build at all, and if so, by which route.

Mr. Vincent is a member of the Band, and both are prominent members of the Army here. No doubt there will be a large number of their friends to witness the ceremony, which will be public.

Madam Albani's Concert.

The old-time Canadian queen of song, Madame Albani was greeted on Saturday night by a well filled and thoroughly delighted audience. Her voice whilst still retaining much of its rich volume and silvery tone certainly begins to show the signs of this talented lady's creeping years, still she ranks by other right than her international reputation, a deserved place among the great vocalists of the stage.

—The following message was sent Saturday to each of the city fathers. Dear Sir, a special meeting of the city councils will be held this Saturday evening to consider giving aid to San Francisco sufferers, in response to a telegram received from Vancouver.

A Duty Performed.

The Times is in receipt of the following from a subscriber: Said a Peterboro mother to her little son: "I wish you would run over and see how old Mrs. Blank is. She has been quite ill." In a few minutes Eddie came running back and reported: "She said to tell you it was none of your business." "Why, Eddie," said the astonished mother, "what did you ask her?" "Just what you told me to," replied the little innocent. "I told her you wanted to know how old she was."

In the Interest of Good Seeds

T. G. Raynor, the Ontario Representative of the Seed Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and an inspector under the Seed Control Act of 1905, was in town on the 21st inst., in the interest of good seeds for farmers. He is explaining the practical application of the Act to seed retailers and is on the lookout for low grade seed of such a character as would be prohibited from being sold for seeding purposes by the Act. He reports that the general quality of the seed being offered by the trade this year is much improved.

TO-DAY'S OPENING

Grand New Separate School will Hold Interesting Exercises.

This afternoon the fine new Separate school on the west side, will be opened by most interesting and impressive ceremonies.

It was with great regret that word was received from Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, saying he would not be able to be present and deliver an address; however, it is hoped that the Deputy Minister, Mr. A. H. A. Colquhoun, will be here. The Board of Education, City Council and other prominent citizens have been invited to be present, which will take place today at two o'clock. A number of addresses will be given by the guests and a program of music and drills will be given by the children of the Separate schools of the city.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will be present, and Rev. Father McColl, superintendent of the schools, has invited the clergy of the district to be present.

MR. CAVANAGH ANXIOUS

Local Hotelkeeper Has Many Relatives in San Francisco.

Mr. T. Cavanagh, the local veteran hotelman has many friends and relatives in and about the earthquake and fire-stricken city of San Francisco. Among them are four nephews, Messrs. Charles, Henry, Frank and Fred Cavanagh, who operate two dry goods stores in the seemingly doomed Palace Hotel. His brother, Mr. William Cavanagh runs a hotel in that city. Mrs. Cavanagh's brother, Mr. Chas. Sheehan, is engaged in the dry goods business in Sacramento, which city also felt the shock. In Oakland, just across the bay from San Francisco, another brother-in-law of Mr. Cavanagh's, Mr. Jas. Sheehan runs a saloon, whilst Mr. Dennis Sheehan has a ranch about seven miles out of Frisco.

Mr. Cavanagh is naturally anxious about so many relatives in the affected district, but from their very number, considers that "No news is good news."

COL. HUGHES HERE

Prominent Orangemen to Speak to Orangemen on Friday May 4th.

A mass meeting will be held in the old opera house on Friday evening, May 4th, under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Lodges of the district.

Addresses will be delivered by Col. Sam Hughes, of Lindsay; H. C. Hocken of Toronto, editor of the Orange Sentinel, and Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, B.A., of Omemee.

The public is cordially invited to attend. There is no admission fee.

A good musical program will be provided.

THE DEAL CLOSED

The County Now in Possession of the Preston Farm.

The Property Committee of the County Council met Saturday afternoon in the office of Mr. E. A. Peck, County Treasurer, for the purpose of effecting the official transfer of the Preston Property to the County Council.

Those present besides Mr. Peck were Warden Johnston, Councillor Garbutt and Mr. Preston. All papers in connection with the transfer were signed and sealed, and the Preston property thus now passed into the hands of the County Council as the official site of the new house of refuge.

Speaking of Hogs.

"Talk about the hog business! To say it is not a paying industry in Ontario is all bosh," said a well known farmer to The Times Saturday. Mr. R. F. Peters, of Manvers, was a pleasant caller Saturday and said he had, a few days before, sold two hams that weighed seventy-nine pounds and brought him $11.85. The hog from which these hams were taken dressed 488 pounds. Plant hogs!

A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the woman's functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce. He will send you good, fatherly, professional advice, in a plain, sealed envelope, absolutely free. Address him at Buffalo, N. Y.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. Pierce, 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address as above.

MR. GEO. MOORE SAFE

Gentleman With Relatives Here Was in Los Angeles During Disaster.

The friends of Mr. Geo. A. Moore, who has been in San Francisco for some years, will be pleased to learn that he has been reported as safe. Mr. Howard Moore, his cousin has been notified by friends in Hamilton that he was safe. Mr. Geo. Moore is connected with the Estes Electrical Supply Co., which was among the first to succumb to the earthquake. He was, however, he happened to be in Los Angeles, at the branch office, and had only left the now ruined city but a week before. His wedding is announced to Miss Laura Anna Zarr, of Los Angeles, on the 30th of this month.

BUT THE BABIES WALKED

Man Who Carried a Poodle Rebuked at the Railway Depot.

A man carrying a white poodle dog and leading two small children was the recipient of a severe rebuke at the G. T. R. depot Saturday night. One of the children playfully ran away from him a few feet. Setting the dog down, he caught up with the child and gave it a severe cuff on the ear. Its cries aroused the ire of a six foot lumberman standing near, who said to the man in anything but a pleasant tone: "Yes, that's right, carry the dog and then whip the child because it does not follow. Why don't you carry the child and let the dog walk?"

Argument with the big man was out of the question, and the father suddenly remembered that he had a train to catch.

Kidd vs. Kidd Case Postponed.

Mr. R. J. Kidd received notice from his solicitor, Mr. Stone, on Saturday stating that the case of Kidd vs. Kidd had been postponed from the spring assizes, because Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, who is a witness, is unable to attend the trial during the session of the Ontario Legislature.

Weak Kidneys Bright's Disease and Diabetes

Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative to Cure the Cause. If You Suffer From These Symptoms.

Here are the symptoms of Kidney complaints: Urine laden with sediment, brick dust in urine, bubbly colored urine, greasy froth or scum in it, strong smarting in urine, unusual desire to urinate, pain in passing water, pain in the back and over the kidneys, hot, dry and flushing skin, hair dry and brittle, painful joints, legs feel heavy, sleeplessness, dullness, loss of weight, chilly sensations, loss of memory, general debility, irregular heart, disorders of eyesight, trouble with hearing, scaly skin, fevers, shifting pains from one foot to the other in standing, An improper or strained position often worse than none. Most Kidney maladies get their effect from starvation. These are practically kidney paralysis, acting as cathartics not on the bowels. They excite the kidneys to unusual action, they cause over strain. These dangerous remedies are those which relieve the frequent cases of serious kidney disease. Don't try to doctor the kidneys themselves, for you will only harm them. Their only strength is nerve power. Dr Shoop's Restorative vitalizes the nerves that operate the Kidneys. Sold by

Liquor Licenses Granted Last Night

License Commissioners, After Due Consideration, Refuse to Grant Many Licenses to Former Owners.

Last night the License Commissioners met in Inspector Geo. Cochrane's office on Water street, to consider, after an adjourned meeting last week, owing to the absence then of Commissioner Jas. Kendry, the subject of renewing licenses for the coming year. Dr. Morrison occupied the chair, with Messrs H. LeBrun and Jas. Kendry, ex-M.P., and Inspector Cochrane, present.

Quite a long discussion took place concerning the renewal of the former licenses.

A prominent factor in settling the renewal of the licenses was the result of the recent tour of inspectors of the local hotels by the commissioners.

The following licenses were granted:

Geo. Graham, granted.
Lewis, granted.
W. Snowden, granted.
R. J. Munro, granted.
R. H Jackson, granted.
Jas. Head, granted.
Jas. Dolan, when shown is closed.
Mary Bowman, three months to sell out and close bar.
O. Dunn, three months to sell out.
J. M. Brooks, three months to sell out.
G. Leputt, granted.
Mt O Tooley, granted.
P. Hogan, granted.
S. Holland, granted under certain conditions.
Mrs. O'Shea, granted.
Jas. Allen, given one months to sell out.
E. Cassidy, three months to sell out.
Jas Flynn, subject to improvements.
J. B Lamoque, granted.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Gentleman with Relations Here Escaped the San Francisco Disaster

The many friends and relatives in this city and county of Mr. George A. Moore, of the Charles F. Sloan Co., Pacific coast agents, San Francisco, Cal., will be pleased to learn that a message has been received stating that he escaped injury, having gone to Los Angeles a few or three days previous to the earthquake. The Crossley Building, in which Mr. Moore's offices were situated, was among those destroyed. Mr. Moore was originally in the offices of the Morrison brass foundry, Toronto, and went to San Francisco ten years ago.

This is of special interest as Mr. Moore is to be married on April 30th to a young lady of Los Angeles.

Mr. H. D. Kennedy is Re-assured.

Mr. H. D. Kennedy, our well known enterprising George street merchant is now feeling easier than he did the day before yesterday, he was in receipt of the following telegram, from Mr. Sherin this week, who had evidently been assigned by a message naming D. Kennedy as one of the San Francisco victims, and who evidently erroneously mistook the name for that of Mr. H. D. Kennedy, the evangelist, viz.:

Chicago, April 22.

To Percy Kennedy,
Peterboro—

Have you heard from Harry? D. Kennedy reported dead at Santa Rosa, Cal. A. SHERIN.

It means that the well-known evangelist, a few weeks ago, went to Sebastopol, a small town some six miles from Santa Rosa.

A telephone message has since been received stating that the "D. Kennedy was David "Kennedy," hence our popular local citizen, feels easier.

ST. PAUL'S ANNIVERSARY

Rev. Dr. McTavish to Preach in St. Paul's Church, May 5th.

Rev. Dr. McTavish, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, Toronto, will preach at both morning and evening services on Sunday, May 5th, in honor of the twenty-first anniversary of the reopening of St. Paul's church, so materially enlarged and improved in 1885.

The choir will render special music for the occasion. The contributions during the day will be in aid of the church debt, the second instalment of the subscriptions promised a year ago being due. At the anniversary last year, $1,900 was contributed towards the liquidation of the church debt of $4,000 so that only about $2,100 more has to be paid to relieve the church of all liability.

MEETING POSTPONED

Meeting of Licensed Victuallers to Get Report of Committee Held Over

The meeting of the Licensed Victuallers' Association, which was to have been held yesterday afternoon, was postponed until later on. The report of the committee appointed to draft a schedule of rates for hotel abeds and bar charges was to have been considered at this meeting, but in view of the fact that the License Board was to meet last night, it was thought advisable to defer action until the licenses for the year have been issued the meeting will be held some day during the week.

Not the Right Bottle.

Yesterday morning the six-year-old child of a north side citizen, went to school, at the north ward seat of learning, for the first time in her existence. The child had learned from some of her small "pals" that a bottle of water (for washing slates) was part of the usual equipment of a school child. Her father, not understanding when the child asked him for an empty bottle, what was required, handed her a bottle belonging to the same he was most acquainted with.

The little girl, not noticed at the moment of leaving by her parents, set bravely out on her initial search of learning, armed by a bottle filled with water as suggested by her little friends. By the time she was almost at the school, by good fortune, an older acquaintance met her, armed with a large quart bottle, bearing the emblem "Chicutta Amber Ale, bottled at the brewery." The child was advised to return and exchange for a smaller and more synonymous receptacle, and accordingly did so.

CONTRACT LET

H. Carveth Gets Contract for New Fire Hall.

Last night the Fire, Water and Light Committee met and awarded the contract for the new fire hall to Mr. H Carveth, for the sum of $9,875.

Mr. Adam Hall was given the contract for heating and plumbing for $1043.

The committee recommended that 400 feet of hose be purchased from 400 feet of hose be purchased, for the fire department, and also 12 pair of rubber boots as recommended by Chief Rutherford.

Lindsay May Get New Industry.

Judging by what the last issue of the Lindsay Post says, it looks as though that town were going to get a new industry, the Madison Williams of Port Perry, formerly employing from 60 to 75 men to bring this industry to Lindsay, a capital stock of $50,000 would be needed, $20,000 of which would be presented by the present owner and $30,000 by the citizens of Lindsay. At a meeting of the Lindsay Board of Trade last week, the council chamber was filled by about one hundred citizens of the town, and the addresses given by the speakers were enthusiastic in favor of the new industry, which will possibly locate there.

SEEK RICHES IN ARCTIC

Americans are Sending Expeditions to the Northern Region of Canada

QUEST FOR GEMS AND OIL

Railroads Are Expected to Open Important New Industries in the Dominion.

Ottawa, April 23.—American capitalists are sending exploration parties to the far northern districts of Canada in search of the hidden wealth stored up in the earth on the fringe of the Arctic region. One of these parties is sent north by a strong syndicate of Americans to prospect for oil fields said to exist in the northern wilds, and another has gone in search of diamonds.

It is stated that the men who are after oil have been supplied with all the necessary material and machinery to prosecute their work in the Canadian sub-Arctic territory. The route taken by this party will start 700 miles north of Dunraven Fort, a Hudson Bay Post, and it is somewhere in the undiscovered country above this point that the hopes of the explorers are centered for the realization of their plans.

MANY SIGNS OF OIL.

Hunters and prospectors who have travelled through these far northern parts say there are oil indications in every direction, and in some places samples of asphalt have been discovered. Efforts to develop these oil fields would have been made long ago, but, owing to their remoteness from civilization, there would be no use in developing them even should they have been found to produce oil in great quantities. The new Grand Trunk Pacific main line, however, will run within a fair distance of these oil districts and will thus provide the necessary transportation facilities.

The party bound for the far north in search of the diamond field believed to exist in the unexplored territory consists of six men from Philadelphia, and is under the guidance of a quarter breed. An American, Mr. Childers, who is financing this expedition, says they will go as far north as possible by rail, and then carry their outfit over the divide on snowshoes.

SPRING ASSIZES

Mr. Justice Anglin Presides Instead of Justice Magee as Expected.

Yesterday shortly after one o'clock the local spring assizes opened as noted in yesterday's issue. It was expected, up to the time of going to press that Justice Magee would preside, however Mr. Justice Anglin took his place.

His Lordship addressed the Grand Jury and then called for the first civil case to be brought on—Hill vs. Gow.

Members of the bar, present at the opening were: D. O'Connell, John Lonsdale, E. M. Hayes, E. Meredith, K.C., London; E. B. Edwards, K.C., R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr, R. E. Wood.

Grand Jury was selected as follows: J. H. Larmonth, Peterboro; foreman, Henj. Ackerman, Peterboro; James Burnett, Peterboro; Robt. Doyle, Peterboro; Jas. Dickson, Otonabee; Allen Eason, Otonabee; Wm. C. Elliott, Norwood; Stephen O'Reilly, Ennismore; John A. Naismith, Belmont; G. H. Hilliard, Lakefield; Richard White, Smith; Joseph Bernhardt.

JUDGE'S CHARGE.

In delivering his charge to the Grand Jury, Mr. Justice Anglin said that there was but one criminal case to come before the court at this sitting.

The case is a charge of manslaughter against Patrick McAuliffe, arising out of a barroom brawl in Peterboro. There was a number of people in the barroom, and a row was caused between the deceased Hudson and Patrick McAuliffe. McAuliffe it is said, used some grossly insulting language to Hudson, which led up to a quarrel.

The result of the quarrel was, it is stated, that Hudson was so injured that he died, some time after the quarrel. The deceased during the quarrel, it is stated, received a blow upon the head. A few days after the wound was received Hudson was removed to the hospital in Peterboro. The doctors found that there was something pressing upon the brain, and two or three operations were performed with a view to removing the substance, which was pressing upon the brain. The patient, Hudson, died a few hours after the last operation.

The first case called was that of Hill vs. Gow, which is a suit for the loss of the plaintiff's son last August. E. B. Edwards appeared for the plaintiff, and R. M. Dennistoun and F. D. Kerr for the defendant.

In this case, during the afternoon, some seven witnesses for the prosecution were heard. Their evidence was materially the same as that given when Gow was tried for killing young Hill, and which has already been given in detail. There was, however, one distinctive difference, viz., that had the evidence given yesterday been given at Gow's trial for killing the the Hill boy, it might have materially affected the result of his trial and consequent sentence. For instance there were details of conversation held by the former prisoner, with the constables, and admissions made by Gow, that would perhaps materially have affected the case.

Detective Wells, of Toronto, in evidence said, in part, to Mr. Edwards, for the prosecution, that he is thoroughly posted upon the matter of bullets and projectiles. Saw and had in his possession until the end of Gow's former trial, the fatal bullet. It was a 44 Martin calibre and weighed one grain. He got it from Dewart. The fatal bullet as well as those taken from Hill's house were produced and recognized by Detective Wells.

To Mr. Dennistoun, for the defence, said it a very common calibre rifle. The 44 was the prevailing type of rifle in Dunmore.

His Lordship told the jury that the counsel for the prosecution, not expecting this trial to come on yesterday, the case would be adjourned until this morning. He gave them the usual warning about not speaking about the matter in hand to any one.

Then the "Case Celebre," of Patrick McAuliffe, charged with manslaughter, and having killed one Frederick Hudson, formerly part proprietor of the Royal Hotel, Hunter St., on the 1st of June last, was brought on the tapis.

The jury was first called, six out of twenty possible jurymen being rejected, some by either side.

After the jury had been selected and sworn in, Mr. Meredith, on behalf of the Crown, explained the nature of the charge, which was manslaughter or shooting unlawfully caused the death of another fellow being. He told the jury that they had nothing to do with the then state of health of the deceased. It is only for the Crown to show that some one unlawfully dealt the blow that caused death. To sum up his address in the fewest words, he said that if it was the blow of Patrick Hudson that caused the wound and the wound caused Hudson's death. If the wound in any way hastened Hudson's death the jury in meeting it was guilty.

Mr. Dennistoun explained to his Lordship that the indictment by the grand jury against McAuliffe for manslaughter had been done. His Lordship passed the objection.

As the hour was getting late, Mr. Meredith asked that the case be held over until this morning. This his Lordship consented to, notifying the jury that although this was not a capital charge, it was of sufficient importance for him to order them, the jurymen be held together, and taken in charge of a constable, to a hotel and made comfortable. This case was given precedence over the Hill vs. Gow case and will be heard at 9.30 a.m. today.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday morning the case against two young men named respectively Dennehy and Raper, charged with having on the 7th of April taken away a horse, the property of Mr. John Gillespie, contrary to the criminal code, Mr. Geo. Hatton appeared for the prisoners.

After calling the names of the witnesses, they were taken into the council chamber to await their respective turns.

Mr. Gillespie, the first witness, said he lives in Otonabee. On April 7th he put up his horse and rig in the shed at White's hotel. He next gave a description of the horse and buggy. He went to get his horse and rig at 10 p.m. that evening. He next saw the horse and rig on the following Monday and found them at a boarding stable in Millbrook. Everything was there but the whip; there was a buffalo robe that did not belong to him in the rig. To Mr. Hatton: No damage was done except the loss of the whip.

Fred Milliken on the night on April 7th was at the White House at 8.30 and 9 o'clock. Did not see the prisoners there. Saw a man somewhat like Huffman, another witness, but could not swear to his identity.

Mr. Frank Sandy, C.P.R. agent here, said the only trains leaving the city for Millbrook were a freight and the passenger at 8.05.

Alfred Huffman recognized the prisoners. Came by train from Millbrook on April 7th. The prisoners were on the same train. Saw the prisoners on George street about 1.0. They went to the White House about 9 o'clock. He left the prisoners up-town about 9 o'clock.

Mr. Gus White, proprietor of the White House, said he did not see prisoners that night. Mr. Handley, the Millbrook constable, said he had been telephoned that night by Chief Hessel about the stolen horse. He first saw the horse in Mr. Byers' possession on Monday. Byers had found the man about four miles from the village and had driven it in. Jas. Armstrong, a barber from Millbrook, saw prisoners about 12 p.m. that night in his shop. Heard Raper say he had got off the the train that night and walked to Millbrook.

William Donnelly, one of the prisoners, was called into the box, but Mr. Hatton submitted he was not a compellable witness. Raper was then called in his place. Said he went home that night by train, getting off at Fraserville, as he had no ticket and they saw the "Brakie" coming along. He left Huffman at 9 o'clock and took the 9.05 train.

His Worship, after Mr. Hatton had submitted that there was no evidence connecting the prisoners and the taking of the horse, said that in the evidence produced there was nothing to convict the prisoners. The boys were discharged.

A BUSY WOMAN

Can Do the Work of 3 or 4 If well Fed

An energetic young woman living just outside of N. Y. writes:

"I am at present doing all the housework of a dairy farm, caring for 3 children, a vegetable and flower garden, a large number of fowls, besides managing an extensive exchange business through the mails and pursuing my regular avocation as a writer for several newspapers and magazines (designing fancy work for the latter) and all the energy and ability to do this I owe to Grape-Nuts food.

"It was not always so, and a year ago when the shock of my nursing baby's death utterly prostrated me and deranged my stomach and nerves so that I could not assimilate as much as a mouthful of solid food, and was in even worse condition mentally, he would have been a rash prophet who would have predicted that it ever would be so.

"Prior to this great grief I had suffered for years with impaired digestion, insomnia, agonizing cramps in the stomach, pain in the side, constipation, and other bowel derangements, all these were familiar to my daily life. Medicines gave me no relief—nothing did, until a few months ago, at a friend's suggestion, I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and subsequently gave up coffee entirely and adopted Postum Food Coffee at all my meals.

"Today I am free from all the troubles I have enumerated. My digestion is simply perfect, I assimilate my food without the least distress, enjoy sweet, restful sleep, and have a buoyant feeling of pleasure in my varied duties. In fact, I am a new woman, entirely made over, and I repeat, I owe it all to Grape-Nuts and Postum Coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Flames Once More Sweep San Francisco

The Great Ferry Depot and All the Remaining Docks are in Danger---Gravest Peril of Refugees is Now From Disease.

[illegible] Fire broke out in the Ferry Building, but the fires are out with renewed vigor in the coal all right. All those are modern structures north of the Ferry Building tures of steel. The fires of the shortly after midnight. The fire Shreve Building are gone, but some of them fell in, and it can be restored. The bank vaults and safe deposit vaults in the Crocker-Woolworth Bank were not even warmed through. The Crocker building, which houses this bank, has all its floors in place, and the walls are in fairly good condition. This can be restored without rebuilding. The same is true of the Bohan Building, except for the top, the top floor being damaged by the earthquake. The building of the First National Bank was gutted by fire from the ground floor up, but the directors say that the vaults are all right.

The Mutual Life Building, in which was the office of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was entirely ruined by the fire.

HOW BIG STORES FARED.

The mint is damaged, but standing. It is under heavy guard of regular troops. The damage to the Hibernia Savings Bank, at Market and McAllister streets, was mainly on the ground floor, which was gutted. All the vaults, securities and specie are intact.

Victoria, B.C., April 22.—Mr. C. C. Chipman, Hudson's Bay Commissioner, states that so great is the traffic to Buckley and other districts which will be tapped by the Grand Trunk Pacific that his company's river boats, Mount Royal and Hazelton, are sold out for two trips ahead. Ex-Premier Dunsmuir and Premier McBride are among those who will shortly go up the Skeena.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Met Yesterday and Discussed Proposed Isolation Hospital.

Yesterday morning the local Board of Health, met in the city clerk's office, and discussed the matter of the isolation hospital and the conjoint action of the Board, the City Council, together with the time of the evening board of conservation towards it. Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board, and Dr. Smith, provincial inspector of hospitals, have been invited to meet the Board of Health, and the Finance Committee of the Council in reference to same for the morning, and until then the Board could take no further action.

However, in the interim, some time was devoted towards a report could not in an evening local paper, in reference to the isolation hospital, and also the letter from the chairman of the Board of Health, commenting. Some members of the Board expressed in non-misunderstandable language, their opinion that the press was not doing the Board of Health justice in their reports. They considered too, that if the report contained in that paper of the Council meeting was correct, the expressions of the aldermen were a slur upon the Board. It was also suggested that the aldermen should be requested to withdraw their statements, but this was allowed to stand for a time, until the Board had an opportunity to see what action the Council would take.

In plain vernacular, the members of the Board of Health "Had their fighting clothes on," and did not mince matters when expressing their opinions.

Those present were Messrs. Wm. Eyres, chairman; Dr. McNabb, Dr. Burnham, Messrs. Parker, Neild and Schneider, and Medical Health Officer Dr. Bingham.

The matter of the creek inspection was brought up by Chairman Eyres. The Board yesterday, after unanimously deciding that the prevailing nuisance should be stopped; passed the following resolution.

"That the sanitary inspector be instructed to report, in full to the Board on or before Monday next, on the state of that creek which runs through the city."

Lakefield sanitary matters was next discussed, i.e., the depositing of sewerage and other unsanitary matter by a hotel and others. It seems that the Board has no jurisdiction in this matter, whilst any individual citizen has the power to prosecute anyone breaking the law. On the other hand the provincial legislature has a new health bill before it, which will provide a remedy for cases such as this.

The opinion was that as the provincial officials were coming to the city in a short time, that the matter should stand over for the time being.

The following motion was then put through:—That this Board of Health and Water Commissioners and Finance Committee of the City Council meet Dr. Hodgetts and Dr. Smith, and lay before them the position of the river at Lakefield and see if something cannot be done to remedy the matter.—Carried.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies the abundance of water, the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co., forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Your 'Fagged' Feeling Is Spring Sickness

This Unhealthy Weather Will Intensify Your Exhaustion Unless You Have Good Medicine.

Time won't help; matters grow worse instead of better if your system isn't rid of its poisonous burden.

A stimulating blood tonic is required.

What's it going to be?

No bitters or alcoholic dope, but concentrated cure in the form of "Ferrozone" which is known as the best of all spring rejuvenators.

It creates keen appetite.

Produces prodigious digestion.

Converts food into nourishment.

Gives richness and vitality to the blood.

Makes strong nerves and hardy muscles.

Ferrozone possesses power that can't be doubted. It will do for you what it did for Walter Wood, of Beaufort Car Co., N. B., who writes. "I can say that Ferrozone has given me a new lease of life. A year ago I suffered much from nervous weakness. I was really scarcely able to drag myself around. My appetite was gone, I had no color or ambition and felt generally used up. The first box of Ferrozone started me back to health. I took a number of boxes, but it was worth while as my health was completely restored."

Get back to health with Ferrozone. Your druggist sells it, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

WATER POWERS OF THE DOMINION.

The question of water powers has come up prominently for discussion in the Dominion House of Commons. It was brought up by Mr. Monck, local leader of the Conservatives in the Province of Quebec, and had the promise of careful consideration of Premier Laurier and Hon. C. S. Hyman, Minister of Public Works. It was conceded that Canada had more water power available for utilization in industry than any other country in the world; and that, therefore, a policy of conservation and development was of the utmost importance in the future. It has been suggested that the geological survey at Ottawa should take the matter in hand and after careful investigation of our resources in this respect make reports in a manner similar to the reports upon the mineral resources of the country. Of course, there is the question of jurisdiction to consider. The Provinces evidently have the power to deal with all the phases of water power excepting when electricity is exported outside of their limits, when it comes within the jurisdiction of the Dominion. That is to say, the Dominion has to do with the regulation of the export. It is claimed that when a water power exists on a navigable river it belongs to the Dominion, but as a river cannot be said to be navigable where falls occur, it is doubtful whether the contention will hold. However, that does not in the least affect the question of the geological survey reporting on the water powers which exist, as a matter of information for the whole of the Dominion, and with the same object in view as have the reports in connection with mineral deposits and mineral formations. It is most important that we have full information upon the subject. Under modern conditions, which make the production of electricity the main factor in industrial operations, it follows that the country with the greatest water power for that purpose must eventually become the greatest manufacturing country in the world. The Niagara Falls and the St. Lawrence River have great potentialities in power but these are only two out of hundreds of rivers, less in magnitude, it is true, but with immense driving power nevertheless. Don't let us forget that in British Columbia we have a considerable asset in water power.

If you prefer to take medicine in tablet form you can now obtain Dr. Sheep's Restorative Tablets. Absolutely no change has been made in the medicinal ingredients. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Freedom is Sweet.

Toronto, April 21.—A vigorous attempt was made to escape from the police at the jail gates Friday afternoon by Patrick Lawlor. While in the van he had succeeded in getting his handcuffs off, but Constable Bloodworth proved more than a match for him, when he tried to break away. He was taken to Belleville Saturday morning on robbery charges. Lawlor is suspected of complicity in the safe-blowing at the Barclay, Sulls.

A CANADIAN IN COMMAND

Capt. Charles E. Kingsmill to Command British Battleship Dominion

London, March 31.—Captain Charles E. Kingsmill, son of the late Judge Kingsmill, and a nephew of Nicol Kingsmill, K.C., of Toronto, has been appointed to the command of His Majesty's battleship Dominion. It is understood that the honor has been given to Capt. Kingsmill on account of his being a Canadian. The Dominion, which was launched last summer, is one of the largest battleships afloat, and has been in command of Captain Marks up to the present time. It belongs to the Atlantic fleet, and will be remembered as having conveyed the remains of Hon. Raymond Prefontaine from France. Captain Kingsmill has been connected with the royal navy since he was thirteen years of age. Captain Kingsmill was born at Guelph in 1865. At the age of thirteen he began a course on the training ship Britannia, qualifying to enter the royal navy as a midshipman. Captain Kingsmill wears several medals for engagements in which he has taken a part, including the bombardment of Alexandria.

TURKEY IS MAKING TROUBLE

Backed By the Kaiser Sultan is Making Trouble.

London, April 21.—The Constantine correspondent of the Express says that Germany is using diplomatic influence there to encourage Turkey to resist Great Britain in the dispute about the occupation of Tabah, in the Sinai peninsula. The correspondent says he is informed authoritatively that the support the Sultan is receiving from Berlin account for His Majesty's obstinacy in face of the clear declaration by the British Government.

The Daily Telegraph's Cairo correspondent says he learns from the highest source that the Turkish High Commissioner in Egypt has made most important and unexpected demands from the Khedive regarding Akhab, including the right to occupy any post Turkey desires in the Sinai peninsula, without consulting Egypt, and that it is supposed that the British authorities have formulated an uncompromising refusal to this.

ADVERTISING A BOOK.

We had some notes a little while ago on the methods which some authors have adopted for the advertisement of their books. A correspondent sends us an example of this sort of thing, which is the better worth quoting because we have never seen it quoted in this connection before. It is taken from a life of Mme. de Krudner, whose novel "Valerie" appeared shortly after Mme. de Stael's "Delphine." "You know quite well," the author wrote to a friend, "that neither talent nor genius nor the excellence of one's intentions is sufficient to insure a success. Everything demands some charlatanism." And the biographer proceeds to tell us how she translated her doctrine into action.

During several days, he writes, she made the round of the fashionable shops incognito, asking sometimes for shawls, sometimes for hats, feathers, wreaths or ribbons, all "a la Valerie." When they saw this beautiful and elegant stranger step out of her carriage with an air of assurance and ask for fancy articles which she invented on the spur of the moment the shopkeepers were seized with a polite desire to satisfy her by any means in their power. Moreover, the lady would soon pretend to recognize the article she had asked for. And if the unfortunate shopgirls, taken aback by such unusual demands, looked puzzled Mme. de Krudner would smile graciously and pity them for their ignorance of the new novel, thus turning them all into eager readers of "Valerie." Then, laden with purchases, she would drive off to another shop, pretending to search for that which existed only in her imagination. Thanks to these manoeuvers, she succeeded in exciting such ardent competition in honor of her heroine that for a week at least the shops sold everything "a la Valerie." Her own friends, the innocent accomplices in her stratagem, also visited shops on her recommendation, thus carrying the fame of her book through the Faubourg Saint-Germain and the Chaussee d'Antin.—London Academy.

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as : The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Rishes and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tinto mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

"No—no—I haven't heard," faltered Reine, "won't you tell me?"

"It's a sad tale," responded the girl, brushing off a tear-drop with the corner of her apron. "The doctors and the neighbors say he died of apoplexy. I say he died of a broken heart, and it is the will-o'-the wisp daughter of his who ran away with a handsome spendthrift who will have to answer for it.

"The old general had a lovely young daughter, with a face like the white waxen leaves of a lily, and hair more glorious golden than its golden calyx, as pretty a young creature, they say, as the sun ever shone on.

"Lovely, wilful Reine was the idol of the old general's heart.

"His one anxiety was to see her well married and settled in life; he always had a foreboding, they say, that she might not turn out well, she was so wilful.

"He picked out a husband for her, a noble gentleman, but do you think she would have him? Oh, dear, no, though like the general, he fairly idolized the ground her pretty feet walked over.

"She fell in love with a handsome profligate, a trifler, and despite all opposition, eloped with him.

"Perhaps I am tiring you with hearing about the general's madcap daughter," said the maid, looking anxiously at the white face of the stranger, which was each moment growing more ghastly.

"No—no," faltered Reine. "I am greatly interested—go on."

The gossiping maid looked pleased; she was fond of relating the story, which sounded like a romance, ending in a tragedy, as she called the general's death, to any one who had not heard it.

"As I was saying," she continued, "the heiress ran away with the handsome spendthrift and married him, but as every one predicted, she soon found him out. He had married for money, not for love, and a pretty life he led her, to be sure. The general's wrath was terrible; he cut her off without a shilling, and when the young husband found that out, he left her.

"Some one wrote to the general about it, and he went on to bring his broken hearted daughter home; but when he got there, she had vanished. He hunted her the whole world over; but he never found her. He came home, took to his bed, and never left it alive.

"The old general's widowed sister was sent for from away down in Tennessee, and she got here just as he was breathing his last.

"He beckoned her to him, and when she bent over him, he whispered brokenly:

"'Always keep the latch string out, Rachel; some day Reine will come back—but I shall not be here to welcome my darling.' He had her picture brought from the library and hung where he could see it, and he never took his eyes from it. It would have made you cry if you had heard his mind wander, the moment before he passed away. He seemed to imagine he was at the gate of heaven and had met his dead wife there, for he cried softly—'Open the gate—open the gate,' adding plaintively: 'You ask me what I have done with the little child you placed in my arms, dear, when the angels took you, and I answer I guarded her well, Evelyn; but—I lost her; some day she will come to you and me at this gate; we will wait for her here, Evelyn, no matter where she has been, what she has gone through, she is still the little darling that once slept in our arms—our pretty little Reine.'

"After that he never spoke again, and, we know he had gone to join his angel wife, to wait at the gate for Reine, poor, pretty, wilful Reine, whose name was the last word he ever spoke on earth.

"Are you crying, lady?" asked the maid. "Ah, well, I told you it was a pitiful story—it would bring tears to eyes of stone."

By a great effort Reine kept from swooning. She rose unsteadily from her chair, and put down the cup of tea untasted.

"I must go, thank you, and good-bye," she said. And, like one suddenly stricken blind, she staggered out of the house, and down the path, and was lost in the darkness beyond.

She crept up to a little, white gate, by the side of which great weeping willow trees grew—opened it, and stole softly up the narrow path to the grand old soldier's grave, she knelt down upon it, parted the grass, laying her face upon it, and with her arms thrown about the cold polished marble shaft, wept tears that it grieved the angels to witness.

"The world has all gone wrong with me, father," she sobbed. "Heaven has punished me sorely for disobeying you, oh, how bitterly I have repented! I have been unhappy in my love—in everything. I have come back to die upon your grave, papa."

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Suddenly it occurred to Reine that it would be far better to steal away from that spot that it would be better to hide herself forever from the gaze of those who had known her, in the dark, rippling waves of the silent water that skirted Fairlawn.

What matter what became of her whom nobody loved?

With pale, cold lips, poor Reine kissed the marble shaft, praying her father to forgive her for the past, and plead at the great White Throne for what she was going to do—for she was soon to join him.

Gathering her dark cloak about her and looking back with one long, lingering gaze, that had her very soul in it, at the dark, solemn stone house on the sloping hillside, and at the steady flame that shone like a beacon light from the kitchen window, the poor child turned away, and crept on down the path toward the dark, sullen stream.

The wind blew coldly on her face, but she did not hesitate. Never again after to-night, would she see the great throbbing world with its mysteries, its miseries, its hopes and its loves. When spring came again her feet would not tread the grass; never again would she see the sweet violets, the yellow daffodils, such as grew around the dear old home, nodding their heads in the breeze. Never again would men worship her beauty, never more would she see love glowing in passionate eyes for her sake. It was all over.

She paused on the margin of the dark, sullen stream for a moment, then climbed down on to the moss covered rocks.

"Good-bye, cruel world," she moaned; "no one will ever miss me, no one cares for poor, hapless Reine." Only the echo of her own voice answered her. Silence settled down again. A land-bird, roused from its sleep, opened its bright eyes and gazed at her from its nest among the rocks—that was all. No human being cared or rose from their quiet sleep to save her.

Reine took off her cloak slowly. The cold winds chilled her, but she did not mind it. Her beautiful, curling, golden hair had loosened from the coil at the back of her head, and fell in a shining mass of glittering splendor to her waist, but she did not heed it.

"I am going to die, and you will never know how I loved you. In the last moments of my life, I dare own it even to myself, Bernard," she moaned. You will never know that I learned your worth too late—yes—I love you, and you alone. I have seen no one else that I love in the crowd of faces that fill the world! I have seen only yours, only yours, Bernard, by night and by day; not his, Bernard. I have since learned that I never loved Waldemar Waldron. It was only a mad infatuation. Your face has smiled upon me in my dreams, it has shone down on me from the stars, it looks up to me from the water, in the light of the sun, in the beams of the moon. All the world is blank except the spot where you are—and that is—heaven. Suddenly some one touched her on the arm.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps, and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 406 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionaires in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

C. G. E. Co. Gets Big Contract.

This city is fast becoming know through her large factories and other wise to the commercial and industrial world at large. The Canadian General Electric Company, has obtained the contract for and is building two large generators, including motors, transformers, switchboards, etc., for the Kamanatiquia Power Company, at Kakabeka Falls, Ont. Each generator will be 3,750 k.w. of 10,000 volts and capable of providing about 6,000 horse power.

A Live Bait Scheme.

On Sunday several local gentlemen took a walk round by the locks to the creek running through the Dickson property, between the lift lock and Downer's Corners. They report that those small fish known as "shiners" were out in millions out in billions. They report that a man or boy with a scoop net could have taken them out by tons of thousands an hour. Here is a pointer for some enterprising citizen. Let him make a few wire covered boxes with perforated sides, sink them in some shallow part of the river, and fill them with those shiners which would live until the bass fishing season opens. They would then be worth from 10 to 25 cents per dozen, and with very little trouble, and about $5 worth of expense, fully $60 to $100 worth of live bait could be gathered.

Mr. Desjardins is Very Uneasy.

Among the many citizens of Peterboro, rendered uneasy by the presence of refugees in the stricken city of San Francisco, is Mr. F. Desjardins, an employe of the Colonial Weaving Co. Mr. Desjardins who some years since lived in the city of the Golden Gate, has a son and daughter residing there. His children who are young and employed respectively as a telegraph and telephone operator.

Mr. Desjardins has not yet received any word from them, but in hopes to learn something definite this week.

Good News for Fishermen.

The Lindsay Post says: Twenty-four muskinonge, ranging in weight from 6 to 18 pounds, were transferred from the lower to the upper waters at the dam near Fenelon's mills during the past two days by Inspector Bradshaw and his assistant. The inspector estimates that these fish will produce not less than a million and a half of fry, and should a quarter of a million of the fry mature, there will be sufficient fish in a few years to feed the whole county.

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Cimicifuga Cor. Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it:

"I not long since had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Cimicifuga (medicinal principle extracted from Black root), and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Cimicifuga unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

Against Proposed Increase.

(To the Editor of The Times).

Sir,—I see the hotel-keepers are doubling up their prices on account of the new license bill. It seems to me that the new act is only an excuse for, not the cause of, raising the prices. Under the old act the hotel-keepers of the City of Peterboro would have had to pay a license fee of $150; under the new act the fee will be $500! This increase represents a sum of say three dollars a week to the hotel-keeper! With the very low receipts of three hundred dollars a week, the increase will be exactly one per cent. He wants to get even with the public by increasing his charges from fifty to one hundred per cent!!

What merchant wouldn't add one per cent. to his expense sheet if he could double up his prices to the public?

Yours,
AN ONLOOKER.

CURES WORST CATARRH

Not until Hyomei was discovered, had it been possible to say truthfully that a remedy for catarrh was known.

Hyomei cures the worst cases of catarrh simply by breathing the remedy through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. Using the treatment in this way for a few minutes four times a day, every particle of air taken in the air passages and lungs is laden with germ-killing and health-giving Hyomei.

Stomach drugging often causes disordered digestion, and never makes a permanent cure of catarrh. Hyomei not only kills the germs in the throat and nose, but penetrates to the minutest air cells in the lungs and enters the blood with the oxygen killing the catarrhal germs in the blood.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a vest-pocket inhaler and medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1. If this does not effect a complete cure, extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

M'AULIFFE IS GUILTY BUT MERCY ASKED

The "Cause Celebre" of the King vs. McAuliffe Heard---Mr. Dennistoun Makes Strong Appeal to Jury.

Yesterday the first case occupying the attention of Mr. Justice Anglin, on the opening of the second day of the spring assizes was that of Patrick McAuliffe, charged with having caused the death of Fred. Hudson, a former Hunter street hotelkeeper.

The first witness called was Manley Dale of Rochester, N.Y., but formerly of Havelock gave evidence practically similar to that given, and noted before in The Times, at the coroner's inquest.

Witness said: "I didn't hear McAuliffe ask Hudson to come and have a drink." He saw Hudson go into the bar-room. He didn't think it a threatening way. He might have said something like 'put up your dooks.' He walked around the bar and told him to get out of his house.

Witness said that he saw the prisoner strike Hudson with something hard. The blow was very severe. Immediately Hudson was hit he fell to the floor.

To Mr. Dennistoun, Witness said he saw Hudson advance towards McAuliffe and heard him say: 'Put up your fists.' He didn't think he ever said, "Hudson was trying to make McAuliffe fight," but he wouldn't say that he didn't.

Mr. Dennistoun—Why did Hudson tell McAuliffe to put up his fists?

(Witness—He was afraid he was going to shoot him. McAuliffe backed nearly to the wall, and then threw something at Hudson. It might have been a stone. Hudson was standing within a few feet of the street door, and the door was open a foot or two. He heard the substance which hit Hudson click on the bar and disappear.

To Mr. Meredith, witness said he had asked $200 to come, but he had not been promised anything. He had no interest in the matter.

Mr. Connelly of Stirling, said that he saw McAuliffe come into the sitting room. He heard McAuliffe ask Hudson to have a drink. Later the two had some words. Prisoner backed towards the door and when he got near he stepped and put his hand in his hip pocket. Hudson asked the prisoner what he was afraid of. Prisoner said a gun. Then he saw prisoner throw something hard and saw it strike Hudson. Hudson fell to the floor. Witness heard whatever was thrown strike the bar.

To Mr Dennistoun, witness said he was not connected with anyone in the case. This is the first time he ever gave evidence in this case. Couldn't say whether either of the men were drunk or not. After the dispute with Shanahan was over McAuliffe asked Hudson to have a drink. Something was said and later they went to get out of the bar. McAuliffe refused to within six feet of the door. He didn't see the stone which was found on the bar next morning. It might be possible for a stone thrown from the street to hit someone in the bar. It was five feet McAuliffe first.

CHAS. WAGG.

Mr. Chas. Wagg was called, and said he was on the Royal hotel the night of June 1st. He saw Hudson go into the bar and then into the washroom. Prisoner asked Hudson to have a drink. Hudson said, "No, I would rather you get out of the bar." McAuliffe started to back up. Hudson stopped and McAuliffe asked what was the matter. He said he was afraid of a gun. McAuliffe took something out of his hip pocket and threw it at Hudson. Hudson immediately dropped to the floor. Witness and Flynn grabbed the prisoner and held him until his brother took charge of him.

To Mr. Dennistoun, witness said the first he saw was McAuliffe asking Hudson to have a drink. He didn't hear Hudson say "put up your fists."

Arthur McDonald, to Mr. Meredith said, that he was in the Royal Hotel on the first of June. He saw Hudson come out of the washroom, following McAuliffe. Hudson seemed angry. McAuliffe backed up. Then he took a step forward and immediately Hudson fell back. He did not see anything thrown. He saw Hudson afterward and his head was badly injured. No one else in the room was within striking distance. He did not see McAuliffe afterward, as he went out. Hudson fell heavily.

To Mr. Dennistoun, Witness said Hudson seemed angry at McAuliffe.

The next witness, Mr. George Thoma said that he was at the hotel on June 1, with White and Chas. Hudson said he would clear out the whole gang. Hudson said, "Put up your dooks." The other man backed with up with his hands behind his back. He saw McAuliffe take his hands from behind his back and make a motion. Hudson fell backwards. He saw blood on his forehead and heard some thing strike the bar. He saw the object in McAuliffe's hand, but couldn't say what it was. They were four or five feet from the door. The nearest bystanders were eight or ten feet away.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said that Hudson told him that he had been having some trouble. Hudson started after McAuliffe and forced him backwards until they got to the end of the bar. McAuliffe made no effort to fight.

—Mr. Hakin, another witness, to Mr. Meredith, said he saw Hudson go into the bar after McAuliffe. The latter asked Hudson to have a drink. The two men went down to the end of the bar, when the prisoner made a motion to strike Hudson, and the latter immediately fell to the floor. He saw a cut and blood on Hudson's forehead. Did not see prisoner afterwards.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said Hudson appeared angry with McAuliffe. Witness said he had known McAuliffe 15 or 20 years. He did not know anything bad about him. Prisoner was drinking that night.

Mr. C Masterton gave very similar evidence.

Then Dr. McNulty went into the box and said, he was called to attend Hudson on June 1st last between 9.30 and 10 o'clock in the Royal hotel. The wound was on the left side of the forehead, about an inch from the edge of the hair. He told Hudson's friends of the serious nature of the wound. Deceased was in a weak condition from loss of blood and shock. Hudson next morning was still suffering from a shocked condition. His pulse was up to 130 and 140. He continued visiting the deceased twice a day until Monday. Monday night deceased was still weak. On Tuesday morning he found deceased not so well. There was a swelling over the left eye. There was also some discharge from the corner of the wound. He was feverish at this time for the first. He had had a chill during the night. That evening he insisted upon the patient going to the hospital. Dr. Greer was called in for consultation. Then the doctor's evidence went on to describe the technical details of the wound and its consequences, together with the result of the post-mortem.

Dr. Greer next gave evidence which practically corroborated that of the preceding witness.

In the afternoon the witnesses for the defence was heard. A patient in St. Joseph's hospital, a Mrs. Jarvis, contemporaneously with Mr. Hudson, was called to the witness box.

Mrs. Jarvis testified to Hudson getting out of bed while in the hospital and falling with his head on a chair. He fell senseless. Did not see anyone go into his room after that, but the doctor, this was on Thursday. She did not see him on Friday. She got money when she got the subpoena, but no other money. She saw McAuliffe about two weeks ago.

Dr. Young testified to his examination of Hudson after the trouble on Saturday afternoon. He then noted having seen the operation. Did not see him again in life. Was present at the post-mortem.

There was disease of the liver, both kidney and the heart, the liver being one half larger than normal. One of the kidneys was larger than the other. The liver weighed 80 ounces when from 50 to 60 is normal. There was also evidence of Bright's disease. There were also symptoms of pericarditis. He considered that there was cirhosis of the liver and Bright's disease sufficient to cause death.

He could not say that the brain was septic or poisonous. He could not say on oath what was the cause of death, the disease of kidneys and liver were enough to cause death; he did not think that the injury to the brain was sufficient to cause death, this he illustrated by a some-what similar patient of his who had had a blow on the head and the latter is now alive and well. The blow was not sufficient to cause death. In reference to Mrs. Jarvis' evidence concerning Hudson's fall against a chair, such a fall, before an operation had been performed, would cause more pressure on the brain. The doctor then described various symptoms of death due to enlargement of the liver.

To Mr. Meredith—Did not remember saying Hudson had died of septic poisoning of the brain. There was a clot from the brain. Then Mr. Meredith went into a concise and general technical description of Hudson's brain condition. Hudson might have died at any moment from the condition of the organs without the blow having been received. He found no evidence of Hudson's having taken poison further than spots on the stomach. To Mr. Dennistoun the only part he took in the post-mortem was to take the blood from the heart cavity.

Dr. Halliday was then placed in the box. Saw Hudson on Friday afternoon. Hudson was then a very sick man, giving the main symptoms. With a stethoscope he found Hudson had a double murmur over the heart. There were symptoms of Bright's disease. Saw him on Saturday forenoon when his condition was much graver. Any fall such as Mrs. Jarvis described, might be dangerous. At the post-mortem, both the mitral and tricuspid valves of the heart were diseased. The final cause of Hudson's death leaves a very reasonable doubt.

To Mr Wood, for the prosecution. There is a very grave doubt as to the actual cause of death. The man might have died at any time from cirhosis of the liver.

Dr. Bradd then described practically the same evidence as to the state of Hudson's liver and other organs. He did not think that the blow was enough to have caused death.

Mr. R. H. Leary, to Mr. Kerr, for the defence, gave evidence as to McAuliffe's good character.

As Mr. Meredith, for the prosecution, had no witnesses in rebuttal regarding prisoner's good character, Mr. Dennistoun made his address to the jury.

It may be said, without personal flattery that seldom before has a more lucid, straight forward and earnest speech been heard within the portals of our court house. Mr. Dennistoun did not call in any of the sometime taking tricks of rhetoric but simply confined himself to the facts of the case, as seen by the defence, and put in a forcible and convincing manner, that possibly carried more weight than would a more gilded form of eloquence.

Mr. Meredith then addressed the jury on behalf of the prosecution and, as a typical of this lawyer, with a prosecuting, made a strong case against the prisoner.

His Lordship's charge to the jury was, on the whole impartial, but showed the evidence in full, against the prisoner.

Court adjourned when the jury went to consider their verdict.

At 7.30 the jury had reached a conclusion as Justice Anglin mounted the rostrum and the verdict was rendered.

Mr. Clarke, foreman of the jury, said the jury brought in a verdict of "guilty," with a recommendation to mercy. His lordship asked on what grounds the recommendation for mercy was based. The foreman replied on the grounds of Hudson's general ill-health.

Mr. Dennistoun asked that the jury be polled. This was done, and each replied "guilty."

His lordship said he would not pass sentence until the morning, but would hear what prisoner's counsel had to say in defence.

The jury was then dismissed and the court adjourned.

THE DEAD SAID TO NUMBER ONLY 277

Twenty-Five Thousand People Leave the City in One Day—More Troops Needed.

Washington, D.C., April 25.— The War Department yesterday gave out the following from Major-General A. W. Greely, commanding the Pacific division of the army, who has just arrived at San Francisco from Chicago,

"Fort Mason, San Francisco, April 24.—Arrived on Overland Limited last night, and resumed command this morning. Have gone carefully over the situation with Colonel Joselyn last night and General Funston this morning. Due very largely to Funston's energy, judgment, and tact, there has been a minimum of violence, even under most distressing conditions.

"The state's municipal authorities, together with the large body of inhabitants, have co-operated harmoniously in almost every respect. In fact the situation impresses me as reflecting the greatest credit on the courage and patience of the afflicted people of San Francisco.

"Very careful investigations made by Captain Winn today limit as far as information is obtainable, the entire San Francisco death list from late disaster to two hundred and seventy-seven victims. Of these about fifty unknown, gathered from various parts of the city have been temporarily buried in Lombard and Bay streets, Washington Square, and Portsmouth Square.

"Fort Mason.—Although recommendation entailed discomfort last night, conditions are very much improved It is estimated that more than 25,000 left the city during the past 24 hours. About 7,000 civilians, under pass, have entered San Francisco during the past four days.

"Working parties are busy clearing roads, demolishing dangerous walls, and repairing water mains. The street railways, which were operated temporarily Sunday, have suspended operations, pending further repairs. There has been no suffering during the past 24 hours for lack of water, food, or temporary shelter, although much wet bedding necessitates temporary discomfort. The citizens are rapidly erecting wooden barracks in Golden Gate Park."

MORE TROOPS NEEDED.

A further despatch from General Greely, received at 11 o'clock, says;

"Have had consultation with Mayor Schmitz, General Funston, and the chief of police regarding necessities of the near future. The Mayor urges that the army take charge of the large districts now guarded by the State militia. Apart from other conditions, it is evident that the State militia cannot be expected to serve here any longer.

WILL MAKE LIFE MISERABLE

Custom of Centuries will Govern Every Action of the Bride-to-be of King Alfonso.

Madrid, April 24.—All Spain is discussing the royal courtship. It agrees that it may be that King Alfonso loves the Princess Ena a lot. History warrants a question mark opposite every royal marriage. The minute Ena becomes the wife of the King of Spain, she can bid farewell to the usual kind of happiness.

The Spaniards love ceremony as do no other people on earth. In royal circles the fastidiousness and decorum of two centuries ago are still maintained, and most rigidly, even in the relations of the reigning family. Alfonso introduced the elaborate customs of the Orient and his successors even further complicated the matter of living.

For instance: Among the rules which Princess Ena is likely to find somewhat irksome is one requiring that the queen shall retire to bed at 10 o'clock in the summer and 8.30 in the winter. Should the king wish to visit the queen after dark he must wear slippers over his shoes, have a black mantle thrown over his shoulders, and a shield on his arm. He must also carry a lantern and a long sword and go unaccompanied. Two guards, whose service begins at 11 o'clock, pass the night in an ante-chamber to the queen's room.

When the king goes to bed he is guarded by six gentlemen who hold the key of his room and give it up to no one until, in the morning, the grand master of the palace gets it and holds it until the king has arisen.

The queen has very little privacy. Her day is always mapped out in advance. She is surrounded by a multitude of maids of honor, lackeys, grand mistresses and ordinary servants.

In the royal palace of the escurial there are 2,600 windows, 86 staircases, 89 fountains, 1,800 doors and nothing that looks like home.

No wonder King Alfonso amazes the world by the ardency of his courtship. Today he has a sweetheart close to his heart. In a few days there will be a grand wedding and he will possess only a queen.

No one will envy the Princess Ena. There isn't a woman in America, with a good husband and home, who does not stand a better show of happiness.

The Grand Jury's Aadres to the Juage

Grand Jury Makes Presentment to Mr. Justice Anglin at Spring Assizes and Refer to This County's Lack of Criminals.

Mr. J. H. Larmonth, foreman of the Grand Jury, as is customary at the assizes, on behalf of the grand jury presented the following address;

To Hon. Mr. Justice Anglin,

My Lord,—The Grand Jury of the County of Peterboro, beg to address you as follows;

We are pleased to notice in this county a comparative absence of crime, there being only one criminal case to be disposed of, at this court, and that is laid over from the assizes of last fall. For nearly six months, no offence has been committed in this county requiring the consideration of this tribunal, and we consider this a circumstance worthy of note, and one which all the inhabitants should be pleased to know of, it speaks well for the morals of the community, and we sincerely trust this condition will continue for a long time to come.

In accordance with the customary practice of grand juries, We have visited a number of institutions in the city, viz., the gaol, Nicholls hospital, St. Joseph's hospital, and the House of Providence.

We learned with pleasure, by visiting these hospitals that the general health of the community is good, and there is at present a comparatively small number of patients in these institutions. The buildings themselves we found in a splendid condition; everything was in perfect order and the different wards presented a very clean appearance. The House of Providence has a very large number of inmates who all seemed to be happy and content.

We are also glad that the county has now decided to erect a House of Refuge. This is badly needed, and will relieve to a small extent the burden now assumed by the House of Providence.

We feel we should say a word in reference to the building of a contagious disease hospital in this district. The hospitals now in Peterboro will not take any contagious disease patients, and there is absolutely no place to send a person suffering from a contagious disease. This is not right, and we cannot but express our opinion in the strongest terms, in favor of a contagious hospital being immediately erected. We have carefully inspected the jail and find that all parts of the building are clean and neat. The arrangements for confining, and preventing the escape of prisoners are quite satisfactory. At present there are twelve inmates, only two of whom are criminals, the others being vagrants.

MOUNT TACOMA CAUSES QUAKE

THE COAST MAY SUBSIDE

Shrinkage of Earth's Surface Caused by Internal Heat, Seismic Troubles Ensuing.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 24.—Dr. W. J. Holland, head of the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburg, here as a delegate to the Franklin bicentennial, said tonight that the recent volcanic activity of Mount Tacoma is most probably responsible for the San Francisco disaster, that Vesuvius has nothing at all to do with it, and that the entire Pacific coast is in danger of subsidence beneath the waters of the Pacific.

Dr Holland has recently returned from a long trip in which he devoted his time to an exhaustive study of volcanoes and earthquakes in Japan and along the western coast of this country.

EARTH'S SURFACE SINKING.

"The extreme western coast of the Americas is subject to almost continual oscillation," he said. "The coast line represents for the most part comparatively recent geological formation, and there has been in recent geological times a great deal of uplifting and faulting. By faulting is meant the cracking of the earth's surface as the various strata overlap and form cracks due to the constant shrinking of the earth's surface.

"There are series of what might be called cracks in the earth's surface extending along the western coast line from Patagonia to Alaska. The stretch of earth between the mountain ranges and the coast is constantly uplifting or sinking, and it is not impossible that it all may sink.

"Coincident with such lines of faulting there is always found in proximity to an ocean volcanic disturbances accompanied by earthquakes. Volcanoes are due to the fact that the water of the ocean settles down and percolates to deeper strata, which are heated by the internal heat of the earth. Steam is thus generated, lava is formed, and there follows explosions and seismic disturbances.

WHOLE COAST IN DANGER.

"There is no doubt that there has been a breakdown and a shifting of strata, perhaps at a great depth, in the region of San Francisco. There is certainly great connection between this earthquake and recent private reports which have come to me of intense volcanic activity on the part of Mount Tacoma. I would say that it is not possible to connect the disturbances in San Francisco with the activity of Mount Vesuvius.

"There has been tremendous potential activity along the whole western coast. This potential energy is being changed into actual energy and the whole coast is in danger of subsidence.

"This, to my mind, is the beginning of a great volcanic action.

"Some parts of the world seem remarkably free from earthquakes or shrinkage of the earth's crust. For instance, there are no records of any recent disturbance of the kind in Pennsylvania, and yet in many places in the State there are evidences of tremendous earthquakes that must have been far greater than in San Francisco. Just beyond Harrisburg and beyond Altoona, there are clear evidences of whole mountains having been lifted up on end by earthquakes, and science is unable to tell when cavities have formed in the earth's crust, when a sudden letting down of the surface may be expected, and the whole region of Pennsylvania is convulsed.'

APRIL AND OCTOBER EARTHQUAKE SEASONS.

Dr. George W. Dick, of the California Academy of Sciences, was attending the morning session of the American Philosophical Society here when news was brought to him of the disaster to his home city.

"We of the coast of course know that our cities are liable to earthquakes," he said, "but we have been so long left in practical security that this report of disaster comes with a great shock. Earthquakes in California always come in April or October.

"I am rejoicing over the fact that my wife and daughters are here with me. My sons live about twenty miles south of San Francisco, and being in the open country I do not think they are in any particular danger. I own considerable property in the district that is destroyed, and have a valuable library of about 30,000 volumes in the building adjoining the Mutual Fire Insurance building, which has been destroyed."

QUAKE OPENS VOLCANO

Mount Capulin is Now Smoking, Supposed to be Extinct, is Active.

Trinidad, Colo., April 24.—Two distinct earthquake shocks were felt at Folsom, N. M., about eight o'clock this morning. The shocks cracked the side of Mount Capulin, a supposed extinct volcano, which is now emitting smoke and heat from the crevasses in its side. People are fleeing in every direction.

The smoke was first discovered shortly after eight o'clock, when the earth began to tremble, and then, with a dull rumble, shook the entire place. Pictures were knocked from the walls and window glass was shattered. So far as learned, no one was injured.

HEAT MELTS SNOW.

After the shock the smoke began to pour from the volcano's summit and sides. In some places the crevasses are five feet wide. The heat is so intense that snow, which had covered the mountain to a depth of nearly five feet, is almost entirely melted.

Mount Capulin is 10,000 feet high and was active half a century ago, when it destroyed two towns and caused heavy loss of life.

Every available vehicle in the district has been pressed into service there, it is said, and if the crater delays its work for several hours a greater part of the people will be able to get to places of safety.

TOWNS IN DANGER.

The volcano is surrounded by numerous prosperous towns, of which Folsom, with a population of 2,500 is the largest. Among others are Troyburg, population 300; Emery Gap, 150; Kiowa, 250; Apis, 100; Des Moines, 125; Emerys, 100. They are all mining camps, and machinery and other equipment to the value of millions are in danger, besides the residences and business houses.

Shot a Woman.

Los Angeles, April 24.—Women as well as men were shot down and killed by the soldiers in San Francisco for the slightest violation of martial laws.

J. M. Houck, a newspaper man, who reached this city, his home, from San Francisco, with his family today, told this remarkable story;

"One woman was shot for building a fire in her home after she had been ordered not to by a soldier on guard.

"On Mission and Sixteen streets another soldier shot a woman and her husband, a grocer, because they would not sell provisions at regular prices to a hungry crowd besieging the place."

Preston, April 25.—The three-year-old daughter of William Bamber, flour and feed merchant, was drowned in a well last night.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water, the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co., forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Chio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Damp Spring Weather Ruinous to Health

Causes Weakness, Headaches and Feeling of Unrest; the Cure is Simple.

That peculiar weakness so common in the spring, is demoralizing to body and mind alike.

Stupid, absent-minded and dull,—You feel the need of a stimulating tonic.

In a short time it makes you feel fit and fine, creates a feeling of youth and strength that's surprising.

Ferrozone revives and braces the sickly because it nourishes and builds up the organs that are weak. As a spring tonic, appetizer and blood-strengthener it is unequaled.

A well known resident of Utopia, Ont., Mr H. H. Postle, writes: "From long experience I am convinced that Ferrozone is the best medicine for spring. As a rule the blood is thin and impure and the whole system is congested with poisons that should be carried off. I use Ferrozone because it clears up the system, gives you an appetite and makes you sleep well. One winter I had serious palpitation of the heart, nervous headaches, and an extreme tired feeling. Sleep was not restful and by spring I was in bad shape. I took six boxes of Ferrozone and was made the picture of health."

Ferrozone makes permanent cures. Absolutely safe because it is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol. Concentrated cure in tablet form, — that's Ferrozone, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

AN M. P. DEFENDS THE 'GRAB'

The wisdom of the "indemnity grabbers" in not discussing the "grab," when they can avoid it, is demonstrated every time anyone attempts to defend it. Such an attempt was made on Friday night last by Mr. Miller, M.P., of South Grey, and we would be quite willing to let the case go to the jury without reply after Mr. Miller's effort. The Montreal Star thinks that all that would be necessary would be to see that the jury heard the full Millerite creed.

Mr. Miller began by arguing that a $3,500 indemnity was not too large, because "about every member of the House" was able to make that a year. Thus we learn that it is Mr. Miller's opinion that the country should pay the members of Parliament a year's salary for five or six months' work. The indemnity is not to indemnify a man for the loss his business suffers while he is attending to the country's business at Ottawa, but is to enable him to give up his own business entirely and live a pensioner on the national chirity. Comment on his position would be superfluous.

Then Mr. Miller went into details. He opened up his ledger for the country to see. He showed up his debit and credit account with political life. To begin with, he pays from $500 to $700 a year for extra office help because of his absence from business. This he thinks the country should repay to him. Possibly not much objection would be made to this; though, if the country has to pay his clerks, it is only fair that the country should have the selection of them. He may pay too much for what he gets; or he may employ more help than he really needs. The only fair plan would be to put his extra clerks on the civil service list, and let them come under the regulations of that department of the Government.

The next item in Mr. Miller's bill against the country is the cost of his election. He says that an honest election costs him $1,200, which would be $300 a year for four years. But why should the country pay Mr. Miller's election expenses? We might as well be asked to pay the bill for the campaign literature of the two parties. Mr. Miller had an opponent who was not elected; but he presented himself for election in the same patriotic and public-spirited fashion as did Mr. Miller, and has as much right to tax the country for his election expenses as his more successful opponent. If the public treasury is to be levied upon for the election expenses of politicians, we should not discriminate between the successful and the unsuccessful in this fashion. We might as well refuse to pay an indemnity to the Opposition members on the ground that their party was beaten at the polls.

Another group of items in Mr. Miller's bill is composed of his contributions to local purposes—legitimate demands upon a public man. That is, when Mr. Miller buys tickets to the dinner or contributes to the Ladies' Aid or "takes a throw" on a crazy quilt, he expects one would imagine, to get the money for these acts of philanthropic generosity out of the Dominion Treasury. When he distributes charity, he apparently doesn't think that it should cost him anything. He is to get the credit for a charitable or religious contribution; while, as a matter of fact, the very people who receive it are to help make up the gift. It is a part of his "pose" as a member of Parliament; and the country should pay for it. We may be grateful that Mr. Miller does not consider it his duty to dress better as an M. P. than he did as a private citizen; or—reasoning by analogy—he might want to send us his additional tailors' bills.

Finally, we must take into account the cost of living five or six months a year at Ottawa. How much it costs Mr. Miller to live at Ottawa, we have no means of knowing; but, obviously, we should only be called upon to pay the difference between Ottawa prices and home prices, for when he is living at Ottawa, he is not living at home. We would very much rather not keep a petty cash account with our public men after this fashion; but we are only considering the bill which Mr. Miller has presented to us. With this item, he should certainly have filed his hotel bills. We might arrive at it, however, by reckoning up the other items, as for instance:

|---|---|
| Extra clerk..... ..... ..... ..... ..... | $ 500 |
| Yearly contribution to election penses..... ... ... ..... ... ... ..... ... | 100 |
| Charity (estimated)..... ..... ..... ... | 200 |
| Total..... ..... ..... ... ... ..... | $1,000 |
| Indemnity..... ..... ... ... ..... ... ... | $2,500 |

The Star still thinks that he should have filed his hotel bills in detail.

On one point, our contemporary agrees with Mr. Miller. He says that it would have been a mistake to have discussed the increase before the elections of 1904, because "nothing would have been talked about except indemnity." That is entirely true. And Mr. Miller and those who think with him will find that nothing else will be talked about when the next elections come on—whether they be held soon or late. Mr. McIntyre of South Perth has taken the right position in deciding to heed the opinion of his constituents on the question, which he found very adverse to the increase granted last session; and Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden are in line with this same public opinion in pledging themselves to give an opportunity for a full discussion in Parliament.

Cold Feet.

Never go to bed with cold feet; never try to sleep without being perfectly certain that you will be able to keep them warm. To lie one night with cold feet gives such a strain to the system as will be felt seriously, perhaps ending in a fit of sickness. Cold feet show an unbalanced circulation. The very best thing to do is to warm them by exercise. If that be practicable; if not, by dipping them in hot and cold water alternately two or three times and then using vigorous friction. If that does not warm them and keep them warm, heat them before the fire, drying them thoroughly, and then correct your habits or improve your health, for be sure that one or the other is wrong, perhaps both.

Washington Irving.

A house in William street, New York, was Irving's birthplace on April 3, 1783. The British were soon to evacuate the city and Washington to take possession of it. Mrs. Irving, a warm hearted woman of English birth and an ardent patriot of the new land, said, "Washington's work is ended, and the child shall be named after him." The child was still in the care of a Scotch nurse when one day she saw the president, as Washington then was, enter a shop, and after him she went. "Please, your honor," said she, "here's a bairn was named after you." The president laid his hand on the boy's head and gave him a blessing, which he never forgot.

TURKEY IS MAKING TROUBLE

Backed By the Kaiser Sultan is Making Trouble.

London, April 21.—The Constantine correspondent of the Express says that Germany is using diplomatic influence there to encourage Turkey to resist Great Britain in the dispute about the occupation of Tabah, in the Sinai peninsula. The correspondent says he is informed authoritatively that the support the Sultan is receiving from Berlin account for His Majesty's obstinacy in face of the clear declaration by the British Government.

The Daily Telegraph's Cairo correspondent says he learns from the highest source that the Turkish High Commissioner in Egypt has made most important and unexpected demands from the Khedive regarding Akbah, including the right to occupy any post Turkey desires in the Sinai peninsula, without consulting Egypt, and that it is supposed that the British authorities have formulated an uncompromising refusal to this.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1,500x1,500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the mine.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tharsis mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

"What are you doing here lady?" asked a voice which she recognized instantly as black Tom's—he had been one of the attaches of Fairlawn Villa ever since Reine could remember.

She shrank back from him. "I meant no harm in strolling into the grounds," she murmured, endeavoring to disguise her tone, but it was no use, he sprang forward peering in dismay into the white, averted face.

"Yes, it's me, Tom," she sobbed. "Don't tell anybody I have been here. I have been to poor papa's grave, and now I am going away again. Oh, Tom! take great care of it, keep the grass trimmed down close, and—and—plant some white flowers around it—my white rosebush, that I loved so well, and the white hyacinths—you will attend to it Tom?"—This tearfully.

"Oh, yes, Missy Reine."

"I—I—am going now, Tom," she faltered, turning away, but he caught at her gown with trembling hands.

"What fo' should you go away fo' again, Missy Reine," he entreated; "do stay, it am yer own home, ain't it? Missy Woodstock—de ole general's sister, am a very nice pusson; but oh, Missy, we ole folk' 'bout de place like de ole rulin' best.

"Man proposes and God disposes."

It was destined she was not to leave Fairlawn Villa so soon. She took one step forward, then exhausted nature and whirling brain asserted herself. Reine slipped down unconscious in the long lush grass, at faithful Tom's feet.

"Poor Missy Reine," he muttered, as he raised her in his strong arms. It was but the work of a moment to carry her to the house; and almost as soon as he had laid her down, he had told his story of how and where he had met Reine and all that had transpired, to the astounded servants who had assembled, attracted by the confusion.

"Thank heaven Reine is found, at last!" sobbed Mrs. Woodstock, Reine's aunt, bending over the prostrate form, and death white face.

All the usual old-time restoratives proved of little avail, and a doctor was quickly summoned, also a telegram to Bernard Chesleigh, telling him what had occurred, was sent flashing over the wires, which brought him on to Virginia, and to Fairlawn Villa without delay.

It was many a long day ere a knowledge of her surroundings came to Reine.

One day, as soon as Reine was able to be about, her aunt sent for her to come to the drawing-room, adding that "some one was there who wished to see her very much."

Girl-like, she took a glance in the mirror before going down, smoothing her collar, and pushing back the rings of golden, curling hair from her forehead, and in that momentary glance she could not help but notice how pale and thin she had grown. She could scarcely recognize the wan face reflected there.

She walked slowly down to the parlor, and opened the door. Some one was seated in the shadow of the bay window—some one who uttered a cry of intense surprise as he beheld her, and the next moment Bernard Chesleigh was clasping her hand, looking joyfully down into her face.

"Why did you hide yourself like this from those who love you best?" he asked, sadly.

Reine hid her face in her hands.

"Did you know, Bernard, that he—he left me forever?" she sobbed. "Left me wilfully, deliberately—left me to the world's cold mercy, dependent upon myself?"

"I know all, Reine. But why, in the hour of need, did you not go to your father, who loved you so well, or come to me?"

"Papa would never have received me," she faltered. "He shut his heart against me. I have deserved it as the price of my folly."

Bernard Chesleigh was a good man, but he could scarcely refrain from cursing the villian who had wrecked Reine's young life. For God had punished her sufficiently for forgetting the words of her dear old Bible, "Honor thy father and thy mother."

Poor Reine! She was but another pitiful example of the folly of eloping. Will young girls never take heed, and learn to shun false-hearted lovers whom loving friends and parents strive to warn them against?

She continued to improve in health and strength rapidly; and once more, as she stood among the roses, and her clear laugh rang out—she seemed like the merry, joyous Reine of yore.

Bernard Chesleigh watched her with yearning, sorrowful eyes, no longing seeking to hide the truth from himself. He loved her with all his heart. She was his first and only love, the other half of his soul. Yet she was separated from him as completely as though she lay in her grave.

The days that passed were all too bitter-sweet to Bernard Chesleigh. He was only human, not a saint, and it was beyond human nature to deny himself the joy of being near the woman he loved.

He fell slowly, without knowing it, from the state of blind worship into the deepest pit passion ever digs for men. He understood it at last, when a feeling of despair came over him, and he said to himself that he would give his very life to clasp her in his arms just one fleeting moment, and kiss her, even should he then die. It was when that thought came over him that he realized how desperately, how madly and blindly he loved her, and more now, if that could be, than ever. He had never trembled at a woman's soft touch before; now, if his hand touched hers, if her dress touched him in passing, if, as he bent over her to read or to sing, the perfume from her hair reached him, he trembled like a strong tree swaying in the storm.

He knew his love was hopeless, he told himself over and over again that she could be nothing to him, and the next thing was to fly from her, to go where the witchery of her face would never set his heart on fire again, to go where her voice would not reach him. And yet, realizing all that, he still lingered.

He drained his cup of poison slowly, surely, knowing it was poison, knowing that it would destroy him, yet unable to put down the fatal cup, which once tasted, clings to the lips. He found himself wondering over and over again, is she were but free, if her heart would turn to him, for he read in her eyes now a look which was new in them, if they by chance met his; then the white lids would droop over them and Reine would turn confusedly away.

There was one incident that happened one evening which was certainly a trying one for both Reine and Chesleigh.

The latter was sitting at the piano drumming thoughtfully on the white keys, when a lady who was just then visiting at the villa, crossed over to where Chesleigh sat—requesting him to try a piece of music for her which she had just received. "I think I have heard you sing it before," she said, laying it before him.

HUNTING VIOLINS.

Tarisio Was Found Dead Surrounded by Valuable Instruments.

Violin makers now and again come upon pieces of wood of phenomenal resonance and beauty, and when they do we may be sure they give special care to the making and finishing of the instrument formed of the wood. Stradivarius, at any rate, did. In 1716 he had a piece of luck in this particular, and his luck went into an instrument with which he fell so much in love that he absolutely refused to sell it or allow it to be played upon by any hands but his own. He kept it locked up, and when he died at the advanced age of ninety-three he bequeathed it to his sons. By and by an enthusiastic collector named Salabue got on the scent of this instrument, and about the year 1700 he acquired it—at what figure is not known—from one of the great man's sons.

Salabue cherished it until his death, about 1827, and then a strange character appears on the scene as purchaser. This was an eccentric old fellow named Luigi Tarisio, who, abandoning his trade as carpenter, had started collecting old violins and was now searching in every nook and corner of Italy for the treasures of Cremona. He could neither read nor write, this enthusiastic collector, but he could tell a valuable fiddle the moment he saw it, and he estimated the worth of the Salabue "Strad" so well that after he had acquired it he kept it to himself with all the loving care that its maker had already shown for it. Tarisio lived entirely alone in a wretched garret in Milan, and one day in the year 1854 his neighbors found him lying dead among a confused heap of Cremonas. The old man had amassed a collection of some 250 instruments, the result of a thirty years' "hunt," and, although he had started life a penniless carpenter, he died worth about £12,000.—Cornhill.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 406 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionares in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—The Willing Workers of Murray street Baptist church met yesterday evening.

—O. T. Somers & Company's elevator at Boston, Ont., with 4,000 bushels of grain, has been destroyed by fire.

—Hamilton hotelkeepers have decided to cut out 5 cent whisky altogether, and advance the price of "cave goods" to 10 cents.

—Geo. Hurtubise, the champion heavy-weight wrestler, has entered for the Canadian championships.—Toronto Star.

—At a meeting of the Elks on Monday evening, Mr. R. M. Glover was elected treasurer of the lodge, Mr. R. J. Munroe, the treasurer resigning.

—Tomorrow afternoon the Women's Guild will hold an "at home," at the home of the president, Mrs. Lundy, corner of Aylmer and Dalhousie streets.

—340 1-2 Water street is the address of a young lady who is prepared to do sewing at home or go out by the day. Terms reasonable. References given. Orders may be left at this office.

—The annual picnic of the Olympic Club, one of Peterboro's most noted organizations will hold their annual picnic to Kawartha Lakes on Thursday, June 7th. Invitations are now out for this annual event.

—Local anglers are getting their rods and lines into shape as trout fishing begins next week. A party of local sportsmen have already completed arrangements to deplete the finny denizens of a northern stream.

—The members of the Primary department of the Charlotte street church Sunday school will be entertained on to-morrow afternoon in the Sunday school room. Refreshments will be served. Mothers are invited to accompany their children.

—The Times respectfully joins the many friends of Mr. J. H. Gardiner, in extending hopes for the best over his only son's illness. Mr. Gardiner's son is dangerously ill with inflamation of the lungs and yesterday very little hope was extended by the physician in charge for his recovery.

—The Manchester Guardian of last issue, reports that their correspondent in Russia, reports that Father Gapon, well known to local magazine readers, has been hanged by revolutionists, who overheard him use words indicating himself to be a spy for the Government. Truly Russia is a nice country to live out of.

DEATH OF MR. ROBERT ROBERTSON

One of Peterboro's Oldest Citizens Passes Away.

It is with regret we are forced to chronicle the demise of Mr. Robert Robertson, one of Peterboro's oldest and most esteemed citizens, who passed away at 6.20 yesterday evening, at the family residence, 263 Bethune street.

The deceased had been in rather poor health for some time, but only became seriously ill about two weeks ago, and gradually sank until the end. Mr. Robertson was 75 years of age, and had been a resident of Peterboro for 58 years, having come here from Perthshire, Scotland, when only 17 years of age. He learned the trade of patternmaker with the late Mr. James Hamilton, father of Mr. Peter Hamilton, and worked at his trade until about two weeks ago. About 50 years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Ann Ingels, of Peterboro, who predeceased him 32 years. Mr. Robertson was a life-long member of St. Paul's church. He was for many years a director of the Public Library, and a member of the Board of Education. He leaves a family of three boys and one girl, as follows: Chas. B., Alberta; Mrs. Lyna Millage, Detroit, Thos. Robertson, Toronto; and James F., Cleveland, Ohio.

The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and will take place at two p.m. to-morrow afternoon, to the Little Lake cemetery.

MR. WELLS INTERVIEWED

Yesterday a Times representative had a conversation with Ontario Government Detective Wells on general matters appertaining to his responsible position. Mr. Wells whilst a most careful, and non-committal man as regards his business, is a gentleman whose wide experience and brainy mind renders a most charming and interesting conversationalist. Mr. Wells, knowing that any newspaperman worth his salt, not to mention the accompanying porridge, is "mum" where reasonably requested, gave some very interesting items regarding the Hamilton murder case.

One item of the conversation that does not forbid publication was the showing to The Times man the correspondence he had had with the American shoe manufacturing company that made the shoes worn by the murdered woman. He showed the Times man a sample of the lining he had received from the makers of the shoes worn by the murdered woman which exactly corresponded.

This detective whose reputation, as a sleuth, is world wide, says that the Hamilton murder case is one of the most complex in his experience. There is no doubt, however, that if a tangible clue is to be obtained, Detective Wells is the man who will or can find it.

PORT HOPE AGOG

The Lakeside Town Sees Its Largest Ship, to Date.

The Port Hope Guide says:

The steamship "Neepawah" arrived in port on Saturday morning, the first boat to make an appearance here this season. The "Neepawah" is one of the Montreal and Lake Superior line, and came direct from Glasgow, where it was built. It is, without exception, the largest boat that has been in port here, being 250 feet in length with a 65 foot beam. The boat is an all steel structure, and is fitted up with the latest appliances. It has a capacity of 1,190 tons and travels along quite handily at the rate of eighteen miles an hour. When loaded it draws 17 feet of water, and steamed in out of harbor without the slightest trouble. It is in charge of Captain O. Patenaude, and a jolly crew of twenty-one members. Capt. Thomas Donnelly, of Kingston, inspector of mills and owner of all the wrecking outfits on the lakes, came up on the boat from Kingston. The steamer left shortly after three o'clock with a hundred tons of enamelled ware from the Standard ideal factory for Winnipeg and the west. The "Neepawah" will carry these to Port Arthur.

THAT ARMY WEDDING

Miss D. A. Boorman Married in the S. A. Barracks to Mr. Vincent.

A very interesting matrimonial ceremonial was enacted in the local Salvation Army barracks on Monday night, when Miss Daisy Agnes Boorman became the wife of Mr. Jabez Vincent.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Harry Jobe, while the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Olive. The bride was prettily attired in a suit of blue with a white sash.

At the conclusion to the ceremony a number of short addresses of a congratulatory nature was made by R. C. Braund, Staff-Captain D. F. McAmmond and John Boorman, the bride's father. At the conclusion of Mr. Braund's address he sang a song the chorus of it being thoroughly typical of a Salvation Army sweat. After the marriage ceremony the bridegroom gave a brief address.

During the evening the Army band rendered a number of excellent selections.

E. DURHAM LICENSES

List of Those Licensed in East Durham to Sell Liquor.

A meeting of the East Durham License Commissioners was held in the Council Chamber, Port Hope, on Saturday.

The meeting was called for the granting of licenses for next year. The licenses were granted to the Hotel St. Lawrence, Queen's Royal, Amerman, Lakeview, and a shop license to James Hunter, Port Hope; also to James McKeown, Bethany; W. J. Coulter, Pontypool, and S. D. Rose, Millbrook. The applications of the British, Midland and Ontario House, Port Hope, and the Queen's Hotel, Millbrook, were left over for further consideration. The commissioners will meet again on Thursday.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT

One of those accidents that seem pre-ordained to happen in factories where man use tools, happened yesterday afternoon in the large manufacturing establishment operated and owned by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Co.

Mr. Samuel Bickell, an employe of the firm, met with a rather painful accident. He and other men were riveting a boiler when his fellow-employe laid down the pneumatic hammer in doing so a valve of the hammer struck the side of the boiler. This caused a die to fly from the hammer. Bickell was struck in the face below the eye and was quite badly cut. He was taken to his home.

A GOOD CONCERT

Large Audience Attends St. Peter's C. O. F. Court Entertainment.

The entertainment given under the auspices of St. Peter's Court, Catholic Order of Foresters, in the T.A.S. rooms was well attended and a most attractive program presented.

Mr. John O'Brien acted as chairman very acceptably, Rev. Father McColl gave a most interesting address.

The program was as follows:

Instrumental—Misses Dorris and Merrell.
Vocal solo—Mr. R. Freund.
Vocal solo—Miss M. Clancy.
Recitation—Mr. Geo. Lynch.
Address—Rev. Father McColl.
Vocal solo—Mr. E. Crowe.
Vocal solo—Mr. C. Donovan.
Vocal solo—Mr. F. Pope.
Duet—Mrs. E. Quinn.

The accompanists were Miss McCabe, the Misses Dorris and Mr. Schneider and Mr. P. Kane, furnished the music for the band to give by the orchestra.

$300 Paid to City by T. S. & L. Co.

In our issue of yesterday we noted that the Board of Works, on Monday afternoon met at the corner of Silverbrooke and Reid streets, to settle the price for a strip of land which the Toronto Savings & Loan Co., desired to secure. Mr. W. G. Morrow representing the company, agreed on the price demanded, viz., $300 in cash, and a right of way 60 feet long and 30 feet wide across the company's property. The deal was satisfactory to both the corporation and the city.

Ponies Coming to Canada.

London, April 25.—A score of fine Shetland ponies was shipped to Canada from Dundee on Saturday, the first exportation for many years. It is expected to re-open a trade which was formerly considerable. The Scotsman, in a long article on the development of transportation in the Canadian West, predicts an early realization of the Hudson's Bay route.

ANOTHER COMPANY

Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Co. Opens Local Branch.

Still another insurance company has invaded the city, viz., the Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Company, of Ottawa. Mr. H. B. Willing, of Ottawa, has been appointed district manager, and Mr. W. Milan will be city agent. Mr. Willing has arrived in the city and is looking for suitable quarters for an office. The local district will extend as far north as Lindsay and east as far as Havelock. The Canadian Railway Accident Company, we understand, a reliable institution.

London Times Sensation Discounted.

By a despatch received yesterday by the London Times, it took just eleven minutes for the San Francisco earthquake to be noted by the seismograph in Japan. That's nothing. Let a lady in this city get a new hat or gown and her dearest enemy will know about it in eleven seconds after first appearance in church. The London Times might give us something quick in transference of intelligence.

AN IMPORTANT SALE

Lakefield Electric Light Plant Changes Hands.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, a vote was taken relative to the purchase of the electric light plant of Lakefield by that village some time ago, and the proposed bylaw was defeated.

Since that time, we understand, a number of leading citizens of Lakefield, who are interested in promoting the welfare of the village, have purchased the electric light plant, and will operate it hereafter. The new owners will take possession on the 1st of May.

It is said that the price paid was between four and five thousand dollars. The new company intend to greatly increase and improve the already admirable system.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARD

Mr. M. W. Boswell, a Candidate for a Toronto University Scholarship

It will be of interest to the many local citizens knowing Mr. M. W. Boswell, that his name is causing much trieting in Toronto University circles, owing to Mr. Boswell having been debarred from a scholarship amounting to $750.

The Toronto World, of yesterday's issue, devotes nearly a column to the subject. It seems that the scholarship of $750 was awarded to a Mr. Dawes, a teacher of the university.

Mr. Boswell, a Peterboro boy, who was at Harvard University for a time and quite noted there for his scientific researches, was recommended by the examining committee of Toronto University, as the right candidate. The council, however, declare Boswell ineligible.

The university undergraduates were much incensed, and demanded that the decision of the scholarship. The vote of the council was close, standing eight to six against him.

The senate of the university has name a committee of lawyers to investigate.

WENT AFTER CROWS

But Shot Himself in the Foot Instead.

Cobourg Post says:

On Good Friday Mr. I. Smith and son Leo were in the swamp west of the town shooting crows, and as they proceeded along Mr. Smith cautioned the boy not to have the gun cocked but the warning was not heeded. In passing through the bushes the hammer came in contact with a small limb and the gun discharged, and a portion of the contents passed through his foot. Fortunately the wound is not a serious one but will be painful and will require some time before healing. The boy was driven to town and the wound dressed by a physician.

HUMAN LIFE TOO SHORT

Scientist Believes That Life's Span Should be 140 Years.

London, April 23.—"I see that Dr. Lasalle has been communicating his ideas of longevity to the Academy of Medicine," says the Paris correspondent of Truth.

"They are those of Flourens, who set them forth in his lectures at the Sorbonne; but Flourens had not the same opportunities for basing his lectures on a broad foundation of statistics. Reasoning from analogy, he concluded that human being ought to live five or six times longer than it took them to attain the full adult state—that is to say from twenty to twenty-five years.

It takes a cat eighteen months to grow up, and the creature, if left to die a natural death, does so at an age varying from ten to twelve years. The dog takes two years and lives from twelve to fourteen; the horse five and goes on to twenty-five or thirty. A well constituted human being ought to live from 120 to 140 years.

"In addition to the cases of longevity cited by Flourens, Dr. Leslie gives a long list. For instance: Peter Czortan, who died recently at Temesvar, in Hungary, at the age of 185 years, and an old man who has just turned his 200th year in an asylum at Fulak. He buried his wife in his 153rd year. Would it not be well to send a scientific commission to Fulak to investigate this Methuselah's claim to extraordinary longevity?"

SETTLED OUT OF COURT

The Celebrated Elevator Cases Versus Hall Amicably Arranged.

The cases of Deacre vs. Hall and Talbot vs. Hall, from the verdicts in which the defendants successfully appealed, and which were to have been heard again at the spring assizes, have been settled out of court to the satisfaction of all parties concerned.

It will be remembered that the plaintiffs sought damages from the firm of Messrs. Richard Hall & Son in connection with certain injuries received in an elevator accident which happened in the defendants' store some months ago.

D. O'Connell for plaintiffs; Hall & Hayes for defendants.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle-wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical, headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and weakening, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

Board of Works in Business Session

Crossings and Temporary Sidewalks to Be Constructed---The Purchase of a New Concrete Mixer Decided on.

The Board of Works of the City Council met last night, when there were present, Chairman Ald. Hicks, [illegible] Graham, Wilson, Tovey.

The Board will grant the petition of ratepayers to have Parnell street put in passable condition.

Moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Tovey,—That a crossing be constructed at the intersection of King and John streets, to permit of an exit for John street residents. Bolivar street, now being blocked by sewer work—Carried.

The Board will arrange for some sort of a walk on the south side of Dublin street, 114 feet from Bethune street. Also a crossing from Bethune to Dublin street.

Arrangements will be made to supply the stone crusher at the city's gravel pit with water from Mr. Higgins.

It was decided to extend the side walk on the north side of Bolivar St. to the boundary. Also on south side of Cedar from Park to Cambridge street. The Board also propose constructing a granolithic walk on London, from Aylmer to Reid st.

The Board will investigate the petition for a board walk, on Euclid avenue, north side, Ward Five. Also 155 feet on Cameron avenue.

ICE AND WATER.

Allin the iceman, asked permission to connect with the water pipe in the city yard at Townsend street, for the purpose of washing his ice. This was granted, Mr. Allin to assume all liability for any damages that may arise through this concession.

Richard Stockdale's request for a crossing on Homewood avenue, was referred to the city engineer with power to act.

REMOVE UNSIGHTLY TREES.

Mrs. J. Martin's request to have the two trees cut down by the corporation on Dublin street, last year, replaced, was not acted on.

The city will remove the two old trees on Hunter street, opposite the American Hotel, if agreeable to the property owner.

The request of Mr. Weiss for permission to remove an ash tree opposite his property on Mc[illegible]reet, and replace same by appropriate shade trees, was referred to the engineer with power to act.

NEW AUTOMATIC MIXER.

Mr. W. H. Whitaker, a member of the firm, The Gould Shapley and Muir Co., Limited, Brantford, Canada, manufacturers of automatic concrete mixers; and Mr. J. P. Currie, the company's travelling representative, interviewed the Board regarding the purchase by this city of one of their modern mixers, which they are willing to ship here on 30 days' trial, to be returned free of cost if not satisfactory. This machine named "The Ideal Mixer," is constructed on the automatic principle, and is a marvel of ingenuity and utility. The company claim to have succeeded in producing a machine which will automatically measure the proper amount of cement with a given quantity of gravel, and also to automatically insert sufficient water inside of the machine to properly wet the mixture to any desired consistency, and this result has been attained with this machine to a nicety. It is mounted on a steel truck, and can be readily moved from place to place.

In front of the machine the gravel hopper is placed so that it is low down and very handy for the operator to shovel in the material. On top of the machine above the gravel hopper is placed another hopper, which holds the cement, when the desired quantity of gravel is in the hopper for this purpose it is tripped by means of a lever and is raised up until the gravel dumps into the large main from off the mixer, and as the gravel hopper is being raised it automatically opens a cylinder valve in the bottom of the cement hopper, and the cement is dumped in with the gravel into the long drum. This cylinder under the cement hopper is so arranged that it can be set to dump cement in any desired proportion from 12 to 1 to 2 to 1, and will automatically do this until the adjustment is changed making a new mixture.

The company guarantee to mix concrete with their machine at 12c. per cubic yard. All measuring of water, cement, etc., is done automatically. The price of this mixer is $600.

The Board decided to recommend Council to accept this company's offer to ship here one of their No. 2 Ideal Mixers, on 30 days trial, the price of the machine proves satisfactory and consequently purchased, to $600 F.O.B. Peterboro, five per cent. off.

PLANK LONDON STREET BRIDGE.

Ald. Elliott drew attention to the fact that as Smith's street bridge, one of the city's main arteries, is closed to traffic, London street bridge should be planked to afford a passible right of way into the town from across the river. This work will be done, and the wretched condition of Water St. from Smith's street north attended to.

The Board then adjourned.

Captain Blown to Pieces.

Parry Sound, April 26.—By an explosion of an acetylene gas buoy in the ship channel ten miles from here, Captain Arthur Clark was killed and blown to pieces.

Burned by Maple Syrup.

Brockville, April 26.—Miss Edith McKinley, aged 19 years, lies at her home on the 3rd concession of Elizabethtown in a critical condition, as the result of being severely burned by boiling maple syrup.

Couple Thought to Have Eloped.

St. Catharines, April 26.—A sensation has been caused at Allanburg, a quiet little village on the Welland Canal, by the disappearance of Charles Henderson, a young man, and Mrs. May Rogers, wife of the dredge engineer. The woman is about 30 years of age; she left two children behind her.

DISORDERS IN PARTS OF FRANCE

Various Reasons are Cited for Them—Is it Tending to Revolution

MINE HORROR THE CAUSE

Church Inventory and Retirement of Waldeck-Rousseau are Cited as Motives.

New York, April 26.—A Sun cable from Paris voices an alarmist note over the prospects of recent disorders growing into revolution. The tone of the cable is very sensational.

As a statement of causes there are cited the retirement of Waldeck-Rousseau, since which event "the country has not had a strong government;" the feeling urged against the authorities on account of the church inventory riots, and the bad blood between miners and employers and miners and the government officials over the recent mine disasters. It is further set forth that red flags have been carried unchallenged in the presence of high state authorities; rioters who have attacked soldiers have been allowed to go scot free. In short, disorders have been allowed to go unchecked because of official cowardice, not born of fear of physical results, but rather of the dread of the political effect. It is asserted now that the movement is growing and that royalists, clericals, socialists, and anarchists have pooled issues to the end of upsetting the present status quo.

Then, too, the correspondent dwells upon the inertness of M. Clemenceau, the Minister of Internal Affairs. While his past record is that of a strong man, he has not been able to cope with the existing conditions. His efforts at conciliation between the miners after the Courierres disaster were nugatory, because the miners were led to believe that the greatest possible efforts had not been put forth to rescue many of the unfortunates who perished. Agitators from Paris fanned the flames in the mining districts, and now it is asserted some 40,000 people are in open defiance of the law. As opposed to them a few troops were sent. The destruction of property continued and the soldiers of the Republic were defied and treated with contempt and subjected to fusiliades of bricks, stones and other missiles. In this way one or two were killed and others battered. But no reprisals were made; the troops restrained from firing on the mob. To quote from the dispatch, as illustrative of the fighting in the Pas de Calais district:

"Suddenly Capt. Hermelin fell, smitten to earth by a brick, senseless. Twenty insurgents rushed out of a wineshop crying 'Kill him, kill him.' Sergt. Grandry, seeing the danger, covered his fallen chief until aid arrived. Orders were given, as the horses were exhausted, to retire on the mine, amid the triumphant shrieks of the victorious insurgents and their dismount, while the bugles sounded 'Surrender.' A volley of stones was the only reply. Carbines were loaded and the order to fire was about to be given when the Mayor of Haveluy rushed in and begged that three prisoners be freed. The commander, after taking their names, consented, whereupon the insurgents withdrew, singing victoriously. More than one hundred soldiers were wounded, yet not a shot was fired. When this point of the rebellion had been reached M. Clemenceau was present. The Minister went once more to the disturbed districts. He told the leaders of the strike that they really must not act in this violent way. He even went so far as to intimate that if things got much worse the soldiers might be compelled to use their weapons."

The dispatch ends with the statement that, at the close of his visit, Clemenceau mingled with a group bearing a red flag, and that his companions hissed the troops without a protest from him.

May Day, it is asserted, may see a general outbreak.

SENTENCE DEFERRED

P. McAuliffe to Receive Sentence By Justice Anglin To-day.

Yesterday morning when the assizes again opened at 9.30 a.m., the court room was well filled by those interested in the expected deliverance of sentence on Patrick McAuliffe for having caused the death of Fred. Hudson on June 1st.

McAuliffe entered the dock with perfect self-possession and smiling face. After the jury had answered their names, Mr. Dennistoun made a formal technical objection to the trial of McAuliffe, owing to the former indictment having been quashed between the prisoner's first and second trials. His lordship noted the objection.

Justice Anglin then told Mr. Dennistoun he would hear what he had to say either now or in connection during the day personally.

Mr. Dennistoun decided to deliver his address then and went on to ask his lordship in this case to use judicial clemency. He was present, representing not only the prisoner, but his aged father present in court, and the prisoner's mother waiting at home for the news. The prisoner is a young man just entering life. McAuliffe is a married man who has just cast his wife and child. His character, as testified to by reliable witnesses has always been of the highest character and standing. Whilst his private troubles may have driven him that time to drink, it might not really affect the case in a legal sense, still they may well be considered. His conduct since the commission of the deed has been most exemplary. He never required a constable to go after him, he came in from another county, at his own expense, when wanted. Mr. Dennistoun noted that a most important witness, present at the first trial, was not here this trial; he would explain the reason for this to his lordship privately.

The foreman of the jury in recommending the prisoner to mercy, in his, the speaker's opinion, was, that had Hudson been a healthy man, the blow would not have caused his death. He submitted the jury meant that the prisoner got a blow during a bar-room scuffle, and not the result of premeditation. The evidence all goes to show that McAuliffe was then acting as a peace-maker at the time of the trouble. The last words that McAuliffe uttered before the blow was struck, was during the friendly act of asking Hudson to have a drink with him. It did not enter the prisoner's mind at the beginning of the affair to do Hudson any injury. A long sentence would absolutely destroy the young man's life; he could not return to live among his honored friends and relatives. His lordship might be doing the community at large more good by allowing him to return to take an honored position in life than by confining him for a long term of years.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

Returns of Recent Examinations in Collegiate Institute.

Appended below is the result of the recent examinations in the lower commercial form at the Peterboro Collegiate Institute. The examinations were in book-keeping, writing and stenography.

It might be noted that to be entitled to a fair-pass showing, students have to get at least 40 per cent. of the total marks in each subject.

The results were;—

Immigration Rumors.

London, April 26.—It is announced that not only has the Canadian Government agreed to contribute a large sum of money towards the support of the Salvation Army's social work in Canada, but that the Canadian branch of the Independent Order of Foresters are to help forward the emigration work by contributing lands, implements, buildings, and capital amounting to the huge sum of £300,000.

COME FROM AUSTRALIA.

Winnipeg, April 26.—The C. P. R. authorities were notified yesterday that on May 8, between five and six hundred immigrants from Australia will arrive.

SUN STROKE

Does Not Come If One's Nervous System is Well Fed.

I must tell you how food changed my condition. "Seven years ago I had a sun stroke and was confined to bed 19 months.

"I was in bad condition to resist the shock at the time, as my nervous system had been poisoned from chronic constipation. My nerves were shattered by the stroke, kidney trouble followed, and my stomach became so weak that everything containing starch, seemed to turn at once to gas in my stomach, causing palpitation of the heart and sinking spells from pressure on that organ.

"My head was packed in rubber bags constantly for five months to reduce the temperature which sometimes ran as high as 106. The doctors frankly told my people that they could do nothing for me, to be prepared for my death at any moment.

"While in this condition, helpless and hopeless, a friend one day called my attention to an advertisement of Grape-Nuts food, which he had found in a magazine, and advised me to try it. I did so, and the effect was salutary from the beginning. I found that I could digest Grape-Nuts and cream without distress, and my improvement the very first week that I used it was so encouraging that I persisted, steadily growing better, till at last I was entirely recovered—nerves, heart, stomach, all resumed their normal tone, and poison symptoms entirely disappeared, and I gained 35 lbs. This was more than 5 years ago. I was soon enabled to take up my regular duties, I need not say that I continue to eat Grape-Nuts food, and that it is an important part of each meal to all of us. It has made of my eleven year old son, who before was a nervous sickly child, as rosy, robust and healthy a boy as you would care to see, and has relieved my other children from stomach and bowel troubles, from which they formerly suffered." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A Very Interesting Society Wedding

Mr. R. H. Swinerton of Victoria B. C. Leads One of Our Well Known Society Belles to the Altar

Yesterday the long anticipated and eagerly looked for wedding took place in St. John's church in the presence of [illegible] members of the elite of this city.

Everything tended to make yesterday's wedding, when Miss Mary Edith Barlee, a daughter of the late George Barlee, became the beautiful bride of Mr. Robert Hennington Swinerton of Victoria, B.C., a most pleasing and auspicious event.

Old Sol smiled his kindest and typified, by his golden rays, a foretype of the happiness the friends of both contracting parties wish for and predict during their married life.

The bride, a daughter of the late Mr. George Barlee, formerly registrar of this county, a well known throughout this city, and will be missed from the social circles of the city. The groom, Mr. Swinerton, a leading business man of Victoria, is a son of the late Mr. John Swinerton, of Belfast, Ireland, and comes of a highly respected "Quaker" ancestry.

The wedding, which took place in that grand old edifice, St. John's church, was attended by many invited guests, and was witnessed by a large gathering on the general public.

The church, with the kindly sunshine peering through the stained glass windows, was beautifully decorated for the auspicious event, generous and artistically arranged masses of cut flowers and greenery being so arranged as to make the route ensemble one to be remembered. The ushering guild of the church had taken the church decoration under personal direction, and succeeded admirably.

The ushers for the occasion were Messrs. F. C. Smallpeice, Gerald K. Rackham, H. Hayward Grubbe, Toronto and A. A. Hollingshead, who preceded the bridal party. The bridegroom, supported by Mr. H. Ritchie, at three o'clock, stepped at the altar awaiting the bride, who presently entered on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. W. Davidson Parker, of Montreal, who at the proper time during the ceremony, "gave her away." With the bride entered in usual course the bridesmaids, viz. Miss Helen Davies, Miss Hilda Hardley Wilmot, Miss Pearl Lundy and Miss Olive Bradburn.

Rev. Canon Davidson, the rector, assisted by Rev. W. M. Loucks, rector of St. Matthews church, Ottawa, and well known in this city as a former curate of St. John's church, performed the bridal ceremony.

Miss Helen Davies, whilst the usual signatory ceremonies were being transacted, sang "O Perfect Love," and the organist, Mr. Devey, who on entrance of the wedding party had played the Wedding March from Lohengrin, on conclusion of the church ceremonies gave Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride looked as a bride should look, beautifully attired in a becoming costume of white panne de soie, en traine, with yoke of embroidered chiffon and handsome lace berthe. She wore the usual bridal veil and orange blossoms, and a necklace of amethyst and pearls, the gift of the groom. The bride carried a bouquet of cream roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Olive Bradburn, was attired in a costume of white and pearl sequin. The other bridesmaids, Miss Helen Davies, Miss Pearl Lundy and Miss Hilda Hardley-Wilmot, were in white and gold sequin, each of the bridesmaids wore a white leghorn hat, trimmed with marguerites, and finished with long tulle ties, pleased with gold and shamrock brooches, the gift of the groom.

Miss Ethel Higginson, of Ottawa, who has been the guest of Miss Barlee, was dressed in cream serge, with black hat trimmed with white plumes.

THE RECEPTION.

After the completion of the ceremony, the invited guests assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hardley-Wilmot, where Miss Barlee received.

Among the guests at Mrs. Hardley-Wilmot's residence after the ceremony were; Mr. and Mrs. McEwan, of Winnipeg, Vancouver and Toronto; Mrs and Miss Archer and Miss Hagel, Rubidge street; Mr. E. J. Toker, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lambe, Toronto; Miss Rubidge, Mrs. Geo. Rubidge, the Misses Clarissa and Hanks Clement; Miss Higinson, Ottawa; Miss Kenrick, Toronto; Miss Brown and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M. [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. R. Stevenson, Mr. L. M. Hayes, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, Mr. and Mrs. P. Campbell, Mr. E. H. D Hall, Miss Lundy, Messrs. Basil and Gerald Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Poe; Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, Mr. F. C. Smallpeice, Mr. G. K. Rackham, Mr. H. H Grubbe, Mr. C. Currier, Rev. Mr. Loucks, rector of St. Matthews church, Ottawa; Miss Etta Edwards, Miss J. A. Aylmer, Miss Hatton, Mr. and Mrs. Col H. C. Rogers, Mrs. R. H. Fortye, Mr. H. Rubidge, Mr. W. D. Parker, Montreal, and others.

After the formal reception, the guests went into the dining room, where the bride cut the cake, a five-storey masterpiece of the confectioner's best art. Mr. Charles proposed the health of the happy couple. This Mr. Swinerton responded to in what he said was, "The shortest speech I ever made in my life. I thank you all."

After the regular dejeuner was done justice to, the immediate participants in the wedding party, including the bride, groom, bridesmaids, best man, ushers, and the bride's sister Miss Barlee, went out to the handsomely decorated verandah where Mr. R. M. Roy took a photograph of the party. When this was done, the guests in general adjourned to the verandah and had a photo taken also.

The happy couple left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train on a wedding tour to New York, Boston and other American cities. They will return to Peterboro for a short visit, on the way to their future home in Victoria and will spend a few days here.

At the C.P.R. station a party of guests saw Mr. and Mrs. Swinerton off amid showers of rice, confetti, laughter and heartily expressed wish as for the young couple's future happiness.

An amusing incident of the happy couple's departure was that their baggage had been unknown to them appropriately decorated with huge bunches of white silk ribbon, so that on ARRIVAL in Toronto, the fact of their possible posing as an old married couple would not be entertained with profound belief.

As each guest left Mrs. Wilmot's residence, he or she was handed a package of wedding cake, which was probably dreamt over by the young ladies present, last night.

MARK ST. CHURCH

Annual Meeting of This Popular Place of Worship Held.

On Tuesday evening, the annual meeting of Mark street Sunday school, was held, Rev. J. G. Lewis, B.A., pastor, being in the chair.

The secretary-treasurer, Mr. O. S. Matabett, presented his report, showing a good balance on hand, after completing a large addition to the library and meeting all other obligations. The superintendent, Mr. M. W. Matabett, gave his report, which noted that the free-will offering system had proved much better, financially as well as otherwise.

The librarian's report, presented by Mr. Richard Record, showed the library to be in better condition than for several years.

A few accounts were passed, after which the following officers were elected;—

Superintendent—M. W. Matabett.
Ass't-Supt.—O. C. Miller.
Sec.-Treas.—O. S. Matabett.
Ass't Sec.—A. J. Throop.
Librarians — R. Record and W. Hooper.
Pianist—Miss M. Speer.
Asst. Pianist—Mis. Isbister.
Musical Dir.—J. C. Miller.
Auditors — M. Carton and W. Crowe.
Supt. of Home Class Department—W. Crowe.
Teachers — Mrs. (Rev.) Campbell, Mrs. (Rev.) Lewis, Miss M. Speer, Mrs. W. K. Payne, Mrs. A. J. Throop, Mrs. J Speer, Mrs. S. Taylor, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Isbister, Miss Ida Haslam, Mrs. Fowlds, Mr. M. Carton, Mr. J. C. Miller.

The reports were very encouraging, and a good year is hoped for by all in connection with the school. The sessions are held at 2.45 p.m. every Sunday, and all are welcome.

Total Loss $300,000,000

With Insurance of $175,000,000--The School Houses Are Open.

San Francisco, April 26.—The insurance commissioners and underwriters yesterday made a thorough inspection of the burned district, and now say that their belief is that the insurance loss will be approximately $175,000,000, and that the total loss will be about $300,000,000. State Insurance Commissioner H. M. Weld made a very reassuring statement covering the condition of the insurance companies that will be called upon to make good the losses incurred through the fire.

The Board of Education has terminated the school term and all schoolhouses have been thrown open to the public, providing good sanitary conditions are maintained. It will take about ten days before the street lamps are resumed.

Pin Your Faith on Ferrozone

A Time Honored Cure for Spring Ailments that Every Physician Recommends.

But every year has seen the popularity of Ferrozone increase, and today it is used by the people of many nations for weakness, debility and the characteristic ailments of spring.

Let Ferrozone help you!

It enriches the blood supply and thereby vitalizes the quickens the whole body.

Humors and impurities are driven off. Disease germs of every kind are destroyed.

Nutritious material is supplied for restoring the waste, and day by day the process of rebuilding goes on till health that outlasts old age is established.

Mr. W. A. Renwick, of 125 Hunter street, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "At one time I became run down, and lost my health. My strength was greatly reduced and on account of the weakness of my heart I was afraid to take up work.

"On going up stairs or walking fast my heart would beat like an engine. I would gasp for breath and get exhausted quickly. At night I would wake up in an excited condition and find my heart going like mad.

"In this terrible state nothing helped me but Ferrozone. Such good it did me I can hardly explain. It built up my strength, put new life in my heart and made me feel like a new man."

Even in advanced cases of weakness Ferrozone is unfailing. Your druggist sells it at 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE WORST PAID OFFICIALS

We have frequently called attention, says the London Free Press, to the case of the postoffice clerk who is required to work ten hours a day, and extra hours on holidays, for 25 cents a day. But the pay of this official is princely beside that of the country postmaster, whose total income from the department is $35 a year, with office open sixteen hours daily. In many cases the postmaster is a farmer. His house is not a home any longer. He is frequently called from bed near midnight and before daylight to give out mail matter. The rate of pay received, fifty cents a week, does not cover the cost of scrubbing. In the County of York, and elsewhere, where train or electric car service permits of more frequent mail service than in the back county, postmasters still receive the minimum of salary.

Is it any wonder that country postoffices are being closed because no one can be found willing to accept the job at such figures? So far from considering a rural free delivery in accordance with an increased revenue, and with the country's progress, the people are being robbed of the privileges they have enjoyed through the stingy policy of the Government. Where the money order system has been introduced in the smaller accounting offices, the work has been increased and the responsibility doubled, without a cent added to the postmaster's pay, and without a cent granted for assistance. It is continually stated that an office with a postal revenue of $1,000 and more, requires an assistant, yet the salary and allowance are not nearly the remuneration of a second-class mail clerk, who is not more competent than the postmaster is required to be. Indeed, such postmaster is not better paid than the street laborer in a city.

In the United States it is shown that the salaries of postmasters are 75 per cent. above those in Canada, and yet it is not complained that they are overpaid. If there is any class of men in this country entitled to better consideration than they have been receiving, it is that of the rural postmasters. Yet when these matters were presented to him, the P. M. General, Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, said he would have seriously to consider which improvement the department could best afford, an increase of salaries, for these underpaid and overworked officials or an extended mail service, which would give the people more frequent communications and pile more work on the postmasters. He plainly intimated that the two items could not be entertained together. But there can be no two opinions which of them is justly entitled to first consideration, viz.: the claim of the underpaid postmaster to better pay for his services.

EDUCATION OF THE MENTALLY DEFICIENT

When the board of education asked not long ago the school principals of New York to report the number of children in their care who were below the normal in mental attainment, eight thousand five hundred were reported as not being able to keep pace with the average child. They are not idiots or imbeciles, but if they are to become useless, and perhaps vicious, members of society, they must be taken out of the regular public school classes and taught according to their capacity. The question of assisting such children has been solved by England, Germany and Belgium. This is done by forming special classes, the teachers of which are acquainted with the physical or mental characteristic of each child which may be its stumbling block on the road to knowledge. The individual capacity of each child is considered in assigning its tasks, and the intellectual and manual training are altered. Another point in this mode of teaching is that all lessons are short in duration, because many of the pupils are unable to concentrate their thoughts for any length of time. Moreover, they may be shortened whenever the teachers notice any signs of restlessness or fatigue on the part of the student. In the manual training work is introduced which the kindergarten has made familiar, but of a coarser grade. In addition, the knotting of thick cords, hammering home nails and pegs, tossing bean bags into pockets, plain cooking, gardening and joining help in teaching eye and hand to yield obedience to the brain. The improvement of the children of these classes is noticeable under such methods, and they gradually learn to reason and to answer as intelligently as normal children, though more slowly. One sees here little evidence of the confusion and loss of rational speech that in regular class so often assail the deficient child, when suddenly called upon to recite. The child is advanced as his capacity develops and transferred to a regular class as soon as his mental growth warrants the change. A great objection to this system is that many parents of deficient children either do not realize that they are such or consider it a disgrace to have them in a school of this classification. But such parents are being educated to see that the future welfare of such children depends upon their ability to have special and individual aid in their school work.

LONG LOST CARGO FOUND

Liquor-Laden Boat Discovered Buried in Mud and Sand.

Bellevue, Neb., April 24.—If the latest story which comes out of the upper Missouri river is true, the news will cause delight to lovers of good whisky. The same report has been sent abroad at irregular intervals for years, but this time it seems to have some foundation on fact. The story is to the effect that, after lying in the mud and sand of the Missouri river for fifty-four years, the old steamboat City of New Orleans has been uncovered by the recent high water, and its cargo of 160 barrels of whisky will probably be recovered.

The City of New Orleans was one of the early steamboats which plied the Missouri river, and was owned by Capt. La Barge, of St. Louis. In 1852 the boat went up, having a cargo of 160 barrels of whisky for a fur trader near Sioux City. During the night the boat struck a snag and sank, the crew taking to the boats.

Originally the cargo was supposed to have been valued at $75,000, but whisky that has been ripening undisturbed in the dark for fifty-two years is worth much more than 9 cents a gallon today.

John McCarthy and another resident of Bellevue were rowing to the mainland, it is said, when they were astonished to see the remains of the old boat imbedded in the sand. The story of the City of New Orleans is known all along the river here, and the news quickly spread. Excitement soon was aroused. McCarthy made a hasty examination and discovered whisky barrels in the hold, but none has yet been recovered. Arrangements are being made here to take the barrels from the wreck.

Often-times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

HUMAN LIFE TOO SHORT

Scientist Believes That Life's Span Should be 140 Years.

London, April 23.—"I see that Dr Lasalle has been communicating his ideas of longevity to the Academy of Medicine," says the Paris correspondent of Truth.

"They are those of Flourens, who set them forth in his lectures at the Sorrbone; but Flourens had not the same opportunities for basing his lectures on a broad foundation of statistics. Reasoning from analogy, he concluded that human being ought to live five or six times longer than it took them to attain the full adult state—that is to say from twenty to twenty-five years.

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water, the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co., forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000 and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 30 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 5,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a conviderable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tinto in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

One glance at the title, and his face paled; he turned hastily around; Reine was in the room, seated near them. He bowed, took the music, placing it on the rack; the next moment his deep impassioned voice rang through the room. From a mirror hung over the instrument, he could see Reine's face distinctly; their eyes had met, then he lowered his scorching gaze, never raising his eyes again until he had finished his song.

"These were the words he sung:

"And have you quite forgot me, dear?
Or say, do you sometimes dream
What life might have been if we wandered still
Together by wood or stream!
Do you think of days when my love was all
The world could give or take,
Do you say with a sigh they were happy days,
Just for the old love's sake?

"Do you ever sit in the twilight, dear,
And think of that other day,
When we met, and parted, and journeyed forth,
Each on our separate way?
I turned and stood for a moment, dear,
To find looked in your face to take
Its memory far on my way through life,
Just for the old love's sake!

"Do you ever think they were bitter words?
Their memory haunts me yet;
Do you wonder how you could say fare-well,
And wonder if I forget?
Dear, my heart has forgiven—forgiven long ago,
Though at first I thought 'twould break;
And wherever I think—it is kindly still—
Just for the old love's sake!"

Reine rose hastily and silently quitted the room.

Cheseleigh accused himself shortly after and went out into the grounds. He paced rapidly up and down under the trees to cool the mad fire in his veins; future possibilities, with their alluring fancies, took possession of him, clouding his better nature; that painful issues were to accure, he could not foresee.

To Cheseleigh's nature, the moment was cruel, with its yearning and doubts.

"I should save myself from such agitation as this," he muttered, hoarsely; "I will not go through it again." Those airy visions to which he could give no outline, rendered his thoughts of her as beautiful as the freshly-opened violets after rain.

CHAPTER XXIX.

As soon as Reine's health would permit of the journey, it was decided that her aunt should take her to Florida. It was arranged, through Aunt Rachel's earnest request, that Bernard should join them a little later.

It was dangerous to his peace of mind to be so near Reine, but he could not deny his starving heart so small a crumb of comfort, as her near presence brought to him.

He felt himself drawn like the fabled moth, irresistibly toward the flame.

"There's nothing like travel and change of scene to make one forget sorrow," Mrs. Woodstock had declared, "and amid new scenes Reine would, in a measure, forget the past."

But, alas! how human calculations fail. A week after Bernard arrived, Reine's aunt was attacked with her old enemy, the rheumatism, and upon Bernard devolved the task of cheering Reine. It was a pleasure so great it was almost pain.

She clung to him with all the old time childish thoughtfulness. What it was hard to refrain from uttering the loving words that often rose from his heart to his lips—so hard to keep down the love that thrilled every nerve—yet he crushed it with a mighty power that surprised even himself.

On the evening Mrs. Woodstock had been stricken down, the three had planned a sail on the water as far as the light-house, which was situated on an island a few miles from the beach.

"Never mind me," Aunt Rachel had said, irritably, "don't stay on my account, take Reine and go, by all means, Bernard, I'd rather be alone."

Aunt Rachel turned away from the window with a weary sigh.

"Ah! but for her folly—her mad folly—Reine might have been Bernard's wife! How would it all end?" she wondered. Ah, if she had but known!

The sun was low in the western sky when the little boat touched the island.

"I'm afraid we will not have time to explore the light-house," said Bernard, anxiously. "If I am any judge we shall have a storm and a severe one, too. I think I had better turn the boat about, and head for our hotel again."

Reine laughed and sprang out on the pallow sand.

"The storm-clouds will blow over, as they did yesterday," she said. "See, they are shifting now. We must explore the old quaint light-house, now that we are here."

Against his better judgment he allowed himself to be persuaded. Whether there was a "fate" in it or not, only Heaven could have foretold.

He fastened the boat and followed her up the steep path without further objection, seeing that she had set her heart upon it.

The evening had a weird beauty all its own. The rose of the sunset, mixed with gold, had dark purple linings. The sea was calm, but the color of it had changed from blue to a dull, leaden hue; the waves were languid, but there seemed to be a deep undercurrent; the boats rocked, the white-sailed ships passed more slowly by; every now and then there was a slow, sullen murmur in the wind, as though it were collecting force for some special purpose. There was a heavy, brooding silence over the sea and shores of the little island; the birds seemed frightened, and sought shelter in their nests. The whole scene had a weird effect—grand, beautiful, terrible.

While they stood there the keeper of the light, a bronzed, weather-beaten old sailor, joined them, bowing to the tall, broad-shouldered young man, and doffing his cap to the sleader, golden-haired girl by his side.

"We have come to view your castle," smiled Bernard; "that is, if you do not object."

The old keeper declared that he would be only too pleased to show them about, adding that they were just in time to see the great lamp lighted. Even as he spoke the leaden hue of the water deepened, and the weird colors died out of the sky.

"That usually presages a storm," he said. "Do you think it is far off?"

"It will be upon us directly," declared the keeper. "You must bring the lady in, sir, and wait a bit until its fury is spent. See, the great drops are commencing to fall now."

"Are the storms here very dangerous?" asked Bernard, following his guide, and assisting Reine up the steep, rugged path.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locater may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 400 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionares in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

—Port Hope has reorganized its band for the coming season.

—Mr. W. A. Stabler received 83 hogs yesterday and 200 from Seagrave on Tuesday.

—The police have a school book found on the street with the name Lulu Guy.

—Lindsay hotel-keepers have raised their rates. All draught liquors will be ten cents in the future.

If you prefer to take medicine in tablet form you can now obtain Dr. Chase's Restorative Tablets. Absolutely no change has been made in the medicinal ingredients. Sold by J. D. Tully.

—The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. will be held this afternoon at three instead of this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

—Mr. W. A. Stabler, buyer for Messrs. G. Matthews Co., yesterday received eight car loads of hogs from Lindsay, Omemee, Pontypool and other places.

—340 1-2 Water street is the address of a young lady who is prepared to do sewing at home or go out by the day. Terms reasonable. References given. Orders may be left at this office.

—Yesterday twenty recently landed Italians, straight from Italy, arrived in the city. A local labor contractor immediately placed them at work, some at the lift lock, and the rest distributed among local contractors.

—After May 1st those who have not paid their dog tax will have, in each and every case, to face the terrors of an interview with his worship, the latter gentleman saying that the police have something more to do than chase up delinquents.

—A theatrical company that plays tonight in the opera house, will arrive in a special train from Ottawa this morning at ten o'clock. The company exceeds in numbers any thing that has appeared on the local stage for some time.

Opportunities to Visit California.

Do not let this go by. Very low rates will be in effect via Grand Trunk Railway good going April 26th to May 5th, returning until July 31st; and good going June 24th to July 7th, returning until September 15th. Choice of any direct route going and returning, and certain stop over privileges. Call on Agents for full particulars or address J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Room 56, Union Station, Toronto.

Mr. A. Elliott Buys a Yacht.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, the popular whole sale liquor merchant, has just purchased a gasoline yacht from The Peterboro Canoe Company, and will have it in use in the course of a few days. The launch is a handsome one and no doubt will prove a source of great pleasure to its owner.

Work Begun on Charlotte St. Bridge.

Street Commissioner Evans has a gang of men at work tearing up the played out, rotten and generally disreputable wooden driveway on the Charlotte street bridge, near Parker's dye works. This as noted in these columns before will be replaced by a modern concrete flooring. Work on the concrete will be begun in a few days.

Mr. W. Anthony Has Gone to Toronto

Mr. W. Anthony, recently of Simcoe street, who for nearly half a century has been in the boot and shoe business in this city, and who is a well known citizen among all classes of the community left by the C.P.R. 5 o'clock train yesterday for Toronto, where he will reside in future and where he has secured a good position. "Billy's" many friends will regret to hear of his leaving town and join in wishing him "good luck" in Toronto.

South Central School Over-Crowded

It is said that the South Central school is very much over-crowded. Is Miss Aldridge's room the pupils only attend half a day owing to lack of room. There are over eighty pupils in this room which not only prevents all possibility of successful attempts to educate the children, but renders the room absolutely unsanitary. A local citizen yesterday informed a Times' representative that other rooms in this school are almost as badly over-crowded.

Lumber Operations in Anstruther.

The Lindsay Post notes that Foreman Dineen, who had charge of a lumber camp during last winter for Messrs. Baker & Bryans, left last week, with a gang of men for Anstruther township, East Peterboro, where they will cut tan-bark and cedar until about the end of July. On completion of this work, they will transfer their operations to a pine limit in the same township. The men will receive good wages—from $20 to $26 per month according to ability, with board included.

Whenever your bowels skip a day without a movement—take a LAX-ET. Whenever your breath is bad—your skin waxy, or sallow—your tongue coated—your breath foul—take a LAX-ET only 5c. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Might Have Been Serious Accident.

Cobourg Post notes that on Sunday night last as the east bound late train was approaching the station a journal on the first coach broke off about to the wheel. The train was brought into the station safely, the coach being detached, and shunted on a siding for repairs. Had the accident occurred a mile further up the line it is quite plainly that the car would have been thrown down an embankment and many persons injured. When the accident happened the passengers rushed to the rear end, and when the train stopped the occupants were put into the remaining cars and the train proceeded to Montreal. The repairs will be made in Cobourg.

—The engagement is announced of Mr. Carlos LeBrun, of Toronto, formerly of Peterboro, to Miss Alphonsine LeMay, of Rochester, N.Y. Mr. LeBrun's many friends will extend congratulations.

Major and Mrs. Leigh in the City.

Major E. Leigh of the Crown Lands Department, Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Leigh, is in the city in attendance on yesterday's wedding in St. John's church. The older residents of this city and Lakefield, will remember the gallant major, a former resident of Lakefield, and one of Peterboro's most prominent factors in the development of the 57th Regiment, and a gentleman who has perhaps been "in at the death" of as many deer as has any resident of this county.

A SEALED VERDICT

Further Evidence in the Hill Versus Gow Case.

Yesterday after Mr. Denniston had made his masterly appeal for clemency on behalf of his client P. McAuliffe, the Hill vs. Gow case was brought up at the present session of the spring assizes.

Mr. Heathcote, of Messrs. J. Belcher & Heathcote, the well known local engineers and architects gave evidence in reply to questions put by Mr. Edwards, as to the line of fire and elevation of the shots fired.

Dr. Douglas, of Warsaw next testified to attending the little sister of the slaughtered boy, who was shot through the head. He noted the injuries he had found also on the boy and mentioned having extracted the bullet which he produced at the inquest. He said that the wound was larger on front than behind. In answer to a question put by Justice Anglin, witness said that had he not known about what had been said in the court house he would not have known where was the point of entrance, and where the point of exit.

The next witness, Mrs. Hill said to Mr. Edwards that on the night of August 24, the family all retired to bed at about ten o'clock. She then described the respective places where the children slept. On hearing some shouting in the road, she and her husband jumped out of bed and went into the verandah, where they heard a buggy approaching. She knew Edward Dewart's voice, but not the others. She then heard voices saying, "A mad a fool let her fly." A shot was fired which struck the house. A second shot was fired, which killed the boy and wounded the little girl. Then they heard the buggy drive on again. The boy was brought downstairs dead. A third shot was fired, and struck the house. She heard two Murphys, one Gallagher and three Dewarts. Shots came from the road to the south and west of the house.

Witness then went on to testify to the good character, etc., of the stricken boy, who, in addition to other acts of usefulness,

To Mr. Denniston, witness said the three shots came closely together. She did not know who shot the boy, except what Gow said. She wouldn't contradict a witness if they stated that she said, "it could not have been you who shot the boy."

MABLE HILL.

The following witness said she slept with Thomas on the fatal night. After hearing the shouts about a mob as noted by preceding witness, she said they got up and went to the window. Her brother opened the window, and they looked out with their heads leaning on the window sill. She then heard a shot which struck the end of the house. She then heard a second shot which struck her finger, and entered Thomas. Thomas fell and said "I'm shot mamma." He fell backwards and did not move again. Witness then went downstairs, and told them what had taken place. The father took Thomas downstairs. Witness heard another shot.

To Mr. Kerr, witness said she heard voices on the road, before she saw the flash, a good way from the face she saw.

Mr. W. Hill, to Mr. Wood, said he was a brother of Thomas. Heard the mob as before described. He knew Gallagher, Stewart Murphy, Wm. Murphy and Ed. Dewart. On hearing the shouts, he put on his pants and going down stairs, found his father and mother at the hall door. Heard a shot from the road, which hit the house.

After hearing the second shot, heard Thomas say he was shot. A third bullet nearly hit him, whilst in the verandah. He also testified to the usefulness of the deceased boy, Thomas.

To Mr. Denniston, witness said, he always kept a loaded rifle by his bed. He thought the man he saw, was the one who did the shooting.

To Mr. Wood, said he had had trouble with the Dewarts previously, in consequence of which he carried a rifle.

Ed. Dewart of Dummer, to Mr. Wood, said he lived about three miles from the Hill house. Had known Gow for a number of years. Gow who lives near him, is a crack marksman. Met him on the fatal evening and Gow came to his house. Then they went to witness' brother's house on the 7th line, passing Hill's house on the way. Whilst there, Wm. and Stewart Murphy, Jas. Dewart and Gallagher arrived. They stayed there till about 11 o'clock.

Witness and Gow went off in Gow's buggy, taking Dewart's rifle. He drove and Gow held the rifle. Heard the others above noted, who had left earlier, making a noise near Hill's house. He was still driving. Heard the noise when opposite Hill's house. Thought he heard a shot fired near the house. Then Gow fired two or three shots. He and Gow did not speak to one another. Did not know why Gow shot. Mrs. Hill is his aunt, but they were not on speaking terms. Did not note in what direction Gow shot. Gow told him he had shot too high to do any harm. Then they caught up with the others and talked with them. Gow said he had not done the Hills that time. Gallagher said "Hill fired a shot." Gow replied, "So did I, but I fired more shots."

Next afternoon Gow and he talked the matter over, and Gow said he had done no harm. There was nothing said about Gow leaving the country.

To Mr. Denniston, witness said there was no moon that night. He and Gow were good friends. He had borrowed the rifle and was taking it home. Did not know it was loaded. Did not see Gow fire the rifle.

To Mr. Edwards, did not see any shots fired from the Hill house. The horse ran when the shots were fired.

To his lordship, witness declared he was not cautious at the time Gow fired the shots.

Mr. W. Graham then testified to the usefulness of the deceased boy.

THE JURY AGREES.

Whilst considering the verdict the jury in this case came into court several times to get information from the Judge. At a late hour last night the jury brought in a "sealed verdict," which will be opened at this morning's court.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Disease Prevalent Now But Can Be Cured Quickly with Hyomei.

Until very recent years, it was thought that catarrh was a disease of the blood, but now modern science has proved that catarrh is a germ disease, and can be cured only by a treatment that will kill the germ and heal the mucous membrance of the nose and throat.

Therefore, when you have catarrh, you can readily see that if you want to cure it, you should use Hyomei, which medicates the air you breathe, thus killing the catarrhal germs and healing the smarting and raw membrane of the passages through the nose and throat. In breathing Hyomei you are really treating your catarrhal troubles with the only natural method, for it will make the air you breathe as pure, healing and antiseptic as that found on the mountains where the pine forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei, and a medicine dropper, costs only $1, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the truth of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Eschewing all alcohols, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

VIEWS OF LETHBRIDGE

Mr. G. H. Johnston, an Old Peterboro Boy Remembers The Times.

The Times was yesterday, by courtesy of Mr. G. H. Johnston, an old Peterboro boy, but now operating a large dry goods and gents' furnishing store in Lethbridge, S. Alberta, in receipt of a handsomely illustrated booklet descriptive of Mr. Johnston's adopted home.

The book is a fine specimen of the printers' art and contains many views of Lethbridge and its surrounding country, as well as many photographs of prominent bankers, merchants and other residents, including a life like portrait of Mr. Johnston, with a most encouraging account of his life and successful career.

Among the views of Lethbridge is that of their central school, a building that puts to shame any of Peterboro's present educational institutions, although Lethbridge only claims a population of 3,500. Mr. Johnston, the enterprising western merchant, is a brother of our fellow citizen, Mr. A. J. Johnston.

—Mr. J. T. McEwan, the well-known capitalist of Winnipeg and British Columbia, now a resident of Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. McEwan, is in the city, and attended Miss Edith Barlee's wedding yesterday.

Board of Works in Business Session

Crossings and Temporary Sidewalks to Be Constructed---The Purchase of a New Concrete Mixer Decided on.

The Board of Works of the City Council met last night, when there were present, Chairman Ardagh and Aldermen Adams, Elliott, Graham, Wilson, Tovey.

The Board will grant the petition of ratepayers to have Parnell street put in passable condition.

Moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Tovey,—That a crossing be constructed at the intersection of King and John streets, to permit of an exit for John street residents. Bolivar street, now being blocked by sewer work—Carried.

The Board will arrange for some sort of a walk on the south side of Dublin street, 114 feet from Bethune street. Also a crossing from Bethune to Dublin street.

Arrangements will be made to supply the stone crusher at the city's gravel pit wash water from Mr. Higgins.

It was decided to extend the side walk on the north side of Bolivar St. to the boundary. Also on south side of Cedar from Park to Cambridge street. The Board also propose constructing a granolithic walk on London, from Aylmer to Reid St.

The Board will investigate the petition for a board walk, on Euclid avenue, north side, Ward Five. Also 155 feet on Cameron avenue.

ICE AND WATER.

Allin the iceman, asked permission to connect with the water pipe in the city yard at Townsend street, for the purpose of washing his ice. This was granted, Mr. Allin to assume all liability for any damages that may arise through the concession.

Richard Stoakdale's request for a crossing on Homewood avenue, was referred to the city engineer with power to act.

REMOVE UNSIGHTLY TREES.

Mrs. J. Martin's request to have two old trees on Hunter street, opposite the American Hotel, if agreeable to the property owner.

The request of Mr. Weiss for permission to remove an ash tree opposite his property on Monaghan street, and replace same by appropriate shade trees, was referred to the engineer with power to act.

NEW AUTOMATIC MIXER.

Mr. W. H. Whitaker, a member of the firm, The Gould Shapley and Muir Co., Limited, Brantford, Canada, manufacturers of automatic concrete mixers; and Mr. J. P. Currie, the company's travelling representative, interviewed the Board regarding the purchase by this city of one of their modern mixers, which they are willing to ship here on 30 days' trial, to be returned from the cost if not satisfactory. This machine named "The Ideal Mixer," is constructed on the automatic principle, and is a marvel of ingenuity and utility. The company claim to have succeeded in producing a machine which will automatically measure the proper amount of cement with a given quantity of gravel, and also to automatically insert sufficient water inside of the machine to properly wet the mixture to any desired consistency, and this result has been attained with this machine to a nicety. It is mounted on a steel truck, and can be readily moved from place to place.

In front of the machine the gravel hopper is placed so that it is low down and very handy for the operator to shovel in the material. On top of the machine above the gravel hopper is placed another hopper, which holds the cement, when the desired quantity of gravel is in the hopper for that purpose it is tripped by means of a lever and is raised up until the gravel dumps into the large main drum of the mixer, and as this gravel hopper is being raised it automatically turns a cylinder which is in the bottom of the cement hopper and the cement is dumped in with the gravel into the long drum. This cylinder under the cement hopper is so arranged that it can be set to dump cement in any desired proportion, from 12 to 1 to 2 to 1, and will automatically do this until the adjustment is changed making a new mixture.

The company guarantee to mix concrete with their machine at 12c. per cubic yard. All measuring of water, cement, etc., is done automatically. The price of this mixer is $600.

The Board decided to recommend Council to accept this company's offer to ship here one of their No. 2 Ideal Mixers, on 30 days trial, the price of the machine proves satisfactory and consequently purchased, to $600 F.O.B. Peterboro, five per cent. off.

PLANK LONDON STREET BRIDGE.

Ald. Elliott drew attention to the fact that as Smith street bridge, one of the city's main arteries, is closed to traffic, London street bridge should be planked to afford a passible right of way into the town from across the river. This work will be done, and the wretched condition of Water st. from Smith street north attended to.

The Board then adjourned.

Captain Blown to Pieces.

Parry Sound, April 26.—By an explosion of an acetylene gas buoy in the ship channel ten miles from here, Captain Arthur Clark was killed and blown to pieces.

Burned by Maple Syrup.

Brockville, April 26.—Miss Edith McKinley, aged 19 years, lies at her home on the 3rd concession of Elizabethtown in a critical condition, as the result of being severely burned by boiling maple syrup.

Couple Thought to Have Eloped.

St. Catharines, April 26.—A sensation has been caused at Allanburg, a quiet little village on the Welland Canal, by the disappearance of Charles Henderson, a young man, and Mrs. May Rogers, wife of the engineer. The woman is about 30 years of age; she left two children behind her.

DISORDERS IN PARTS OF FRANCE

Various Reasons are Cited for Them---Is it Tending to Revolution

MINE HORROR THE CAUSE

Church Inventory and Retirement of Waldeck-Rousseau are Cited as Motives.

New York, April 26.—A Sun cable from Paris voices an alarmist note over the prospects of recent disorders growing into revolution. The tone of the cable is very sensational.

As a statement of causes there are cited the retirement of Waldeck-Rousseau, since which event "the country has not had a strong government;" the feeling urged against the authorities on account of the church inventory riots, and the bad blood between miners and employers and miners and the government officials over the recent mine disasters. It is further set forth that red flags have been carried unchallenged in the presence of high state authorities; rioters who have attacked soldiers have been allowed to go scot free. In short, disorders have been allowed to go unchecked because of official cowardice, not born of fear of physical results, but rather of the dread of the political effect. It is asserted now that the movement is growing and that royalists, clericals, socialists, and anarchists have pooled issues to the end of upsetting the present status quo.

Then, too, the correspondent dwells upon the inertness of M. Clemenceau, the Minister of Internal Affairs. While his past record is that of a strong man, he has not been able to cope with the existing conditions. His efforts at conciliation between the miners after the Courierres disaster were negatory. Because the rioters were led to believe that the greatest possible efforts had not been put forth to rescue many of the unfortunates who perished. Agitators from Paris fanned the flames in the mining districts, and now it is asserted some 40,000 people are in open defiance of the law. As opposed to them a few troops were sent. The destruction of property continued and the soldiers of the Republic were defied and treated with contempt and subjected to fusillades of bricks, stones and other missiles. In this way one or two were killed and others battered. But no reprisals were made; the troops refrained from firing on the mob. To quote from the dispatch, as illustrative of the fighting in the Pas de Calais district:

"Suddenly Capt. Herbelin fell, smitten to earth by a brick, senseless. Twenty insurgents rushed out of a wineshop crying 'Kill him, kill him.' Sergt. Grandry, seeing the danger, covered his fallen chief until aid arrived. Orders were given, as the horses were exhausted, to retire on the mine, amid the triumphant shrieks of the victorious insurgents and their dismount, while the bugles sounded 'Surrender.' A volley of stones was the only reply. Carbines were loaded and the order to fire was about to be given when the Mayor of Haveluy rushed in and begged that three prisoners be freed. The commander, after taking their names, consented, whereupon the insurgents withdrew, singing victoriously. More than one hundred soldiers were wounded, yet not a shot was fired. When this point of the rebellion had been reached M. Clemenceau was present. The Minister went once more to the disturbed districts. He told the leaders of the strike that they really must not act in this violent way. He even went so far as to intimate that if things got much worse the soldiers might be compelled to use their weapons."

The dispatch ends with the statement that, at the close of his visit, Clemenceau mingled with a group bearing a red flag, and that his companions hissed the troops without a protest from him.

May Day, it is asserted, may see a general outbreak.

SENTENCE DEFERRED

P. McAuliffe to Receive Sentence By Justice Anglin To-day.

Yesterday morning when the assizes again opened at 9.30 a.m., the court room was well filled by those interested in the expected deliverance of sentence on Patrick McAuliffe for having caused the death of Fred. Hudson on June 1st.

McAuliffe entered the dock with perfect self-possession and smiling face. After the jury had answered the usual names, Mr. Dennistoun made a formal technical objection to the trial of McAuliffe, owing to the former indictment having been "set aside" between the prisoner's first and second trials. His lordship noted the objection.

Justice Anglin then told Mr. Dennistoun he would hear what he had to say either now in court or during the day personally.

Mr. Dennistoun decided to deliver his address then and went on to ask his lordship in this case to use judicial clemency. He was present, representing not only the prisoner, but his aged father present in court, and the prisoner's mother waiting at home for the news. The prisoner is a young man just entering life. McAuliffe is a married man who has just lost his wife and child. His character, as testified to by reliable witnesses has always been of the highest character and standing. Whilst his private troubles may have driven him that time to drink, it might not really affect the case in a legal sense, still they may well be considered. His conduct since the commission of the deed has been most exemplary. He never required a constable to go after him, he came in from another county, at his own expense, when wanted. Mr. Dennistoun noted that a most important witness, present at the first trial, was not here this trial; he would explain the reason for this to his lordship privately.

The foreman of the jury in recommending the prisoner to mercy, in his, the speaker's opinion, was, that had Hudson been a healthy man, the blow would not have caused his death. He submitted the jury meant that the prisoner got a blow during a bar-room scuffle, and not the result of premeditation. The evidence all goes to show that McAuliffe was then acting as a peace-maker at the time of the trouble. The last words that McAuliffe uttered before the blow was struck, was during the friendly act of asking Hudson to have a drink with him. It did not enter the prisoner's mind at the beginning of the affair to do Hudson any injury. A long sentence would absolutely destroy the young man's life; he could not return to live among his honored friends and relatives. His lordship might be doing the community at large more good by allowing him to return to take an honored position in life than by confining him for a long term of years.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

Returns of Recent Examinations in Collegiate Institute.

Appended below is the result of the recent examinations in the lower commercial form at the Peterboro Collegiate Institute. The examinations were in book-keeping, britumetic and stenography.

It might be noted that to be entitled to a fair pass showing, students have to get at least 40 per cent. of the total marks in each subject.

The results were;—

Immigration Rumors.

London, April 26.—It is announced that not only has the Canadian Government agreed to contribute a large sum of money towards the support of the Salvation Army's social work in Canada, but that the Canadian branch of the Independent Order of Foresters are to help forward the emigration work by contributing lands, implements, buildings, and capital amounting to the huge sum of £200,000.

COME FROM AUSTRALIA.

Winnipeg, April 26.—The C. P. R. authorities were notified yesterday that on May 8, between five and six hundred immigrants from Australia will arrive.

SUN STROKE

Does Not Come If One's Nervous System is Well Fed.

I must tell you how food changed my condition. "Seven years ago I had a sun stroke and was confined to bed 19 months.

"I was in bad condition to resist the shock at the time, as my nervous system had been poisoned from chronic constipation. My nerves were shattered by the stroke, kidney trouble followed, and my stomach became so weak that everything containing starch, seemed to turn at once to gas in my stomach, causing palpitation of the heart and sinking spells from pressure on that organ.

"My head was packed in rubber icebags constantly for five months to reduce the temperature which sometimes ran as high as 105. The doctors frankly told my people that they could do nothing for me, to be prepared for my death at any moment.

"While in this condition, helpless and hopeless, a friend one day called my attention to an advertisement of Grape-Nuts food, which he had found in a magazine, and advised me to try it. I did so, and the effect was salutary from the beginning. I found that I could digest Grape-Nuts and cream without distress, and my improvement the very first week that I used it was so encouraging that I persisted, steadily growing better, till at last I was entirely recovered—nerves, heart, stomach, all resumed their normal tone, and poison symptoms entirely disappeared, and I gained 25 lbs. This was more than 5 years ago. I was soon enabled to take up my regular duties, I need not say that I continue to eat Grape-Nuts food, and that it is an important part of each meal to all of us. It has made of my eleven year old son, who before was a nervous sickly child, as rosy, robust and healthy a boy as you would care to see, and has relieved my other children from stomach and bowel troubles, from which they formerly suffered." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A Very Interesting Society Wedding

Mr. R. H. Swinerton of Victoria B. C. Leads One of Our Well Known Society Belles to the Altar

Yesterday the long anticipated and eagerly looked for wedding took place at St. John's church in the presence of many of the leading members of the elite of this city.

Everything tended to make yesterday's wedding, when Miss Mary Edith Barlee, a daughter of the late George Barlee, became the beautiful bride of Mr. Robert Hennington Swinerton of Victoria, B.C., a most pleasing and auspicious event.

Old Sol smiled his kindest and typified, by this golden rays, a foretype of the happiness the friends of both contracting parties wish for and predict during their married life.

The bride, a daughter of the late Mr. George Barlee, formerly registrar of this county, is well known throughout this city, and will be missed from the social circles of the city. The groom, Mr. Swinerton, a leading business man of Victoria, is a son of the late Mr. John Swinerton, of Bedani, Ireland, and comes of a highly respected "Quaker" ancestry.

The wedding, which took place in that grand old church, St. John's church, was attended by many invited guests, and was witnessed by a large gathering of the general public.

The church, with the kindly sunshine peering through the stained glass windows, was beautifully decorated for the auspicious event, generous and artistically arranged masses of cut flowers and greenery being so arranged as to make the route ensemble one to be remembered. The altar guild of the church had taken the church decoration under personal direction, and succeeded admirably.

The ushers for the occasion were Messrs. F. C. Smallpeice, Gerald K. Backham, H. Hay and Grubbe, Toronto and A. A. Hollingshead, who preceded the bridal party. The bridegroom, supported by Mr. H. Fletcher, at three o'clock, stopped at the altar awaiting the bride, who presently entered on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. W. Davidson Parker, of Montreal, who at the proper time during the ceremony, "gave her away." With the bride entered in usual course the bridesmaids, viz., Miss Helen Davies, Miss Hilda Hardley Wilmot, Miss Pearl Lundy and Miss Olive Bradburn.

Rev. Canon Davidson, the rector, assisted by Rev. W. M. Loucks, rector of St. Matthew's church, Ottawa, and well known in this city as a former curate of St. John's church, performed the bridal ceremony.

Miss Helen Davies, whilst the usual signatory ceremonies were being transacted, sang "O Perfect Love," and the organist, Mr. Dewey, who on entrance of the wedding party had played the Wedding March from Lohengrin, on conclusion of the church ceremonies gave Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride looked as a bride should look, beautifully attired in a becoming costume of white peau de soie, en traine, with yoke of embroidered chiffon and handsome lace berthe. She wore the usual bridal veil and orange blossoms, and a necklace of amethyst and pearls, the gift of the groom. The bride carried a bouquet of cream roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Olive Bradburn, was attired in a costume of white and pearl sequin. The other bridesmaids, Miss Helen Davies, Miss Pearl Lundy and Miss Hilda Hardley-Wilmot, were in white and gold sequin, each of the bridesmaids wore a white leghorn hat, trimmed with marguerites, and finished with long tulle ties, pinned with gold and shamrock brooches, the gift of the groom.

The bride's sister, Miss Barlee, looked charming in a beautiful robe of pale blue colienne, trimmed with oriental lace and applique. She wore a cental lace and applique. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Ethel Hargreaves, of Ottawa, who has been the guest of Miss Barlee, was dressed in cream serge, with black hat trimmed with white plumes.

THE RECEPTION.

After the completion of the ceremony, the invited guests assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hardley-Wilmot, where Miss Barlee received.

Among the guests at Mrs. Hardley-Wilmot's residence after the ceremony were; Mr. and Mrs. McEwan, of Winnipeg, Vancouver and Toronto; Mrs and Miss Archer and Miss Hugel, Rubidge street; Mr. E. J. Toker, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lambe, Toronto; Miss Rubidge, Mrs. Geo. Rubidge, the Misses Carnsew and Banks Clement; Miss Higinson, Ottawa; Miss Kenrick, Toronto; Miss Brown and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Morrow; Mr. L. M. Hayes, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, Mr. and Mrs. P. Campbell, Mr. E. H. D Hall, Miss Lundy, Misses Basil and Gerald Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Poe, Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, Mr. F. C. Smallpeice, Mr. G. K. Backham, Mr. H. H. Grubbe, Mr. C. Currier, Rev. Mr. Loucks, rector of St. Matthew's church, Ottawa; Miss Etta Edwards, Miss J. A. Aylmer, Miss Hatton, Mr. and Mrs. Col H. C. Rogers, Mrs. R. H. Fortye, Mr. H. Ritchie, Mr. W. D. Parker, Montreal, and others.

After the formal reception, the guests went into the dining room, where the bride cut the cake, a five-storey masterpiece of the confectioner's best art. Mr. Charles proposed the health of the happy couple. This Mr. Swinerton responded to in what he said was, "The shortest speech I ever made in my life. I thank you all."

After the regular dejeuner was done justice to, the immediate participants in the wedding party, including the bride, groom, bridesmaids, best man, ushers, and the bride's sister Miss Barlee, went out to the handsomely decorated verandah where Mr. R. M Roy took a photograph of the party. When this was done, the guests in general adjourned to the verandah and had a photo taken also.

The happy couple left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train on a wedding tour to New York, Boston and other American cities. They will return to Peterboro for a short visit, on the way to their future home in Victoria and will spend a few days here.

At the C.P.R. station a party of guests saw Mr. and Mrs. Swinerton off amid showers of rice, confetti, laughter and heartily expressed wishes for the young couple's future happiness.

An amusing incident of the happy couple's departure was that their baggage had been unknown to them appropriately decorated with huge bunches of white silk ribbon, so that on arrival in Toronto, the fact of their possible posing as an old married couple would not be entertained with profound belief.

As each guest left Mrs. Wilmot's residence, he or she was handed a package of wedding cake, which was probably dreamt over by the young ladies present, that night.

MARK ST. CHURCH

Annual Meeting of This Popular Place of Worship Held.

On Tuesday evening, the annual meeting of Mark street Sunday school, was held, Rev. J. G. Lewis, B.A., pastor, being in the chair.

The secretary-treasurer, Mr. O. S. Matabett, presented his report, showing a good balance on hand, after completing a large addition to the library and meeting all other obligations. The superintendent, Mr. M. W. Matabett, gave his report, which proved that the financial offering system had proved much better, financially as well as otherwise.

The librarian's report, presented by Mr. Richard Record, showed the library to be in better condition than for several years.

A few accounts were passed, after which the following officers were elected;—

Superintendent—M. W. Matabett.
Ass't.-Supt.—J. C. Miller.
Sec.-Treas.—O. S. Matabett.
Ass't Sec.—A. J. Throop.
Librarians — R. Record and W. Hooper.
Pianist—Miss M. Speer.
Asst. Pianist—Mrs. Isbister.
Musical Dir.—J. C. Miller.
Auditors — M. Carton and W. Crowe.
Supt. of Home Class Department.—W. Crowe.
Teachers — Mrs. (Rev.) Campbell, Mrs. (Rev.) Lewis, Miss M. Speer, Mrs. W. K. Payne, Mrs. A. J. Throop, Mrs. J Speer, Mrs. S. Taylor, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Isbister, Miss Ida Haslam, Mrs. Fowlds, Mr. M. Carton, Mr. J. C. Miller.

The reports were very encouraging, and a good year is hoped for by all in connection with the school. The sessions are held at 2.45 p.m. every Sunday, and all are welcome.

Total Loss $300,000,000

With Insurance of $175,000,000--The School Houses Are Open.

San Francisco, April 26.—The insurance commissioners and underwriters yesterday made a thorough inspection of the burned district, and now say that their belief is that the insurance loss will be approximately $175,000,000, and that the total loss will be about $300,000,000. State Insurance Commissioner H. M. Weld made a very reassuring statement covering the condition of the insurance companies that will be called upon to make good the losses incurred through the fire.

The Board of Education has terminated the school term and all schoolhouse have been thrown open to the public, providing good sanitary conditions are maintained. It will take about ten days before the street lamps are resumed.

Pin Your Faith on Ferrozone

A Time Honored Cure for Spring Ailments that Every Physician Recommends.

But every year has seen the popularity of Ferrozone increase, and today it is used by the people of many nations for weakness, debility and the characteristic ailments of spring.

Let Ferrozone help you.

It enriches the blood supply and thereby vitalizes the quickens the whole body.

Humors and impurities are driven off. Disease germs of every kind are destroyed.

Nutritious material is supplied for restoring the waste, and day by day the process of rebuilding goes on till health that outlasts old age is established.

Mr. W. A. Renwick, of 225 Hunter street, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "A year ago I became run down and lost my health. My strength was greatly reduced, and on account of the weakness of my heart I was afraid to take up work.

"On going up stairs or walking fast my heart would beat like an engine. I would gasp for breath and get exhausted quickly. At night I would wake up in an excited condition and find my heart going like mad.

"In this terrible state nothing helped me but Ferrozone. Such good it did me I can hardly explain. It built up my strength, put new life in my heart and made me feel like a new man."

Even in advanced cases of weakness Ferrozone is unfailing. Your druggist sells it at 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE WORST PAID OFFICIALS

We have frequently called attention, says the London Free Press, to the case of the postoffice clerk who is required to work ten hours a day, and extra hours on holidays, for 25 cents a day. But the pay of this official is princely beside that of the country postmaster, whose total income from the department is $25 a year, with office open sixteen hours daily. In many cases the postmaster is a farmer. His house is not a home any longer. He is frequently called from bed near midnight and before daylight to give out mail matter. The rate of pay received, fifty cents a week, does not cover the cost of scrubbing. In the County of York, and elsewhere, where tram or electric car service permits of more frequent mail service than in the back county, postmasters still receive the minimum of salary.

Is it any wonder that country postoffices are being closed because no one can be found willing to accept the job at such figures? So far from considering a rural free delivery in accordance with an increased revenue, and with the country's progress, the people are being robbed of the privileges they have enjoyed through the stingy policy of the Government. Where the money order system has been introduced in the smaller accounting offices, the work has been increased and the responsibility doubled, without a cent added to the postmaster's pay, and without a cent granted for assistance. It is commonly stated that an office with a postal revenue of $1,000 and more, requires an assistant, yet the salary and allowance are not nearly the remuneration of a second-class mail clerk, who is not more competent than the postmaster is required to be. Indeed, such postmaster is not better paid than the street laborer in a city.

In the United States it is shown that the salaries of postmasters are 75 per cent. above those in Canada, and yet it is not complained that they are overpaid. If there is any class of men in this country entitled to better consideration than they have been receiving, it is that of the rural postmasters. Yet when these matters were presented to him, the P. M. General, Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, said he would have seriously to consider which improvement the department could best afford, an increase of salaries, for these underpaid and overworked officials or an extended mail service, which would give the people more frequent communications and pile more work on the postmasters. He plainly intimated that the two items could not be entertained together. But there can be no two opinions which of them is justly entitled to first consideration, viz.: the claim of the underpaid postmaster to better pay for his services.

EDUCATION OF THE MENTALLY DEFICIENT

When the Board of Education asked not long ago the school principals of New York to report the number of children in their care who were below the normal in mental attainment, eight thousand five hundred were reported as not being able to keep pace with the average child. They are not idiots or imbeciles, but if they are to become useless, and perhaps vicious, members of society, they must be taken out of the regular public school classes and taught according to their capacity. The question of assisting such children has been solved by England, Germany and Belgium. This is done by forming special classes, the teachers of which are acquainted with the physical or mental characteristic of each child which may be its stumbling block on the road to knowledge. The individual capacity of each child is considered in assigning its tasks, and the intellectual and manual training also altered. Another point in this mode of teaching is that all lessons are short in duration, because many of the pupils are unable to concentrate [illegible] Moreover, they may be shortened whenever the teachers notice any signs of restlessness or fatigue on the part of the student. In the manual training work is introduced which the kindergarten has made familiar, but of a coarser grade. In addition, the knotting of thick cords, hammering home nails and pegs, tossing bean bags into pockets, plain cooking, gardening and joining help in teaching eye and hand to yield obedience to the brain. The improvement of the children of these classes is noticeable under such methods, and they gradually learn to reason and to answer as intelligently as normal children, though more slowly. One sees here little evidence of the confusion and loss of rational speech that in regular class so often assail the deficient child, when suddenly called upon to recite. The child is advanced as his capacity develops and transferred to a regular class as soon as his mental growth warrants the change. A great objection to this system is that many parents of deficient children either do not realize that they are such or consider it a disgrace to have them in a school of this classification. But such parents are being educated to see that the future welfare of such children depends upon their ability to have special and individual aid in their school work.

LONG LOST CARGO FOUND

Liquor-Laden Boat Discovered Buried in Mud and Sand.

Bellevue, Neb., April 26.—If the latest story which comes out of the upper Missouri river is true, the news will cause delight to lovers of good whisky. The same report has been sent abroad at irregular intervals for years, but this time it seems to have some foundation on fact. The story is to the effect that, after lying in the mud and sand of the Missouri river for fifty-four years, the old steamboat City of New Orleans has been uncovered by the recent high water, and its cargo of 100 barrels of whisky will probably be recovered.

The City of New Orleans was one of the early steamboats which plied the Missouri river, and was owned by Capt. La Barge, of St. Louis. In 1863 the boat went up, having a cargo of 100 barrels of whisky for a fur trader near Sioux City. During the night the boat struck a snag and sank, the crew taking to the boats.

Originally the cargo was supposed to have been valued at $75,000, but whisky that has been ripening undisturbed in the dark for fifty-two years is worth much more than 9 cents a gallon today.

John McCarthy and another resident of Bellevue were rowing to the mainland, it is said, when they were astonished to see the remains of the old boat imbedded in the sand. The story of the City of New Orleans is known all along the river here, and the news quickly spread. Excitement soon was aroused. McCarthy made a hasty examination and discovered whisky barrels in the hold, but none has yet been recovered. Arrangements are being made here to take the barrels from the wreck.

Often-times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

HUMAN LIFE TOO SHORT

Scientist Believes That Life's Span Should be 140 Years.

London, April 21.—"I see that Dr. Lasalle has been communicating his ideas of longevity to the Academy of Medicine," says the Paris correspondent of Truth.

"They are those of Flourens, who set them forth in his lectures at the Sorbonne; but Flourens had not the same opportunities for basing his lectures on a broad foundation of statistics. Reasoning from analogy, he concluded that human being ought to live five or six times longer than it took them to attain the full adult state, that is to say from twenty to twenty-five years.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water, the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the acaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co., forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000 and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed, Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing lodge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 5,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Tombs and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic as in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

One glance at the title, and his face paled, he turned hastily around; Reine was in the room, seated near them. He bowed, took the music, placing it on the rack; the next moment his deep impassioned voice rang through the room. From a mirror hung over the instrument, he could see Reine's face distinctly; their eyes had met, then he lowered his scorching gaze, never raising his eyes again until he had finished his song.

These were the words he sung:

"And have you quite forgot me, dear?
Or say, do you sometimes dream
What life might have been if we wandered still
Together by wood or stream!
Do you think of days when my love was all
The world could give or take,
Do you say with a sigh they were happy days,
Just for the old love's sake?

"Do you ever sit in the twilight, dear,
And think of that other day,
When we met, and parted, and journeyed forth,
Each on our separate way?
I turned and stood for a moment, dear,
And looked in your face to take
Its memory far on my way through life,
Just for the old love's sake!

"Do you ever think they were bitter words?
Their memory haunts me yet;
Do you wonder how you could say farewell,
And wonder if I forget?
Dear, my heart has forgiven—forgiven long ago,
Though at first I thought 'twould break;
And whenever I think—it is kindly still—
Just for the old love's sake!"

Reine rose hastily and silently quitted the room.

Cheslegh excused himself shortly after and went out into the grounds. He paced rapidly up and down under the trees to cool the mad fire in his veins; future possibilities, with their alluring fancies, took possession of him, clouding his better nature; that painful issues were to accure, he could not foresee.

Cheslegh's nature, the moment was cruel, with its yearning and doubts.

"I should save myself from such agitation as this," he muttered, hoarsely; "I will not go through it again." Those airy visions to which he could give no outline, rendered his thoughts of her as beautiful as the freshly-opened violets after rain.

CHAPTER XXIX.

As soon as Reine's health would permit of the journey, it was decided that her aunt should take her to Florida. It was arranged, through Aunt Rachel's earnest request, that Bernard should join them a little later.

It was dangerous to his peace of mind to be so near Reine, but he could not deny his starving heart so small a crumb of comfort, as her near presence brought to him.

He felt himself drawn like the fabled moth, irresistibly toward the flame.

"There's nothing like travel and change of scene to make one forget sorrow," Mrs. Woodstock had declared, and amid new scenes Reine would, in a measure, forget the past."

"But, alas! how human calculations fail. A week after Bernard arrived, Reine's aunt was attacked with her old enemy, the rheumatism, and upon Bernard devolved the task of cheering Reine. It was a pleasure so great it was almost pain.

She clung to him with all the old-time childish thoughtfulness. How hard it was for him to refrain from uttering the loving words that often rose from his heart to his lips—so hard to keep down the love that thrilled every nerve—yet he crushed it with a mighty power that surprised even himself.

On the evening Mrs. Woodstock had been stricken down, the three had planned a sail on the water as far as the light-house, which was situated on an island a few miles from the beach.

"Never mind me," Aunt Rachel had said, irritably, "don't stay on my account; take Reine and go, by all means, Bernard. I'd rather be alone."

Aunt Rachel turned away from the window with a weary sigh.

"Ah! but for her folly—her mad folly—Reine might have been Bernard's wife! How would it all end?" she wondered. Ah, if she had but known!

The sun was low in the western sky when the little boat touched the island.

"I'm afraid we will not have time to explore the light-house," said Bernard, anxiously. "If I am any judge we shall have a storm, and a severe one, too. I think I had better turn the boat about, and head for our hotel again."

Reine laughed and sprang out on the yellow sand.

"The storm-clouds will blow over, as they did yesterday," she said. "See, they are shifting now. We must explore the old quaint light-house, now that we are here."

Against his better judgment he allowed himself to be persuaded. Whether there was a "fate" in it or not, only Heaven could have foretold.

He fastened the boat and followed her up the steep path without further objection, seeing that she had set her heart upon it.

The evening had a weird beauty all its own. The rose of the sunset, mixed with gold, had dark purple linings. The sea was calm, but the color of it had changed from blue to a dull, leaden hue, the waves were languid, but there seemed to be a deep undercurrent; the boats rocked, the white-sailed ships passed more slowly by; every now and then there was a slow, sullen murmur in the wind, as though it were collecting force for some special purpose. There was a heavy, brooding silence over the trees and flowers of the little island; the birds seemed frightened, and sought shelter in their nests. The whole scene had a weird effect—grand, beautiful, terrible.

While they stood there the keeper of the light, a bronzed, weather-beaten old sailor, joined them, bowing to the tall, broad-shouldered young man, and doffing his cap to the slender, golden-haired girl by his side.

"We have come to view your castle," smiled Bernard; "that is, if you do not object."

The old keeper declared that he would be only too pleased to show them about, adding that they were just in time to see the great lamp lighted. Even as he spoke the leaden hue of the water deepened, and the weird colors died out of the sky.

"That usually presages a storm," he said. "Do you think it is far off?"

"It will be upon us directly," declared the keeper. "You must bring the lady in, sir, and wait a bit until its fury is spent. See, the great drops are commencing to fall now."

"Are the storms here very dangerous?" asked Bernard, following his guide, and assisting Reine up the steep, rugged path.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.5 per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500 x 1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locater may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 400 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 10 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionares in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

—A theatrical company that plays tonight in the opera house, will arrive in a special train from Ottawa this morning at ten o'clock. The company exceeds in numbers any thing that has appeared on the local stage for some time.

Opportunities to Visit California.

Do not let this go by. Very low rates will be in effect via Grand Trunk Railway good going April 24th to May 5th, returning until July 31st; and good going June 24th to July 7th, returning until September 15th. Choice of any direct route going and returning, and certain stop over privileges. Call on Agents for full particulars, or address J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Room 368, Union Station, Toronto.

Mr. A. Elliott Buys a Yacht.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, the popular whole sale liquor merchant, has just purchased a gasoline yacht from the Peterboro Canoe Company, and will have it in use in the course of a few days. The launch is a handsome one and no doubt will prove a source of great pleasure to its owner.

Work Begun on Charlotte St. Bridge.

Street Commissioner Evans has a gang of men at work tearing up the played out, rotten and generally disreputable wooden driveway on the Charlotte street bridge, near Parker's dye works. This as noted in these columns before will be replaced by a modern concrete flooring. Work on the concrete will be begun in a few days.

Mr. W. Anthony Has Gone to Toronto

Mr. W. Anthony, recently of Simcoe street, who for nearly half a century has been in the boot and shoe business in this city, and who is a well known citizen among all classes of the community left by the C.P.R. 5 o'clock train yesterday for Toronto, where he will reside in future and where he has secured a good position. "Billy's" many friends will regret to hear of his leaving town and join in wishing them "good luck" in Toronto.

South Central School Over-Crowded

It is said that the South Central school is very much over-crowded. In Miss Aldridge's room the pupils only attend half a day owing to lack of room. There are over eighty pupils in this room which not only prevents all possibility of successful attempts to educate the children, but renders the room absolutely unsanitary. A local citizen yesterday informed a Times' representative that other rooms in this school are almost as badly over-crowded.

Lumber Operations in Anstruther.

The Lindsay Post notes that Foreman Dineen, who had charge of a lumber camp during last winter for Messrs. Baker & Bryans, left last week, with a gang of men for Anstruther township, East Peterboro, where they will cut tan-bark and cedar until about the end of July. On completion of this work, they will transfer their operations to a pine limit in the same township. The men will receive good wages—from $20 to $28 per month according to ability, with board included.

Whenever your bowels skip a day without a movement—take a LAX-ET. Whenever your breath is bad—your skin waxy, or sallow—your tongue coated—your breath foul—take a LAX-ET only 5c. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Might Have Been Serious Accident.

Cobourg Post notes that on Sunday night last as the east bound late train was approaching the station a journal on the first coach broke off close to the wheel. The train was brought into the station safely, the coach being detached, and shunted on a siding for repairs. Had the accident occurred a mile further up the line it is quite possible that the car would have been thrown down an embankment and many persons injured. When the accident happened the passengers rushed to the rear end, and when the train stopped the occupants were put into the remaining cars and the train proceeded to Montreal. The repairs will be made in Cobourg.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. Alex. Elliott, was in Port Hope, yesterday.

—Mr. August Wilhelmj, vocal teacher, Toronto, who is attached to the staff of the Peterboro Conservatory of Music was in the city yesterday.

—Miss Kenrick of Toronto, was a guest of Mrs. G. W. Rutledge, National Hotel. Miss Kenrick was in the city attending yesterday's wedding of Miss Edith Barlee.

—The engagement is announced of Mr. Carise LeBrun, of Toronto, formerly of Peterboro, to Miss Alphonsine LeMay, of Rochester, N.Y. Mr. LeBrun's many friends will extend congratulations.

Major and Mrs. Leigh in the City.

Major E. Leigh of the Crown Lands Department, Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Leigh, is in the city in attendance on yesterday's wedding in St. John's church. The older residents of this city and Lakefield, will remember the gallant major, a former resident of Lakefield, and one of Peterboro's most prominent factors in the development of the 57th Regiment, and a gentleman who has perhaps been "in at the death" of as many deer as has any resident of this county.

A SEALED VERDICT

Further Evidence in the Hill Versus Gow Case.

Yesterday after Mr. Denniston had made his masterly appeal for clemency on behalf of his client P. McAuliffe, the Hill vs. Gow case was brought up at the present session of the spring assizes.

Mr. Heathcote, of Messrs. J. Belcher & Heathcote, the well known local engineers and architects gave evidence in reply to questions put by Mr. Edwards, as to the line of fire and elevation of the shots fired.

Dr. Douglas, of Warsaw next testified to attending the little sister of the slaughtered boy, who was shot through the hand. He noted te injuries he had found also on the boy and mentioned having extracted the bullet which he produced at the inquest. He said that the wound was larger on from than behind. In answer to a question put by Justice Anglin, witness said that had he not taken what he did out would have reached the vital organs. On hearing some shooting in the road, she and her husband jumped out of bed and went onto the verandah, where they heard a buggy approaching. She knew Edward Dewart's voice, but not the others. She then heard voices saying, "A man is murdered here." A shot was fired which struck the house. A second shot was fired, which killed the boy and wounded the little girl. Then they heard the buggy drive on again. The boy was brought downstairs dead. A third shot was fired, and struck the house. She heard two Murphys, one Gallagher and three Dewarts. Shots came from the road to the south and west of the house.

Witness then went on to testify to the good character, etc., of the stricken boy, who, in addition to other acts of usefulness.

To Mr. Denniston witness said the three shots came closely together. She did not know who shot the boy, except what Gow said. She wouldn't contradict a witness if they stated that she said, "it could not have been you who shot the boy."

MABLE HILL.

The following witness said she slept with Thomas on the fatal night. After hearing the shouts about a man as noted by preceding witness, she said they got up and went to the window. Her brother opened the window, and they looked out with their heads leaning on the window sill. She then heard a shot which struck the end of the house. She then heard a second shot which struck her finger, and entered Thomas. Thomas fell and said "The shot me, mama." He fell backwards and did not move again. Witness then went downstairs, and told them what had taken place. The father took Thomas downstairs. Witness heard another shot.

To Mr. Kerr, witness said she heard a buggy on the road, before she saw the flash, a good way from the face she saw.

Mr. W. Hill, to Mr. Wood, said he was a brother of Thomas. Heard the mob as before described. He knew Gallagher, Stewart Murphy, Wm. Murphy and Ed. Dewart. On hearing the shouts, he put on his pants and going down stairs, found his father and mother at the back door. Heard a shot from the road, which hit the house.

After hearing the second shot, heard Thomas say he was shot. A third bullet nearly hit him, whilst on the verandah. He also testified to the usefulness of the deceased boy, Thomas.

To Mr. Denniston, witness said, he always kept a loaded rifle by his bed. He thought the man in the road was the one who did the shooting.

To Mr. Wood, said he had had trouble with the Dewarts previously, in consequence of which he carried a rifle.

Ed. Dewart of Dunmore, to Mr. Wood, said he lived about three miles from the Hill house. Had known Gow for a number of years. Gow who lives near him, is a crack marksman. Met him on the fatal evening and Gow came to his house. Then they went to witness' brother's house on the 7th line, passing Hill's house on the way. Whilst there, Wm. and Stewart Murphy, Jas. Dewart and Gallagher arrived. They stayed there till about 11 o'clock.

Witness and Gow went off in Gow's buggy, taking Dewart's rifle. He drove and Gow held the rifle. Heard the others above noted, who had left earlier, making a noise near Hill's house. He was still driving. Heard no more when opposite Hill's house. Thought he heard a shot fired from the house. Then Gow fired two or three shots. He and Gow did not speak to one another. Did not know why Gow shot. Mrs. Hill is his aunt, but they were not on speaking terms. Did not note in what direction Gow shot. Gow told him he had shot too high to do any harm. Then they caught up with the others and talked with them. Gow said he had out-done the Hills that time. Gallagher said "Hill fired a shot." Gow replied, "So did I, but I fired more shots."

Next afternoon Gow and he talked the matter over, and Gow said he had done no harm. There was nothing said about Gow leaving the country.

To Mr. Denniston, witness said there was no moon that night. He and Gow were good friends. He had borrowed the rifle and was taking it home. Did not know it was loaded. Did not see Gow fire the rifle.

To Mr. Edwards, did not see any shots fired from the Hill house. The horse ran when the shots were fired.

To his lordship, witness declared he was not curious at the time Gow fired the shots.

Mr. W. Graham then testified to the usefulness of the deceased boy.

THE JURY AGREES.

Whilst considering the verdict the jury in this case came into court several times to get information from the Judge. At a late hour last night the jury brought in a "sealed verdict," which will be opened at this morning's court.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Disease Prevalent Now But Can Be Cured Quickly with Hyomei.

Until very recent years, it was thought that catarrh was a disease of the blood, but now modern science has proved that catarrh is a germ disease, and can be cured only by a treatment that will kill the germ and heal the mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

Therefore, when you have catarrh, you can readily see that if you want to cure it, you should use Hyomei, which medicates the air you breathe, thus killing the catarrhal germs and healing the smarting and raw membrane of the passages through the nose and throat. In breathing Hyomei you are really treating your catarrhal troubles with the only natural method, for it will make the air you breathe as pure, healing and antiseptic as that found on the mountains where the pine forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and a medicine dropper, costs only $1, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may [illegible] of the so-called patent [illegible] taining injurious ingredients as recently published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

VIEWS OF LETHBRIDGE

Mr. G. H. Johnston, an Old Peterboro Boy Remembers The Times.

The Times was yesterday, by courtesy of Mr. G. H. Johnston, an old Peterboro boy, but now operating a large dry goods and gents' furnishing store in Lethbridge, S. Alberta, in receipt of a handsomely illustrated booklet descriptive of Mr. Johnston's adopted home.

The book is a fine specimen of the printers' art and contains many views of Lethbridge and its surrounding country, as well as many photographs of prominent bankers, merchants and other residents, including a life like portrait of Mr. Johnston, with a most encouraging account of his life and successful career.

Among the views of Lethbridge is that of the [illegible] schools, showing that puts to shame any of Peterboro's present educational institutions, although Lethbridge only claims a population of 3,500. Mr. Johnston, the enterprising western merchant, is a brother of our fellow citizen, Mr. A. J. Johnston.

—Mr. J. T. McEwan, the well-known capitalist of Winnipeg and British Columbia, now a resident of Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. McEwan, is in the city, and attended Miss Edith Barlee's wedding yesterday.

A Sad Modern Romance of the Sea

Father, Eager to Welcome His Runaway Son, Learns That He Was Swept Overboard in Mid-Ocean.

New York, April 27.—When the four-masted schooner E. B. Sutton, from Singapore, was warped to a [illegible] last evening, the first man to climb aboard was E. N. Cavagnaugh, who is employed by the Standard Oil Company in Brooklyn. He walked into the cuddy with an expectant smile on his face, and said to the skipper:

"My name is Cavagnaugh! Where is that son of mine, the rascal?"

The skipper looked straight at his questioner for a minute, then knitted his brow.

"Looking for Eddie, eh?" he stammered.

ALL WAS FORGIVEN.

Cavagnaugh explained that it was all right about Eddie; everything was forgiven, and maybe his parents would let him stick to the easy-going business after all. A boy who had enough sand in his craw to ship before the mast, and rough it around the Horn, in spite of his parents' disapproval and an education in a Brooklyn high school, was likely to be a good navigator some day.

"Yep," said the Captain, absently, looking blankly at the intruder. "Cavagnaugh—Eddie? Yes, I think I know him. Didn't he run away at Singapore?"

The father's face fell. The skipper rummaged among the bills of lading again.

"No, he was not the one," he continued. "Let's—lets go to the shipping office and look at the ship's articles. He'll be ashore now anyway."

On the way to the office of Chapman & Co., in State street, the skipper and father chatted about boys and the sea and ships. Cavagnaugh laughingly told how Eddie had run away and how his mother had fretted until they learned that he had gone with the schooner and saw the E. B. Sutton reported at Singapore and cleared for New York.

"It's Murphy and Cooper and [illegible] ing," said the father, "but we forgave them and the mother got his room papered new and has a fine dinner for her sailor boy."

JINKS AT THE NEWS.

"But it's a tough life," said the captain, talking to [illegible] cobble-stones. "You never know. Why, off the Horn last trip out, a young fellow, not much older'n your son, went by the board. A heavy sea, and that was the end of him. A man who'd as lief be was the lad's, the young fellow's father, brought him aboard, and before the commissioner here.

"We sent his pay and things through the Consulate at Singapore to the sailors' boarding house, the address the father gave. He wasn't his father, I reckon. The name wasn't Cavagnaugh, either."

"Poor young fellow," said the father, "I ought to be thankful."

THE TRUTH AT LAST

"Here," interrupted the skipper suddenly, stopping at the door of the shipping office, and laying his huge hands on the father's shoulder, the two men faced each other. The father's mouth tightened. The skipper looked away over the Battery Park to the river.

"Was it?" whispered the father.

The skipper lowered his head slowly.

School Boys Put Out a Fire.

Mr. Richard Grandy, Wolf street, who is employed at the Canadian General Electric Works, owns a farm at Lefford, near Bethany. Last Monday Mr. Grandy received a telephone communication notifying him that the farm house on his property was on fire. He at once went to the scene and found, on arrival, that a fire had broken out on the roof of the house he owned, but that the flames had been quenched before his arrival. It seems that the school teacher nearby, on seeing the house afire, had caused the school bell to be rung. Her pupils at once became busy, and the boys, with their proverbial climbing abilities, quickly mounted the roof and formed a bucket brigade, and assisted by the neighbors, soon had the flames under control.

REV S. J. SHOREY D.D.

Former Pastor of George St. Church Given Degree.

Mr. Shorey was a former pastor of George street Methodist church and is well known in this city. His many friends will be glad to hear of the honor being bestowed upon him.

Intercolonial Railway "Ocean Limited" 1906.

Anticipating the usual rush of summer travel, the Intercolonial Railway has arranged to have the splendid through express, the Ocean Limited," placed on the route between Montreal, St. John and Halifax on or about June 28th, or 29th, to continue until September. This announcement will be hailed with delight by the travelling public, for it has been generally conceded during the last two seasons that the "Ocean Limited" represents the highest ideal of luxurance, convenience and comfort in railway travel. It is expected the "Ocean Limited" will run on or about the same time as last year, leaving Montreal at 19.30, and departing from Halifax at 8.00. The train will be as last season made up of through vestibuled cars of the very latest design, and especial care will be taken to maintain the high standard of excellence with regard to the sleeping and dining car service, for which this splendid train has hitherto been noted.

THINKS SUN SPOTS CAUSE OF SHOCK

Scientist Says They Forced the Earth Out of Plumb, Causing Disturbance.

OTHER OPINIONS DIFFER

French Astronomer Declares Seat of Trouble May Be Either Vesuvius or Popocatapetl.

London, April 26.—Sir Norman Lockyar, director of solar physics at the South Kensington observatory, agrees with the theory advanced by Prof. Milne to account for the San Francisco earthquake—that is, that it was caused by the earth falling to swing perfectly true on its axis, which is bound up with recognized theory regarding sun spots. Sir Norman says:

"More energy is coming to the earth this year than at any time during the sun spot period of thirty-five years. As it is conjectured that the toppling over, so to speak, of the earth is caused by the formation of a great mass of ice of tremendous weight at one pole or the other through the great difference in temperatures caused by sun spots, the great seismic disturbances during the present year strengthen the theory advanced by Prof. Milne."

Further confirmation also is found in the fact that during the last three maximum years of the eleven year sun spot period there has been more activity in Mount Vesuvius than at any other time. Thus its present state is only what was to have been expected. Sir Norman is of the opinion that the eruption of Mount Vesuvius and the earthquake at San Francisco were due to the same cause.

GERMAN SCIENTISTS SUPPORTS IDEA.

Prof. Archenhold, a German scientist, supports Sir Norman's views. He is of the opinion that the sun spots are causing terrific electrical discharges which are affecting the interior of the earth.

The well known French astronomer, Camille Flammarion, thinks there probably was close connection between the eruption of Vesuvius and the earthquake. He also thinks it quite possible that the earthquake was caused by Popocatapetl, the Mexican volcano, whose distance from San Francisco, geologically speaking is not great. M. Flammarion, however, ascribes it immediately to the tension of superheated steam, which exists in pockets several miles below the surface of the earth.

Throughout geological history, he says, there are evidences of extreme lateral pressure, the pressure which has broken the crust of the earth into mountains and valleys, and it is known that these lateral motions are still going on today. Although the surface of the earth apparently remains calm there is no real equilibrium in the strata of the earth, and the earthquake, in his opinion, was the outcome of an explosion of gases and the movement of superheated steam several miles below San Francisco.

SLIDE OF STRATA IN CAUSE.

M. Lapparent, of the French Institute, on the other hand, laughs at the idea of there being any connection between the earthquake and volcanic disturbances. He is convinced the earth movement was merely a slide of the geological strata.

$300 DAMAGES

As noted in yesterday's issue, the jury in the civil case of R. D. Hill vs Charles Gow, in which the former claimed $1,000 damages over the Dummer shooting case, on Wednesday night, put a sealed verdict in the sheriff's possession.

This was opened at yesterday morning's session of the spring assizes, and read by Mr John Mooney, clerk of the high court.

The jury granted R. D. $300 damages for the loss of his son, Thomas E. Hill, who was shot and killed by Gow on the night of August 24, 1905.

If so, was Gow's act in firing such shot, negligent or wrongful?

To which of both the answer was in the affirmative. Then also, in reply to other questions noted that Gow displayed negligence in handling his gun, that no shot was fired from the Hill house, and that Gow had no reasonable cause for firing the shot. The amount of damages awarded Hill was $300.

JUDGEMENT GIVEN

Patrick McAuliffe will Serve Three and One Half Years.

Yesterday morning, shortly before ten o'clock, his Lordship, Mr. Justice Anglin asked Patrick McAuliffe, the prisoner convicted of having killed Henry Hudson a local housekeeper, on June 1st, last, whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him. McAuliffe, with seemingly dry mouth, but with perfect composure, answered, "No."

His lordship, in clear, slow, well pronounced words, said, "Your case, Patrick McAuliffe, has given me much anxiety.

"I refrained from passing sentence before, so as to look thoroughly into your case. You are a young man, having a good record; your neighbors speak well of your past career. Yet you stand in the dock convicted of one of the most serious offences in the criminal law. The law places no limit to the sentence imposable for such offence. You have had a fair trial, and were defended by a most clever counsel, who left nothing undone to save you. The jury found you guilty of the culpable killing of Frederick Hudson. The jury recommended you to mercy. Your counsel has also advanced a plea for clemency of the court. I have given these things a most careful consideration. Now, thus standing all these things the sweetness of human life must be considered. Human life cannot be taken, without serious consequences. I regret very much that it is my duty to send you for a term of imprisonment to a place where your associates will be hardened criminals. I most earnestly advise you, after your term of imprisonment has been served, to refrain from indulging in intoxicating liquors, the use of which has led you into the present unfortunate position. Taking all the circumstances into account, it is my duty to pass the sentence of this court, namely that you be confined in the Kingston penitentiary for the term of three years and six months."

The prisoner was then removed from court, and will be taken by two attendants to Kingston, probably today.

EARTH IS NEVER AT REST

Shrinking Body, Full of Stresses and Strains.

London, April 26.—Professor D. P. Mitchell discussing the Vesuvius eruption in particular and earthquakes in general said:

"Vesuvius brings home to us the fact that the earth is a shrinking body, and that stresses and strains are always present in the extremely thin shell which we call the crust of the earth.

"The possible molten condition and therefore high temperature of the latter beneath this crust, and the immense pressure to which it is subjected by the force of gravity make one marvel at the power of the things with which we are at times troubled. That the surface of the earth is never at perfect rest, but vibrating like the prongs of a tuning fork is shown by the examination of the curves of the lines traced by the delicate seismographs. It is only when these vibrations exceed a certain magnitude that we experience an earthquake which generally results in destruction to some degree, and possibly an increase in activity of some volcano."

WALLACE EVANS HURT

Yesterday morning the Dan Spence ambulance had a hurry up call that, as usual, was answered "one, two, three time."

It seems that Mr Wallace Evans, a brother of Mr. Harry Evans, the street commissioner, whilst working on the roof of a house on King St., for Mr Herbert Tremaine, met with a serious accident. He was working with Mr. Archie Moore, shingling the roof when the accident happened. In some way he lost his hold and fell twenty feet to the ground. Mr. Evans had his ankle broken, besides it is feared, receiving internal injury. He was removed to his home at 29 Bolivar street in the ambulance, and had his injuries attended to. Mr. Evans may be laid up for several weeks.

SCHOLAR'S HABITS

Coffee Most Pernicious.

A manly young fellow, working his way through the world, and whom the world will hear of some day, came near blighting all his prospects by coffee drinking.

"I drank coffee all my life," he says, "and looking back I can see that it was responsible for much of the nervousness from which I suffered as a child. Four years ago while at a preparatory school I began to use it more freely than ever before.

"I imagined it strengthened me, but as the school year went on I felt that I was playing out. First, I was troubled about studying in the evening, then I got so I could not sleep well and rose in the morning unrefreshed. My nerves grew shaky, hands trembled, eyes pained me, and sometimes at the blackboard everything would seem to turn black—I couldn't see what I was doing and would have to take my seat. Then my brain seemed to grow sluggish—I could not think clearly and concentrate freely.

"Thus things went on for a year—sometimes a little better, then worse again. I laid it to various causes, but didn't hit on the right one till I went to a physician. He said that my nervous system and digestion were in bad shape, owing to improper diet, and the use of coffee. I said I couldn't get along without coffee, but he insisted that I should give it up and use Postum Food Coffee instead.

"I at once changed my diet, and for a time lived principally on Postum, Grape-Nuts and fresh fruit. The improvement began quickly to manifest itself. My sleep came back, my brain grew clear and active, my nerves were steadied and my digestion is better than ever before. The color has come back to my cheeks and I gained nearly 15 pounds weight in three months. My mind is active and I enjoy studying. I owe it all to Postum Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

Slow But Sure San Francisco's Rule

The People Are Regaining Confidence and Hope---Despite Recurrence of Earthquake Tremors Work of Reconstruction is in Full Swing.

Oakland, April 27.—Order is slowly but surely gradually coming back to the people of San Francisco. Vigorous steps are being taken on all sides toward a restoration of the city to normal conditions. Nothing better since the disaster has been done to bring about an improvement of the mental condition of the people than the withdrawal of the restriction on entrance into the city from other bay cities. Thousands, who were heretofore unable to go across the bay, are availing themselves of the opportunity to visit the ruined pl aces of business in anticipation of preparing for a resumption.

PEOPLE ARE OPTIMISTIC.

The feeling of fear of further disaster is disappearing, despite a recurrence of the earthquake yesterday afternoon. It lasted nearly a minute, and caused considerable alarm. A number of walls of burned buildings which were standing yesterday, were thrown down, and tall buildings were considerably shaken up, but the damage done was slight. The shock was also felt in Oakland and Berkeley. It caused the death of Miss Annie Whitaker, aged 25 years. She was at work in the kitchen of her home in Shotwell street, in the Mission district, when the shock came. The chimney which had been left in a tottering condition by the heavy quake last Wednesday, crashed through the roof and fractured her skull. Her body was taken to the morgue at Portsmouth square, and buried an hour later at Laurel Hill cemetery.

Despite the new shock, hope that inspires the belief that the city will be resurrected as quickly as physical possibilities will permit, is springing up in all quarters. The city is being rapidly cleared, and as soon as the insurance companies decide definitely as to the action to be taken by them on the matter of adjusting the damages, the work will be taken up with systematic thoroughness. The Board of Public Works has adopted a new building laws. No one will be permitted to erect a permanent brick or stone structure. The blowing up of dangerous walls continues, and before many days all the streets will be entirely safe.

DISORDERS ARE FEWER.

Disorders have become infrequent, the summary punishment of offenders having had a salutary effect. The condition of refugees at all camps continues to improve. All have sufficient food and water, and with the return of warm, sunshiny weather, the suffering is minimized. Food supplies are still pouring into the city from all over the country, but these will meet only the temporary demand. A greater quantity than that now on hand will be required to absolutely insure a permanent supply.

The number of sick and injured at all hospitals is reported greatly reduced. Only a few deaths from injuries have resulted in the past 24 hours.

Less attention is now being paid to slight tremors which are occurring every few hours.

A PUGILIST'S TRAGEDY.

Word came from San Mateo yesterday of the death, as a result of the San Francisco fire, of Mamie Britt, sister of Jimmy Britt, the pugilist. When the Britt house in San Francisco caught fire Jimmy Britt and his father carried the girl, who was sick of consumption, to the St. Francis hospital on a litter. When the fire reached this hospital, they removed her to the Summer street car barns. The flames surrounded them and the unfortunate girl was finally taken to San Mateo. Death was hastened by the experience in San Francisco.

A CHILD'S MARVELOUS ESCAPE.

Santa Rosa, April 27.—A party of men searching the ruins of the St. Rose Hotel, rescued a 12-year-old girl. She was unhurt, but extremely hungry and thirsty, having been buried for four days and nights.

The timbers had edged so that they formed bar.

A FACTORY ACCIDENT

Yesterday another of those regretted but apparently unavoidable accidents that seemingly are inseparable from the manipulation of large factories and shops using machinery, happened at the Canada Works of the Peterboro Tool & Shovel Company's Works.

Mortimer McGill, an employe of the Shovel Company, was struck by a piece of flying metal, while at work, and received a slight injury in the body. He was taken to his home on Lake street in the Dan Spence ambulance and had his injuries attended to. His injuries are not of a serious nature, but he will be laid up for several days.

SUMMER SCHEDULE

The Peterboro Guild League Met Last Night in the Y. M. C. A.

The Guild League of this city, met in executive session in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday night, the principal business transacted, was the preparation of a schedule for the coming summer as follows.

The league will open a week earlier this year, on May 21st, instead of the 28th, when Charlotte street will meet George street.

June 4 and 7 —George Street vs. St. Paul's.

June 25 and 28 — St. Paul's vs. George street.

FAVORS A STRICT LORD'S DAY

Liberals Decide to Make Act as Stringent as Reasonable.

Ottawa, April 27.—A largely attended caucus of the Liberals following in the Senate and House of Commons was held today, with Campbell of South York presiding. The question of amending the ex-Cabinet Minister's pension act of last session was again considered, and it is understood that the opinion expressed was generally favorable to such a change as will make the pensions available only in the same way as they are today in England, that is to say, only for those whose financial position drives them to the acceptance of the State pension. The general impression is that the Government will submit legislation to the House to this effect.

It is stated that there was also discussion of the Government's Sunday observance law, and that the feeling was that the measure should be made as stringent as possible, without being injurious to any legitimate interests.

ALLAN BOWSFIELD DEAD

Aged Father of Hon. Mr. Oliver, Minister of Interior, Dies at Brampton.

Brampton, Apr. 27.—Mr. Allan Bowsfield, one of the oldest residents of the County of Peel, died here yesterday at the advanced age of eighty-one years. He was a prominent and influential Methodist and local preacher. Mr Oliver, Minister of the Interior, is a son of his.

Owing to a dispute with his father in his youth, Mr. Oliver changed his name. He name had been Frank Oliver Bowsfield.

London, April 26.—The Tribune says the First Division of the Aldershot Army Corps has been ordered to prepare for mobilization. It is believed to have reference to the Tibah incident.

Edmonton Chosen Capital of Alberta

Defeated Calgary By a Vote of 16 to 8 in the Legislature After the Debate.

Edmonton, Alta., April 27. The location of the permanent capital was settled in the House yesterday, a piece voting for Edmonton, against eight for Calgary. Banff was proposed by Hubert of Rosebud, the Conservative, and Red Deer by John T. Moore.

The legislature buildings will be placed on the site of the old Hudson's Bay fort, which was the capital of Western Canada in 1770.

C.P.R. DESPATCH.

Edmonton, Apr. 27.—The capital question occupied the Legislature yesterday and last evening, and resulted in the vote of Government remaining in Edmonton. Three motions for removal were put, and there were two withdrawals.

Hon. Mr. Cushing of Calgary and Mr. Stuart of Gleichen moved the removal to Calgary, which was defeated by 16 to 8. Removal to Red Deer was proposed by John T. Moore, seconded by Stuart, but the motion was withdrawn. Removal to Banff was proposed by Mr Hubert, seconded by Mr. Bonnyl, but was also withdrawn. The galleries were crowded when Mr. Cushing rose to move that "in the opinion of this House, the capital of the Province should be located permanently at Calgary." He urged that Calgary was the commercial metropolis of the province, and conveniently situated, and offered a free site for the buildings.

Attorney-General Oreas followed. He said Edmonton was the center of the Hudson Bay business since 1778, and gave statistics to prove that the present center of population was south of Red Deer. He said the railway lines converged in this city, and would give the best railway facilities to all parts of the Province.

Terror of Spring is Sickness

What Are You Doing to Protect Your Weak Body Against Spring Fevers?

A delay gives the germs and weakness a better chance to take hold.

For weakness, overwork and debility the doctors prescribe Ferrozone; let it help you now.

Vitality and power are instilled into the blood; this means new strength for all weak organs.

The fire of youth will dance in your veins, and new found energy will increase your desire to work.

Ferrozone supplies the nourishment and tissue-building material your system lacks. Isn't this "a reason why."

From Combermere, Ont., Mrs. Jno. Oram writes as follows: "For a number of years I was sickly in the springtime. I felt tired, nervous and had headaches. My blood was weak and damp days brought on rheumatism. My nervous system was unstrung, and I felt utterly worn out. Ferrozone revived me in a short time. In two days my appetite increased and I could feel a building up process going on. This great tonic made a new person of me, and I don't think a more strengthening medicine for the spring can be found."

Wouldn't it be just fine to get back your old time spirits and vigor? Easily done with "Ferrozone;" commence today. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE FEEBLENESS OF MAN

When elemental forces break loose no human power can control them. The volcano, the earthquake, the tidal wave, the tornado—and fire, when it is unconfined—serve to remind man how helpless and insignificant he is in the presence of a great convulsion of nature.

This generation is wiser than its predecessors in many ways. It has unraveled some of the mysteries of the world. It has learned how to divide, direct, and to utilise on a small scale many of the forces of nature. It has for many purposes made electricity the handmaid of man. Give the modern engineer money enough and he can remodel the face of the earth. He can turn great rivers into new channels or divide them up into tiny rivulets. He can harness Niagara. He can lower the level of a great lake as easily as his grandfather could that of a pond. No army officer of an earlier generation would have proposed to prohibit a city from taking from Lake Michigan all the water it might need. It never was imagined then that Lake Michigan could be hurt.

When the earth is at rest men can do as they please with the surface. When the day of unrest comes engineers, scientists, and captains of industry are as helpless as infants. They can stop up an oil well but not a volcano. They can check an ordinary fire, but they are powerless when they face a great conflagration fanned by high winds and find themselves, as at San Francisco, without a supply of water.

How accustomed we are to think of the surface of the earth as being stable! How seldom we realize that it is a mere crust or shell which is only thick in comparison with the little creatures who dwell upon it! We consider it firm because it is firm to us, except in some few places or on infrequent occasions. When it is disturbed and there is a dislocation of only a few inches, the works which man has laboriously piled up on the area affected tumble into ruins. A sudden or a lingering death may be the fate of thousands.

The great convulsions of nature appear to man in his assurance and infrequent. This is because the span of human life itself is so short. The life of the oldest man does not encompass many fearful volcanic eruptions and many fearful volcanic eruptions or earthquakes. Comparatively few men have personal experience of any of them. But they are occurring almost uninterruptedly at some point on the earth's crust. They differ only in degree, not in kind.

These blind outbreaks of nature are among the perils which are forgotten speedily when they are not seen or heard. Each generation forgets what another has suffered, or trusts that nature has worn herself out for a time and will be at rest until he has passed from earth.

The brevity of life, the transitory nature of human greatness, and man's heedless disregard of the dangers which surround him on all sides are graphically pictured in the old hymn:

Lo, on a narrow neck of land
'Twixt two unbounded seas I stand,
Yet how insensible!

Man is, indeed, insensible to the dangers that environ him, but if he were not he would spend all his days in the shadow of impending disaster and take little comfort in life. It must be owing to his reliance on some comforting theory of chances he has worked out that he can persuade himself that he has even a reasonable expectation of a long or happy life. There is great cause for pain in the assumption that he will escape the calamity his neighbor has suffered, and his life will be marked by felicity, and that he will sleep with his forefathers without knowing more of sorrow than they have known. A false hope, too often! As intelligence is more widely diffused and news is more carefully collected, the troubles of the whole world come closer to every one than they formerly did. What our friends, neighbors, and fellow citizens suffer we must in larger measure than before take to our own hearts and suffer ourselves.

But we cannot alter or affect the results when the great forces of the universe are in motion. Then we can only admit the fightful weakness of man and proclaim his submission to the decrees of a higher power.

Wonders About Skin Pores.

Each square inch of the human skin contains no less than 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiration pores. Each of these tubes, although wonderfully minute, is about one-fourth of an inch in length. Each of these sweat tubes may be likened to a tiny draintile. We find that the average adult has about 2,000 square inches of skin on the surface of his body. Each square inch of this outer cuticle is, as we have said, literally permeated with its 3,500 quarter inch perspiration ditches. If we could put each of these little tubes end to end we would find that they would extend a distance of not less than 201,166 feet. Had you ever before stopped to consider the fact that the aggregate length of the tile ditches for draining the human body is almost forty miles?

Schliemann's Luck.

It is told of Schliemann, the exhumer of buried cities of the ancient world, that he was pursued by ill luck in his earlier undertakings. Mentioning the fact to a friend, the latter asked him which leg and arm he first inserted in trousers and coat. Schliemann said he habitually inserted the right. "That is the cause of your misfortunes," said his friend. "You have offended the left hand fairies, and they take out their vengeance on you. Reverse your habit and see." "And," said Schliemann in telling the incident in his later and prosperous years, "you see how it changed my luck."

Nicotiana Affinis.

Nicotiana affinis, the border flower, which opens about 6 o'clock and gives a powerful and pleasant fragrance during the night, takes its name from the botanical term for the tobacco plant, nicotiana, which was named in honor of John Nicot of Nismes, ambassador from the king of France to Portugal, who procured the first seeds from a Dutchman, who had them from Florida.

His Plans.

"Did the architect carry out your plans?"

"Guess he must have. I haven't been able to find any of them about the house."

Immigration Rumors.

London, April 25.—It is announced that not only has the Canadian Government agreed to contribute a large sum of money towards the support of the Salvation Army's social work in Canada, but that the Canadian branch of the Independent Order of Foresters are to help forward the emigration work by contributing lands, implements, buildings, and capital amounting to the huge sum of £200,000.

Father Saved His Son.

Belleville, April 25.—George Cameron, of Carlow Township, who stabbed his father, was convicted of common assault by Magistrate Jarman, of Bancroft, and fined $2.50 and costs. Old Mr. Cameron claimed he was suffering from a lapse of memory and said he could remember nothing that happened on the morning the affray took place.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water, the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co., forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Chio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

"The storms do a sight of damage at times. Just by the white rock there lies a dangerous reef, and many a good ship has been battered to pieces there."

While they were speaking, the darkness of night seemed to fall like a pall over the earth, without warning. And they had barely reached shelter ere the storm broke in all its fury. The hissing of the wind rose into a scream, the sullen waters into a roar, the rain fell in torrents, and the lightning flashed in white, blinding sheets.

It was one of those terrible storms that sweep at times over the Florida coast, carrying destruction with it. At first it was wonderful; then it became awful, at last alarming. And in the midst of it all, something terrible happened. The awful hurricane demolished one of the windows of the tower, and the deluge of water put out the great lamp.

The keeper's bronzed face paled.

"Great God!" he cried, "the light is out! Heaven help any vessel on the sea that must pass this way tonight!"

A lurid flash of lightning lit up the room, showing the ghastly effect of the weird, awful scene outside.

A low cry broke from Reine's lips. The old lighthouse seemed to rock on its foundation. The angry waves, rolling mountain-high, seemed to threaten to dash it at any instant into the hungry sea.

Reine clung to Bernard's strong arm with trembling hands, and the flashes of light showed him the pale face, quivering lips, and eyes distended with fear.

Oh, how he longed to take her in his arms and comfort her. But his shield of honor restrained him.

Suddenly, as they stood there, a terrible sound smote their ears—a sound that strikes terror to every heart; the firing of the minute guns, which denotes a ship in distress at sea.

Bernard Cheleigh listens, his grave face whitening.

In an instant the keeper of the light had sprung for his tar jacket and lantern.

"A ship in distress. I must get my lifeboat and go to the rescue," he said, simply.

Hark! There it is again. The terrible booming.

"The old keeper of the light has shown me my duty, Reine. He has gone to the rescue. I cannot stand here while my fellow-creatures are crying for aid, facing death. I must go and help. I must save a life if I can."

Reine clung to him in wild alarm.

"You must not go, Bernard," she sobbed, piteously. "You would die in those horrible waves, and it would kill me. Oh, Bernard, do not leave me."

"I must, Reine," he said, hoarsely, bending his handsome head and kissing reverently the little white hands that clung to him so frantically.

He loosened the white hands, and, in a flash, she was standing alone in the deserted lighthouse.

Reine sprang through the doorway after him with a wild cry. She forgot the drenching rain and terrible storm as she tore madly down the beach after him, crying out wildly:

"Oh, Bernard! Bernard! You are going out to death! Take me with you, and let me die, too, for I cannot live without you!"

And those piercing cries smote Bernard Cheleigh's ears far out among the mad waves, as he valiantly headed his lifeboat toward the fearful wreck on the reefs.

How the words clung to him! They revealed that which made his heart bound with a great throbbing pain—Reine cared—yes she cared for him.

How cruel the knowledge was to him now when it was too late. She was nothing more to him now save a dearly loved sister.

Yes he had found Reine—but too late. But he must put all thoughts of her from him at this moment and think only of those in such dread peril out there at the mercy of the deep.

Was it a reckless madness that seized him, to wish for half a moment that, he might not live to return?

CHAPTER XXX.

The rain beat upon Reine's golden head; the terrible storm drenched her through and through, yet she did not appear to notice it. Her white hands beat the air, bitter cries fell from her lips as she flung herself down on her knees, sobbing out that if he never came back to her, she would threw herself into the sea.

If he found death in those cruel waves, dashing mountain high, she would find a grave there, too, and the sad sea waves should sing a requiem over both.

Breathlessly, in the vivid flashes of blinding light, she watched the little lifeboat battling with the angry sea.

The scene on the wrecked steamer was a terrible one. The lifeboats had been lowered; but many of the frightened passengers, in their mad terror, had thrown themselves into the lashing sea.

She had struck the treacherous reef, and it was but a question of a few terrible moments ere she would go down, for she was fast settling. The steamer was doomed.

Not a soul seemed to be on board the fatal steamer when Bernard reached it, and a voluntary cry, "Thank God! all have been saved!" burst from his lips.

He turned to leap into his boat again, but at that instant a low moan fell upon his ear from down the [illegible]

Seizing a lantern that one of the sailors had left, Cheleigh sprang in the direction from which the sound proceeded.

A man was attempting to make his way toward the deck. By the feeble, flickering light from the lantern he carried, Bernard Cheleigh saw that his face was covered with blood from a wound on his temple.

He cried out, faintly, rejoicing to see succor at hand:

"One of the spars fell upon me, and I must have lost consciousness. They left me here to die," he said, putting out his hands groopingly to reach the spot where his rescuer stood.

He took one step forward, then

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following heads:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7. A per annum for an individual, and from $5 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.4x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder if not thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land as $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps, and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 406 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionares in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

The physical suffering and mental anguish that victims of sleeplessness endure is indeed a sad story. But in Dr. Hamilton's Pills there is swift relief from this awful condition. Thousands have proved the merit of this great medicine, among them Mrs. G. T. Lyons, one of the best known residents of Geneva, who writes: "My health run down and I was unable to sleep. I had headache and pains in different parts of my body. In the morning I was weary and exhausted—no rest or comfort came from the number of sleep I got. Dr. Hamilton's Pills braced me at once. After the first night I got refreshing sleep, that extreme weariness left me and I recovered very fast. "The medicine I ever used gave such quick results as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills."

Don't let sleeplessness drive you crazy, take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and get well. You will increase in flesh, your appetite will be vigorous, forces and energy will be instilled into your nervous system.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—Several members of the "Tenderfoot" company, which played here last night, were guests of the Queen's Hotel.

—Mrs W. J. Morrow has been appointed teacher in voice culture and sight reading at the new St. Peter's separate school.

—Old "Fred," the veteran horse of the fire brigade, is laid up sick and under care of Dr. Poole. This is his first sickness in over 15 years.

—The Mr. Rainbow, yesterday brought up a load of hogs consigned to Messrs. Matthews, and the Empire brought up a load of lumber.

—William McAuliffe, an employe of the English Canoe Company, had the index finger of his left hand lacerated by coming in contact with a saw yesterday.

—The regular week night service which was to have been held in All Saints' church, yesterday evening, was cancelled. Rev. Wm. Major, The rector, is confined to his room by illness.

—The Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night, and spent nearly two hours doing routine work of no public interest. They also met the water commissioners but nothing tangible was effected.

—Many friends in Peterboro, of Mr. G. L. Main, formerly of the Bank of Montreal here, will sympathize with him in the death of his sister, Miss Frances Main, who died suddenly in Toronto, aged eighteen years.

—The body of Lloyd Wilson Lewis, infant son of Rev. H. T. and Mrs. Lewis, Cobourg, who died on Jan. 3rd last, and was placed in the vault of Cobourg, was removed to Little Lake cemetery yesterday for interment.

—Last night John Oakley, an old man who does odd jobs about town, came into the police station announcing his intention of asking to be sent "on the Hill" for three months, at this morning's court. John had all arrangements completed for a lengthy stay.

INCORRECT REPORT

Evening Contemporary Makes Mistakes Regarding Palace Hotel.

In yesterday's issue of a local evening contemporary, in reference to the cutting off of the license from the Palace Hotel of this city, there are noted some incidents connected therewith, that are altogether unfounded.

The paper in question says;

"Mr. J. M. Brooks, president of the Peterboro License Holders Association, returned last night from attending the Horse Show in Toronto."

Mr. Brooks informed The Times yesterday that he was not in Toronto in attendance at the Horse Show, nor did he see it. Mr. Brooks was simply in this city on personal business.

The evening paper further says that "The American House," in Oshawa, (presumably from the report belonging to Mr. Brooks) is not his property, but belongs to a man named Squirrell.

Mr. Brooks, asked by The Times, yesterday, regarding this local license being seemingly cut off, was noncommittal. He said, however, that the cause of the "Brooks House" at Oshawa being cut off, was that that town had passed a by-law cutting off two of the licenses there, and his house, which contains thirty rooms, and which has had a license since 1864, except during the Scott Act, was the furthest from the center of the town, and was thus naturally one of the two affected by the by-law.

COBOURG GETS IT

The Military Camp Goes to the Sleepy Lakeside Town.

It seems now that Peterboro's chance to have the military camp this summer are as good as a Blewbean's egg. A despatch received from Ottawa yesterday says that Sir Frederick Borden, in reply to a question put by Col. Sam Hughes, asking if a site had been selected for the annual camp for drill instruction of this district, settled the matter as far as this city is concerned.

Sir Frederick replied that Cobourg had been selected for this year, but no permanent place was decided upon. Peterboro was not mentioned. The Minister explained that the camp was transferred from Kingston, on account of the lack of rifle range facilities in that city. All the arms will drill at Cobourg.

The Strenuous Life

Results in Stomach Troubles and Physicial Breakdown.

The strenuous life of modern times forces people to rush through their meals hastily, hurrying from the table in the mad rush after the almighty dollar.

The result is incomplete digestion, inflammation of the walls of the stomach and lack of secretion of the gastric juices, ending in chronic stomach trouble and nervous breakdown.

How much better would it be to eat more slowly, cure the stomach trouble with Mi-o-na and soon regain perfect health. The headaches, sleeplessness, nervous troubles, pain after eating, specks before the eyes, backaches, melancholy and gloomy forebodings would be soon overcome and perfect health and strength would be restored.

Proper treatment of the weakened digestive system with Mi-o-na will cure every case of stomach trouble. The results of this treatment are so astonishing and so pronounced, that those who have tried it never fail to appreciate its value as a healing agent.

Each box of Mi-o-na sells for 50 cents, and is invaluable to anyone who sufferers with indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The E. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING

Miss Loretta Powers Becomes the Bride of Mr. C. Leibers, Cleveland.

Another young lady of this city, has thrown in her destines with our neighbors across the line; On Tuesday morning, Rev. Father McColl, in St. Peter's cathedral, united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss. Loretta Powers, daughter of Mr. Thos. Powers, Carlisle street, to Mr. Chas. E. Liebers, of Cleveland, Ohio. The bride looked very becoming in a suit of plain and a white chiffon hat and carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Annie Powers, who also looked very becoming in a suit of green and a white hat. Mr. Thos. O'Brien, of Peterboro, was groomsman. The groom presented the bride with a beautiful gold watch.

Mr. and Mrs. Leibers will reside in Peterboro for the summer months.

The Carden Murder Case.

The Lindsay Post says:—The preliminary evidence in the Carden murder case will be heard before Police Magistrate McSweyn at the court house on Saturday next, at 11 o'clock, a.m.

HILL VERSUS DEWART

Action for Slander Heard at Spring Assizes.

Yesterday morning, shortly after the sealed verdict handed in on Wednesday night noted in yesterday's Times, had been opened and it was disclosed that the jury had rendered a verdict of $300 in favor of Mr. Robt. D. Hill against Gow who killed his son, another suit for damages was started. In this latter suit Mr. Hill claims damages for slander from Mr. John Dewart. The charge is for alleged slanderous statements made by the defendant and alleged slander in publishing an article in a local paper.

Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the plaintiff and R. M. Dennistoun for the defence.

All the evidence was in by noon, the defence calling no witnesses, and during the afternoon the counsel presented their arguments to the jury.

Thomas J. Bagley, a witness, said to Mr. Edwards that he saw John Dewart on August last while returning from the scene of the shooting of the boy Hill, killed on August 24. The defendant came out to his buggy and said, "The Hills have not got a friend."

Barbara Greene said to Mr. Edwards that she was with the Examiner in the fall of 1905. He referred to a file of that paper dated Nov. 3rd, in which he wrote an interview with the defendant. He got the information from Mr. John Dewart. Witness could not remember the statements of Dewart except what was written in the interview. He thought he correctly reported the interview.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said it was a natural conversation on the street.

His Lordship stated that he could not understand a newspaper reporter getting into the witness box and not being able to say more than "I think."

To Mr. Edwards witness stated that she remembered the letter in the Examiner over the signature of James Dewart published on Sept. 6th.

Alexander Small sworn said to Mr. Edwards she said that he knew the Hills and Dewarts. He lived in the neighborhood. He remembered that John Dewart said to him that Hills had poisoned the cattle. John Dewart also said that Hills did all the poisoning. At other times John Dewart said that, "He believed Hills did all the poisoning in that part of the country."

To Mr. Dennistoun, witness said he was a practical man with cattle. In 1905, he opened two of Dewart's cattle and found poison. Henry Murphy lost cattle by poison. Half a dozen or more cattle died during three years. Dogs and pigs had also been poisoned. Had heard other people say it was the Hills and afterward dogs at John Dewart said to his belief, Hills were doing all the poisoning in that part of the country.

Wm. Graham said to Mr. Edwards that he heard John Dewart make statements last fall at his son's place to the effect that the Hills did the poisoning.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said that some of his beasts were poisoned. He had heard there was a good deal of poisoning going on among the cattle, but he didn't know who it was. The hymbeins was talked of at young Dewart's bee.

James Dewart, next witness, took the letter of Sept. 6th to the Examiner. He dictated the letter and his sister wrote it. He did not talk to his father about the letter and his father did not have anything to do with publishing it. The letter was written at his father's house. He would not say positively that Mr. Dewart knew nothing of the letter. His father was not on good terms with the Hills. He then admitted that his father was hostile to the Hills for the past two years. He and his father had talked about the Hills.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said he lost three cattle by poisoning. Others were sick but did not die. The poisoned cattle were running on the road. Hill's general reputation was bad.

This concluded the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Dennistoun moved for a nonsuit. He submitted that there was nothing to go to the jury on.

His Lordship said there was evidence to support only paragraphs 3 and 4. These paragraphs Mr. Dennistoun argued.

Mr. Dennistoun then withdrew his motion for non-suit.

Court adjourned for luncheon.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

There was a small attendance at yesterday's police court. A young man well known in the city, pleaded guilty to riding a bicycle along the sidewalk on George street, on the 26th of April. He paid a $2 spot for the ride. There was another information against him for not having a bell on his wheel on the same date. However the magistrate let the second charge be included in the $2 worth. Another young man was also fined $2 for the same offence.

A well known citizen was charged with using grossly insulting language to W. White on the 31st of March. The defendant remarked that he had called the man "a swindler." He explained that he had purchased a horse from White, paying him $5 on account, but found the horse was unsound. Then they arranged that the man should take the horse back for a week, and if it were found to be sound, defendant would pay him the balance. The horse was not brought back nor did plaintiff give defendant back the $5. His worship remarked that whilst the defendant might have thought plaintiff a swindler, he should not have disturbed the peace by risking a fight. He fined him $2 which was paid forthwith.

The next case was one of a "mistaken identity," and involved some unsavory details.

Henry Raymond was charged with having obtained money under false pretenses, viz., for having collected 75c, for doing certain night work that plaintiff had done. The plaintiff said he arranged with Mrs. Irwin to do some scavengery work on Monday night. He did the work and when he went to get his money, 75 cents, the prisoner had forestalled him and taken the money although they were not in partnership.

Mr. Irwin went into the box, and said plaintiff (who is a man with a cockney accent of the provincial kind) had agreed to do his work for 75 cents, and he had paid the money to a man who was neither the plaintiff nor the defendant. This let the prisoner out. After the court had adjourned, and the newspaper men, as per usual, were congregated in the station, the son of Albion, produced his note book wherein was recorded the various scavenging jobs he has on hand or had contemplated. With a remark that was not strictly parliamentary, the English immigrant said, "Say gentlemen I'm d——d if I didn't make a mistake and get the wrong house. But I'm not through with this case."

It might be added that some six or seven of the various men engaged in said scavengering work met in a local hotel on Wednesday afternoon discussing the "pros and cons" of the then, coming 75 cent suit. During their talk, exactly $3.25 was spent over the bar for tangible excitants of eloquence in their talk.

Do You Want to Know What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery" the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all carping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the volume endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not beget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause Cure—not a Symptom Cure.

It is a common mistake to take artificial digestives for stomach troubles—or heart stimulants for weak hearts—or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in fifty times is the sickness the fault of the organ. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organ—and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney or heart disease perhaps be cured. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wisconsin, learned early in his medical experience that these inside nerves were the power through them only was it possible to cure indigestion, heart disease, backache, kidney, bladder and all other affections of the kidneys. For all of these ailments are not separate sicknesses and cannot be so treated. They are merely symptoms of inside nerve weakness. And when these inside nerves are restored the symptoms and the sickness disappears. The remedy which Dr. Shoop prescribed for these ailing nerves is known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It relieves the pain and distress of kidney, stomach and heart troubles quicker even than these medicines designed simply to give temporary relief. Dr. Shoop's Restorative can now be had of druggists everywhere. For sale and recommended by

Texas Cyclone Kills Over Thirty People

Eight Miles of Country Swept Clean--At Least Three Towns Severely Damaged and Many Farms Destroyed.

Dallas, Texas, April 28. — Reports received here from Bowie, Texas, this morning triple that the number of dead as the result of the cyclone which swept over Bellevue, Stoneburg and the surrounding country last evening is estimated at from fifteen to thirty in Bellevue alone. The number of injured there, it is said, may reach 100.

At Stoneburg the estimates place the number of dead at from ten to fifteen.

Relief trains, carrying large numbers of persons, including doctors, and nurses, have left Henretta for Bellevue and Stoneburg, and news regarding the destruction to property is expected from them shortly.

Telephone and telegraph wires are down, rendering communication with the stricken town difficult. A gang of telephone and telegraph line repairers are on the relief train, and it is hoped to have a wire working shortly.

DEBRIS REPORTED BURNED.

One report received here says that the wreckage caused by the cyclone in Bellevue immediately caught fire and that the debris as well as a number of houses left standing were consumed.

Fears are entertained for the town of Hamilton. That place and vicinity [illegible] the storm, communication with the outside world, and no particulars as to loss of life can be obtained thus far. Reports state that the loss to live stock and property in the path of the cyclone is great.

SOME OF THE VICTIMS.

The following are reported to have lost their lives:—

R. L. Russell, wife and four children.

A. R. D. Carr, crushed in building and cremated.

Thomas Mount.

W. W. Bell, candidate for County Treasurer of Clay county.

Two members of John Gray's family.

The fatally injured are:—

Nearly 100 are badly injured.

The largest merchandise losses are Bobbey's Plan: Mrs. Nelson & Spivey, and Mrs. Spalding. The tornado was one mile wide, eight miles long, and there is no estimating the deaths and property loss in country districts. The tornado traveled eight miles, leveling everything in its path, ruining crops and destroying all farm houses and barns on the way.

LICENSED VICTUALLERS

Meet and Practically Adopt Schedule Suggested By Committee.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, some few days ago the Peterboro Licensed Victuallers met and appointed a committee to look into the matter of increased charges imposed by the Ontario Government, for licenses, and to frame an understanding establishing the prices to be charged by the local hotel under the new and largely increased expenditure.

The committee met and discussed existing and future conditions of the hotel business in this city, with the result that they yesterday reported to a general meeting of the local hotelkeepers held in the Ontario Bank Chambers.

At the meeting there were thirteen or fourteen members of the local license [illegible]keepers' association, with Mr. J. M. Brooks, president in the chair, present.

All of those present signed the scale of slightly advanced prices, a detailed statement of which has been given in a former issue.

The necessary increased prices, simply amount, in fewest words, to a nominal charge for hotel yard accommodation, and a decision to "cut out" the hitherto, too frequently watered, liquid, sold as "whisky," for 5 cents a glass. Of course a few of the hoteleers sold the straight draught goods, but as this, at five cents per glass, even under the present lower license fee, would not pay rent, etc., and give the seller a living, it is only too probable that water entered largely into the 5-cent goods. After May 1st, the local hotels will sell nothing under 25 U.P. whisky, i.e., whisky of a strength of 25 degrees under proof strength; as things are now, a large amount of the 5-cent whiskey is about 40 U.P.

This raise in price, whilst raising certain customers' ire, thereat 5c. per glass for whiskey, will result, in all probability, in the interests of temperance, owing to reduced consumption, and in all certainty, result in less drunks, fights and police court cases, owing to the greater outlay of the goods consumed.

Those present at yesterday's meeting will probably sign the schedule in a day or two.

HILL GETS $1 DAMAGES

The Slander Case Arising Over the Recent Dunmore Killing, Settled.

As noted in yesterday's issue, Robt D. Hill of Dunmore, at the assizes sued John Dewart, of the same township, for damages for slander.

Hill, the father of the boy shot by Gow gets damages to the extent of $1.00 from John Dewart. That was the verdict of the jury.

The case occupied the attention of the court for nearly a whole day, and it took the jury nearly three hours to come to that conclusion.

The principal point of the case seemed to be—Did Dewart make use of the statements it was claimed he did, and then were the statements made with malice. His lordship clearly explained the meaning of malice and also under what circumstances a person is privileged to use language which would be under other circumstances libelous.

After the jury presented its verdict, his lordship awarded the plaintiff his costs also.

It is now to be hoped that the merely nominal damages awarded and a reason of the evidence showing possibly blame on both sides, will result in the seeming feud existing between the families being buried in the grave of forgetfulness and forgotten trouble.

NON-UNION MEN AT WORK.

Hazleton, Pa., April 27.—The Hazleton colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, one of the largest of the district, was put in partial operation yesterday by a force of non-union men recruited from this city and other places. The men are housed and fed within the enclosure surrounding the mine.

MRS LUNDY ENTERTAINS

Very Pleasant Social Event in Honor of W.G. of "All Saints."

The first social gathering of the Women's Guild of All Saints' church, was the "at home" given at her residence, corner of Dalhousie and Aylmer streets, by Mrs. D. J. Lundy on Thursday afternoon.

It is needless to say, that, with so popular and well qualified hostess as Mrs. Lundy, the event passed off most enjoyably.

The rooms were very tastefully decorated with cut flowers and tastefully arranged greenery, in which [illegible] predominated. During the afternoon, Miss Geraldine King, Miss Mulholland and Miss Florence Bell played a number of instrumental selections, while Mr. V. Morphet, in his inimitable style, rendered a couple of solos.

The officers of the society present were:—

President—Mrs. D. J. Lundy.

Vice-President—Mrs. J. H. McClellan.

Secretary—Mrs. A. Metheral.

Treasurer—Mrs. VanEvery.

Mrs. Lundy, the hostess, who was to have been assisted by Mrs. Major had to do the reception duties, without the help of the latter lady, owing to Rev. Mr. Major's illness.

Mesdames Hudson, Smith and Melville, assisted in serving tea and coffee, and Mrs. J. H. McClellan and Mrs. Woltenholm served the ice cream, while Mrs. Sheffield, Mrs Flowers, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. A. Metheral, and Miss Wells presided at the refreshment table.

Former Local Journalist Praised.

Among the visitors and witnesses present at the spring assizes, now in session, was a former resident of this city, Mr. R. F. Choate.

This accomplished young journalist, whom it will be remembered, was prominent both in the literary and circulation department of the Examiner, is now on the staff of the Montreal Herald.

A Times representative, yesterday, had a conversation with one of Montreal's most prominent wholesale merchants, who, in the course of talk said "You Peterboro people should never have let Choate leave your town. Mr. Choate is today one of the brightest young men in Montreal journalistic circles, and is a great acquisition to the Herald."

That is how people think about products of this city.

WORK ON T. V. C.

The Total Expenditure on the Canal to March 31st Nearly $5,000,000.

An Ottawa despatch says: A report from Mr. Grant, superintendent engineer of the Trent Canal, states that the contracts not yet completed are the hydraulic lift lock No. 2 and sections 2 and 3 of the Simcoe and Balsam Lake division. The former is being constructed by the Dominion Bridge Company of Montreal, who have already done work and supplied materials to the value of $128,515. Larkin and Sangster have the contract for No. 2 section, and have so [illegible] about $30,000 worth of work to be done. Brown and Aylmer are the contractors for No. 3 section, and they have done work and supplied materials to the value of $445,171. There is still about $100,000 worth of work remaining. The total expenditure on the canal up to the 31st of March, was $4,967,553.

Hotelkeeper Loses His Breakfast.

Yesterday morning a local boniface was mad. It seems that the hotelman in question, had been keeping a porter house steak hanging in the back shed for some days, to let it get mellow. The steak, in question, had been given him by a local butcher and was recommended as A.1." Yesterday morning he spied about $4 worth of game occupying the cook, asking her how to broil the steak. When it was ready, one of the dining room girls brought it in on a specially heated side dish, appropriately decorated by banana & pineapple. On hearing the steak was ready, with a broad smile, he said to his friends, "Well, good-bye boys, I must get my breakfast."

In the meantime two or three of the boarders kept him busy talking. At last he went into the dining room and sat down at his usual place. On lifting the cover of the dish, he discovered a bone and nothing else. His language following would not be approved by a Sunday school convention. One of the boarders hearing of his bonate about the steak, had stolen a march on him and had eaten it. Being of a generous disposition the boarder left him the bone.

It seems that the boarder suspected of devouring the steak has had a sore throat for some time. On discovering his loss, the boniman said to the aforesaid boarder, "I hope to goodness you used the whole bundle of toothpicks over that steak you stole, and that the whole ——— packet stuck in your throat, you wolf in sheep's clothing, stealing my breakfast!"

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday only one case occupied attention of the police court. John Oakley, an old resident of this city, without means of living, and seemingly unable to make his own, asked for a three-months' pass to Castle Nesbitt, and was accompanied with six John wandered up alone, on hearing the joyful news, carrying a walking stick, and the loads of his trusty bunk-saw carefully wrapped in brown paper.

East Peterboro Licenses.

The License Commissioners for East Peterboro, Messrs. Jos. Knox, Havelock, chairman; J. Spillane, Otonabee, secretary, and J. Rose, Warsaw, met in Havelock, and all the applications for licenses were granted. This year, owing to local option being in force in Otonabee and Dummer, the hotels at Keene, Warsaw and McCracken's Landing, will have no licenses.

The commissioners will meet in Havelock again early in May, when all licenses will be signed.

Cavan Man Fought and Fined.

His Worship R. J. Deak had a somewhat unusual case before him last week. Two boys quarrelled at school in the north of Cavan and the larger pounded the smaller chap. Then the father of the smaller one laid in wait for the big boy and thrashed him soundly, and for so doing was brought before his worship. He admitted taking the law in his own hands and was fined $5 and costs.—Millbrook Reporter.

Oshawa Accepts Charity.

The Toronto World says: E. A. Hardy, secretary of the Ontario Library Association, received word from Oshawa yesterday that Dr. Carnegie had given that town $12,000 for a public library. This and the $50,000 offered to Victoria University increases the Carnegie donations to Canadian cities and towns for library purposes to nearly $1,000,000.

SUIT AGAINST LABOR UNIONS.

Racine, Wis., April 27.—The greatest law suit in the history of this county and of great importance to labor unions was commenced this afternoon before Judge Chester A. Fowler, of Portage. The case is that of Otto B Schultz against Benjamin Dreesen of the Bakers' and Confectioners' Union and 100 members of the Trades and Labor Council and other labor unions for $25,000 damages. Schultz is owner of a bakery in Racine. He refused to unionize his store or shop or place the union label on his bread. He alleged that he was placed on the unfair list and lost heavily in trade.

ANOTHER TOWN

Campbellford will Celebrate its Becoming a Town on July 2nd.

The Campbellford Herald says: — Campbellford will celebrate its inauguration as a town on July 2nd next. The council and citizens have united with the intention of making the day of the most successful days celebrated in Central Ontario.

The first Old Boys' Reunion and celebration is being arranged for, and a civic reception will be the first event in the morning.

A programme is being made to have a grand military display under the auspices of the 49th Regiment and the 14th Field Battery, which will be on a more extensive scale than anything previously attempted outside the great cities.

A trades procession will also take place, in which all the manufacturers, merchants and societies will participate. Speeches will be delivered by some of the most prominent Canadians of the day, including Cabinet Ministers and members of both the Dominion and Provincial Houses, when the municipality will be formally declared a town. This will take place on the Agricultural Grounds and will be followed by military manoeuvres by the different branches of the service, which cannot fail to create great interest.

During the afternoon a grand program of sports, including horseraces, baseball matches, lacrosse match and other athletic sports, will be given on the fair grounds. This most extensive interesting and elaborate program will be brought to a grand climax by a great spectacular flaping of fireworks and a promenade concert in the evening. Arrangements have been made for special rates on all railways and transportation lines.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Ladies Aid of St. Mark's Give an "At Home."

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Mark street church, held at the home of Miss J. Dormer, Mark street, decided to change the date of the annual meeting from August to May on account of the church year ending May 1st.

During the past year the society has met with great success. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $105.70 to the credit of the society.

Pres.—Mrs. J. H. Smith.

Vice-Pres.—Mrs. H. Girven.

Secretary—Mrs. H. Gibbs.

Treasurer—Mrs. S. Taylor.

Flower Committee — Mrs. A. A. Fowler and Mrs. R. Baker.

The members of the visiting committee for the north of Hunter street are Mrs J. Dormer and Mrs. C. Calvert, and the committee for those residing south of Hunter street is composed of Mrs. Dobson and Mrs. R. Hamilton.

ROJESTVENSKY TO BE TRIED.

St. Petersburg, April 27.—Rojestvensky will be tried by court martial. The special committee which has been investigating the naval battle of Tsushima Straits, in which the Russian fleet was destroyed by Admiral Togo, has reported in favor of court-martialing all the officers who were on board the torpedo boat destroyer Bedovi, to which Vice Admiral Rojestvensky was transferred after the disabling of his flagship, for surrendering the vessel.

Admiral Rojestvensky alone is excepted under the finding of the commission because he was wounded and unconscious when his flag was lowered.

Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky, who recently applied for retirement on the ground of shattered health, nevertheless has requested that he be tried with the others, though his punishment, as in the case of Vice-Admiral Nebogatoff, may be dismissal in disgrace from the navy.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

A report from Mr. Grant, superintendent engineer of the Trent Canal, states that the contracts not yet completed are the hydraulic lift

A Havelock Theft Trial.

Magistrate Edmison will preside at the trial of a resident of Havelock charged with stealing a gold ring. Mr. Edmison intended going to that village this week, but was prevented from doing so, on account of his necessary attendance at the spring assizes. The Havelock case will be tried either Monday or Tuesday.

POWER FOR BROCKVILLE.

Brockville, April 27.—J. Wesley Allison states that it is the intention of the recently organized New York and Ontario Power Company, with a capital of $3,000,000, to develop the magnificent power at Waddington, N. Y., and begin preparations for carrying the power to Prescott and Brockville, via Ogdensburg.

He states that 15,000 horse power can be developed and sold at prices lower than those charged by the Niagara Falls Company. He declined to go into particulars at present, but stated that within a few weeks the public would be fully informed as to the expectations of the company.

BOY SHOT IN EYES.

Brockville, April 27.—Patrick O'Neil, the 16-year-old Winthrop boy who was shot in the eyes by a village character named Nichols, whom O'Neil and his companion was annoying, has become totally blind.

Mr. Thompson is Very Low.

We regret to say that Mr. Thompson, the well known insurance man, who a few weeks ago had an arm amputated, in St. Joseph's hospital, on account of tuberculosis of the bone, and who some time after the operation was reported as being fairly convalescent, is now in a very low state of health, and fears for the worst are entertained.

A NEW BRIDGE

Work Being Pushed on Bridge Over Creek Crossing Hunter Street.

Yesterday a large gang of men, under superintendence of Mr. Harry Evans, street commissioner, were busily employed on the bridge over Hunter street creek, in front of Mr. Micks shop, replacing the worn out wooden planks with a granolithic driveway. It might be noted, for information of our readers, that the way such bridge work is done, is as follows.

After the old stationery planking has been torn up, temporary planking, two inches thick is laid down, but not nailed. On the temporary planks is laid a heavy wire netting. On this the concrete mixture is placed, and left until it hardens. When this has been accomplished, the temporary planking is drawn out and the hard bed of concrete, on its underlying wire netting, resting on the bridge sides' beams, makes a permanent and satisfactory road bed.

HAVELOCK LIBRARY

Enterprising Little C. P. R. Town Has Live Public Library.

That the village of Havelock, one of Peterboro's suburbs, connected by the C.P.R., is enterprising, is evident by news contained in the enterprising Standard, the paper issued there.

A public meeting was held in Havelock in the town hall, on Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing the Library Board. Those present were enthusiastic over the prospect of once more having the library accessible to the public and Messrs. Wm. Matheson, Elias Williams, I. Barrow, C. H. Brewster, A. C. Deneke and Geo. Young were elected members of the Havelock Library Board for 1906.

The Board at once got down to business and elected their officers, who are as follows;

Pres.—C. H. Brewster.

Sec.—Wm. Matheson.

Treas.—Elias Williams.

A discussion as to the best place to have the library located, ended in deciding to leave that matter for the next meeting, which will be held very soon.

The Board proposes to purchase about $100 worth of new books and magazines, in order to place the library up-to-date.

California Excursions.

Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Line. Meeting Imperial Council, Nobles Mystic Shrine, Los Angeles, Cal. May 7th to 10th. Official route of the Imperial Potentate's special train. Round trip tickets at very low rates will be sold April 24th to May 4th. Final return limit July 15th, 1906. Choice of routes going and returning. Favorable stopover arrangements. Full particulars furnished on application to B. H. Bennett, General Agent, 1 East King street, Toronto, Ont.

A MUSICAL TREAT

The Miss Alice Roger and Jarvis-Field Concert Most Enjoyable.

Last night a cultivated and delighted audience attended the high class musical treat, given in Y.M.C.A. Hall, by Miss Alice Roger, assisted by Messrs. Harold Jarvis and H. M. Field. As all the participants in last night's concert, are well known to Peterboro lovers of music, rendered in its most artistic manner, it might be invidious to particularize the excellence of each performer's production.

It is sufficient to say that Mr. Harold Jarvis, was in his usual good voice and Mr. Field's rendition of his parts were thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and as both of these accomplished musicians' scores, were most fully appreciated by those present most competent to judge.

As regards Miss Roger's playing it would be tautological to repeat the many praises, so often showered upon this mistress of the piano-forte.

Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have illtreated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of dyspepsia, stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherry bark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glycerite extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.

License Bill Goes Into Effect on May 1st

Passed By Legislature Yesterday After the Opposition Amendment Had Been Defeated By a Vote of 64 to 21.

Toronto, April 27.—By a vote of 64 to 21 the members of the Legislature yesterday afternoon voted down the Opposition leader's amendment to the Liquor License bill, proposing to substitute the words "a bare majority" for "three-fifths of the vote polled" in the clause referring to local option. The bill then received its third reading and will probably be assented to this afternoon by his Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, that its provisions may come into effect on May 1, the beginning of the license year.

THE LICENSE BILL.

When the third reading of the Government measure to amend the Liquor License Law was reached, Hon. G. W. Ross announced that he desired to submit an amendment. He moreover, he moved seconded by Mr. Preston, that the words "three-fifths of the vote polled" in the clause dealing with the adoption of local option in the various municipalities be changed to "a bare majority."

Speaking to his motion the leader of the Opposition said there was much in the newly proposed Liquor License Act that he could not endorse. He thought that the municipalities should divide with the Government the amount of the increase to the license fees, and he was inclined to doubt the experiment of high licenses. These, however, were of minor importance, compared with this motion.

THE THREE-FIFTHS CLAUSE.

The three-fifths clause Mr. Ross regarded as a serious and most retrograde move. The trial of the majority system had been made and experience had justified and confirmed it. Reading from the Pioneer, the organ of the Alliance, Mr. Ross quoted figures to show that local option had been effective under the existing system.

"Why didn't the Premier say before the election that he was against prohibition, why did he not suggest he was reserving something?" queried Mr. Ross. "On the other hand he declared he would see that the temperance legislation would remain intact and that he would allow no relaxation on the administration of the law.

NOT A TEMPERANCE LECTURER.

"I see no reason to read the House a temperance lecture," continued the Opposition leader, "but I feel very strongly upon this point. What is the present Government's object in putting obstacles in the way of temperance advancement? Temperance sentiment and temperance organization are advancing. It is gaining ground, and it is strange that the Government is, for some reason, seeking to hamper that sentiment which makes for good morals and the temperance movement which redounds to the credit of the people."

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Hon. Mr. Hanna was greeted with Government applause. In a vigorous address he claimed that the records in Ontario demonstrated that local option has proved a failure in every instance where a better than three-fifths majority had not been secured. From 1878 to 1890 there was no law of this kind on the statute books. In 1890 it was re-enacted and not one place that then carried it by less than three-fifths majority maintained it, while in every place where better than that percentage was secured the law remained in force.

A MEASURE OF SOUND REASON.

"We are told that the temperance element had a pull here, and the liquor element a pull there," declared the Provincial Secretary, "but as a matter of fact we tried to frame a measure of sound reason for the whole people of the province without regard to any section."

As to the size of the majority Mr. Hanna thought the leader of the Opposition was the last man who would argue for the virtue of a bare majority. When the member which greeted this reference to the former majority of three had subsided, Mr. Hanna remarked that there was much to be said in favor of a large, healthy majority. The attitude of the Opposition to the bill was that every section except the one concerning the three-fifths majority made for temperance. In days to come it would be admitted by every advocate of temperance that no House of the Dominion had done more to advance the temperance cause than this same clause 24.

Mr. Gliddon of the Peterboro Conservatory of Music, has good reason for congratulation on having Miss Roger on his staff.

The program of last night, was as follows,

Beethoven—Sonata, op. 10, No. 3. "Presto, Largo e Mesto" Allegro—Rondo.

Miss Roger.

Prussino—Aria, "Rosandita Armonia" From "La Traca"

Mr. Jarvis.

Chopin—Ballade, Op. 47.

Miss Roger.

(a) Roger "Du Bist Wie Eine Blume"

(b) Newton "Questions."

Mr. Jarvis.

(a) Liszt—Liebestraum, No. 2 (b) Grief—Schmerzenlig, Op. 43, No 1.

Miss Roger.

Bumeling—"Tenderness"

Mr. Jarvis.

Arensky—Suite for two pianos, op. 15, "Romance." Valse.

Miss Roger—Mr. Field.

Bradam—"The White Squall."

Mr. Jarvis.

Schumann—Liert, "Frahlingsnacht."

Miss Roger.

Miss B. Thompson Gets Verdict Against P. L. & P. Co.

It will be remembered by our readers, that Miss Etta Thompson had entered an action against the Peterboro Light & Power Co., for $3,000 damages for injuries sustained, as alleged, through an escape of gas from the pipes of the company. John Lee, her uncle, asked for $500 damages, but the jury awarded him no damages. The case opened Thursday afternoon and the evidence was concluded at noon yesterday.

The jury awarded Miss Thompson $1000 damages. It is understood that the company will appeal the case.

Mass Meeting.

On Friday evening in Bradburn's opera house, market block, a mass meeting will be held under the auspices of "The Loyal Orange Association." Addresses will be delivered by Col. S Hughes, M.P., Victoria; Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, Omemee, and Mr. H. C. Hocken, editor of the Orange Sentinel, Toronto. The proceedings will be interspersed with musical selections and an enjoyable evening is assured. Chair will be taken at eight o'clock sharp. Admission free.

INCREASE IN CENSUS

Port Hope is Now Getting a Move on in Population.

The Port Hope Guide says:

According to the returns of the assessors the population of Port Hope is now 5,298. There are several places the assessors have yet to call upon, and they feel sure that when the returns are completed that the population will be 5,300. The returns are as follows;—Ward 1, 1,589; Ward 2, 1,249; Ward 3, 2,358. The population last year was 4,257; and this gives an increase this year of 1,041. The assessors tell us that during their rounds they seldom listened an empty house, and many new ones have been erected recently. This certainly speaks well for Port Hope.

CHURCH IMPROVEMENTS

St. John's at Havelock Greatly Beautified by Gifts of Parishioners.

St. John's church, Havelock, has been greatly improved recently. A new altar frontal made of cream silk brocade, with ecclesiastical designs and embroidered in colors, was presented by Mrs. (Dr.) Hoidenpoft, as a memorial to her daughter, Dorothea, and was used for the first time on Easter Sunday, when its beautiful design was much admired.

Mrs. J. Barlow has had a beautiful electrolier, placed in the chancel in memory of her daughter, Jamie.

The Havelock Chapter of the Daughters of the King have presented a handsome linen damask communion cloth, and Mrs. Chaplin, a shallow veil edged with Maltese lace.

The Junior Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary raised funds during the past year, and have had the electric light placed in the church and basement.

FLOGGED NEGROES

Inhuman German Gets Off Easily, Because Others Did It.

Berlin, April 28.—The trial of a German planter named Memathal, owner of extensive estates in German East Africa, on the charge of inflicting grave bodily injuries to negroe employes, was concluded here yesterday. The evidence showed that the natives of the district who were employed on the plantations were frightfully maltreated by Memathal, who had them flogged mercilessly, causing the negroes on their bare backs until they had became unconscious from the terrible punishment.

Memathal's attorney, in defending his client, offered evidence to show that the treatment of natives is common throughout the colony. The court recognized these extenuating circumstances, and merely sentenced Memathal to pay a fine of $35.

HOW MR. OLIVER'S TRIUMPH

Looking through the spectacles of an impartial and independent view of the recent utterances of Hon. Geo. Foster's comments upon Mr. Frank Oliver, the present capable pilot of the Department of the Interior, one cannot but be impressed by the unfair criticisms made by an erstwhile gentleman of fair judgment, possessed of an impartial sense of right and wrong.

In Mr. Foster's reference to Hon. Mr. Oliver's administration, when he said "All these have the true Sifton-ian marks,' there lurks more than a suspicion of the disgruntled politician seeking to use any tool, fair or foul, to cast mud at an opponent.

One thing is very certain and that is the full ability of Mr. Oliver, not only by the armor of his well known integrity but by the weapons of his tongue and intellect to successfully defy such wordy missiles as may be hurled either by Mr. Foster or any other political opponent.

Mr. Oliver's clear and concise statements of the great progress made in the North-West under "Siftonian" management of the Immigration Department are most convincing. In the House he showed how that in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan there are some 370,000,000 square miles. Of this vast territory more than one-half is of agricultural value. Fully 240,000,000 acres are of land adaptable to settlement and agricultural purposes. In 1896 this land was worth only, at an outside figure, $3 an acre. This Mr. Oliver clearly proved by showing that a railway company, having the right of selecting the choicest land, was glad to sell a million acres at $1.55 per acre, and that only five years ago. The 200,000,000 acres belonging to the Government is today worth easily $6 an acre, or shows an increased value of some $800,000,000, surely a valuable asset to Canada. This was under "Siftonian" administration, and was effected in six years. Under the same administration the wheat output, in 1895, of that country was estimated at 82,000,000 bushels and, in 1905, the crop was 85,000,000 bushels. This is another proof of the implied slur against "Siftonian" management.

A comparison between immigration statistics during Mr. Foster's term of office and the present administration it might be noted that in 1883-4 $511,268 was spent on immigration, and during which time the total number of immigrants was 103,824. With this vast expenditure only 8,758 of the immigrants took up homesteads in the western country. During the year 1904-5, whilst Mr. Foster was in office, $393,235 was spent on immigration, and of that $14,935 in bonuses. For this the total immigration was 89,129, of whom 4,835 were from Continental Europe. The total homesteads taken up that year were only 8,269. In the year 1904-5 the Dominion Government, under the present administration, spent $973,764 on immigration, the amount spent on Continental European immigration was $88,987. During that year the total number of immigrants was 146,266; Continental European immigrants 37,255; with 30,319 homesteads being taken up. With such a showing as this Hon. Mr. Oliver needs no apologist to stand between him and would be slurs cast by Mr. Foster.

THE MEDICAL SENSATION OF THE AGE—THE DISCOVERY OF PE-RU-NA

BY DR. S. B. HARTMAN.

MISS JOSIE SCHAETZEL, R.R No1. Appleton Wis.
MRS CHAS STEINECKE, Stoughton, Wis.
MISS MARGRET FAHEY, 49 Adams St. Troy, N.Y.
MISS ELLA M MILLER 140 F St. N.E. Washington, D.C.

Other Remedies Failed—Pe-ru-na Cured.

Mrs. Chas. Steinecke, Stoughton, Wis., writes:

"My experience with Peruna has been most pleasing. By carelessly leaving a heated ball room I got thoroughly chilled and caught a heavy cold which settled on my lungs. I wore a protector, took many remedies for cold without success. With my other troubles I had catarrh of the head.

"Peruna was recommended to me and I bought a bottle and soon began to improve. I kept on taking it and it cured me from all my troubles. I am pleased to testify to its merits."

The World's Greatest Medicine Factory.

The rapid growth of the Peruna Medicine Company is as phenomenal in the business world as the universal popularity of their famous remedy, Peruna. The plant covers a number of acres, and employes several hundred people. No other medicine firm in the world reaches anything like the volume of business done by Dr. Hartman's firm.

Although Peruna is a proprietary medicine, the details of its compounding are no secret and nothing gives Dr. Hartman greater pleasure than to show the many friends of Peruna all the essential processes by which Peruna is made.

A Doctor's Prescription.

For years Dr. Hartman used Peruna in his private practice as a regular prescription. He had no thought of manufacturing it or advertising it as a proprietary medicine until there was a demand made upon him by his many friends, who clamored for the original prescription.

Forty Thousand Patients.

Dr. Hartman estimates that he must have prescribed Peruna for over forty thousand patients before it was advertised as a proprietary medicine.

Cured in Four Weeks of Severe Cold on Lungs.

Miss Josie Schaetzel, R. R. No. 1, Appleton, Wis., writes:

"I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs in very short order and it was not long until it developed into a serious case of catarrh. Every morning I would raise a lot of phlegm, which was very disagreeable. My digestion was poor and my lungs sore.

"After a few doses of Peruna, I began to mend, and felt that if I kept on taking it, it would not be long until I would be well. I was right, for in four weeks I was well again.

"I think Peruna is a grand medicine, and wish to add my testimony to the many others you have."—Josie Schaetzel.

Pe-ru-na Removes the Cause of Catarrh.

Peruna has no bad effects upon the system and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Given Up By Doctors—Cured By Pe-ru-na.

Miss Margret Fahey, 49 Adams street, Troy, N. Y., writes:

"We have used Peruna in our family for years and I am very pleased to say that it cured me of catarrh of the lungs when the doctors gave up all hope of my recovery.

"I used Peruna for six months and at the end of that time my cough had disappeared, my appetite was much better and I had gained ten pounds and looked the picture of health.

"I am in perfect health, now, and feel that Peruna not only cures catarrh, but builds up the system, and is therefore a grand medicine."—Margret Fahey.

Pe-ru-na's Popularity.

Peruna is not like so many other remedies that pass away as soon as the first few bottles are used. The longer Peruna is used in any community, the more popular it becomes.

Pe-ru-na Actually Cures.

The reason why Peruna has become a standard catarrh remedy the world over is simply because it cures catarrh.

This explains why Peruna has become so popular. It cures catarrh. This is an amply sufficient reason why it should become popular.

Catarrh is almost universal. Catarrh is difficult to cure. The doctors do not care to treat cases of catarrh at all.

Is therefore follows that when a remedy is devised that can be used in the home at a moderate cost, such a remedy should inevitably become popular.

Entirely Cured By Several Bottles of Pe-ru-na.

Miss Ella M. Miller, one of Washington's society girls, writes from 140 F street, N. E., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"With pleasure I recommend your medicine for catarrh of the head. Having taken several bottles, I find myself entirely cured. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."—Ella M. Miller.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

There are a great many catarrh cures in the world. The most of them are local applications. Few of them are to be used internally.

Unfortunately a large number of these catarrh remedies, especially the ones prescribed by the doctors, contain narcotics of some sort. Cocaine, opium, whisky, and other narcotics are used.

These remedies give temporary relief. The patient thinks he is better right away. In a few weaks, however, he discovers his mistake. Not only is his catarrh no better, but he has acquired the habit of using some narcotic. This happens in a multitude of cases.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind.

EARTH IS NEVER AT REST

Shrinking Body, Full of Stresses and Strains.

London, April 24.—Professor D. F. Mitchell discussing the Vesuvius eruption in particular and earthquakes in general said:

"Vesuvius brings home to us the fact that the earth is a shrinking body, and that stresses and strains are always present in the extremely thin shell which we call the crust of the earth.

"The possible molten condition and therefore high temperature of the latter beneath this crust and the immense pressure to which it is subjected by the force of gravity make one marvel at the power of the things with which we are at times troubled. That the surface of the earth is never at perfect rest, but vibrating like the prongs of a tuning fork is shown by the examination of the curves of the lines traced by the delicate seismographs. It is only when these vibrations exceed a certain magnitude that we experience an earthquake which generally results in destruction to some degree, and possibly an increase in activity of some volcano."

King Edward to Meet Kaiser & Czar

London, Aug. 27.—King Edward, Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William will meet at Darmstadt, capital of the Grand Duchy of Hesse, during the first week in September, according to the Pall Mall Gazette, which adds:

The meeting of the monarchs will be in the main a domestic matter, but it is bound to be an important international event.

The Czar and Czarina, accompanied by their children, will start at the end of August for a long visit with the Grand Duke of Hesse, brother of the Czarina, after three years enforced abstentions from holidays as a result of the disturbances in Russia.

First create new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, nourishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic "Ferrozone" which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every sickly person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Addie B. Bishop, of Whitby, Ont., who writes: "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerve force was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

Your druggist sells it in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE ELECTRIC AMUSEMENT COMPANY OF DETROIT

An Opportunity for Investment in a Safe and Profitable Concern—Messrs. Thos. Patterson & Co. are the Local Agents.

Visitors to Detroit this summer will find a great amusement park which will outrival the famous White City, of Chicago, or Luna Park, New York, both in size and in variety and excellence of attractions. It is the new and enlarged Electric Park and Pier. Over a quarter of a million dollars has already been expended upon the real estate and new buildings for the park, while further improvements already under way entail the expenditure of $100,000 more.

The Electric Park, of 1905, which catered to more than 300,000 visitors, was less than one-sixth the size of the new park. The big scenic railway, which was a feature of last year's show, will be but an incident in the great list of attractions this year. The world's greatest bands, including Creatore, Weber, The Forty-eighth Highlanders, of Toronto, Mosetti's and Schilsonyi's Royal Hungarian Band will be heard daily in the new Electric Park Pier Theater.

A UNIQUE PIER THEATER.

This pier, by the way, is unique. It extends out over the mighty Detroit River nearly to the draw of the Belle Isle Bridge, and will include, besides the two-story theater, a pavilion and cafe where one may sit in the cool breezes which sweep over the river and eat the best meals in the city, while listening to the greatest bands in the world.

It is the opinion of the most experienced park amusement people in the States that Arthur H. Gauker and his associates in the Electric Park Amusement Co., have struck it rich. The land they secured was purchased at such a low price that it could even now be sold at an advance of many thousand dollars. It will constantly increase in price because it was the only remaining piece of land on the river front for the whole ten miles of Detroit's city limits. The Detroiters expect a big financial success.

WHAT OTHER PARKS HAVE DONE.

The White City, capitalized at $1,000,000, paid for its investment during the first year, when there were over 3,000,000 visitors, each of whom expended an average of 30 2-3 cents on the various attractions. Luna Park, New York, capitalized at $1,250,000, and other parks in Denver, Pittsburg and Cleveland paid from 40 per cent. to 150 per cent. dividends last year without half the advantages as to proximity to the centers of the cities and natural attractions that are to be found in Electric Park.

So certain are outside showmen of the future of Electric Park that they are already investing large sums not only in its own concessions, but in the park itself. One firm is spending $10,000 for machines alone for the penny arcades, while Messrs. Howse and Ritchey, the capitalists who own Chicago's White City, are investing $90,000 in a new roller coaster, and $25,000 in a "Johnstown Flood."

"You have the greatest park system in the country, both as to location and as to space," said Mr. Howse to the Electric Park officers.

The Electric Park Amusement Co. is capitalized at only $500,000, and of this only $100,000 have been placed on the market. Already large blocks of this stock have been snapped up by shrewd investors of Detroit and vicinity, and if the residents of Peterboro desire a safe investment which is certain to yield a large dividend, they have their opportunity here.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Rio Tinto mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

staggered blindly, and fell at Bernard's feet exhausted, crying, faintly:

"I am too weak to walk—I—"

The sentence never was finished. Bernard Chesleigh had stooped beside him, holding the lantern close to his face.

There was a hoarse cry from the lips of both.

"Bernard Chesleigh!"

"Waldemar Waldron!"

In that awful moment they had recognized each other, each was gazing into the face of the other with baited breath—these two who had been such bitter rivals for the love of beautiful Reine.

"Ah, it is you!" gasped Waldron, white to the lips. "Then all hope of rescue is at an end. You will leave me to die."

Bernard Chesleigh had drawn back with a face ghastly white. There are moments when the bravest and most honorable of us have been sorely tempted—tempted almost beyond the power of human endurance—and such a moment of terrible temptation assailed Bernard Chesleigh.

His rival lay at his feet, maimed, helpless, at his mercy. He need but turn and fly; speak no word; lift not so much as a finger, and ere he reached the shore, the steamer would go down, carrying with it the barrier that parted him from the woman he loved.

If Reine were but free, he might woo and win her. This man's life parted them. His death would set her free. The world would never know—even Reine need not be told—no one would suspect that his hands were crimsoned with the blood of a human life.

Waldemar Waldron gazed fearfully up into the white face bending over him and read all the struggle there. The poor wretch groaned aloud.

The tempter cried: "He has wrecked and spoiled your life and Reine's. Let him die. Make for yourself a golden future." Honor and conscience cried out. "You must save a human life, no matter how painfully your lives have crossed."

"I will save you!" cried Chesleigh, hoarsely, "for Reine's sake. Make amends to her for the past, and I shall be repaid."

Waldemar Waldron was much too spent to utter the grateful words that sprang to his lips.

By main force Bernard Chesleigh succeeded in lowering him into the skiff, grasped the oars, and again the little boat, with its double burden, was breasting the mad waves.

They were scarcely out of danger's way a moment too soon, for the boat went down, dragging all within her reach into the whirlpool—down, down to the rocks full many a fathom below.

They reached the shore in safety. The excitement and the pain of the wound on the temple had been too much for Waldemar Waldron, and again he had succumbed to unconsciousness.

Chesleigh lifted the inanimate form in his strong arms and laid him on the beach, then hastened to secure his boat, which the high tide threatened to take out to sea with each high wave.

The rain had ceased, and the moon looked out clear and bright from the network of jagged clouds.

It seemed but an instant that Chesleigh had spent in securing his boat, but when he turned around, lo! no motionless form lay where he had placed it. The white-capped, eddying waves curled around the spot. Waldemar Waldron was not there!

Then the horrible truth burst upon him. The tide had carried its unconscious victim out to sea again. He had done his best to save Waldemar Waldron, but it seemed to be the will of Heaven that he should not be spared.

With hurried steps he regained the lighthouse, and found poor Reine suffering from hysterics, in charge of the lighthouse keeper's daughter. It would have brought tears of pity to any one's eyes to have heard the cry of joy as Bernard flung open the door and entered.

He did not tell her just then the startling revelation he had to make. She was too weak to bear such a shock.

Mrs. Woodstock was waiting for them at the hotel in the greatest alarm. "Safe!" she cried, clasping Reine in her arms. "I feared you were both at the bottom of the sea. I was sorry—so sorry that I consented to your going."

That night, when Reine lay sleeping the sleep of exhaustion upon her pillow, Bernard Chesleigh was relating to Mrs. Woodstock all that had transpired.

When he had finished the two sat looking earnestly into each other's eyes.

"You have proven yourself a noble foe," said Aunt Rachel, hastily grasping the other's hand. "You did what you could to save his life. Perhaps Heaven knew what was for the best when it interfered."

The terrible story that had so strange an ending was not told to Reine for many a long day after.

She was back in the old garden at Fairlawn when her aunt gently broke the news to her months later.

She did not cry out. She did not weep. She listened like one turned to stone.

"Waldemar was not kind to me, Aunt Rachel," she said, slowly. "Still I loved him once. I grieve that he met such an untimely fate. I can never look again on the hungry, sobbing sea, for I should see his face in the waves."

Yet even as she spoke she realized that his death had set her free. Yes, Heaven help her, she was free—at last!

Aunt Rachel left her alone in the garden, and Reine sat down on one of the benches among the great crimson roses, pale and trembling, her thoughts in the wildest chaos.

She would not be disloyal to Waldemar Waldron even in thought. She tried to think of him kindly and of his best, for his untimely death wiped out all the keen misery he had caused her.

How long she sat there among the blossoms she never knew. A step startled her at length—a step that brought the warm blood to her cheek and a thrill to her heart—for she knew it was Bernard's step. Before she could rise to meet him he had come forward and seated himself by her side, imprisoning the little white hand that lay on the rustic bench.

Her long, curling lashes were wet with tears, and he knew what brought them there.

"Let me teach you to forget, Reine," he said, gently. "The one gift I ask from Heaven is the right and power to comfort you, dear. Renew the promise you once made, Reine, and my happiness will be complete. Be my wife. No barrier stands between us. Give me the heart that should have been mine long ago."

She shrank from him in passionate tears.

"No, no," she cried, incoherently, "it can never be—never! I must be true to his memory—nothing else would be right."

"Is this my reward for waiting for you all these weary years?" he exclaimed, bitterly.

"Be content—as matters are now, Bernard," she said faintly; "everything is going on well."

He moved nearer her—so that his hot breath scorched her cheek—as he answered steadily:

"Would it satisfy you to live forever, like this?—no nearer to me than you are now?"

It seemed to Reine his fiery eyes burned down into the very depths of her soul as he asked this huskily, murmuring—"Oh, my love—so cold and cruel!"

Reine shivered a little, her face paling.

"Oh, Bernard," she faltered, "why are you not content?"

"Why am I not content?" he interrogated passionately, and so bitterly that he quite frightened her. "Because I am not made of marble—or ice, because I have a living, human heart pulsing in my bosom that longs for love returned—a soul that cries out against this cruelty of being so near you, yet held off at arms' length. I love you so well that I must win you, or I must go from you. I have borne more than a man should bear. Do you think I never long to clasp your hands in mine?—to hear you whisper tender words to me?"

"I do not know," she murmured.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500 by 1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locater may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps, and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 406 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $ 90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionares in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

FACTS ABOUT NEVADA STOCKS

The table above does not begin to tell of the money that has been made by the public in Nevada stocks. It only shows the profits made during the last nine months, and only a few of them at that. The Bullfrog list is quite incomplete, and the stocks shown only represent those most popular with the public, and does not show the great number of securities which are closely held by a few people.

Tonopah Mining sold originally at par value of $1 per share. The treasury stock, a portion of it, was sold below that figure. From this it may be seen that the purchasers of the stock of this one company, not including the regular dividends which they have received, have a profit of more than $17,000,000 in their holdings. Hundreds of companies have been organized of which there is not a share of stock in the hands of the public. Many of these mines are big dividend-payers.

For illustration, the Great Combination Mine at Goldfield, one of the greatest, and perhaps the biggest, dividend-payer in Goldfield, is not included on the above list, because its shares are now held by a few men, and they are not traded in by the public. The firm of Patrick, Elliott & Camp, one of the chief owners of this great mine, promoted the property, and it is to-day paying very nearly $400,000 annually in dividends, on a capitalization of that many dollars, or a return of 100 per cent. annually to the stockholders. Columns could be used in enumerating the rapid transition of prospects to the estate of producing mines, but the space will not permit.

No words more truly express the outlook of the sage-brush State, and it is not too much to say that no young State in the Union ever faced conditions which were destined to place its star among the most brilliant of the sisterhood of States. The State is just awakening from a long period of somnolence. Forty years ago the sturdy Argonauts who blazed the trail through the mountains, with ever-watchful eye for the lurking redskin, trailed their serpent-like caravans across the great American desert. Their hardships and the early folklore of the west have been sung of in story and verse by the Hartes and Twains. A mighty empire in the westland was before them. They carved from the rude material of the virgin land the foundation for States and citadels that were to become the theatre of activities that would make their centre the greatest mineral-producing section in the world. It is a little more than forty years since the then territory of Nevada gave to the world the story of the Comstock—a story which was only completed in the early 'eighties, when six hundred million dollars in rich precious metals had been taken from the mines at Virginia City.

Virginia City was not the only mining centre of the great sage-brush State. Numerous other camps added their figures of production far into the millions, but Virginia City was the greatest. When an all-wise Government demonetized silver and reduced its value, Nevada sustained the blow from which she did not speedily recover, until over the same ground that has been worked for white metal the prospector found gold.

It was but little more than six years ago that Tonopah was discovered with its great Mizpah ledge—a mine which passed from its first owners for $300,000, and whose enormous deposits of gold give it a conservative value to-day of more than $25,000,000. To tell the story of the subsequent development, of the tremendous wealth uncovered at Mt. Oddie would require much more space than is at the command of the writer in a limited article.

That a recalcitrant burro, long-eared and shaggy, should have been the means of discovering what is to-day one of the many greatest mining camps of southern Nevada, and consequently of the world, adds just a touch of the picturesque to the town of Tonopah and exemplifies the aphorism "that gold is where you find it." Jim Butler, a desert rat, a man upon whom fortune had occasionally bestowed only to reward with a smile, had prospected the length and breadth of many desert miles during the summer which was fast waning. The August sun was rising from behind a range of precipitate mountains, but Butler's courage fell with the awakening of the day, as to him it would be like the many that had preceded it, spent under the rays of a blistering and torrid sun reflected from the alkali sands of the wide expanse of waste. As he followed a slender path leading into the mountains the early morning dew was yet on the grease wood. His burros had escaped during the night, and this but added to his discomfiture. Finding his long-eared companion standing upon a crest of rock, he slipped a hackamore over its head, and in doing so his foot struck a likely looking piece of rock, which attracted his attention. It was not unlike the millions of tons of other country rock which he had seen, and half unconsciously he placed several specimens in his ragged clothes.

Three months later when the rock was assayed and proved to be the richest that had come out of the country Butler hurried back to the scene of his find and staked a number of claims. A quarter interest in these claims was given to the assayer who made the first test of the rock. That interest is to-day worth between seven and eight millions of dollars.

This was the original discovery made of gold in southern Nevada. Previous to this time the early mining operations had been confined chiefly to mining for silver. It was a red letter day in the history of the State when Butler, almost unconsciously and it might be said unceringly, made the first of a series of sensational finds of precious ore-bearing rock that have since proclaimed Nevada as "The Golden." The mines which nestle and cluster around the base and sides of Mount Oddie are to-day producing millions, and it is variously estimated that the treasure vaults of this wonderful hill contain between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 of gold ore, that amount being blocked out and in sight.

Tonopah was the first of many wonderful camps opened up in a more wonderful country. Since the first discovery was made by Jim Butler new camps have been springing up like mushroom cities of the night. Fortunes have been made in a day, in a month, in a year, and for the most part these fortunes have been made by men to whom wealth had heretofore been a stranger.

Following the discovery of Tonopah and the two years of active development, which included the construction of an eighty-six-mile railroad by the owners of one of the greatest of its mines, came the rush to Goldfield.

The first discoveries from the "grass-roots" were of such a sensational character that the camp was at once marked for a brilliant future and a great producer of "high-grade." Goldfield to-day is a city of ten thousand busy, earnest men, who are engaged in wresting from mother earth's great storehouse of gold the wealth which is theirs to find and mine.

With its two score or more mines Goldfield is the centre of southern Nevada mining activities. The camp grew with a rapidity that would astonish even those who have followed mining with vicissitudes and rewards. Men assembled here from many climes and shores. They represented every walk of life from the college-bred man and soldier of fortune to the gambler and unspeakables. Elbowing and jostling each other upon its chief thoroughfares, the millionaire and pauper met on common ground.

In two short years Goldfield sprang from the estate of a tented city to a mining camp where metropolitan life was as keen as that in older settled communities.

When Horace Greely admonished young men to "go west" he spoke better than he thought. Those who have cast their fortunes in southern Nevada have won rich rewards. More men of ordinary means, of limited resources have placed themselves in positions of affluence in this State since the gold excitement started six years ago than in any other State in the land of golden promise.

Nowhere are the opportunities presented for profitable investment that offer in Nevada to-day. The State is teeming with wealth. Millions are being taken from the ground monthly. The development of its mineral resources have gone beyond the most rosy predictions of the most sanguine. Enormous bodies of low grade ore have been blocked out that will keep many mills running during the lives of generations to come.

The development of Nevada has but begun. The ground has scarcely been scratched. It is estimated by engineers of competent authority that with the showings which are made with the present developed mines Nevada will soon enter the first column of mineral-producing States.

Not alone are mining operations confined to one small, restricted locality, but over a wide territory as large as several eastern States thousands of prospectors are engaged in the frenzied search for gold. The hills are dotted with mounds and busy with the activity of the delvers. Like ants in a miniature city they hurry in and out with their burdens of precious stores. There is a golden reward for all, and it is a well-known fact, and a matter of much comment among mining engineers, that the richest mines and the greatest strikes have been made by men who, in the parlance of the frontier, are known as "tenderfeet;" in fact, a recitation of the names of the great mines of this district would reveal many such instances.

Some idea may be gained of the marvelous richness of this country when it is known that a few hardy and courageous prospectors during the first year or leasing period of Tonopah took out seven millions of dollars in gold, and at Goldfield the production during the first two years of its infancy made a return of more than ten millions of dollars for the men who braved the perils of an untamed country.

Goldfield and Tonopah, each of them, have many dividend-paying mines, mines which monthly or at stated periods return to their shareholders the profits of production.

One of the most remarkable features of the investments made in southern Nevada have been the enormous returns which the holders of securities representing newly-discovered mines have received. Millions of shares of southern Nevada mining stock have found their way into the hands of the investors in distant States. These purchasers, with very few exceptions, have made enormous profits from their holdings. An illustration of this may be cited in any one of the scores of big producing mines of Tonopah, Goldfield or Bullfrog, and this will be, and is becoming, true of Manhattan.

The Tonopah Extension Mine, which was a tramp and a beggar among its brothers for a long time, and its shares were despised at a few cents a share, is selling to-day at $12.00 a share. The Mizpah Mine, whose shares sold below one dollar, is now an active factor in the market at $18.00 per share, and the mine is said to be easily worth twice that figure after all costs of operation and treatment of ores are deducted.

The same is true of Goldfield. Ground which sold for forty dollars is to-day worth three millions of dollars. Another famous mine which originally was bartered for a two weeks' grub stake has the market value of $2,000,000 to-day, and so on down the list.

A dozen or more mines in this vicinity were stocked at a few cents a share, and the public invited to subscribe, that have since appreciated in value until they are worth anywhere from fifty cents to one dollar a share, truly a handsome profit for two brief years. It may be said that any stock representing a mine which was operated by men of integrity could have been purchased a year ago, or even a few months ago, at a figure which to-day, on the prevailing quotations would make anywhere from one hundred to five hundred per cent. profit on the investment.

Not before in the history of a mining camp has the money been, or is being made in mining shares that to-day is finding its way into the pockets of lucky investors.

The past three months has been a sensational period for all the stocks. Patrick, Elliott & Camp, the pioneer brokerage firm of southern Nevada, four months ago, offered to the public shares in the Amethyst Mine at Bullfrog. This stock was sold at fifteen cents a share. It is to-day selling for $1.25 per share.

This same firm has put out numerous stocks and has made fortunes for its thousands of clients scattered through a widespread area. Laguna, a Goldfield stock, was oversubscribed by the public at fifteen cents a share four months ago and quickly advanced upon remarkable development showing to 45 cents. These are only two of the numerous successful flotations made by Patrick, Elliott & Camp. Mr. Elliott, who passed to his reward last week as the result of an overzealous interest in his life's work, was first in Tonopah, first in Goldfield, first in Bullfrog and first in Manhattan. The firm of Patrick, Elliott & Camp, having unlimited resource at its command and being able to secure the cream of everything which offers in a new district, has made good on everything that it has sold to the public. In other words, briefly stated, Patrick, Elliott & Camp have organized more than a score of companies, and every one of which has brought handsome returns for every dollar invested.

Mr. L. L. Patrick, President of the firm, was one of the first owners and locators of the Combination Mine, a property which is paying in dividends the handsome sum of $32,000 per month. As one of the pioneers of Goldfield, Mr. Patrick is also interested heavily in the greatest mines of this camp. Sol Camp, the Secretary of the company, who also acts as chief of a corps of engineers, is one of the best trained and experienced miners of the west, having spent a lifetime in the mines of Colorado and other western States. Up to a few weeks ago Mr. Camp was actively engaged as superintendent of the great January Mine, which has produced its millions, and is still consulting engineer for the owning corporation, the Goldfield Mining Company.

Three months ago, even before the stampede to Manhattan, which is to-day destined to become the greatest producer of high-grade ore in the west, Patrick, Elliott & Camp purchased and bonded several of the greatest properties in the now world-famous district.

The firm of Patrick, Elliott & Camp is now offering for public subscription a limited block of treasury stock in the Manhattan-Treadwell Gold Mining Company. This company promises to be another of the long line of successes that have characterized the operation of this firm in the Manhattan district.

The company owns four claims, admirably located, in the heart of the great gold-producing area at Manhattan. They adjoin the Buffalo, which Patrick, Elliott & Camp added to its list of companies several weeks ago, and the immense gold-bearing ledges which traverse the Buffalo and which have been proven to a considerable depth by a double compartment shaft, the only one in the new camp, dip towards the Treadwell ground, and have been traced a considerable distance across the lines on to the claims known as the "Red Top," "Sunlight," "Silver Stream," "Pineapple" and "Gold Crescent Fraction." These claims are located within three thousand feet of the great Consolidated Mine, whose property is now rated by mining engineers of repute to be one of the richest in the great State of Nevada. Some idea of the rapidity with which values is moved in Manhattan can be gained from the fact that the Consolidated within a period of six weeks has quadrupled in value. Several well-defined ledges, all of which give exceptional surface values, have been opened up by the company's prospecting work, and in addition a shaft is being put down by it, and a number of leases are now sinking on these ledges, which are bisected by a network of cross-ledges, all of which are highly mineralized. The greatest values on the Treadwell ground have been found at the junction of these ledges, or, in other words, wherever there is a fault in the formation.

Mr. Sol Camp, the company's chief of engineers staff, gives it as his opinion that the Treadwell Company's ground will prove among the richest in Manhattan.

From the ledge upon which the company is sinking its shaft assays ranging from $80.00 to $3,000 have been taken from a five-foot ledge. Exhaustive tests and careful sampling prove this ledge straight across to go better than $50.00 to the ton.

The first offering of treasury stock in this company is one hundred thousand shares at 15 cents per share. The company has made a reservation of two hundred thousand shares, which have been placed in the treasury, the proceeds of which will be used for development purposes. After the first allotment of one hundred thousand shares have been subscribed the price will advance from 15 cents to 20 cents per share.

The Seyler-Humphrey property in Manhattan embraces what was the original discovery in the camp. The stock was one of the first on the market. It was sold for thirty cents a share and within a few days after the first allotment was gobbled up it advanced to forty-five cents per share and every one who purchased this stock now has a handsome profit in his holding.

Buffalo and Red Top properties in Manhattan have just been offered to the public by Patrick, Elliott & Camp, and in each case the treasury allotment of stock was oversubscribed several hundred thousand shares. The showing in each of these mines is of such a flattering character that they are rated among the greatest mines in Manhattan.

Rich gold-bearing ledges which from the grass roots give values high in the hundreds have been opened up on many of the leading properties in the Manhattan district, within what is known as the "pay belt." So sensational has been the showing that it almost challenges the credulity of men to whom mining is as an open book. Even the dirt on the hillside pans bright gold colors. The country rock seems, much of it, to carry fair mill values. Gold Hill and the precipitous mountain which frowns upon the camp from the other side of the gulch are a veritable network of rich gold-bearing ledges which are bisected at frequent intervals by cross-veins. At these junctions the ore is the richest.

The history of mining in the west does not reveal any parallel situation to that existing in Manhattan to-day. During the three months elapsing since Manhattan proclaimed to the world its great wealth, the development of its leading properties has been prosecuted with such fevered and frenzied vigor that more has been accomplished in so short a time than would under ordinary conditions be possible during a much longer period.

At a depth of two hundred feet the ledges have not only maintained the uniformly high values which were secured at the surface, but they have broadened out in width and increased in richness. The work of developing the present ore bodies and opening up new ones is being carried on with as much speed as possible with the ground covered with two feet of snow.

MULE TEAMS HAULING FREIGHT INTO MANHATTAN.

A Few Pertinent Facts About

NEVADA

The Sage Brush State.

Prior to date of recent gold discoveries, Nevada had decreased annually 6 per cent. in population.

Since 1901, the State has been peopled with such rapidity that it has more than twice doubled its population.

During a period of 20 years, during the activities of the Comstock and other camps, Nevada added to the world's wealth $720,000,000.

The State has just awakened from a long sleep. It is the centre, the theatre of the world's greatest mining activities.

Chas. M. Schwab during six months has spent many millions buying the best mining properties in the leading camps.

He bought Tonopah Extension for a few cents a share—today none is offered on the open market at $11 per share.

Every man who has invested in Southern Nevada stocks, and there is scarcely an exception to this rule, has made money. Millions have been made by eastern investors. The time to make money, and the way is to buy stocks that are put out cheap, and sell when the property has become a mine or hold for dividends. It is surprising the number of persons holding stocks in the hundreds of Southern Nevada mines who are the original purchasers, who first placed their faith in money in the mine and put the stock away in the safe until the dividends commenced to come. Big money has been made by the speculator—the man who purchased and held for an advance.

It may be said that a lead pencil mark placed in front of the name of a stock with the eyes closed would have been a sure profit-getter if it had been followed by an investment. The invariable rule has been a continued advance in the value of Southern Nevada mines securities.

Much could be written of Manhattan. The first of the year saw a few hardy prospectors on the ground and within two weeks after the story of its marvelous showing was given general publicity the camp was a town of two thousand people, and in as many weeks more it doubled in population, and to-day contains no less than six thousand souls. What was three months ago a bleak, barren and desolate gulch seven thousand feet above the sea level, with scarcely half a dozen people within a radius of more than as many miles, is to-day the scene of the greatest gold excitement since the days of forty-nine, before the advent of the Pullman cars and the wireless telegraph. To-day investors go to this new El Dorado in a luxuriously appointed travelling palace with all the comforts which modern brains and genius can give to the traveller.

At Tonopah an automobile line in which many big touring cars are enlisted carries passengers from the older camp to Manhattan, a distance of forty-five miles, in about two hours and a half.

Instead of seeing a large bunch of tents scattered about on the hills, the view which meets the eye of the visitor is a typical, hurriedly built western mining camp. Low-browed buildings whose sidewalks, where they exist, are crowded and jammed with roughly coated and hatted men, well dressed and even ragged individuals. Gambling runs rampant and unrestrained. The click of the gold pieces at the bank, the burr of the ivory ball and noise of the tumbling of the spotted cubes, accompanied by the shrill voice of the crap dealer and the low hum of a hundred, more or less, excited voices, give to the scene only that type of life which can be seen under these conditions. Baths cost $4.00 each, but ham and eggs sell for the world wide price of fifty cents per plate. Beds, which are worked three shifts in every twenty-four hours, sell for $1.00 each, the purchaser being permitted to occupy it but eight hours, there always being a long line of men ready to "turn in" as soon as the place is vacated.

New strikes are reported every day. An excited miner exhibiting specimens of rock fairly freckled and seamed with gold may be seen as the centre of an interested group of men. With each new strike comes a renewal of zeal and interest, and those interested in claims hurry back to their work and renew their search with fresh vigor. One man's good fortune is always the signal for greater efforts on the part of his neighbors. Some of the specimen ore—in fact very much of it—is so rich that when exhibited on the bars of the chief liquid dispensing emporiums it resembles the collection in the show windows in a jewellery store. One specimen brought from the hills this week weighed seventeen ounces, was six inches long and nearly one-half gold. It was impregnated throughout with a fine, close-grained, marble-like quartz. One side was worn smooth, as if by the action of a slide in a contact, and the other side irregular, just in the shape that it was deposited by the molten mass. Many such specimens have been exhibited here, and it has become necessary for the mine-owners to shut off on the distribution of specimened rock among the many curious sightseers who throng the sides of the hills.

A resume of the ore bodies developed in the many big properties in Manhattan could not be encompassed within the bounds of a brief newspaper story. One mine in Manhattan has an ore body twenty-four feet wide and developed by shallow shafts and surface trenching a distance of eight hundred feet on the surface and a depth of seventy-five feet. This marvellous deposit has stood the most exhaustive tests and returns as a result a general uniform assay value of between sixty and eighty dollars per ton. This mine is known as the great Consolidated, and is located but a few hundred feet from the famous Red Top Manhattan Company's property, which is being developed on an extensive scale by Patrick, Elliott & Camp.

On the Manhattan Buffalo this same company is sinking a double compartment shaft, the only one in the camp, on a ledge which averages in the vein matter eight feet, and whose assay value is upwards of two hundred dollars per ton. So great is the promise and so eager are its owners that three shifts of men are being worked to put down this shaft to a depth where the ore may be mined economically. Work never stops on this ground. It continues night and day.

So great has been the travel between Tonopah and Manhattan, which is yet in the swaddling clothes of its infancy, or the croup period of its infancy, that a railroad is soon to be built, which will give an outlet for shipping ores and an inlet for supplies. A telegraph line and a telephone line have been built, and this week the new El Dorado for the first time establishes direct communication with the outside world. Manhattan, three months old, has two newspapers, an electric light plant and six thousand people.

The extent of the developed ore bodies has been such as to make Manhattan a most attractive place for milling enterprises. Four mills, having a capacity of many hundreds of tons a day, are being built to handle the milling ore, which is present in all sections of the camp in immense quantities.

For the past six weeks Manhattan stocks have set the pace upon the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board and the Goldfield Stock Exchange. Many of the stocks which were listed a few weeks ago at from ten to twenty-five cents a share have advanced by leaps and bounds. Every listed stock has made rapid strides during that time and fortune after fortune has been made by those who purchased these shares. Five weeks ago the stock of the Consolidated Company was selling for 25 cents a share. It is now quoted at $1.25 bid, $1.30 naked. And one of the very significant features of this market has been the fact that the public has been getting a run for its money in Manhattan stock. For the public has been the purchaser. Every stock on the list has advanced from 25 to 50 per cent., and in some cases the appreciation in value has been two or three hundred per cent. The people who have made the most money in the stocks have been the outsiders. They have purchased and held on, while the man on the ground is always tempted to take a small or reasonable profit.

LOCATION OF PROPERTY.

The ground of the Manhattan Treadwell Gold Mining Company is situated in Nye County, Nevada, surrounded by some of the greatest mines in the marvellous Manhattan Gold District. Its claims are the Red Dog, Sunlight, Silver Stream, Pineapple and Gold Crest fraction, or about 90 acres in all. The entire area is highly mineralized, even the dirt from the hillsides showing bright gold colors when panned. Nowhere in the district is there a better showing than that obtained from this territory. The Company has opened up some marvellously rich veins, and its mill values in the several ledges, which are joined by cross ledges running at right angles, are of such a character as to at once stamp the property of the Manhattan Treadwell Gold Mining Company as one of the great mines of this wonderful district.

INVESTIGATE.

The firm of Patrick, Elliott & Camp are pioneers in the Nevada gold country. We ask you before investing a dollar in the Manhattan Treadwell Gold Mining Company, or any of the numerous other companies that are either controlled by us or for which we are the fiscal agents, to wire the State Bank & Trust Company, the banking house of John S. Cook & Company, or the Nye & Ormsby County Bank of this city, and ask them as to our reliability or standing. We can refer you to any of the other banks at Tonopah, Manhattan, Bullfrog.

DIVIDENDS ARE IN SIGHT.

The mines of Manhattan are nearer a dividend-paying basis than many properties which have been operated for years. Rich ore running into the thousands is uncovered from the grass roots. This is what has made Manhattan the talk of the mining world, and has attracted six thousand miners to the scene. Capitalists and large mine operators are flocking to Manhattan from all sections. We were on the ground when the camp numbered less than a score of people, and our clients are receiving the benefit of our good fortune, as we then tied up by bond or purchased the cream of the properties of the district.

WE WERE FIRST IN MANHATTAN.

Our properties are the best in that district. In making an allottment of treasury stock for subscription in Canada we have selected a property which has been experted by several of the best engineers in Southern Nevada, and one which promises to be a shipper of high grade within a very short time. The same great ledges which traverse the Buffalo property and which have been proven to a considerable depth, cross the ground of the Manhattan Treadwell Gold Mining Company,

AN ABSOLUTE GUARANTEE.

Our recommendation of a property is an absolute guarantee. Our clients reside in every section of the United States as well as many foreign countries. Thousands of them have joined us in the fortune making in Southern Nevada. The Alaskan country in its halcyon days never offered the opportunities that are at hand in Nevada to-day. John W. Gates, Chas. M. Schwab and other of the monied kings of the country have invested millions in Nevada mines within the past twelve months. The short span of one year has worked marvels in Nevada. Gold is being found in so many new places, and the development and proving up of the ore bodies of the older mines has progressed with such rapidity that Nevada to-day is the theatre of mining activities that are rivaling the days of the Comstock.

Fortunes for Those Who Grasp the Opportunity.

We organized the Seylor-Humphrey Mining Company two months ago for the purpose of taking over the original discovery at Manhattan. The stock was sold to the public at 25 cents per share. It advanced steadily in price, and during a period of weeks very nearly doubled in value. As this ad. is being written we are in receipt of a cipher telegram from our Mr. Sol. Camp, who is personally superintending our operations in Manhattan, stating that a phenomenally rich strike has been made in the main working shaft, and that the miners are sacking $20,000 ore—rock that runs $20,000 to the ton. So rich is this output that armed guards are present at all times, and the rock is mined and hoisted to the surface under the watchful eye of the officers of the company. The showing on the Treadwell Company's property is equally as good as that made by the Seylor-Humphrey at the same period of development.

WOMAN'S WORLD

DR. ALICE H. LUCE.

A Woman Whose Scholarship Is of a Broad Order.

Dr. Alice H. Luce, graduate of Wellesley college and doctor of philosophy of Leipsic and Heidelberg universities, with the honor of magna cum laude, is now head of an institution of her own in Berlin for the higher education of American young women seeking culture abroad. Before going to Berlin she was dean of the young women's department of Oberlin college.

Dr. Luce has made a noteworthy record in educational work both as teacher and student. She prepared for college in the Edward Little high school, Auburn, Me., and entered Wellesley in 1880, graduating with the degree of bachelor of arts three years later. Dr. Luce began her teaching career as a high school instructor in the high schools of Putnam, Conn., and of Wellesley, Mass., and later in the

DR. ALICE H. LUCE, PH. D.

Girls' Latin school, Boston, where she was instructor in English and mathematics for eight years, until 1893. In that year she discontinued teaching and again became a student, this time in the University of Leipsic. She devoted her time to philosophy, English philology and literature during her five years' course at Leipsic and then earned the Ph. D. at Heidelberg.

Returning to America she became professor of English at Smith college and later at Wellesley, afterward reaching the high place in educational service as dean of the woman's department at Oberlin.

Dr. Luce is possessed of teaching power of high quality and has succeeded in an unusual way in commanding the respect and admiration of her students. Her scholarship is of a broad order, and she is noted for enthusiasm and splendid powers of work. Her love of administration work is very pronounced.—Boston Post.

The Working Girl.

Here is a working girl whose duties keep her on her feet for the most of eight hours of the day in a crowded, none too well ventilated shop. She owes herself an hour at least in the fresh air every evening—a walk with her mother or a friend, or in fine weather a street car ride in good company into the suburbs. But she hurries to her little room after the evening meal on one pretext or another, shuts herself in and, extricating from the depths of her bag a book which she would not show to her mother, falls into a sort of trance over it and, if there is no sister to share her bed, reads till sleep overpowers her. It is probably long after midnight when she creeps into bed, mumbling a prayer which is almost worse than none. She has by no means had enough of sleep when she is called for breakfast in the morning. She goes about her work all day tired, stupid, preoccupied, is reprimanded now and then and forgets that she is herself to blame when by and by promotion seeks her alert companions and passes her by.

Beautifying Rooms.

So much may be done toward beautifying rooms by selecting suitable pictures, yet so much depends upon the proper hanging of them that it is no wonder the result is not always satisfactory.

Indeed, the hanging of a picture makes it a great success or a disastrous failure as a decoration. Where there is a blaze of light, for example, either from windows in the daytime or lamps at night, it is unwise to hang pictures whose colors are vivid, and, on the other hand, these same pictures perceptibly brighten dark corners, hallways, etc.

Small pictures should be grouped. They gain style in this way. The artistic plaster medallions also look much better together than when distributed at intervals about the rooms.

Much more interest is given a picture if a portrait of its author hangs near, and a model music room had numbers of good photographs of musicians, framed uniformly, hung at a regular height around its walls.

Sleeping and Waking.

The pathetic struggle of children to be allowed to sit up late and the no less pathetic endeavor of grown up people to be allowed to go to bed early strike a writer in the Ladies' Field as "one of the small worries of life." On the one hand are tiny mites blinking with sleep, but begging for "just ten minutes more," and on the other are the wearied women of balls and dinners and receptions ad nauseam, to whom "the prospect of being allowed to go to bed at 9 would seem a dream of bliss too exquisite to be realised." This wise author, who surely has "been there" herself, goes on to say that "the true art of awaking is to be called a long time before you need think of rising and to occupy the time when one ought to be dressing with the most peacefully refreshing doze. The true art of sleep is never to rise till you want to. Breakfast at a set time is a relic of savagedom. No civilized woman should be compelled to come down for it."

Tight Corsets.

If you wear immoderately tight corsets continuously as a girl it will do you all manner of harm then and later on. If you incase your body in a tight abnormality of steel and whalebone, compressing vital organs in an unyielding grip, there is a resulting sense of constriction most irksome. It affects your appetite; it interferes with your comfortably digesting what you do eat; it prevents the normal workings of the liver and intestinal tract, and altogether the pleasure you get out of a year or two with a small waist is not sufficient to overcome the discomfort.

Bandages.

Bandages of prepared gauze are too inexpensive for you to waste much time over making your own, but if your medicine closet has no bandages among its stores make up a few strips of an old sheet into bandages, rolling them as tightly as you can and furnishing each with a small, strong safety pin. Before you've a chance to replenish your medicine closet a bandage may be needed in a hurry.

Lisle Thread Stockings.

Lisle thread stockings should be washed in tepid water tinted with a little blue, and soap should only be used for the feet. Rinse in clear water, allowing a piece of ammonia the size of a bean to every gallon of water. Dry quickly in fresh air, but not in the sun. If this is impossible, roll up tightly and wring in a clean cloth, letting a fold of the cloth come between each fold of the stocking.

For Hairpins.

A hairpin catch is more convenient than a tray. A pretty one is made out of yards and yards—ten or fifteen—of bright yellow or blue or, whatever the color of the room furnishings, bebe ribbon made into a fluffy ball by winding and widening and then tying in same two inch satin ribbon of the same shade, forming a loop, and tie ends with which to hang it to the side of the dresser.

A Mending Hint.

When so unfortunate as to rub or tear a piece from the outer surface of a black kid glove or kid shoe take a few drops of sweet oil and mix it with an equal amount of black ink. Apply this mixture to the white spot or any part that may be rubbed and the spot will be hardly noticeable. This treatment will also freshen an old pair of black kid gloves.

The Stout Woman.

A stout woman should not wear a tailor made suit, nor should she wear large bows at her belt nor a high, tight collar. In choosing her gowns she should avoid large figure designs, selecting striped or plain goods. She should also be chary of jewels, and it will usually be found more becoming to wear her hair high on the head.

Hemming Napkins.

Every one knows how hard it is to turn a very narrow and perfectly even hem in table napkins. Put the hemmer attachment on your sewing machine, but do not use any thread. Just run the napkins through the hemmer without sewing them, and they are creased as narrow as desired and are all ready for hand sewing.

Baby Symptoms.

If the baby's eyelids are not perfectly closed, suspect weakness. If you see a furrow passing from either side of the nose round the mouth, there is probably something the matter with stomach or intestines. A furrow from either mouth corner, passing outward, may indicate something wrong with the throat or lungs.

Wrinkles About the Eyes.

Try this lotion for wrinkles about the eyes: Thirty grains of alum, three-quarters of an ounce of thick almond milk and three ounces of rose water. Dissolve the alum in the rose water and add the almond milk drop by drop, beating all the time. Apply night and morning, letting it dry in.

A Labor Saver.

If newspapers are spread on the floor before the stove when ashes are to be removed much work will be saved, for the papers can be gathered up and burned, and there will be no necessity for sweeping. The ashes should be sprinkled with water before the pan is overturned.

To remove grease spots from carpets and rugs pour boiling water on equal parts of magnesia and fuller's earth. Make a paste of this and put on the carpet while hot. Brush off when dry, and stains will have disappeared.

When a tooth has been broken it should be pulled out or filed down. A sharp tooth point is often the cause of cancer on the tongue.

To remove iodine stains soak the stain in cold water for half an hour, then cover thickly with common soda, and the stain will disappear.

The hair should be let loose at night, and a silk handkerchief worn over the head improves the gloss.

—Mr. Robert Shepherd one of the C.G.E. staff, leaves today per moon C.P.R. for Halifax, en route to Liverpool on A six weeks' trip. He will be missed from St. John's church choir during his absence.

DISORDERS IN PARTS OF FRANCE

Various Reasons are Cited for Them—Is it Tending to Revolution

MINE HORROR THE CAUSE

Church Inventory and Retirement of Waldeck-Rousseau are Cited as Motives.

New York, April 16.—A Sun cable from Paris voices an alarmist note over the prospects of recent disorders growing into revolution. The tone of the cable is very sensational.

As a statement of causes there are [illegible] Rosebery, since which event "the country has not had a strong government;" the feeling urged against the authorities on account of the church inventory riots, and the bad blood between miners and employers and miners and the government officials over the recent mine disasters. It is further set forth that red flags have been carried unchallenged in the presence of high state authorities; rioters who have attacked soldiers have been allowed to go scot free. In short, disorders have been allowed to go unchecked because of official cowardice, not born of fear of physical results, but rather of the dread of the political effect. It is asserted now that the movement is growing and that royalists, clericals, socialists, and anarchists have pooled issues to the end of upsetting the present status quo.

Then, too, the correspondent dwells upon the inertness of M. Clemenceau, the Minister of Internal Affairs. While his past record is that of a strong man, he has not been able to cope with the existing conditions. His efforts at conciliation between the miners were nugatory, because the miners were led to believe that the greatest possible efforts had not been put forth to rescue many of the unfortunates who perished. Agitators from Paris fanned the flames in the mining districts, and now it is asserted some 40,000 people are in open defiance of the law. As opposed to them a few troops were sent. The destruction of property continued and the soldiers of the Republic were defied and treated with contempt and subjected to fusillades of bricks, stones and other missiles. In this way one or two were killed and others battered. But no reprisals were made; the troops refrained from firing on the mob. To quote from the dispatch, as illustrative of the fighting in the Pas de Calais district:

"Suddenly Capt. Hermelin fell, smitten to earth by a brick, senseless. Twenty insurgents rushed out of a wineshop crying 'Kill him, kill him.' Sergt. Grandry, seeing the danger, covered his fallen chief until aid arrived. Orders were given, as the horses were exhausted, to retire on the mine, amid the triumphant shrieks of the victorious insurgents and their dismount, while the bugles sounded 'Surrender.' A volley of stones was the only reply. Carbines were loaded and the order to fire was about to be given when the Mayor of Haveluy rushed in and begged that three prisoners be freed. The commander, after taking their names, consented, whereupon the insurgents withdrew, singing victoriously. More than one hundred soldiers were wounded, yet not a shot was fired. When this point of the rebellion [illegible] reached M. Clemenceau was present. The Minister went once more to the disturbed districts. He told the leaders of the strike that they really must not act in this violent way. He even went so far as to intimate that if things got much worse the soldiers might be compelled to use their weapons."

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water, the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the acceptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co., forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

W. T. R. PRESTON IS COMING HOME

Will Sail for Canada in a Week—New Club for Canadians in West London.

London, April 28.—Mr. W. T. R. Preston will sail for Canada in a few days. He has been summoned to give evidence about the North Atlantic Trading Company.

At a meeting of the Leeds and neighbouring Chambers of Commerce it was decided to recommend to the West Riding Chambers that they join in issuing an invitation to the Colonial delegates attending the Congress of Chambers of the Empire in July to pay a two-days' visit to the district, the visitors to pay their own railway and hotel expenses.

At a meeting of the Halifax Chamber, the circular from the Leeds Chamber about the visit of the Colonial delegates was read. The members all of the Colonial delegates came at all they should be as guests absolutely.

The Bradford Chamber discussed the circular at length. It was conceded on all hands that the generous hospitality of Canada to the delegates to Montreal in 1905 merited some return.

The Canadian Associated Press understands that a wealthy Canadian, Mr. de Hampton Sons, auctioneers, an offer to purchase the Oliver Cromwell house at Huntingdon. The offer was declined. The house will be sold at auction on the third of July.

Charles Devlin, M.P., who was indisposed during recess, returned to the House of Commons well advanced toward recovery.

The "Canada" denies that in advocating a division of the High Commissioner's office that it was criticizing Lord Strathcona, and it also contradicts the suggestion of a Canadian contemporary that Mr. W. T. R. Preston was the first author of the proposal to divide the High Commissionership.

A CLUB FOR CANADIANS.

A well-known Canadian in London is making an effort to establish a central rendezvous for Canadians in the west end of London. It is proposed to form a company with £10,000 capital. Quarters are now being negotiated for. A feature of the club will be the catering of Canadian products, which will be used wherever possible.

GROANS FOR WINSTON.

London, Apr. 28.—Presiding at the annual dinner of the Colonial Institute last night, Lord Egerton referred to the great difficulties in the administration of the Colonial Office. His object was to secure a hearty co-operation between the authorities at home and abroad. Relations must vary according to varying circumstances, but his desire was to give sympathy and support to the man on the spot. He deprecated the use of the word "interference" with regard to Natal, and asked for confidence for himself and Winston Churchill. Some groans greeted the mention of the Under-Secretary.

"I thank you might respect my colleague," said Lord Egerton.

G. R. Parkin, proposing "The Imperial Forces," said the imperial military spirit was strong in Canada and military spirit was strong in Canada and the militia system one of the greatest treasures on this account in reference was the "Victoria Cross" to Dunn presented by Sir John Cowan, inspired by this spirit, seventy U.C. College men went to South Africa. One brought back another Victoria Cross. He advocated as a means a trained force with a large auxiliary citizen soldiery. General Hutton, responding, said the great question was consolidation of colonial strength, advocating restitution of the militia system originated by Alfred the Great. Service must be voluntary.

Lord Strathcona, proposing the health of the chairman, said the appointment of Lord Egerton was heard with the greatest satisfaction in Canada.

Father Saved His Son.

Belleville, April 26.—George Cameron, of Carlow Township, who stabbed his father, was convicted of common assault by Magistrate Jarman, of Bancroft, and fined $4.50 and costs. Old Mr. Cameron claimed he was suffering from a lapse of memory and said he could remember nothing that happened on the morning the affray took place.

CAN YOU RESIST DISEASE GERMS?

Yes, and becomes "Germ-proof" by Driving Out Blood Humors and Restoring the System.

Why are doctors and hospitals so busy in spring-time? Easily answered. People haven't made surplus vigor in the spring; it was all used up in fighting off colds through the winter. With thin blood and low vitality, the germs of disease become active and cause fevers and debility.

Your one protection is to get the abundant vigor that Ferrozone so quickly supplies; it gives spring sickness that "tired feeling," restores nerve energy and instills vim and force into every ailing organ of the body.

No abler restorative is known than Ferrozone, its influence is not temporary but lasting, laying a sound foundation of health that lasts till old age.

Mr. Nazaire Begin, of Walton, P.Q., Que., who received enormous benefit from Ferrozone, writes: "I cannot speak too highly in praise of Ferrozone. If any one had told me that any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I wouldn't have believed it.

"Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health.

"Ferrozone has filled me up with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Your health through the summer depends on clearing away all traces of spring sickness; the remedy is Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

SLEEPING CARS.

The First Crude Ones Were Thought the Acme of Comfort.

Current advertisements describing the luxurious appointments offered the modern traveler on sea and land give point to the contrast afforded by the facilities of the middle of the last century, which were then regarded as the height to which the passengers had a right to aspire. The issue of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Mining Register of June 28, 1856, said:

"The Buffalo Car company lately shipped a lot of cars for the Illinois Central railroad which are far ahead of anything in their line yet seen in the west. One of them contained six staterooms, each room having two seats with cushioned backs, long enough for a person to lie upon. The backs of the seats are hung with hinges at the upper edge, so that they may be turned up at pleasure, thus forming two single berths, one over the other, where persons may sleep with all the comfort imaginable. In one end of the car is a small wash room, with marble washbowl, looking glass, etc. On the opposite side of the car from the staterooms is a row of seats with revolving backs, similar to barbers' chairs, so arranged that the occupant may sit straight or recline in an easy attitude at pleasure. The other five cars have each two or three similar staterooms."

The birth of the Pullman car came a little later. In the spring of 1858 George M. Pullman remodeled at Bloomington, Ill., a few of the cars of the Chicago and Alton and made them the first Pullman sleeping cars.

HORSESHOES.

The Three Lucky Elements That Are Associated In Them.

The superstition that associates the horseshoe with good luck is very old. It is said to prevail not only among English speaking people, but in all the races of Europe and in southern Asia. Antiquarians are undecided whether its origin has to do with the material from which the horseshoe is made or with its shape.

The ancients believed that iron as a metal had great secret powers, and they drove nails into their walls as a protection against pestilence. The Arabs when overtaken by severe storms in the desert cry out, "Iron, iron!" which they think will propitiate the evil spirits which have raised the storm. The Scandinavians have held from time immemorial the idea that it was lucky to find a piece of iron.

As regards the form of the horseshoe, there is no doubt that among the ancients the crescent form was much favored as having lucky or preservative powers. Ornaments were shaped in this way to drive away evil spirits. The Chinese have their tombs built in a semicircular form, like a horseshoe, and the Moors use the same form in their architecture.

It may be remarked that in the mythology of Europe horses were also regarded as luck bearers, and superstition once supposed that a horse's hoof placed under the bed would cure certain complaints. The horseshoe therefore may be said to unite within itself three lucky elements—it is in the shape of a crescent, it is made of iron, and it has been taken from a horse.

Fashions Caused by Deformities.

Of the close connection between fashion and deformity there are many examples. Through illness Philip the Good had to have his head shaved. Shaven heads, accordingly, perforce, became fashionable at his court.

The daughters of Louis XI. hid their very large feet in long dresses; hence trailing gowns.

The wife of Philip III. set the fashion of high collars in disguising her long neck with a wimple.

Bruises.

No treatment for bruises is more prompt and efficacious than fomentations as hot as can be borne. Firm compression immediately over the injured place will often prevent discoloration, but the hot application will have the same effect. The sooner the heat can be applied the better. Alternate applications of heat and cold are very effective. For all bruises, except those on the head, heat is the remedy, but for severe blows on the head cold is doubtless better. Fomentations may be used at intervals to lessen the soreness, but should not be continued more than five minutes at a time.

Great Britain.

The island of Great Britain—so called to distinguish it from Britain Minor, of Little Britain, in France—is the largest island in Europe. Its greatest length is 608 miles and its greatest breadth 320 miles. It embraces England, Scotland and Wales. No other country in the world has such great mineral wealth in so small an area. Coal is first, and the other important minerals are iron, tin, copper, lead, silver, zinc, iron pyrites and salt.

His Time Coming.

Young Mother—Harry, dear, you mustn't go near the baby. Young Father—Mayn't I just look at him a minute? Young Mother—No, dear; he's asleep. I'll let you take him when he wakes up in the night.

A man never catches up with his good intentions for tomorrow.—Success Magazine.

Often-times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

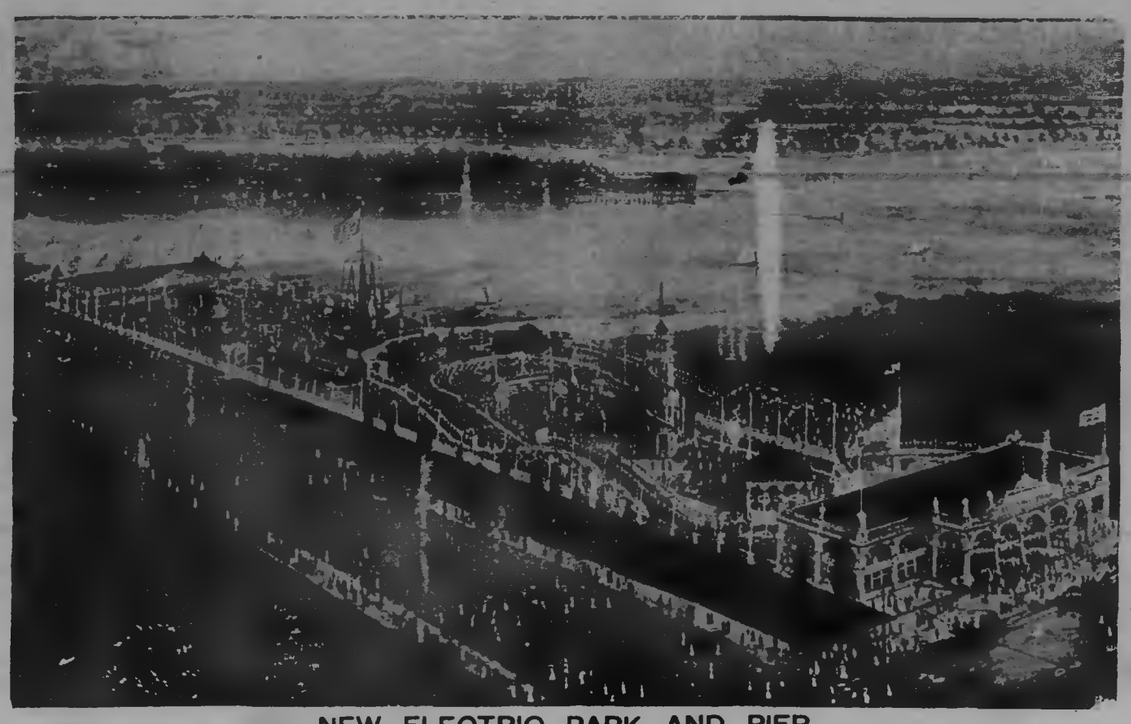
Less Expense to Build and Maintain Than Either of These Great Succes-es



NEW ELECTRIC PARK AND PIER

Capitalized at Only $500,000
White City $1,000,000
Luna Park $1,250,000

Other parks have for Several years past paid Dividends of from Forty to One Hundred and Fifty per cent

THE ELECTRIC PARK AMMUSEMENT CO. offers $100,000 of its capital stock at par to the public. This stock is secured by $250,000 of actual value in real estate, in addition to $150,000 worth of, permanent Improvements, buildings, railways, canoe storage building, etc., and a permanent pier with a theater and pavillion. Three-quarters of a million sightseers will spend from ten cents to one dollar each in Electric Park and Pier this summer. There were over 2,000,000 paid admissions to Chicago's White City last season, each visitor spending an average of sixty-six and two-third cents. White City's investment was repaid in full in one year, and Chicago's White City is located 16 miles from the center of the city. Electric Park is in the heart of Detroit, at the only land approach to Belle Isle. The new and enlarged Electric Park and Pier will have greater drawing powers by reason of better attractions and more accessible location, with much less expense. A quarter of a million Canadians visit Detroit every summer. No more than this allotment of $100,000 of stock will now be placed upon the market. ## Is Germany Supporting the Sultan?

Britain is Determined to Maintain Firm Attitude in Regard to Egypt and War Office Shows Activity.

Naples, April 29. — King Edward and Sir Charles Hardinge, permanent under secretary of the British Foreign office, who is in attendance upon his Majesty, have received many despatches from Premier Campbell-Bannerman and Foreign Secretary Grey in regard to the tension with Turkey over the Taba boundary dispute, and, according to report, the King has issued instructions that the firmest attitude be assumed by the British officials His Majesty is also said to have consulted with Lord Rosebery on the subject. He will cut his tour short, leaving for England on Monday.

During the afternoon King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Princess Victoria and the Duke and Duchess of Aosta had their suites last Naples in four automobiles with the intention of going to the observatory to pay a visit to Prof. Matteucci, but on reaching the foot of Mount Vesuvius the royal party, owing to the bad state of the roads, turned in the direction of Ottajano.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE

London, April 29.—No official statement has been issued regarding the Egyptian trouble, but from the most reliable unofficial information, it is apparent that the British government is taking a stiff position with the intention of compelling the withdrawal of the Ottoman soldiery from Egyptian territory. There are continued reports of preparations to move ships and troops eastward from Malta.

It is reported that the Turkish commander at Tabah has aggravated the situation to causing the [illegible] Sinaitic Peninsula, including, it is said, the marble column commemorating the visit of the khedive and marking the boundary from Akabah to Rafakh. The cabinet discussed the question for two hours yesterday and the admiralty and war office were busier than usual.

Telegrams from Berlin state that official circles repudiate the British newspaper insinuations that Germany is encouraging the sultan, who is considered there to be in the wrong.

The Berlin press denounces the suspicions as spiteful phantasies. Nevertheless, the opinion obtains here that the sultan believes he can rely on German moral support.

GERMANY IS ACCUSED.

Embittered by her defeat at the Morocco conference, Germany is evidently trying to make trouble for the nation chiefly responsible for her humiliation. There seems to be good reason to believe that Turkey's remarkably firm position in the Taba business is taken at Germany's instigation. Even the Chronicle, the chief Liberal organ in England, heads an article; "Turkey's Effrontery. Wants More Egyptian Territory. Who Is Instigating?" And goes on to practically accuse Germany.

"There is no question that the occupation of Taba by Turkish troops is a violation of Egyptian territory. By an unpublished Ottoman firman, that portion of the Sinaitic Peninsula southwest of a line drawn between El-Arish and the gulf of Akabah, was declared to be under the personal administration of the khedive, and until the occupation of Taba it was recognized as such. Taba is eight miles south west of Akabah.

"The Turk has apparently worked by stealth in this matter, as the occupation of Taba was accidently discovered in January by Rumbley Bey, an officer in the Egyptian army, who, in making a tour of inspection of the frontier, was surprised to find 100 Turkish soldiers in Taba.

TURKEY IS OBSTINATE.

"Rumbley Bey immediately reported the matter to the Egyptian Government, and Lord Cromer informed the British Government. The khedival government was instructed to protest at Constantinople. Turkish government took up the stand that Egypt was a vassal state. The Egyptian government reported that the attitude might have served in ancient times, but would not do now. the theory of Turkey's suzerainty over Egypt having vanished with the British occupation.

"Turkey, however, shows no signs of receding from the position she has taken up. A commission which was appointed by the Porte to examine the question on the spot has reported, naturally, in favor of Turkey's claims, and at the present moment Mukhtar Pasha, the specially appointed Turkish commissioner, is in negotiations [illegible] effective on the subject. Of course the British government publicly is behind the khedival government, is actively interested, and nothing can be concluded without the consent of Great Britain.

DRAWING CONCLUSIONS.

"It would be interesting to know why Turkey is interested in a railway in the Sinaitic Peninsula, running from Akabah to Suez. There is one country to which such a railway seems profitable. Germany has practically the monopoly of the railways in Asia Minor. True, Akabah, which is at the head of the gulf of the same name, is a considerable distance from the German railways, but it could be linked up, and the line from Akabah to Suez would be of great strategic value.

"The proposed line, which would be about 150 miles long, would cut across the base of the Sinaitic Peninsula, El Arish is on the Mediterranean coast, and is given on the maps as tobelong to Egypt. The proposal that Turkey should be allowed to occupy any port south of a line drawn from El Arish to Suez would mean the giving away of the whole Sinaitic Peninsula."

A SAFE INVESTMENT

Rare Opportunity to Secure Profitable and Guaranteed Stock.

All those thousands of Canadians who visit Detroit are well acquainted not only with the fact that the City of Detroit, Mich., is one of the most beautiful in the United States, but that it is the greatest "excursion city" on the continent. More societies and similar bodies, seeking a point to which to run excursions or hold delegation meetings, choose Detroit than pick on any other destination. This means that more money is spent by tourists and excursionists in Detroit than any other city with three times its population.

Hence Detroit is the most likely city in which parks and places of amusement are sure to be crowded during the summer time.

Every visitor to Detroit knows the beauties of their lovely Belle Isle, situated in the Detroit River within a few minutes' sail from the center of the city. The annual tonnage of ships passing Detroit is something enormous, not far behind that of the port of New York.

The Electric Park Amusement Co., of Detroit, as per the large adv. in this issue, is capitalized at $500,000, and are now offering 100,000 of its capital stock for sale at par. This stock is absolutely secured by $250,000 of actual value in real estate, and also by $150,000 worth of improvements, in buildings already erected, and a permanent pier with theatre and fine pavilion.

The beautiful park owned by the company is in the heart of Detroit at the only land entrance to Belle Isle, and is larger than the far famed Luna Park, which pays enormous dividends.

This stock now offered at par, will undoubtedly pay large dividends, and the issue is limited to $100,000. Those seeking a chance for investment in a guaranteed proposition that will give good returns, should consult Messrs. Thos. Patterson & Co., Fiscal Agents, Peterboro.

The Bohemian for May.

The Bohemian Magazine for May is more entertaining than ever. Each combination, whether poetry or prose, is strictly up-to-date and of a literary quality that is worthy of the magazine. The stories are remarkable in that they cover the widest possible range of subject and treatment—a distinctive feature of The Bohemian. "Burglar Dick, Literary Critic," is the title of the story that opens the number. It is a remarkable bit of fiction of how a poor young girl wins a prize of five hundred dollars in a short story contest. The judges who award this decision, are probably the most remarkable that ever decided upon the merits of a manuscript. Were The Bohemian running a prize story contest, we are sure that "Burglar Dick, Literary Critic," would be a winner. The story is illustrated by Henry S. Watson, whose work in the best magazines has attracted much attention. Another story that enriches this number and is worth special mention is "Clashing Lives," by Henry Waldorf Francis. At this time when the struggle between capital and labor is attracting so much attention, this dramatic story of such a struggle by Mr. Francis will surely make a hit. "Miss Ward Decides," by Gerard Smith, is a story of an entirely different character; it is a story with a delicate and sympathetic touch of life. "By Old St. Mark's," by Leonora Beck Ellis deals with a storm at sea and is full of a healthy, invigorating life. All readers of this magazine will regret when "Bennett's Partner," by James Knapp Reeve, in ended. It is a tale that has held the attention from the start. "The Hazard of Alta Mountain," by Margaret Hughes, is a story with a remarkably clever ending. Other stories are by M. E. Buhler, Kathleen Blackburn, Edward H. Hanigan, and Ruby H. Martyn.

Poems are contributed by William J. Lampton, Edwin Carlile Litsey, Stacy E. Baker, Minna Irving, Henry Wood, Aldis Dunbar and Henry K. Schofield. The theatrical chat by William George Beecroft, entitled "Easter Eggs From the Theatrical Basket," is exceptionally interesting. The department of "Stageland" has eight full page illustrations in front beside several smaller ones through the text. An interesting feature of "The Book Table" is a list of the best selling books—an excellent guide to the books meeting with popular favor. The cover design is by William G. Krieghoff and is especially appropriate to such a magazine as the Bohemian.

ODDFELLOWS' PARADE

Last Night Local Brethren of the Three Links Hear Rev. Mr. Scott.

Yesterday evening shortly before 7 o'clock a long and fine looking of men walked from the Oddfellows' Hall, George street, comprising the members of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, and Peterboro Lodge No. 411, Independent Order of Oddfellows.

The occasion to this splendid turnout, was the annual parade of the order to hear a specially prepared sermon.

Last night the Oddfellows went by invitation to the Murray Street Baptist church, where Rev. E. J. Scott, preached a most eloquent and appropriate sermon. The rev. speaker congratulated the Oddfellows both on the strength of their organization and on the precepts of the order, "Friendship, Love and Truth."

A large number of visiting Oddfellows availed themselves of the opportunity to turn out with the local brethren.

May Canadian Magazine.

Twenty-two persons contributed to the varied table of contents in the May Canadian Magazine. Stories, sketches, poems, sporting articles, bits of history and more serious material make up the menu. Harold Sands recalls the fact that Simon Fraser started in May, 1806, for the exploration of the unknown district, now known as British Columbia, hence the title of his article "One Hundred Years in British Columbia." Accompanying this is an excellent plate of the first government offices on the mainland. Helen Bernard's article on the "Last Royal Funeral at Mandalay" is a delightful pen-picture by one who witnessed this curious spectacle. John F. Webber has an interesting review of the dramatic season in New York. Bonnycastle Dale writes on shooting and fishing in the Trent Valley—which is one of the most delightful and typical sporting resorts in older Canada. Mr. Boulton's description of the circumstances under which he won a seat in the British House of Commons is quite entertaining. F. Blake Crofton writes of the imperialism of Haliburton and Howe—two of the most wonderful of Canadian publicists. Stephen Leacock has a delightful satire entitled "The Passing of the Poet." Mr. McCready, a veteran journalist, begins a series of reminiscences of the first Dominion Parliament. There are stories and sketches by Herman Whitaker, Elizabeth E. Macdonald, Theodore Roberts, Genevieve Kennedy, Adeline M. Teskey and Arthur L. Phelps.

THE GEORGE STREET CHURCH CROWDED

On Saturday afternoon, judging not only by the wide-spread popularity of the charming bride and that of her father, but by the immense crowds that gathered in the large George St. Methodist church, the wedding celebrated Saturday in that sacred edifice was one of the most interesting that Peterboro society has witnessed in years.

For many a week, the coming nuptials of Miss Gertrude Kendry, who on Saturday afternoon became the charming bride of Mr. G. Clarence Burnham of Toronto, have served more than a passing interest among the society belles and beaux of Peterboro.

Even the clerk of the weather was kind to this young couple, the sun shining, as he should, brightly on so conspicuous an event. There were present about 150 invited guests, but the church was well filled with interested spectators and friends. One thing that made Saturday's ceremony perhaps more interesting, is that the groom, Mr. Burnham, although at present residing in Toronto, is district engineer for the Asbestos Mines, Buckingham, Que., of Toronto, is an old Peterboro boy, having a warm spot in the affection of many of our citizens. Upon the arrival of the wedding party at the church, the ushers, Mr. Carl Waldinger, Boston; Mr. Frank Burnham, and; Mr. Robin Collins, Toronto, and Mr. Llewellyn Hall, city, led the procession into the church, next came the pages, Masters Willie Nicholls, of Toronto, and Heber Rogers, with the flower girls, little Miss Madeline Rutherford and Miss Dorothy Langfeldt and the bride's flower girl, Miss Ruby Sharpe, cousin of the bride, bearing a handsome basket of forget-me-nots.

The maid of honor, Miss Madge Davidson preceded the bride, who entered the church, leaning on her father's arm, as the wedding march, [illegible] played by Prof. Milner.

At the altar, the bridegroom and groomsman, Mr. Herbert Burson of Montreal, were met and the impressive ceremony at once was performed by Rev. Dr. Crothers, pastor of the church.

The church was handsomely decorated in honor of the occasion, the color scheme being green and white. In front of the choir soft and the altar there were drapings of soft white gauze, relieved with sprays of smilax, while the floral ornamentation consisted of Easter lilies, palms, ferns and asparagus ferns.

The bride was becomingly attired in a beautiful empire gown of soft white Ibert brocade, veiled with white chiffon. The waist was formed of a jacket of Irish crochet, hand-made lace with V. front of rose point lace, and panniers of the same lace on the sleeves. The full, soft skirt of crepe chiffon, with ruches of silver cord and bow, [illegible] of chiffon. The bride wore a tulle veil with lilies of-the-valley, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of the same flowers. A pearl opolar, the gift of the bridegroom, also formed part of her costume.

The maid of honor, Miss Madge Davidson, also wore cream silk mulle over taffeta, with short tulle veil, and wreath of pink rosebuds.

The bride's flower girl, Miss Ruby Sharpe, wore a frock of white organdie with valenciennes lace insertions.

Mrs. Kendry, mother of the bride, was costumed in reseda green silk, with rose point berthe and a black hat trimmed with plumes.

RECEPTION HELD.

After the ceremony, and while the register was being signed, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was rendered.

On leaving the church, the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's parents on Water street, where a reception was held at which a large number of guests were presented. The house was artistically decorated with American Beauty and Queen roses, while Marguerites and Bridesmaid's roses adorned the tables in a large marquee located on the lawn, from which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, left with several of the guests in a special car attached to the 5.15 C.P.R. Express. They will spend their honeymoon in Toronto, Detroit and other points. On their return to the Queen City, they will take up their residence at 170 University avenue, where the bride will be at home to her friends, during the last week in May.

The bride's going-away costume was a grey worsted cheviot with Eton jacket adjorned with touches of black and vest of black and white silk. She wore a pretty hat trimmed with bows of black and white ribbon and black quills.

Plot Organized for French Revolution

Alleged Discovery of Proclamation to Army and List of Functionaries for New Regime.

Paris, April 29.—The police searches and measures continue to agitate labor and anarchist circles. The Confederation of Labor has issued a violent protest against the action of the authorities, which was to have appeared in a special edition of the confederation's organ, La Voix du Peuple, but the prefect ordered the postmaster to detain all copies of the inflammatory paper.

The judicial authorities withhold all details of the seizures made, but it is claimed that one of the documents found at the home of an imperialist is a proclamation addressed to the army and is designed to be issued after the success of the plot, and that the police also captured lists of future functionaries and ministers under the imperialist regime.

The government organs assert that a plot between the mining agitators in the north and the political agitators in Paris was fully organized.

The opposition journals deny the existence of a plot and treat the affair as an "electoral opera bouffe."

The police executed six more ordres yesterday growing out of the labor disturbances in the north.

An attempt was made last night to blow up a railway bridge at Argenteuil, near Paris. A bomb was exploded under the bridge, causing considerable damage. The anarchists attribute the outrage to anarchists.

About 100 striking jewelers this evening sought to reach the opera square, in order to make a demonstration in the jewelry quarter, the Rue de la Paix, but Republican Guards and police barred their [illegible] the square and finally they were driven back. A number of arrests were made.

THE WRONG BREED

Local Lady Boils Some Expensive "White Leghorn Eggs."

A few weeks ago a well-known local citizen, with a penchant for fancy poultry, who lives not a thousand miles from Water street, purchased at a staff price, a "setting" of white leghorn eggs, anticipating his possession, in time for exhibition next Peterboro fall fair, of some of these beautiful chickens.

Alas and alack, when he brought the eggs home, each carefully packed in its individual covering, his wife happened that afternoon to be down town. He unpacked the eggs and, intending to put them next day beneath an old chuckling hen, left them in the kitchen pantry.

His wife in due time arrived home and proceeded to "get tea ready." She, without giving the matter of a few additional eggs in the larder a thought, when announcing "supper ready," served her lord and master and herself with two boiled eggs each, and one for each of three children.

After supper was over, the husband told her of the recent purchase and proceeded, in glowing terms to describe the expected white leghorn beauties, they would in due course, have running about the yard.

With a gasp of anxiety the lady remembered that that morning she had used the last of her domestic supply of "hen fruit" in some cakes she had made.

Learning, during their talk, that husband had obtained, in the fated setting, the last obtainable for some weeks, of the particular breed in question, she thought quickly. As soon as tea was over, she ran to a nearby grocery and bought a couple of dozen eggs. Whilst hubby was down town during the evening, she packed, from her recent purchase, seven eggs, the nearest in size and color to those boiled that night and put them with the remainder of the white leghorn batch.

On Saturday the chickens arrived, nine in number, five of which are likely the variegable leghorn strain and four that will certainly prove "black Spanish, or some equally brunette type. She has confessed and been granted absolution.

ILLEGAL FISHING

Timothy Finnigan Pays Dear for Angling in Scugog River.

On Friday, Timothy Finnigan was on trial before the Victoria county court, charged with unlawfully angling in the Scugog river, on April 26th. He pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs which he paid. The charge was laid by the Lindsay branch of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association. Magistrate MacSwain said that in all probability in the next case the fine would be $50 and costs —which is the maximum fine—and that in any case the amount would be raised.

Banks Have Suffered Very Heavily

Not in Such Bad Shape as Regards Cash--Have $78,000,000 on Hand--A Lucky Woman.

San Francisco, April 29.—The day [illegible] broke clear and pleasant, with a warm sun, after one of the most disagreeable nights since the great fire. A noble wind blew from the north until a late hour last night, and it was with difficulty that the people camping out, especially on the ground, kept warm. Additional blankets and other coverings were distributed in the various camps as night, and the suffering was minimized.

Last night was the quietest in the city since the strict patrol was established. A few arrests were made for minor offences. Street cars were in operation today, and the confusion and congestion in the [illegible] district was less noticeable.

Many of the firms opened up their offices and began the work of straightening out their affairs, with the view of resuming business as soon as possible.

THE BANK SITUATION.

All of the city's 44 banks, 32 commercial and 12 savings, were located within the burned district. Inspection has revealed the fact that the vaults in every instance, remain intact, but, with probably two or three exceptions, the fine bank buildings were destroyed.

According to statements filed by these banks with the bank commissioner on Jan. 1 last, the value of the buildings aggregated $6,050,032. Add to this, the valuation of premises, occupied by the ten national banks, $927,295, and the total is $6,992,327. Two-thirds of this sum represents the land value of the sites, and, therefore, is not lost, so the net loss to the banks is $2,856,666, a loss which does not impair their financial standing. The buildings and fixtures are partly insured, and this will further cut down the loss.

The money on hand in the commercial banks at the time was $16,551,454, while the savings banks have coin amounting to $3,988,804. With the $10,030,765 in specie in the vaults of the ten national banks, there is an aggregate of $30,571,023 in coin immediately available.

MONEY IN REACH.

The amount of money due from outside banks and bankers was $18,000,000. This brings the total money within reach up to more than $48,000,000. In the line of convertible securities these banks held stocks and bonds valued at $91,191,130. One-third was U.S. bonds. This third, $30,000,000, brings the grand total of money within reach of San Francisco banks to $78,000,000, and it is safe to say sufficient additional securities are as readily convertible that the total could be made $100,000,000 in ten days' time.

Detective Gibson of the local police force said yesterday that the fire destroyed practically every bit of evidence against Jacob and Herman Epsinger, accused of swindling banks out of $788,000 by borrowing money on fictitious wheat certificates.

A LUCKY WOMAN.

San Francisco, April 29.—The guests who were in the St. Francis on the day of the big fire were granted permission yesterday to visit their former quarters in the hotel in order to ascertain what could be saved of their personal belongings. One woman found $1000 worth of diamonds near her buried trunk.

ADDITIONAL DEATHS.

Washington, April 29. — General Greely has telegraphed from San Francisco the following additional deaths,

Arthur Agnew, Jacob H. Bucker, Patrick E. Creighton, Bertha Fabian, — French, infant six months old, Genevieve, Hunt 9 years old, Mr. Hurst, John Kehr, Bernard Kelley, Klaus Lokum, Charles Neville, George Neville, Benjamin Orwitz, Sara, Mrs. Tillie L. Whitaker, man unknown, Chinaman, suicide, unknown.

There were also killed at Del Monte, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Rosner.

FIFTY-FOUR BODIES FOUND.

Santa Rosa, Cal., April 29. — Two more bodies have been taken from the ruins of the building destroyed by the earthquake. Neither can be positively identified. This makes a total of 54 bodies recovered.

A TRUE ACCOUNT

Mr. Jas. Stevenson Hears From San Francisco Relatives.

Mr. James Stevenson of this city has received a long letter from relatives, his sister Mrs. Swayne, and a niece, Miss Swayne, in which they relate their experience during the recent awful earthquakes. The letter comes from New York, to which city the pair has gone since the trouble.

The correspondent writes that they "put in a horrible time." She went on to say, "Alameda was terribly shaken, one of our chimneys fell and the chimney of our next neighbor fell through the kitchen window, crashing right into the room. The oriel-brass in our parlor was all broken. One beautiful big statue of the water-carrier, you one Bertie brought for mother from Vienna, was broken into a hundred pieces. Of course the nothing when we consider we all escaped injury. The earthquake shocks kept on continuously throughout the day and we were all so nervous, every one sat outside the house. Later on we went inside and slept upstairs. The explosions in the city were awful and the dynamite's low could be plainly heard. Looking over to the city only a cloud of black smoke could be seen. Our [illegible] burned district, but we do not know just how badly they were damaged. Of course, [illegible] of the western suburbs of San Francisco. Bert, Mr. R. Swayne, Jr., saved his papers, but he has lost heavily as far as his real estate is concerned.

He had one piece of down town business property that a few weeks before, he was offered $130,000 for and he got rentals from the buildings on of $400 a month. This would take a long time to rise in value again. All our friends have suffered in S.F. terribly and we can hardly realize our great city is no more," etc.

CARNEGIE IN TOWN

The Multi-Millionaire Iron-Master Passes Through Peterboro.

That open handed dispenser of libraries to cities looking for charity and a corresponding 10 per cent. annual appropriation to support the gift, and of word advice to young men anxious to become wealthy though [illegible] business, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, Laird of Skibo, and ex-while iron worker of Pittsburg, passed through this city by a passing visit on Saturday, on the 11.30 C.P.R. train, en route from Toronto to Ottawa, where he will open the new Carnegie library today. Mr. Carnegie travelled in a splendidly equipped private car, the "Allegheny," the property of Mr. Charles Schwab, who succeeded him as president of the Carnegie steel company. He was accompanied by Dr. Butler, president of Ottawa University, New York; J. J. McCool, a prominent New York barrister; Richard Watson Gilder, editor of the Century Magazine, and Mr. Bertram, his secretary.

Only the usual short stop was made at Peterboro, but the local press representatives had a few minutes conversation with the great steel magnate while the train was stopped at the station. Mr. Carnegie was affability itself, even postponing completion of his luncheon to accord a few remarks to the local reporters.

Mr. Carnegie said that this his first trip through Canada had opened his eyes to Canada's great agricultural or industrial resources. He spoke very highly and even had kind words for the Electric City.

LEAVES LINDSAY

Mr. A. J. Graham with Relatives Here Going to British Columbia.

The following from the Lindsay Watchman-Warder refers to a brother-in-law of Mr. James McCreary, principal of the west ward school, Peterboro;

"The news that Mr. A. J. Graham clothing dealer, had disposed of his large stock outright to Mr. J. B. Gough last Monday created surprise and regret on the part of our merchants and citizens. During the seven years Mr. Graham has been in Lindsay he has built up a large and profitable trade."

Mr. Graham is leaving Lindsay, on account of ill health and by advice of his physician.

MRS. HUGHES' DEATH

Old and Respected Resident Passes Away.

Today at 3 p.m., the sad mortal remains of the late Mrs. J. L. Hughes, will be taken from the residence of Mrs. Hughes, 302 Park street to the Little Lake cemetery.

The late Mrs. Hughes was one of the oldest and most generally respected residents of this city, and passed away on Friday night at her residence, Park street, at the age of 71 years.

In losing Mrs. Hughes many people of this city feel that a gap has been made in both friendly and church circles that will be hard to fill.

The deceased was born in Kingston on November 15th, 1835, and was married to her surviving husband, Mr. J. L. Hughes, on Nov. 15th, 1854. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes moved to Peterboro in 1861, and have resided here ever since, [illegible] many years have made their home at 302 Park street. Mrs. Hughes attended the Charlotte St. Methodist church.

Besides her husband Mrs. Hughes is survived by eight children, one brother and two sisters. Her children are five sons, Andrew, of Palouse, Wash.; Fred, of Spokane, Wash.; Frank, of Butte, Montana; Howard and Bruce, of Montreal, and three daughters, Mrs. (Rev.) R. W. Sharpe, of St. Peter's Reserve, Man.; Mrs. J. Colin Grant, of Toronto; and Mrs. W. B. Spencer, of Mineola, Texas. Her brother is Andrew Ryan, Port Huron, Mich., and her sisters are Mrs. J. W. Ayer, of Rochester, N.Y., and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, of Crescent Springs, Kentucky.

After Spring Wild Flowers.

Quite a large number of children, on Saturday afternoon, took advantage of the fine weather, and incidentally the street car service, to go to outlying woods in quest of spring flowers. One party embracing nine boys, seven ladies and three attendant [illegible] cavaliers, rode out to Gilchrist's woods at Smithtown, whilst some twenty, or more, walked there from the Auburn terminus of the street railway. They brought in bunches of hepaticas, but the white flowers are not in bud. Many children went to the various woods yesterday and brought home bunches of wild flowers.

Your 'Fagged' Feeling is Spring Sickness

This Unhealthy Weather Will Intensify Your Exhaustion Unless You Have Good Medicine.

Time won't help; matters grow worse instead of better if your system isn't rid of its poisonous burden. Your blood is not only thin, but is contaminated with a whole winter's accumulation of wastes.

A stimulating blood tonic is required.

What's it going to be?

No bitters or alcoholic dope, but concentrated cure in the form of "Ferrozone" which is known as the best of all spring rejuvenators.

It creates keen appetite.
Produces prodigious digestion.
Converts food into nourishment.
Gives richness and vitality to the blood.
Makes strong nerves and hardy muscles.

Ferrozone possesses power that cannot be doubted. It will do for you what it did for Walter Wood, of Beaufort Car Co., N. B., who writes: "I can say that Ferrozone has given me a new lease of life. A year ago I suffered much from nervous weakness. I was really scarcely able to drag myself around. My appetite was gone. I had no color or ambition and felt generally used up. The first box of Ferrozone started me back to health. I took a number of boxes, but it was worth while as my health was completely restored."

Get back to health with Ferrozone. Your druggist sells it, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

MR. MILLER'S ELECTION EXPENSES.

Now we find that Mr. Miller, M.P., who defended the "indemnity grab" the other day, is accused of "padding" his bill of political expenses, which he put in by way of a claim to the $3,-000. The accusations comes from one of his fellow members—Mr. Bennett. We quote from the report in the Toronto News:

Mr. W. H. Bennett followed with an attack on Mr. Paterson (in the German surtax debate), of which the most noteworthy incident was the swift downfall of Mr. H. H. Miller. He rose to a point of order, that Mr. Bennett was not speaking to the question.

Mr. Bennett, who had been speaking of the practice of corruption by the Government, instantly retorted that Mr. Miller evidently liked such subjects. He had declared in the House that his election expenses were $1,300, whereas he had published a sworn statement that his expenses had not exceeded $700.

Mr. Miller gasped, and then rose to say that he pressed his point of order.

"It touches you on the raw," was the comfort he got from Mr. Bennett, and neither Mr. Bennett, Mr. Speaker nor the House paid further attention to Mr. Miller.

Now to Mr. Miller's election expenses were really only $700, that will cut his yearly claim on that score down to $75. Then the detailed bill which we attempted to put in due form for him the other day will run in this way:

|---|---|
| Extra clerk | $ 50 |
| Cost of election per year | 75 |
| Charity (estimated) | 200 |
| Total | $ 325 |
| Now Indemnity | $3,000 |
| Leaving for hotel bills, etc., | $1,725, |

for four months.

We certainly should have these hotel bills in detail.

WHAT AN EARTHQUAKE MEANS

The destruction of the business district of San Francisco means just what the destruction of Chicago meant in 1871. Earthquake and fire have turned a great center of business activity into a desert. Property is gone, assets have lost value, and all the machinery of organized commercial and industrial activity has been destroyed.

In Chicago there was only fire to deal with. In San Francisco the dread of another earthquake becomes a factor among the disheartened and distressed people it will be natural to assume that what happened there recently is likely to happen again.

The truth is, however, that earthquakes have changed the destiny of only a few of the world's great cities. Constantinople, as beautifully situated as is San Francisco, was shattered by earthquakes in 557, 935, 1509 and 1509, but it still stands on the Golden Horn, the capital of a great empire and the desired of other empires.

Tokio was overwhelmed by earthquakes in 1703 and 1855, but was rebuilt time and again on Tokio bay. It is the political center of another great empire and one of the largest and most prosperous cities in the world.

In location, strategically and commercially considered, San Francisco is not unlike Constantinople or Tokio. The great city of the Pacific coast will be at the Golden Gate or on San Francisco bay, earthquakes or no earthquakes. San Francisco has had a life as a city of only fifty-six years. It grew from a straggling town of 20,000 inhabitants in 1850 to a city forty-seven square miles in extent, with a population of 342,000 in fifty years.

The heart of the city, covering eight or ten square miles, has been destroyed, but the men who gave San Francisco power, wealth and influence are alive and the great interests that have contributed to the development of San Francisco and California are only temporarily crippled.

As to another earthquake, no one can tell. San Francisco may never have another such visitation. But no city is immune in this particular. The London Standard, referring to the disaster at San Francisco, said: "We are well convinced that there will not be lacking in this land, so happily removed from these sudden calamities, an impulse to succor our brethren in distress." The plain inference is that England is beyond the earthquake belt, and cannot have any such disaster as that which overwhelmed San Francisco.

The truth is that England has had more earthquakes than San Francisco. There were several shocks in 1049, 1142, 1274 and 1318. In the earthquake of of April 6, 1580, many buildings in London were wrecked, among them St. Paul's and Temple churches. There were earthquakes in England in 1750, 1751, 1776 and 1884, each doing considerable damage.

Peking, China, lost 100,000 inhabitants in the earthquake of 1731, but has not been materially injured by earthquakes since. Cairo, in Egypt, lost half its houses and 40,000 of its inhabitants in 1754, but has had no disaster of the kind since.

The precedents of the past do not sustain the contention that San Francisco more than any other city of the Pacific coast states is to be subject to earthquakes. On the other hand, the record of earthquakes is favorable to the city that just now has the sympathy of the whole world.

Opportunities to Visit California.

Do not let this go by. Very low rates will be in effect via Grand Trunk Railway good going April 24th to May 5th, returning until July 31st; and good going June 24th to July 7th, returning until September 15th. Choice of any direct route going and returning, and certain stop over privileges. Call on Agents for full particulars or address J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Room 368, Union Station, Toronto.

POWER FOR BROCKVILLE.

Brockville, April 27.—J. Wesley Allison states that it is the intention of the recently organized New York and Ontario Power Company, with a capital of $2,000,000, to develop the magnificent power at Waddington, N. Y., and begin preparations for carrying the power to Prescott and Brockville, via Ogdensburg.

He states that 35,000 horse power can be developed and sold at prices lower than those charged by the Niagara Falls Company. He declined to go into particulars at present, but stated that within a few weeks the public would be fully informed as to the expectations of the company.

SUIT AGAINST LABOR UNIONS.

Racine, Wis., April 27.—The greatest law suit in the history of this county and of great importance to labor unions was commenced this afternoon before Judge Chester A. Fowler, of Portage. The case is that of Otto B. Schultz against Benjamin Dresser of the Bakers' and Confectioners' Union and 100 members of the Trades and Labor Council and other labor unions for $25,000 damages. Schultz is owner of a bakery in Racine. He refused to unionize his store or shop or place the union label on his bread. He alleged that he was placed on the unfair list and lost heavily in trade.

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Tasteless Effective Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which disorders the vision or pounds the burning pain. Reduce and interrupt these veins and equilibrium exist an irritating pressure on the nerves of nerve branches and pain ceases. Then, there's no headache, and finally that nerve-racking, nerve-destroying brain ache. This new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Tasteless Effective Headache Cure—is positive and quick in relief. It contains no opium, cocaine, morphine nor other stupefying drug. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate woman or child. It is not a cure-all, but it is a positive cure for headache and pain. Dr. Shoop's Tasteless Effective Headache Cure is prompt, positive and permanent. Don't accept substitutes. Don't be talked into taking something else which "is just as good." Don't be experimented with. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Tasteless Effective Headache Cure or you won't get relief. Sold by druggists everywhere. Prescription form on every package. ### FLOGGED NEGROES

Lieutenant German Gets Off Easily, Because Others Did It.

Berlin, April 28.—The trial of a German planter named Miesmahl, owner of extensive estates in German East Africa, on the charge of inflicting grave bodily injuries to negroes employes, was concluded here yesterday. The evidence showed that the natives of the district who were employed on the plantations were frightfully mistreated by Miesmahl, who had them flogged mercilessly, lashing the negroes on their bare backs until they bled and became unconscious from the terrible punishment.

Miesmahl's attorney, in defending his client, offered evidence to show that this treatment of natives is common throughout the colony. The court recognized these extenuating circumstances, and merely sentenced Miesmahl to pay a fine of $25.

JUPITER IN A MIRROR.

A Remarkable Phenomenon Concerning His Satellites.

In a very old number of the Bulletin de la Societe Astronomique de France some one made a note of the fact that he had seen Jupiter's satellites in a mirror. The 5th of November being a clear night, a correspondent, C. D. E. Andrews, determined to make the experiment with an ordinary looking glass.

"The image of Jupiter in the glass," he writes, "was distinctly accompanied by a small star on either side, one nearer the planet than the other. I then turned my telescope on the planet and found at once that the positions of satellites three and one and two coincided with the positions of the stars seen in the mirror. Satellites one and two were at the time (about 8:30 p. m.) extremely close together, and I have no doubt that these two were seen as one in the glass.

"The explanation of the phenomenon is a simple one. We cannot see the satellites in the ordinary way because Jupiter's brilliance overpowers their feebler light. In reflecting the image in the glass some of this superfluous light is lost, and the satellites are given a chance to show themselves."—London Chronicle.

WHITE RAINBOWS.

They Are Formed by a Fine Rain and a Strong Sun.

Though rainbows are generally associated with colors, there is such a phenomenon as a white rainbow. The circumstances necessary for its formation are a fine rain and a strong sun. The phenomenon is due to the optic principle known as interference. If the drops of water be very small, the interference of the rays causes such a complete overlapping of the colors that the bow appears white.

That is to say, the various prismatic colors, instead of being thrown out separately, as in the ordinary prism, are thrown one on the top of the other, and the light is thrown by the sun, as it were, on a sheet of rain. The fine close rain produces the same effect as a woven texture. This result is still more noticeable where a fog takes the place of the rain.

The phenomenon is not often noticed, because the conditions necessary to the formation of a white rainbow are a strong light, a close rain and a sun lying near the horizon. These three conditions are not often present at the same time.—London Standard.

A Princely Gift.

Perhaps the most magnificent gift ever made by any individual to any nation was the presentation by Lady Wallace to the English nation of her husband's remarkable art collection in 1897. It contains over 600 pictures of every school, including thirteen by Sir Joshua Reynolds, furniture, china and objects of art innumerable, of a value between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000. It was left absolutely to the nation, the only stipulation being that it should be kept distinct from other national collections.

THE HUMAN MIND.

It Is a Wonderful Vehicle For Rapidity of Action.

A flash of light is not sluggish, sound travels rapidly, a bullet is no messenger boy, and an automobile which shoots a mile in twenty-eight seconds is moving along certainly. When it comes to getting over the ground in a real hurry, however, to devouring distance in dead earnest, the dreamer marches proudly at the head of the procession. He makes the very latest thing in the line of 150 horsepower racing cars look like hay carts in a mud bank. A man sits in his chair after dinner and doses. He awakes with a start and discovers, to his surprise, that he lost consciousness for exactly three minutes by the clock. Yet in those three minutes he journeyed from New York to Port Said, transferred himself to St. Petersburg, loitered in Paris and London and sailed up the Nile. What is of greater importance in this connection, he journeyed leisurely, almost indolently. He stopped at various "points of interest" and examined them thoroughly, he met with annoying and amusing experiences on steamships and trains, he talked with acquaintances whom he encountered in foreign lands, and he told some of them precisely what he thought of them. There was genuine pleasure in that. A dreamer can put thousands and thousands of miles behind him in the short space of three minutes and lazily enjoy himself in his wanderings. By comparison the chauffeur, with his life in his hands, is a slow coach, and he must attend strictly to business. He can engage in no conversation or sightseeing.

The human mind is a wonderful vehicle. Some people in spectacles have analyzed it and think that they know what it is and what it can do. But they do not know, and they never will know.

SICILIAN MAIDS.

The Strict Espionage That Is Exercised Over Them.

The young girl in America is singularly unrestrained in her movements, albeit there is so much stress laid upon the presence of a chaperon upon such occasions as usage or etiquette demand it, but what is this pretense of espionage in comparison with what the young women of Sicily must endure, according to a book of sketches published in collaboration by two English authors? According to this authority, the young woman who comes in by the day to do sewing brings a chaperon. Saleswomen in the shops are not allowed to go alone to a customer's house, the maid servants are not allowed to leave their employers' houses unprotected, even to go to church, according to an agreement entered upon when the maid is hired. When a young girl is left alone at home she is locked into the house by her parents.

What would the independent young women of America think of such assiduous oversight upon their actions as that enjoyed (?) by the fair maids of this beautiful little three cornered island off the coast of Italy?

As a matter of fact, few American girls realize how many liberties they enjoy. Free from the English nursery system before her debut; free as a rule to choose her own husband, unlike most of her European sisters; allowed fairly unrestricted companionship with the opposite sex and altogether considered as the companion and friend of her parents, surely she ought to appreciate her liberty.

At Second Hand.

"Isn't it true, as a matter of fact, Mr. Simmons," asked the lawyer who was examining the man as to his qualifications for jury service, "that all you know about either of the parties to this suit is what you have read about them?"

"Yes, sir," answered the man, "but that's all we know about Abraham or Alexander the Great or Bloody Mary, and yet we have a pretty good idea as to what kind of people they were."

Mr. Simmons appeared to be too intelligent a man to sit on a jury, and he was excused.

To Clean Leather.

To clean leather mix together half a pound each of French chalk and fuller's earth, two ounces of powdered starch and one ounce of yellow ocher. Wet this with boiling water enough to make a thin paste and add one tablespoonful of sweet oil. When cold spread on the soiled leather, let it remain until dry and brush off. Wipe off every particle of the cleaning material and polish the leather with wax melted with turpentine, four ounces of wax and a gill of turpentine. If you wish to darken the leather, add a little oil to the wax preparation.

Catarrh.

Many cases of catarrh might be avoided and others greatly relieved if at the first sign of any trouble in the "early snuffles" period the nose and throat were thoroughly sprayed at least once a day with one part of listerine mixed with two parts of water. A throat specialist thinks this treatment as much a part of the good and cleanly toilet as brushing the teeth or hair or bathing.

Buttons Barred.

"Our collection today, my dear brethren," said the rector, "is for the clothing fund. At the same time, may I earnestly impress upon you that, though the collection is for the clothing fund, it is not necessary to contribute buttons."

There are three kinds of people in the world—the wills, the won'ts and the can'ts. The first accomplish everything, the second oppose everything, the third fail in everything.

The New Moon.

The new moon coming between 2 and 4 p. m. means changeable weather in summer and in winter fair and pleasant weather.

Gothic Headgear.

In mediæval times, when the Gothic style of architecture prevailed, women were what might aptly be called Gothic headgear. The tall cones, some of them measuring fully four feet in height, with veils depending, were in the same lines as the castles and towns of the day.

THE ROCK OYSTER.

It Is Found in Only Two Places, Spain and Oregon.

The rock oyster is found only on the coasts of Spain and of Oregon. At Yaquina bay, a favorite summer resort of Oregonians, digging rock oysters is a regular pastime. In the early morning before the sun is high crowds armed with picks and shovels wend their way to the famous rock oyster beds. The state geologist of Oregon says of the rock oyster:

"Its scientific name is pholas. Like all bivalves, it has right and left valves, each having on its middle portion a triangular, rasplike valve. It is this rasplike organ that enables it to excavate and keep its burrow open. The rasp is not hard enough of itself to cut the rock, but the hard quartz sand that rests in the folds of the rasp gradually wears away the stone as fast as needed, corresponding with the growth of the oyster. When the eggs are hatched in the sea water they look like small patches of jellyfish and for several days swim about with the outlines of their future shells forming slowly about them. By instinct each looks for a vacant spot on a rock surface and when found he backs against it and goes into business. They are preferred to all other bivalves for the table, and, as they are found only in one place on the coast of Spain and at Yaquina, they are an unparalleled attraction."—Scientific American.

FOREIGNERS IN RUSSIA.

Obstacles That Are Placed in the Way of Their Investigations.

In relating an interview with a Russian official Ernest Poole says:

"The chancellor smiled.

"'Not long ago,' he replied, 'a gentleman came here with just such a letter. But meanwhile the governor had received different orders from some one else in Petersburg. The gentleman did not see the peasants.'

"'Let's get out of this,' I said, speaking low in English. 'Let's hire a sleigh and just begin looking as we did in those other villages. At least we can see something before we get expelled.'

"Unfortunately the chancellor caught my meaning.

"'If you try to see the peasants by yourself,' he said, 'you will not only be watched by the police, but some at least of the peasants to whom you talk will be our spies. We have telephones to every village, and at two hours at latest we shall know not only whom you have seen, but also what you yourselves have said. Meanwhile you will have been seized and thrown into a village jail awaiting our orders.' He smiled grimly. 'Our village police are rough fellows. They would doubtless flog you both in jail before we could inform them who you were. Of course we should be sorry for this and should reprimand them. But in the meantime, you see, you would have been flogged.'"

DEADLY POISONS.

Some Queer Drugs and the Uses to Which They Are Put.

"The venom of the rattlesnake has been known to cure locomotor ataxia and scarlet fever," said a chemist. "Homeopathic physicians often prescribe it.

"You know the curara, the deadly poison that the South American Indians smear on their arrow tips? Well, curara is very helpful in hydrophobia.

"There is a seaweed called 'bladderwrack.' They make of this an anti-fat, a marvelous anti-fat. By the use of this anti-fat I know a man who reduced his weight forty pounds in three months.

"There is a deadly fungus, the fly agaric, which unfortunate people sometimes eat in mistake for mushrooms. They make a medicine nitrate, which, injected under the skin, causes a copious flow of tears. French actresses in weeping scenes, such as 'La Dame aux Camelias,' have sometimes used this drug.

"Cocaine causes wakefulness. I once worked forty-eight hours at a stretch, thanks to cocaine. Cocea stimulates, exhilarates and removes all desire for food or drink. An Alpine guide will chew fifty or sixty grains of this deadly drug before commencing a difficult ascent."

The Shears.

A friend of Maurice Barrymore related an incident of his last meeting with the brilliant actor, which occurred only a short time before his faculties began to fail. As they were parting the newspaper man asked the other, "Where are you to be found nowadays—at the Players?" "No," replied Barrymore; "I'm posted at the Players, but you can always find me at the Lambs. As a matter of fact," he added whimsically, "I'm posted at the Lambs, too, but they temper the wind there."

Old Words With New Meanings.

After the teacher had carefully explained the familiar story she asked Tommy whether he expected to be among the sheep or the goats.

"How's a feller to tell," answered Tommy, "when his maw calls him a lamb and his paw says he is a pesky kid?"

A Poser.

Neil—Supposing, Uncle Septimus, that you knew two nice young men. One has lovely curly hair and a straight nose and the other looks simply adorable in his uniform. Supposing that they both wanted to marry you, which would you choose?—Punch.

A Good Prescription.

"Doctor, I wish you'd prescribe for my complexion."

"Certainly, madam," returned the doctor, and he wrote, "Let it alone."

Cold Water For Sprained Wrist.

A simple and efficacious remedy for a sprained wrist is to set water run upon it every morning for some minutes, holding the wrist as low beneath the mouth of the tap as possible, so that the water may have a good fall. After this has been done bandage it tightly, letting the bandage remain until the next ablution. The sprain will be reduced in a few days.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed, Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

$5.00 DOWN AND $5.00 PER MONTH FOR FOUR MONTHS WILL BUY 500 Shares OF STOCK WHICH MAY SOON BE WORTH $500.00

This opportunity to buy stock will not last always. Price will promptly advance May 1st, and shortly thereafter be withdrawn from the market.

A MOHAMMEDAN FUNERAL.

Ceremonies With Which a Body Is Consigned to the Grave.

When the life of a Mohammedan is ebbing away a distinguished reader of the Koran is summoned to recite aloud its chapter on the resurrection, so that the spirit of the person, on hearing it, may have an easy death. The Mohammedan believes that the vital principles of the whole system are concentrated in the head, when death is the result. The watchers at the bedside also read some passages, and then a drink of sherbet is given to the patient to lessen the pangs of death. As soon as the spark of life has fled, the two great toes are tied together with a thin strip of cloth, the mouth is closed, and incense is burned near the body.

The interment follows a few hours after death. The "washers" are men and women who wash and shroud the body and dig a hole in the earth to hold the water, so that it cannot spread very much, as it is considered unlucky to tread on this water. The washing is a great ceremony, and when finished the body is shrouded with even more ceremony. If there is a widow of the deceased, she returns the dowry her husband had given her. If the deceased's mother is present, she says, "The milk with which I suckled thee I freely bestow upon thee." Thus she resigns the debt of the deceased to her. When flowers have been placed on the body it is carried to the grave on a bier or, if the relatives can afford it, in a coffin. At the grave four creeds are recited, and the body, with the head to the north and the face looking toward Mecca, is laid on its back in its tomb. The grave is about seven feet long for both sexes, but the depth for a man is measured by the distance between his feet and chest; for a woman, between her feet and waist. If the body is too long for the grave, it is believed that the deceased must have been a great sinner.

Before the body is covered the Mohammedan takes a little earth and, throwing it into the grave, says, "We created you of earth, and we return you to the earth, and we shall raise you out of the earth on the day of resurrection." Then a mound is built to keep the earth in the grave from crushing the body, and water is sprinkled on it in three lines. Special prayers for the safe voyage of the deceased are offered after the burial. As in the case of a Hindoo funeral, the poor are not forgotten, both remembering the needy by distributing money, salt, rice and wheat among them after the funeral.

The Prague Clock.

Since the middle of the fifteenth century the city of Prague has possessed a remarkable clock, the machinery of which is most complicated. The dial, which is between six and eight feet across, has a number of hands, which mark not only the minutes and the hours, but also the days, months, years and centuries. Of this clock a poet tells us:

At the left of the dial a skeleton stands,
And aloft hangs a musical bell in the tower,
Which he rings by a rope that he holds in his hands
In his punctual function of striking the hour.
But the funniest sight of the numerous sights
Which the clock has to show to the people below
Is the holy apostles, in tunics and tights,
Who revolve in a ring or proceed in a row.

Wheat in China.

Chinese writers claim that the cultivation of wheat was introduced into the Celestial empire by the Emperor Shinnung 2,700 years before Christ.

For the Canary.

If you want your pet canary to sing his best and look his prettiest, feed him occasionally with hard boiled eggs chopped fine and mixed with cracker crumbs. Do not give him more than a thimbleful of the mixture at a time.

Oil For Clocks.

To prepare oil for clocks put a quarter of a pint of limewater and a pint of oil in a bottle, shake it well and let it stand for five days. Then draw off the oil for use.

The Parthian Cavalry.

The most famous cavalry of antiquity were the Parthians. Their invasion of Judaea, 40 B. C., resulted in such terrible devastation of the country that 100 years later the terrors of the Parthian invasion gave the apostle John the idea for one of his most vivid pictures.

Ivan the Terrible.

Ivan II. of Russia was known as the Terrible from the barbarous character of the warfare he made upon the surrounding nations and the severity with which he dealt with rebellious subjects.

Salt.

Salt was first boiled in this country at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1787.

The "Bay Psalms Book."

The first book printed in the limits of the United States was the "Bay Psalms Book," which was issued in Cambridge, Mass., in 1640. Specimens of this publication are extremely rare and command very high prices.

Perpetual Sunshine.

Perpetual sunshine occurs on the coast of Peru, where, although it may be misty occasionally, the blue sky is always visible through this whitish veil. Perpetual sunshine when the sun is above the horizon also exists in the Sahara, the great desert of Africa, and in the other rainless regions of the earth.

Creaking Timbers.

The creaking of the timbers in a building is a tolerably sure indication of coming rainy weather.

Lame Monarchs.

Agesilaus of Sparta was known in his time as "the Lame," on account of a slight physical deformity. For the same cause Albert II. of Austria, Charles II. of Naples and Heinrich II. of Germany received a similar designation.

Straw Paper.

The first straw paper made in this country was manufactured in 1828.

A Hindostan Hero.

The "era of Salivahana Saka" began A. D. 78. He was a famous ruler of the Deccan and a liberal patron of the arts, sciences and literature. Throughout the south of Hindustan this era is very generally employed.

Vanilla Extract.

To make one's own extract of vanilla secure five Tonquin beans and a vanilla bean, clip them and put them into a bottle with ten ounces of alcohol, six ounces of water and three of sugar. Let the mixture remain from six to eight weeks, shaking it frequently; then strain, and it is ready to use.

Mississippi.

Mississippi has been called the Bayou State from the long stretches of almost stagnant water—back water of the Mississippi river—found within the limits of the state.

Our First Stage Line.

The first stage line was between New York and Philadelphia, and bimonthly trips were first made in 1760.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (excepting 8 and 26), not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give SIX months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1,500x1,500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

ELECTION STRATEGY.

An Incident of an English Parliamentary Contest.

In the days before the institution of the secret ballot, when the candidate with the longest purse usually won an election, a former Lord Dundonald, who refused to give bribes, contested Honiton, but was beaten by an opponent who paid his electors at the rate of £5 a vote.

Then the unsuccessful candidate conceived this brilliant plan, says the writer of a history of the Dundonald family. He announced to his friends that he was quite determined to win the seat next time without bribery. Then he sent the town crier round the town to announce that all who had voted for him in this first election might repair to his agent, from whom they would receive £10.

As comparatively few people had voted for him, this was not a very expensive process. And at the next election Lord Dundonald was elected by an enormous majority. After the triumph several people came to him and delicately suggested that some reward was due to such loyalty.

"Not a farthing," was the reply.

"But, my lord, you gave £10 a head to the minority at the last election, and the majority have been counting on something handsome on this occasion."

"Perhaps so," said the clever candidate. "My former gift was for their disinterested conduct in not taking my opponent's bribe of £5. For me to pay them now would be to violate my own principles."—Pearson's.

"HOOKS", HIS PLUNDER.

The Way the Sneak Thief in Mexico Plies His Trade.

In Mexico the sneak thief has his business down to a science. The favored manner of stealing is from the houses. Most of the buildings are but one story high, and the doors are kept closed and locked. The windows are as large as the doors and extend to the floor. To keep the thieves out of the house they are protected with heavy iron bars, but the Mexican sneak thief has found a way to overcome this difficulty.

Because of the lowness of the window he can look into the room and "spot" the articles he wishes. Then he waits until the occupant of the room is in some other part of the house. A bamboo pole about as long as a fishing rod is produced, to which is attached a piece of string with a fish hook on the end.

The thief, by practice, can cast the hook so that it will catch on almost any article in the room, no matter how far it may be from the window. Slowly it is drawn forward and pulled through the bars.

In this manner articles are taken off the bureau or tables, rugs snatched from the floor and bedclothes from the bed. Clothing left on chairs or hanging on the wall is easily removed. The thieves do not even wait until the occupants are out of the room in all cases. There have been cases where men and women who were undressing in their rooms have lost clothing while their backs were turned to the window.

Intimations.

No member of the British parliament is permitted to say bluntly and directly that another is drunk, but he may hint at the fact in periphrase, as when Mr. Gladstone, replying to an unconventional speech of Disraeli's, remarked, "The right honorable gentleman has evidently had access to sources of inspiration that are not open to me." A violent scene was caused in the parliament of Victoria, Australia, by a labor member saying of a legal colleague, "The honorable and learned gentleman was once called to the bar, and he has since gone frequently without being called." The angry barrister retorted, "You tea drinking skunk!" Eventually both withdrew and apologized.

The Aurora Borealis.

The ancients viewed the aurora borealis with superstitious awe, looking upon it as an omen of direful disaster. It is not unusual for descriptions of old time battles to mention the fact that the "curious red 'northern lights' gave us warning that something awful was about to happen." In the annals of Clan-Mac-Nolse is to be found an account of a purple aurora which lighted up the northern skies in the year 688 A. D. on the night preceding the dreadful battle fought by the Irish tribes of Leinster and Munster, and it is not necessary to mention the fact that the people took it as an omen of the great slaughter which soon followed.

A French Characteristic.

Now, what I like so much in France is the clear, unflinching recognition by everybody of his own lack. They all know on which side their bread is buttered and take a pleasure in showing it to others, which is surely the better part of religion. And they scorn to make a poor mouth over their poverty, which I take to be the better part of manliness.—Stevenson.

SHUTTING OUT THE SEA.

The Massive Sea Wall That Stretches Around Galveston.

Stretching around the eastern limits and continuing entirely along the southern side of Galveston is its massive sea wall, standing as an impregnable defense and an insurmountable barrier against even the greatest storm ever known to have occurred in the gulf, says a writer in Marine Review. This wall symbolizes in its firm construction on a solid foundation not only the absolute future safety of the city, but also that unwavering confidence and unshaken belief of Galvestonians in this location as the supreme harbor of the star empire and the gateway for the vast and limitless resources of the great southwest. The city sea wall was begun Oct. 27, 1902, and the work was completed July 29, 1904, having been carried to a successful conclusion in three months less than the contracted time, which, considering the magnitude of the undertaking, is noteworthy. As an extension of the sea wall around the city of Galveston, the United States government appropriated $501,000 to build about one mile more of wall along the beach in front of Fort Crockett and the federal reserve adjoining the city on the west. The total length of the sea wall is about four and a half miles. It is sixteen feet wide at base, curving to five feet in width at the top, being seventeen feet above mean low tide and one foot higher than in the 1900 storm.

NATURE'S HOUSE CLEANING.

Rainy Season In Caracas the City's Sanitary Salvation.

Just what Caracas would do without its rainy season I cannot imagine, for the city is far from being clean and sanitary. Garbage is thrown into the yards for the vultures to feed upon, dust and papers accumulate in the streets, and the visitor is about to pronounce the city the dirtiest he has ever seen when nature suddenly decides to put things to rights. An ordinary rainfall would not suffice now. A thorough flushing is needed, and nothing short of a deluge will do it.

But somewhere up in the mountain tops the deluge is forming, and presently a great black vapor overspreads the valley. It comes slowly at first, as if to warn the people to go indoors, but when it has acquired sufficient density it falls. In a moment almost the streets and courtyards are flooded, the fantastic waterspouts that overhang the sidewalks pour out their streams like gigantic kettle spouts, and loud is the noise of the splashing and spattering.

Half an hour later one tiptoes along the shiny pavements, as if over a newly scrubbed floor. Above him is a sky of spotless blue, while the only clouds to be seen are insignificant patches of white along the mountain sides. Yet in an incredibly short space of time the whole process may be repeated.—George M. L. Brown in St. Nicholas.

GOOD MUSIC.

It Is Often a Tonic and Always a Character Builder.

Good music is a powerful tonic to many people, especially those suffering from melancholia. It lifts them out of their solemn moods, dispels gloom and despondency, kills discouraged feelings and gives new hope, new life and new vigor. It seems to put a great many people into proper tune. It gives them the keynote of truth and beauty, strikes the chords of harmony, dispels discord from the life, scatters clouds and brings sunshine.

All good music is a character builder because its constant suggestion of harmony, order and beauty puts the mind into a normal attitude. Music clears the cobwebs out of many minds, so that they can think better, act better and live better. Some writers are dependent upon music for their inspiration and their moods. Somehow it brings the muse to them. It adds brilliancy to the brain and facility to the pen, which they cannot seem to get in any other way.

Good music seems to give us a touch of the divine and to put us in contact with divinity. It drives out evil thoughts, making us ashamed of them. It lifts us above petty annoyances and little worries of life and gives us a glimpse of the ideal which the actual is constantly obscuring.—Success.

A Convalescent's Bedtime.

A convalescent patient should never be permitted to sit up late at night. After the evening meal it is well for all visitors to be excluded from the room, and the patient's mind should be kept as free from excitement as possible. The hour for retiring should be early and such means employed for aiding sleep as may be directed by the physician. A glass of hot milk at bedtime is often a good device for promoting sleep.

London.

London was a place of importance even under the Romans and was famed for its great commerce as early as the first century of the Christian era. From the Romans it received municipal institutions which have endured in their main features to the present day. In Saxon times it was, in reality, a small independent state.

Avoiding a Shock.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 25 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, as is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

"But I do know, Reine, and I can bear the torture no longer of being near you if there is no possibility of winning you."

A thrill shot through Reine's heart. "We cannot go on dreaming like the lotus-eaters forever," he continued.

Reine drew a long breath. How could she withstand his ardent pleading when her heart yearned for him so strongly! "Have you an answer for me, Reine?" he whispered.

"I am not worthy, Bernard," she faltered. "I once threw away your love. Would you—could you—trust me after that?"

For answer he raised the sweet face to his and kissed away the pearly tears, murmuring loving words over her.

She attempted to struggle out of his arms, for she saw her aunt coming down the path, but her laughing, happy lover held her fast.

When Mrs. Woodstock saw them, she knew that the ardent hope of her life was to be realized, yet she could not refrain from crying out, with many a ha! ha! ha!—

"Why, what in the world does such a scene as this mean? Bernard? Reine! explain this situation at once."

"It means, dear madam," said the happy lover, proudly, "that my long devotion and deep love are to be rewarded at last. Reine has promised to become my wife."

"Thank Heaven!" exclaimed Mrs. Woodstock, fervently. "I have always said God brings together soon or late, the hearts he intended for each other." With these words she left them.

The hour they spent sitting side by side on the rustic seat by the murmuring fountain, building bright air-castles of a rosy future, was the happiest they were ever to know.

How great is the wisdom of God that the dark beyond is all unknown to us!

CHAPTER XXXI.

It was decided at length that the marriage should take place at once. Aunt Rachel demurred greatly at losing her neice so soon, but the impulsive lover declared he had waited altogether too long for his bride already, that delays were dangerous, and he must claim Reine at once.

He could hardly restrain his impatience at the time it took to prepare the elegant trousseau.

The grand wedding was to take place at Mrs. Woodstock's new villa in Richmond, and the preparations were going on, on a magificent scale.

All the country side had been invited, just as they had been invited to attend the other wedding so long ago, where Bernard Cheseigh was to have been the happy groom, and lovely, golden-haired Reine the bride. More than one vaguely wondered how this affair would end.

And the vague, uneasy speculations grew as the wedding day drew nigh, and heavy storms, which were unusual at that season of the year, set in.

At length the day before the grand event dawned, and the storm increased in its wild fury, showing no signs of abating on the morrow.

Many watched the fearful warring of the elements with troubled faces, the old adage recurring to them—"Unhappy is the bride the rain falls on."

Reine watched the scene from the window with smiling lips. The storm had laid the roses low in the garden. The tree-bent earthward, nearly stripped of their green foliage. Still Reine smiled, despite her maid's anxious face.

"Signs of good or evil omen do not count for much," she said. "I have no faith in them. My wedding day will be a happy one, even if the sun does refuse to shine."

"The Lord grant it," replied the maid, fervently.

"I shall not need you any more to-night," said Reine, pleasantly, although it was only dusk. "Come to me early to-morrow morning, Amy."

The girl courtesied and left her young mistress. Ah me! How little she dreamed under what thrilling scenes she was to pass, and what tragic events were to transpire ere she looked upon Reine's face again.

Reine drew the heavy silken curtains, and turned away from the window, for it had grown dark while she stood there.

"To-morrow is my wedding day," she murmured, uncoiling her long golden hair before the mirror, and running her slim white fingers through its luxurious masses. "How kind Heaven is to me to let me be happy with my love at last."

The words had scarcely died on her lips ere a paragraph in a crumpled bit of newspaper lying on the mantel caught her eye, and held her spell-bound.

For one moment the darkness of death seemed to enfold her. Her heart almost seemed to cease beating, and stand still. The wild rose bloom faded from her cheeks like a pale blossom of the lightning's blast. The light died from her blue eyes, and the joy from her heart.

Slowly, steadily, she put out her poor, white hands and grasped the bit of paper, sinking down upon the nearest seat, and smoothing it out over her knee.

One instant a hot gush of tears blinded her eyes, but she brushed them away, bending her burning eyes on the printed page.

There were but a few lines, but they were a death-knell to a human heart—death in life.

Like one who has received a dagger-thrust in the heart, she read the cruel words; and each letter seemed branded on her brain in letters of scorching fire. It read as follows:

"We are pleased to announce that the story of the tragic death of Waldemar Waldron, the young heir of the Towers, which went the rounds of the press some time since, is entirely without foundation. Instead of meeting death in the sea waves which carried him out from shore, he clung to the wreck of a spar; and was picked up by an outward bound vessel bound for a foreign coast. After a long and tedious illness he set sail once more for his native land, and will arrive at his estate in Virginia—Waldron Towers — to-day, accompanied by a party of friends."

Alive! Reine crushed back her misery—trying to thank God his life had been spared—but the words died on her lips in a moan.

She looked at the date of the paper—it was that evening's. In the excitement of the preparation for the morrow's wedding no one had thought of taking time to read it, and consequently it had become torn.

Could it be that a mistake had been made? She buried her death-cold face in her trembling hands, with a bitter, gasping sob.

To-morrow was to have been her wedding-day. She was to have been married to the man she loved. Had Heaven swept them apart by an insurmountable barrier—a second time?

"I cannot, I will not believe it. I will go myself to Waldron Towers and see if it be true. If it is—"

Heaven forgive her the thought that crept into her heart—she was so sorely tried.

PHYSICAL HARMONY.

Therein Lies the Secret of Health and Long Life.

The necessity of relative harmony throughout the entire physical system cannot be too strongly urged. Herein lies the chief secret of health and long life. Manifest weakness or even predominant strength in any part opens the avenue for the invasion of disease and the approach of death. What can be done for the realization and maintenance of structural and vital harmony? Space would fail us to give details adapted to varying conditions, but the underlying fundamental principle for its accomplishment may be imparted in few words. Strive to strengthen and develop those parts of the body which have been slighted by nature or weakened by disease or abuse; guard zealously such structures and see that they are never subjected to undue strain or too active exertion; neglect not the improvement of every part of the economy, but seek first to improve the weakest structures; look well to organs of vital importance—the heart, lungs, kidneys, etc.—and seek especially to advance their good. A fine physique is not to be ignored, but of far greater importance are a strong pair of lungs, a normal, well guarded heart, good digestive apparatus and functionally sound kidneys. The developing and strengthening of vital structures require more skill and perseverance than the training of the muscular system and should be conducted with much care and diligence.

The Average Baby's Size.

An average child measures about nineteen and a half inches at birth if a boy and half an inch less if a girl. A child increases more rapidly in length during the first week than at any subsequent period, and should gain an inch during the first month of its life.

Flour.

The finest flour is not the most nutritious, for, while it contains the most starch, the albuminoids and other nutritious elements are almost lacking.

The Printers' Bible.

The "Printers' Bible" is so called because it contains a curious typographical error in the one hundred and sixty-first verse of the One Hundred and Nineteenth Psalm, which is made to read, "Printers have persecuted me without a cause," instead of "princes."

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 406 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now on route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionaires in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

Lacrosse Booming This Year.

Local lacrosse enthusiastics are prophesying great doings in the athletic game here this summer. Already things point to a great game on Riverside park on Victoria day. Now that the weather has changed, it is altogether likely the home team will begin their practice stunts early this week.

Blacksmith Shop Burglarized.

Thieves broke into Mr. McCallis' smith shop, George street, on Friday night, by smashing the front door lock. The midnight mechanics, who are believed to be the gang that entered the Canadian Canoe factory, seemed to have thoroughly overhauled the shop without getting anything that stuck to their fingers.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—The Charity Board will meet this evening.

—The license commissioners meet this afternoon.

—Trout fishing opens tomorrow, and such fishing is legal, with rod and line until Sept. 14th.

—A valuable dog, pedigree unknown, was killed on the Lakefield branch of the G.T.R. Saturday morning.

—What some of our friends from the country next Saturday remember their city cousins who have yard room!

—The steamer Rainbow brought up about sixty passengers to the city from Bridgeport and intervening points on Saturday morning.

—The time for Scott tangle ag is growing very short. Don't take too much today because you will have to pay 10 cents tomorrow.

—Pay your dog tax before May 1st or there will be an unpleasant interview with his worship of the police court, involving an expenditure of $2.

—Capt. Frank Young, of the steamer Stoney Lake, Young's Point, states that the outlook for this season is good, and that more persons than ever would visit Stony Lake.

—Lakefield News says: A regular meeting of Clementi Lodge, A.F. & A.M., will be held in the lodge room on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. A number of degrees will be worked and R. W. Bro. J. Hall, D.D.G.M. will pay his official visit.

—There will be a number of new steam and gasoline yachts on the go this summer, and rumor has it that considerable speed rivalry is developing. There will be "something doing" when Sturgeon Point regatta day comes round.—Lindsay Post.

—Miss Irene Noble has presented a number of valuable curiosities to Victoria museum, including sample of old Mexican pottery, and articles from California, Bermuda, Italy and other countries. It is a generous contribution.

Lakefield Man Escapes Shock.

Graham, superintendent of the public schools of The city of Pasadena, in Southern California, that although only 500 miles away from the terrible catastrophe which befell San Francisco, that this shock was not felt in that city.

Queen Insurance Co. Lost Heavily.

Mr. W. H. Hill, the well known local representative of the Queen Insurance Co., Montreal, has received word from the head office that in the San Francisco fire, the loss of the company will amount in round figures to $1,200,000.

The individual losses will be paid as speedily as possible, in accordance with the well-known modus operandi of the company.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

Well Known St. Paul Broker Now Has Good Proposition to Offer.

Those seeking for lucrative investment at good mining propositions with a reputable agent, well versed in many classes of safe securities would profitably read the advertisement in this issue of Mr. R. B. Higbee, the well known St. Paul, Minn., broker.

Mr. Higbee is now making a specialty of his Manhattan Company, and those wishing to get in with him "on the ground floor," can do so for a limited time only. It is possible now to get one thousand shares for $50, and large blocks of stock at the same rate.

Mr. Higbe, who is well qualified by past extensive experience, to judge, writes that he considers this the best chance now offered to investors or speculators.

Mr. Hamilton's Condition the Same.

By an unfortunate error in our issue of Saturday we noted that "Mr. Thompson" was in a regrettably low state of health in St. Joseph's Hospital. This notice, of course, should have read "Mr. Hamilton," and referred to the well known popular insurance man who some weeks ago had a serious operation performed in St. Joseph's hospital. A telephone communication received from the hospital yesterday, said that Mr. Hamilton's condition showed very little change during the past 48 hours.

Local Turf Club is up to Date.

The Peterboro Turf Club, in order to make things easy for their members and strangers working out their horses at the local track, have completed arrangements with Mr. Parker, the local bicycle repairer, whereby he will not only repair bicycle safety wheels and other parts of the same, but will keep in stock parts of such vehicles as racing men use.

Mr. Shepherd Gone for the Coin.

Mr. R. H. Shepherd of the C.G.E. Co., who as before noted a few columns, recently came in for a nice legacy of some $30,000 by the death of an aunt, Miss Robinson of Kendal England has left for the old country to take possession of his own. Mr. Shepherd may stay in England for good.

Literary Note.

"Ralph D. Paine, the author of 'The Praying Skipper and Other Stories,' recently issued by The Outing Publishing Company, has received a letter from M. Jacques des Gachones, editor of the French magazine, Je sais tout, asking permission to translate and publish his story, 'The Last Pilot Schooner.' This story is included in the volume mentioned and was originally published in McClure's Magazine. "M. Gachones says of this story: 'It is so touching, vivid, and picturesque that it cannot fail to please French readers, even in a translation.'" is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

In obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the frontier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

THE ELECTRIC PARK AMMUSEMENT CO. offers $100,000 of its capital stock at par to the public. This stock is secured by $250,000 of actual value in real estate, in addition to $150,000 worth of permanent improvements, buildings, railways, canoe storage building, etc., and a permanent pier with a theater and pavillion. Three-quarters of a million sightseers will spend from ten cents to one dollar each in Electric Park and Pier this summer. There were over 8,000,000 paid admissions to Chicago's White City last season, each visitor spending an average of sixty-six and two-third cents. White City's investment was repaid in full in one year, and Chicago's White City is located 16 miles from the center of the city. Electric Park is in the heart of Detroit, at the only land approach to Belle Isle The new and enlarged Electric Park and Pier will have greater drawing powers by reason of better attractions and more accessible location, with much less expense. A quarter of a million Canadians visit Detroit every summer. No more than this allotment of $100,000 of stock will now be placed upon the market. ## Taschereau Resigns Fitzpatrick Suceeds

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth Likely to Become Minister of Justice When Mr. Fitzpatrick Goes on the Bench as Chief Justice of Canada.

Ottawa, April 30.—Sir Elzear Taschereau, Chief Justice of Canada, who has been on sick leave for some time past, has resigned his seat on the Supreme Court Bench. In accordance with the established practice both in England and in this country, the Minister of Justice will have the refusal of the position, and although not official statement is yet made upon the subject, the current impression is that Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick will make the change. The latter has been a member of the Laurier Cabinet for ten years, and it is said that the strain attending the administration of an important department and the exacting nature of Mr. Fitzpatrick's part in parliament have told to some degree upon his health, and made the change a work very welcome in his own interests.

In the event of Mr. Fitzpatrick's going on the Supreme Court, he will, undoubtedly, be succeeded as Minister of Justice by Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, the distinguished Toronto lawyer who entered the Government a few months ago as Postmaster-General. It was understood when Mr. Aylesworth came into the Cabinet that he would replace Mr. Fitzpatrick in the event of the latter's retirement from politics. Mr. Aylesworth's eminent fitness for the Attorney-Generalship post will, it is said, be recognized by his colleagues. There will be a general consensus of opinion that no better man could be had for the post of Justice-ship than Mr. Fitzpatrick, should the latter accept the appointment.

The retiring chief justice is seventy years of age, and has been on the bench for the past 35 years. His first appointment was to Quebec, but since 1878 he has sat upon the highest court of the Dominion. He succeeded Sir Henry Strong as the chief justiceship some four years ago. On several occasions he has acted as Deputy Governor during the temporary absences of his Excellency the Governor-General from the capital. During the interval, too, between the departure of the Earl of Minto and the arrival of Earl Grey he served as administrator of the Government of Canada. Sir Henri was called to the bar in 1857, and ten years later was raised to the dignity of a Q.C. From 1861 to 1867 he was a member of the Legislative Assembly of the old Province of Canada prior to Confederation, and was one of those supporting the resolutions of Macdonald and Cartier that led up to the union of the scattered provinces in what now comprise the Dominion of Canada.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

At yesterday's police court there was but one prisoner in the dock, viz. John Green, who was found drunk early yesterday morning in a public place. "How did he get drunk so early Monday morning?" asked his Worship. "Well," replied the chief, "P. C. Stewart arrested him, and I can vouch for it, that he is drunk now." "Yes," said the magistrate, "You are drunk as a fly now, this is the wind up of a Sunday drunk, so I'll fine you $5 to be paid forthwith, or 15 days in jail if your friends want to get you out they will pay your fine."

John who is a iron moulder, went to the mill.

FURTHER ACCOUNTS

Mr. W. P. Gross Hears From Mrs. Wallace, Riverside, Cal.

Still another resident of the stricken district of California, and again a descendent of a well-known citizen, sends a graphic account of the earthquake's ravages in California.

The writer is Mrs. Wallace, daughter of the late George Johnston, a former chief of police of this city. The recipient of the letters, two in number, is Mr. W. F. Green, of Water street, cousin to Mrs. Wallace.

The writer, who lives at Riverside, Cal., says, in part;

"I suppose you have heard of the terrible earthquake that has overtaken San Francisco. Three of Riverside's doctors were up at the ruins, and for two days there was great anxiety regarding their safety, but they escaped, and returned Friday morning. A great many here have friends and relatives in the city, and some they have not heard from, so they are very anxious. One gentleman told me that his wife had a brother there—an artist—and his studio was right in the heart of the city. She can get no tidings from him, so he is going up there next week to see if he can get any trace of him. This is only one of the many anxious cases. The shock was not felt here."

It might be noted, and with pleasure, that Mrs. Johnston is in fairly good health.

SAW A MOOSE FROM THE TRAIN

Passengers Near Norton Village, New Brunswick, Witnessed Rather Novel Sight.

Passengers on one of the New Brunswick Railway and Coal Company's trains between Chipman and its connection with the Intercolonial Railway at Norton, saw from the car windows an interesting sight a few days ago when the train was nearing Norton.

The brakesman noticed a splendid bull moose, and a cow moose standing in the middle of a clearing not more than a moose's throw away gazing at the train and apparently not in the least disturbed. He drew the attention of a well known commercial traveller to the sight, and the latter's exclamations of complete astonishment attracted all the other passengers, who crowded the doors and windows to observe the animals. The Monarch of the Canaan woods, and his gentle lady watched the train out of sight, and were not at all embarassed by the sensation they created. When the shrill tooting of the locomotive whistle failed to scare them. Probably they were aware it was the close season.

A GOOD DEBATE

Peterboro Philomathean Society Has Interesting Meeting.

Yesterday afternoon the Philomathean Society, in connection with the Peterboro Collegiate Institute, and one of the most interestingly educational bodies in the city, held another bright meeting, replete with good music and sparkling wit.

The meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. Hall was presided over by Mr. Stanley Fife, president. The minutes of last meeting were read by Miss Carlisle, the secretary.

THE PROGRAM.

A very interesting program was presented as follows;

Recitation—Maggie Edwards.
Piano Solo—Katie Leary.
Debate—"Resolved that city people are greener in the country than country people are in the city;"

Affirmative, Lower I.—Frances Stone, Katie Leary, A. Bravender, A. Sawers.

Negative, Upper I.—Kathleen Burgett, Fred Hall, E. Coughlin, H. Johnston.

The judges rendered a verdict in favor of the affirmative.

Club Swinging—Miss Sylvia Adams.
Vocal Solo—M. Theobald.
Recitation—F. Rattey.

Supplies to Frisco's Homeless.

Montreal, April 30.—The Canadian Pacific Railway authorities have received a telegram to the effect that the steamship Amur, which was placed by the railway company at the disposal of the merchants of Victoria and Vancouver, for the carriage of supplies to the sufferers at San Francisco, left Vancouver yesterday with only twenty-five tons of vacant space which was to be filled at Victoria.

SANTA ROSA NEWS

Mr. H. P. Kennedy Gets Letters From His Brother, the Evangelist.

As noted in an issue of The Times published some weeks ago, Mr. H. D. Kennedy, the eloquent evangelist and writer is living near Santa Rosa, Cal.

Last week, Mr. H. P. Kennedy, his brother, of this city, received two letters from them, dated from Sebastopol, situated about forty miles north of San Francisco, and where Mr. H. D. Kennedy, is now conducting evangelistic services, saying that much damage was done to buildings, but no persons were killed. Several were injured. Business is practically at a standstill. At Santa Rosa, the damage was much greater, houses being levelled to the ground and over one hundred persons met death. Business all over the state is practically suspended.

$5,000,000 Jews to Die.

Moscow, May 1.—The congress of monarchists which has been in session here closed its deliberations yesterday with the adoptions of a series of extremely reactionary resolutions, declaring that the new parliament is not representative of Russian public opinion and producing itself against the autonomy of Poland. The congress further declared itself in favor of treating Jews as foreigners and excluding them from all rights.

The proceedings closed with a speech by Prof. Nicholsky, a noted reactionary, in which, to the accompaniment of cheers he prophesied a counter revolution to restore the old regime, which would cost the lives of 5,000,000 Jews and Constitutional Democrats.

CANADA'S LUMBER INDUSTRY

Will Admit Canadian Lumber Free of Duty.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—The vast lumber interests of the North-West represented by the North Pine Manufacturers' Association, which already have contributed large sums to the relief fund of the San Francisco sufferers in all probability will give additional evidence of their generosity toward the stricken district in a few days. This will be by withholding all opposition to a bill which will be presented to the Congress providing for a rebate of the duty on Canadian lumber, which may be used in rebuilding the districts of San Francisco devasted by fire and earthquake.

It is understood that representative members of the Northern Pine Manufacturers' Association have been approached on this proposition within a day or two by enquiries from Washington, and that they have given hearty assurances that they would not for a moment oppose such a measure if it should be introduced.

RUSHING RAILWAY WORK

Contractors for Grand Trunk Pacific Busy Shipping Outfits.

Montreal, April 30.—The Grand Trunk Railway are losing neither time nor effort in their endeavors to push the construction of the new transcontinental railroad, and Mr. Harry Fetter, who is superintendent of construction for Foley Bros. & Larsen, states that construction is to be commenced immediately on the G. T. P. from Saskatoon to Battle River, and that 5,000 men and railroaders will be working out of Edmonton not later than August 1st. Twenty-nine cars of the grading outfit are already on the way. The first consignment of two cars was received on April 24th, at the Canadian Northern Railroad yards and the balance are expected immediately. The steel will follow on the graders just as fast as the road is gotten into shape. The whole construction of the transcontinental will be rushed as fast as men, teams and money can do it.

WORLD'S GREATEST EARTHQUAKES

Earthquakes are among the most common phenomena in the world, scientists estimating that from 30 to 50 occur on the earth's surface every day. Fortunately, however, the vast majority of them are very slight. Some of the most destructive recorded in history are noted below:

63 A.D.—Herculaneum and Pompeii partially destroyed by violent shock.
105—Four Asiatic, two Grecian and two Galatian cities overturned.
358—Nicodemia destroyed, with all its inhabitants.
557—Thousands perished in Constantinople.
742—Over 500 towns destroyed in Syria, Palestine and Asia; awful loss of life.
1137—At Catania, Sicily, 15,000 buried in the ruins.
1138—In Syria, 20,000 perished.
1156—A Calabrian city and all its inhabitants overwhelmed in the Adriatic.
1284—In Cilita, 60,000 perished.
1456—Naples, 40,000 killed.
1531—Lisbon, 30,000 buried in city's ruins.
1596—Thousands perished in Japan.
1626—Thirty towns near Naples destroyed; 70,000 killed.
1667—At Schamaki, 80,000 perished in shocks within three months.
1692—Port Royal, Jamaica, destroyed; 3,000 lost.
1693—Fifty-four cities and towns and 200 villages destroyed in Sicily; 100,000 lives lost.
1703—Jeddo, Japan, ruined; 200,000 dead.
1716—At Algiers, 20,000 dead.
1731—At Peking, 100,000 swallowed up.
1746—Lima and Callao demolished; 18,000 buried in the ruins.
1754—At Grand Cairo, 40,000 perished.
1755—Kanchan, North Persia, destroyed; 40,000 killed.
1755—Lisbon practically wiped out within eight minutes. Upward of 50,000 perished in the ruins and by being ingulfed by a tremendous seismic wave. The shock was felt as far as Scotland, and many cities suffered severely. In Morocco more than 12,000 persons lost their lives.
1759—Baalbec, in Syria, destroyed; 20,000 dead.
1797—All the country from Santa Fe to Panama shaken; 40,000 dead.
1812—At Caracas, 12,000 lives lost.
1822—Aleppo destroyed with 20,000 of its inhabitants.
1842—At Cape Haytien, Santo Domingo, two-thirds of the town destroyed; 5,000 dead.
1857—Over 10,000 killed in Calabria.
1868—Many towns in Peru and Ecuador wiped out; 25,000 persons perished.
1891—In Japan, 10,000 dead.
1896—North-west of Japan, 1,000 perished by earthquake and over 20,000 by attendant seismic wave.
1905—Northern India, 400 perished.
1905—Several towns in Calabra district, 500 killed, thousands rendered homeless.
1906—Formosa, 2,000 killed, $45,000,000 damages.
1906—San Francisco, 350 killed, $400,000,000 damages.

The Best Guaranty of Merit Is Open Publicity.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities.

The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, overworked, broken-down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles resulting from indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol or any harmful, habit-forming drug, as will be seen from a glance at the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians prescribe the above, non-secret medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them—people who would not think of using the ordinary patent, or secret medicines. Every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines has the strongest kind of an endorsement from leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. No other medicines put up for like purposes has any such professional endorsement.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." Easy to take as candy.

MR. REYNOLD'S DEATH

Prominent Norwood Citizen Passes Away.

On Sunday morning one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Norwood, passed away in the person of Mr. P. W. Reynolds, who for a great many years had been identified with the interests of Norwood and practically all his long residence.

About a week ago the deceased was stricken with la grippe, was unable to stand the strain, owing materially to an illness, some months ago, when he had a severe attack of typhoid fever.

The late Mr. Reynolds was about three years ago, a merchant in Norwood, and has always enjoyed the respect of the citizens. For many years he served as a member of the school board and was for some time treasurer of that body. He was a prominent Liberal in politics.

The late Mr. Reynolds is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Harry Buck, and Miss Grace Reynolds, all of whom live in Norwood.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock, from his late residence to the Norwood cemetery.

DISMISSED WITH COSTS

W. SNOWDEN SUES FOR LOSS BY DAMAGES TO HIS BUS.

Jury Gives Verdict in Favor of Peterboro Radial Railway Co. Defendants With Costs.

Yesterday afternoon at two o'clock the case in which Mr. Wm. Snowden sued the Peterboro Radial Railway Co. for damages, was begun, His Honor Judge Weller presiding. This case it will be remembered arose from alleged damages done to a hotel bus belonging to plaintiff, by a car belonging to defendants.

Mr. Denniscoun appeared for the company and Mr. Dumble for Mr. Snowden.

The jury was composed of Messrs;

D. Doherty.
Alex. Dixon.
V. E. Daly.
D. Dawe.
Thos. Dixon.

Mr. Dumble opened the proceedings by explaining that the action was brought for damages done to the client's bus, when carrying up from the C.P.R. station. The driver claims that conveyance going south, caused a stoppage, and he tried to cross the track to get to its destination. It cost about $70 to repair the bus. He claimed that the car was going at an immoderate rate of speed, although approaching a crossing, and did not sound their gong to warn those crossing.

Edward McDonald, the first witness said, to Mr. Dumble, he was, on February 12th, driving Mr. Snowden's bus. At eight a.m., he was coming up George street, just between two busses going the same way. At Sherbrook street he met a rig coming the other way. The bus in front of him had to stop to avoid the approaching rig, so he had to turn his bus to one side. Saw a car approaching towards him, and as he crossed the track the car hit the hub of the hind wheel of his bus. The car was not checked nor was there any gong rung. The car was going at rapid speed. The wheel was knocked right under the bus; he was thrown off the bus.

To Mr. Denniscoun, witness said he knew he was on the wrong side of the road, but for safety. He went on this side for safety's sake. Could not see up the track because the National bus was ahead of him. The car was about 75 feet away. The car went about four car lengths before stopping, after hitting the bus. Did not see whether anyone was on the car. His hearing is good and so is his eyesight.

To Mr. Dumble the "right of the road," as to right and left sides has not been observed in this city.

Quite a passage of arms here took place between Mr. Denniscoun and Mr. Dumble as no alleged leading questions put to the witness by the former.

I. Elliott, bus driver of the National Hotel, was driving from the C.P.R. station that morning. His bus was right ahead of the Snowden House bus. The busses all winter took the left-hand side of the road. He saw a street car coming, at about King street. The car was coming about 12 miles an hour, and sounded no gong. He saw the motorman, talking to a man behind, jump to his brake. The car ran ahead about 150 yards after striking the Snowden House bus.

To Mr. Denniscoun, saw a rig coming to him, before the car reached him.

Alex. Reid then went into the box. On this morning of the accident he was coming north on the east side of George street. Gave practically the same evidence as the preceding witness. In answer to a question, "Was the car going as fast as your horse?" "Yes, sir," said Reid, "If my horse went as fast as that car, I would soon be hauled up before four!"

Frank White, to Mr. Dumble, said he was acting as porter that morning, sitting in the Snowden House bus. When the first saw the car it was fully three car lengths away. He saw a man standing in the doorway of the car and the motorman was talking to him, and was not at his motor. Was thrown out, hurt, and taken to the hospital.

To Mr. Denniscoun, he was sitting on the east side of the bus looking out of the west side window and could see the car coming.

J. Reid, next witness, was driving that day up George street, gave about the same evidence as former witnesses.

Mr. Wm. Snowden, plaintiff, in the case then went into the box. He produced bill, receipted for $66 for repairs done to the bus.

Mr. Denniscoun moved for non-suit but which was not granted, just then.

John Londerville, first witness for the defence, is a motorman. Was driving the car which ran into Mr. Snowden's bus. Saw the busses when just past King street. Had no intimation that the busses would cross the tracks. He rang the gong, when five of six car lengths from the busses. Was not going very fast. When the Snowden House bus started to cross the track he had only about fifteen feet in which to stop the car. When his car was stopped, about two car lengths past the scene of the accident, the man back to see what harm was done.

To Mr. Dumble, he said, there was no man standing at the door talking to them.

Mr. Bradburn, a conductor on the car that morning, said there were passengers on the car that morning. One was talking to him on the rear platform, and one sitting at the back seat of the car. The motorman rang the bell extra long that time. The motorman had no chance to stop the car. He jumped off to catch the horses' heads.

This finished the evidence in the case. Judge Weller then submitted the points to be investigated by the jury, viz., what damage, if any was done the plaintiff? Was the defendant company guilty of negligence, and if so, in what way? Was the bus driver guilty of negligence, and if so how? And similar pointed facts directly bearing on the verdict.

Mr. Denniscoun in addressing the jury said that although not a very great sum of money was involved, there is very much more at stake, regarding the rights of way and so forth of the street railways.

The jury having duly considered the evidence returned, in a short time and answered all questions put to them by the judge, and all practically in favor of the defendants, the Peterboro Radial Railway Co. The case was thus dismissed with costs.

TO END IN BLOOD

Sanguinary Prophesy of Russ Editor Regarding the Czar of Russia.

St. Petersburg, May 1.—The political situation has suddenly grown threatening. The publication yesterday of the draft of the new "fundamental law," or "constitution" of Russia has aroused a storm of indignation and amidst the general distrust of the government's motives has furnished just the stimulus needed to solidify the entire opposition in parliament.

M. Brianchaninoff in the Slovo, says: "Such a mixture of lies and false logic on the eve of the assembling of the real masters of the country can only tend to push the people to a fresh revolution with its attending conflicts and anarchy. The existing regime seems fated to go down in blood."

An organization of 12,000 idle workmen has been discovered here, who are waiting for a summons to join in a revolutionist movement.

It is significant that the head keeper of the local prison has received a letter signed by the Workmen's league warning him that the prisoners will be liberated May 10, but saying that his life will be spared if he does not interfere.

PALACE HOTEL CASE

Mr. Brooks Interviews Commissioners and Explains His Case.

Last night the License Commissioners met at Inspector Cochrane's office to consider the granting of licenses to liquor shops.

Among other business, Mr. J. M. Brooks interviewed the Commissioners, relative to the license he has held for the Palace Hotel. A Times' representative asked Mr. Brooks how the interview resulted. He told the Times man that he had received little encouragement, although having fully explained the status of his house. Mr. Brooks told the commissioners he house contained 14 good bedrooms, with a large parlor, bathroom, closet, etc., upstairs. Downstairs he has two sitting rooms and kitchen containing all the requisite accommodations for catering to the general public. He also has sheds and stables as required. He also called their attention to the fact that during the past five years there had no been a complaint against his hotel.

Those who have taken other laxatives without satisfaction—and those who have taken such quantities of other laxatives that they have lost their effect—will find a pleasant surprise in LAX-ETS. There is usually no pain, griping, nausea or discomfort even in severe cases. This candy bowel laxative—LAX-ETS—is only 5c. and is sold by J. D. Tully.

ONE LIFE WAS DESTROYED

TORONTO GENERAL POST OFFICE BURNT DOWN

Mr. Ross and His Family Had An Exciting Escape From the Upper Storeys.

Toronto, April 30.—One life lost, fifteen lives endangered, and a loss to property of from $20,000 to $30,000, was the result of a fire in the General Post Office early yesterday morning.

The man killed was George Letray, the night engineer.

At about ten minutes to three John Milner, the watchman of a neighboring building, was on Adelaide street in conversation with the caretaker of the Carnegie building, when they saw clouds of smoke issuing from the basement windows of the post office. Milner ran to one of the iron gratings on the west side of the building and shouted "Fire!" Letray ran to the windows and asked what the matter was. Milner shouted "Fire!" again, and then heard Letray go back into the basement, either, it would seem, to find where the fire was or to recover some of his things. He was not seen again.

There men were on duty in the sorting room. A one-storey addition at the rear of the main building. The work was pretty near done, and one had just dropped into a chair and thrown his feet on the table when the alarm of fire came. One of them pulled the fire alarm, and not one of them wasted any time in getting into the street. Just as they did so all the electric lights in the building went out.

The Bay street and Lombard street firemen arrived shortly.

IN DANGEROUS PLIGHT.

By this time Mr. George Ross, the assistant postmaster, and his family, who lived in the third and fourth floors were just awaking to their dangerous position. There were there Mr. Ross, his family of twelve, two lady visitors, and a servant.

Miss Gertrude Ross first heard the noise made by the firemen below. Running from room to room she aroused the family, and then made their presence known by shouting from the window.

Captain W. J. Smith of the Lombard street aerial truck and Captain Russell of Bay street aerial had taken up their position on the lower roof at the north end of the building. Ladders were put up from there to the higher windows.

Meanwhile Mr. Ross and his family had gathered at the windows although the smoke in the corridors had been so dense that they had to crawl along the floor. No time had been given for getting dressed. One by one they were assisted down the ladders. The ladies were wrapped in blankets and carried away in carriages to the Elliott House, where coffee were sent for them by the firemen, who succeeded after in getting into their rooms.

Mrs. Ross and the other sons turned in to assist in saving the mail. Frank McCarter, a mail porter, had begun the work, and several who had been attracted by the fire were assisting.

The firemen who had been fighting the fire had been having a hard time. The gratings over the basement windows were embedded right in the concrete, and had to be twisted out with the aid of crowbar and axe.

But George Letray had not been seen. The firemen had been through the basement, but the thick smoke had prevented them seeing him, and by this time it was flooded with nine feet of water. The work of searching for his body was commenced at once, some of the water being drained off by means of the soil pipe connecting the rain pipes with the drain.

The body was found in this afternoon and taken away in a patrol wagon to W. A. Murphy's undertaking establishment.

Can't Float the Bavarian.

Montreal, May 1.—Mr. Armit, of the British Steamer Company, and his diver, completed their examination of the Allan steamship Bavarian on the Wye Rocks below Quebec. It is generally expected that any further efforts will be made to float the ship. The vessel lies on an irregular bed of very rough rocks, with many spaces between them by which the diver can crawl well underneath the broken bottom of both sides. This fact was already ascertained by any of the divers engaged at the attempt made to float the ship last November. Mr. Armit's diver, James Murray, reports many breaks in the bottom plating which he can repair, and several boulders that he can remove by explosives.

LADY DELEGATES

Local Ladies to Attend Annual Meeting of W. A.

The following ladies will go to Toronto to attend the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, to represent St. Luke's church; Mrs. John Heap, Mrs. L. Turner, Mrs. Henry Butcher, Mrs. A. O. Sawyer, Mrs. S. Cockshutt, Mrs. Wm. Gibbs, Mr. R. J. Turner, jr., of St. Luke's W.A.; Miss Lizzie Sweetman and Miss Lottie Brown of St. Luke's Girls' Auxiliary. St. Mark's Woman's Aux iary, Otonabee, is represented by Mrs. Thomas Grayston and Mrs. Abner Owens.

The delegates from St. John's church aux iary, who will attend are Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. C. S. Bousfield, and Mrs. R. A. Denton. The life members, Mrs. James Bent and Mrs. Aaron Cawdcock, will also be present.

Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Carney, and Mrs. Hopkins are the ladies from "All Saints' aux iliary, who will attend. The convention opens in Toronto tomorrow.

China Awake at Last Not Behind Japan

There will Be No More Invasions of China Says Kang Yu Wan---20,000 Chinese Students Taking Advanced Courses.

New York, May 1.—Kang Yu Wan, the president of the Chinese Reform [illegible] passing through New York on his way from Mexico to Europe, addressed a meeting of the association last night. Later he was interviewed by a morning paper, which quotes him as follows;

"China is no longer in the dark ages. She has already reached the point where Japan was on, 20 years ago, after years and years of endeavor. This is not because the Japanese were slow in learning, but rather because they were the pioneers. They cooked, we ate. We have now, for example, more than 20,000 Chinese students pursuing advanced modern courses of study. As to common schools, some five thousands have been started in the one province of Canton. There are now 4,000,000 Chinese who can speak English. Our courts are being remodelled after the English system. The number of books we have translated into Chinese text books, technical works and treaties mostly, indicates how extensively the progressive movement is spreading. We have appropriated to our use over ten thousand American, English, and European works."

The Boxer troubles he said, were [illegible] They arose from anti-foreign feeling among the ignorant, and this influence was rapidly decreasing in China, and being replaced by a more enlightened sentiment of progress throughout all classes of the population.

"China is no longer asleep," he said, "She is wide awake and fully able to care for her interests.

"A deep sentiment has been aroused among my countrymen by your excitation laws. We see the immigrants pouring into your land from all other countries by thousands every week. Not by the law-abiding, industrious Chinamen desirous of making a living unable to come in with these others, but our most refined and magnificent men cannot get the most passports for travel that they can readily get in any other country. To disregard what is simple fairness to us today means to create the sentiments of a nation able to think and act for itself."

He paused for a minute and then added; "China now is awake at last. She knows her resources and her rights. There will be no more invasions of China, for she is ready to defend herself with cannon and with our use over ten thousand American, sword if necessary."

Damp Spring Weather Ruinous to Health

Causes Weakness, Headaches and Feeling of Unrest; the Cure is Simple.

That peculiar weakness so common in the spring, is demoralizing to body and mind alike.

Stupid, absent-minded and dull,—You feel the need of a stimulating tonic.

To impart quickness and great vitality to the entire system nothing acts like Ferrozone.

In a short time it makes you feel fit and fine, creates a feeling of youth and strength that's surprising.

Ferrozone revives and braces the sickly because it nourishes and builds up the organs that are weak. As a spring tonic, appetizer and blood-strengthener it is unequaled.

A well known resident of Uxeqia, Ont., Mr. H. H. Postle, writes: "From long experience I am convinced that everyone requires medicine in the spring. As a rule the blood is thin and impure and the whole system is congested with poisons that should be carried off. I use Ferrozone because it clears up the system, gives you an appetite and makes you sleep well. One winter I had serious palpitation of the heart, nervous headaches, and an extreme tired feeling. Sleep was not restful and by spring I was in bad shape. I took six boxes of Ferrozone and was made the picture of health."

Ferrozone makes permanent cures. Absolutely safe because it is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol. Concentrated cure in tablet form, — that's Ferrozone, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

ST. PETER AT THE GATE

(Published by special request.)

St. Peter stood guard at the golden gate
With a solemn mien and an air sedate,
When up to the top of the golden stair,
A man and woman ascending there,
Applied for admission. They came and stood
Before St. Peter, so great and good
In hopes the City of Peace to win—
And asked St. Peter to let them in.

The woman was tall, and lank, and thin,
With a scraggy beardlet upon her chin,
The man was short, and thick and stout,
His stomach was built so it rounded out.
His face was pleasant and all the while
He wore a kindly and genial smile,
The choirs in the distance the echoes woke,
And the man kept silent while the woman spoke:

"Oh, thou who guardest the gate," said she,
"We two come hither beseeching thee
To let us enter the heavenly land,
And play our harps with the angel band,
Of me, St. Peter, there is no doubt,
There's nothing from heaven to bar me out.
I've been to meeting three times a week
And almost always I rise to speak.

I've told the sinners about the day
When they'd repent their evil way,
I've told my neighbors—I've told them all—
'Bout Adam and Eve and the Primal Fall.

I've shown them what they'd have to do
If they'd pass in with the chosen few,
I've marked the path of their duty clear—
Laid out the pan for their whole career.

I've talked and talked to 'em loud and long,
For my lungs are good and my voice is strong,
So, good St. Peter, you will clearly see
The gate of heaven is open for me.
But my old man, I regret to say,
Hasn't walked in exactly the narrow way
He smokes, and he swears, and grave faults he's got,
And I don't know whether he'll pass or not.

He never would pray with an earnest vim
Or go in revival, or join in a hymn.
So I had to leave him in sorrow there,
While I, with the chosen, united in prayer,
He ate what the pantry chanced to afford,
While I, in my purity, sang to the Lord,
And if the cucumbers were all he got
It's a chance if he merited them or not.

But oh, St. Peter, I love him so
To the pleasures of heaven, please let him go!
I've done enough—a saint I've been.
Won't that atone? Can't you let him in?

By my grim gospel I know 'tis no
That the unrepented must suffer below.
But isn't there some way you can see
That he may enter who's dear to me?

It's a narrow gospel by which I pray
But the chosen expect to find some way,
Of coaxing, or fooling, or bribing you
So that their relations can amble through
And say, St. Peter, it seems to me,
This gate isn't kept as it ought to be
You ought to stand right by the opening there,
And never sit down in that easy chair.

And say, St. Peter, my sight is dimmed,
But I don't like the way your whiskers are trimmed.
They're cut too wide and outward toss,
They'd look better narrow, cut straight across,
Well, we must be going, our crowns to win,
So open, St. Peter, and we'll pass in."

St. Peter sat quiet and stroked his staff
But, in spite of his office he had to laugh.
Then said, with a fiery gleam in his eye,
"Who's lending this gateway—you or I?
And then he arose, in his stature tall,
And pressed a button upon the wall,
And said to the imp who answered the bell
"Escort this lady around to h—l!"

The man stood still as a piece of stone—
Stood sadly, gloomily, there alone.
A life-long settled idea he had
That his wife was good and he was bad.
He thought if the woman went down below
That he would certainly have to go—
That if she went to the regions dim
There wasn't a ghost of a show for him.

Slowly he turned, by habit bent,
To follow wherever the woman went.
St. Peter standing on duty there,
Observed that the top of his head was bare.
He called the gentleman back and said
"Friend, how long have you been wed?"

"Thirty years" (with a weary sigh)
And then he thoughtfully added "Why?"

St. Peter was silent. With head bent down
He raised his head and scratched his crown.
Then, forming a different thought to take,
Slowly, half to himself he spake
"Thirty years with that woman there?
No wonder the man hasn't any hair!
Swearing is wicked. Smoke's not good,
He smoked and swore—I should think he would!

Thirty years with that tongue so sharp?
Ho! Angel Gabriel! Give him a harp!
A jewelled harp with a golden string
Good sir, pass in where the angels sing!

Gabriel give him a seat alone—
One with a cushion—up near the throne!

Call up some angels to play their best,
Let him enjoy the music and rest!
See that on finest ambrosia he feeds,
He's had about all the h—l he needs.
It isn't just hardly the thing to do
To roast him on earth and the future too.

They gave him a harp with golden strings,
A glittering robe and a pair of wings
And he said as he entered the Realm of Day,
"Well, this beats cucumbers, anyway!"
And so the Scripture has come to pass
That "The last shall be first and the first shall be last."

—JOSEPH BERT SMILEY.

Often-times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

According to tests recently made in France, dead leaves possess a higher value as fertilizers for the land than ordinary manure. They are extensively used by the market gardeners about the city of Nantes. Pear leaves rank the highest in nitrogenous content, oak leaves come next, and the leaves of vines stand lowest in value. Experiments have shown that forty-four pounds of pear leaves, eighty pounds of poplar leaves, fifty-one pounds of peach leaves, eighty-two pounds of elm leaves and eighty-three pounds of locust leaves are respectively equivalent in nitrogenous content to a hundred pounds of ordinary manure. Vine leaves alone are less valuable than manure.

Spelling Reform.

The Rochesterian, writing in the Post-Express of the proposed labor saving spelling, suggests complications. "There are two words which are pronounced pretty much alike, 'through' and 'threw,' and suppose one should ask as to a certain person reduced to misery, 'How did he come to grief?' The answer might be in the sanctimonious fashion of the time, 'Through life' or 'Threw life.' In the one case it would be plain that he was subject to serious sudden seizures; in the other it would be understood that he was given to fantastic exhibitions of folly. But if one answered the anxious questioner in the reformed style, 'Thru life,' he would be no whit the wiser."

CURTAINS AND WALL PAPER.

To Produce Good Effects They Should Harmonize in Color Tones.

It is the easiest thing in the world to get the wrong tint in one's curtains, and sometimes it is the hardest thing in the world to get just the right one. Before buying curtains the wall paper should be carefully studied. With paper that has a white background it is always safe to use white curtains, but if the background is in colored tones the greatest care should be used in selecting material of a color that will harmonize, and in buying curtains for a room that is already papered a sample of the paper should be taken along to avoid making a serious mistake. Of course, if paper and curtains are bought at the same time it is a comparatively easy matter to have a satisfactory combination of color.

Sometimes, no matter how much care may have been taken, the result will be startlingly wrong. In this case much may be done with overhangings, not of heavy stuff, of light texture and of a color that will tone in well with both of the conflicting shades, and that will do much toward harmonizing the whole appearance of the room. If the windows have inside shutters they, too, must be considered in the color scheme. If the shutters are of natural wood the material of the curtains should be less transparent than if used with white shutters. It is quite as important that the shutters and the curtains blend as it is for the wall paper and the curtains to look well together.—Boston Traveler.

CLOTHES THAT PLEASE.

The Manner In Which Men Like to See Women Dressed.

If women dress to please men they will always be gowned simply, appropriately, more quietly and consequently more becomingly than if they wear their clothes for the benefit of women. Men always like simple, neat costumes, free from flying ends, frills, ribbons and laces. Of course there are men who never notice what kind of clothes their wives and daughters wear. They only know when these look well, when the general effect is good, but are never able to particularize, but men are becoming better educated in the matter of clothes for women, and the average man of today traveling about among women is capable of discriminating and knows the value of a woman's clothing as well as its becomingness. Many wives would appear to better advantage in their clothes if they would take their husbands' advice in the selection of them instead of the advice of their dressmakers. The latter are apt to burden their customers down with costly and unbecoming furbelows regardless of taste.—Frances van Etten in Leslie's Weekly.

LAUNDRY LINES.

Soaking handkerchiefs all night in strong salt water will greatly facilitate their washing.

When washing flannels get rid of as much dust and dirt as you possibly can by shaking and brushing before plunging into water.

After blankets have been washed and hung on the line and are thoroughly dry beat with a carpet beater. The wool will become light and soft, like new.

In laundering white spreads or any large piece where difficulty is experienced in finding the large soiled spots a good plan is to fasten a piece of black silk thread to most soiled places. The spots can then be easily detected.

Ironing silk when wet gives it a smooth, glossy appearance, but should the waist get dry before it is ironed dip it in clean cold water and roll in a cloth. Do not sprinkle water over it, as that would make it look rough and blotchy when ironed.

Waldorf Egg Timbales.

Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add one tablespoonful of flour and pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Add the yolks of three eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored and season with one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, half a teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper and a few grains each of celery salt and cayenne. Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff and dry and cut and fold into the first mixture. Turn into buttered individual molds, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven until firm. Remove from the molds, pour around bechamel or tomato sauce and garnish with yolks and whites of hard boiled eggs and parsley. Let this be what is known as a marguerite garnish. Cut the whites of the eggs to represent the petals of the flower and force the yolks through a strainer to represent the center.—Fannie Merritt Farmer in Woman's Home Companion.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Deepening," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock on Monday, the 23th of April, 1906, for Deepening and Widening of the Channel-way of the Upper Entrance of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal.

Plans and specifications of the work can be seen on and after Tuesday, the 17th of April, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Engineer in Charge at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Canadian registered dredges only, to be used in connection with this work.

In the case of firms there must be attached the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $1,500, must accompany the tender for the work; this accepted cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for work at the rates and terms stated in the offer submitted. The accepted cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Plot Organized for French Revolution

Paris, April 29.—The police searches and seizures continue to agitate labor and anarchist circles. The Confederation of Labor has issued a violent protest against the action of the authorities, which was to have appeared as a special edition of the confederation's organ, La Voix du Peuple, but the prefect ordered the postmen to detain all copies of the inflammatory paper.

The judicial authorities withhold all details of the seizures made, but it is reported that one of the documents found at the home of an imperialist is a proclamation addressed to the army and is designed to be issued after the success of the past, and that the police also captured lists of future functionaries and ministers under the imperialist regime.

The government organs assert that a plot between the mining agitators in the north and the political agitators in Paris was fully organized.

The opposition journals deny the existence of a plot and treat the affair as an "electoral opera bouffe."

The police executed six more searches yesterday growing out of the labor disturbances in the north.

An attempt was made last night to blow up a railway bridge at Argenteuil, near Paris. A bomb was exploded under the bridge, causing considerable damage. The anarchists attribute the outrage to anarchists.

About 100 striking jewelers this evening sought to reach the opera square, in order to make a demonstration in the Jewelry quarter, the Rue de la Paix, but Republican Guards and police barred their access to the square and finally they were driven back. A number of arrests were made.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

No limit will be adjudged at less than the minimum price fixed by the department.

The limits will be adjudged to the highest bidder on payment of the purchase price, in cash or by cheque accepted by a duly incorporated bank.

Failing payment, they will be immediately re-offered for sale.

The annual ground rent of three dollars per mile is also payable immediately.

These timber limits, when adjudged, will be subject to the provisions of all timber regulations now in force or which may be enacted hereafter.

Plans of limits offered for sale are opened for inspection in the Department of Lands and Forests, in this city, and at the office of the Crown lands and timber agents in the different agencies in which said limits are situated, up to the day of sale.

N. B.—No comment for publication of this notice will be recognized, if such permission has not been expressly authorized to the department.

ADELARD TURGEON,
Minister of Lands and Forests.

SUNLIT ROOMS.

A Southern Exposure Is the Best For All Houses.

Sunlight is nature's most health giving scavenger. A house without sunlight is unhealthy and unsafe for human occupancy, and it is necessary not only to have some sunlight, but to have as much of it as possible. It is, of course, not feasible to admit the direct rays of the sun to every room of a house. The typical plan of all houses is square or rectangular, and at least one side of the house is entirely beyond the reach of the sun. The other three sides, however, can receive more or less direct sunlight, and the problem of the plan is thus reduced to arranging the various rooms so that the amount of sunlight is adjusted to their uses. And it must be sunlight, for mere light itself is not sufficient. The rays of the sun have curative and cleansing properties that nothing else has.

It is generally admitted that a southern exposure is the best for all houses and should be obtained whenever possible. It is immaterial whether the entrance be placed on this side or not, so long as the rooms most in use open on to the house. In dwellings of average size the entrance front will also be the front on which any important room opens, but in large country houses the old distinction of a front and back to a house has disappeared, and instead we have the entrance front and the garden front. The service and servants' quarters, so long regarded as characteristic of the back of a house, may be relegated to a side end or placed in a wing that abuts directly on the entrance front. In such cases it must be well screened and its purpose thoroughly subordinated.—American Home and Garden.

BE A LADY DAINTY.

Have Yourself Looking Your Best at All Times.

Look your best at all times. Don't wear your best clothes at all times, but "look your best." Don't think, "Now, I'll just put on this waist underneath my coat; it's soiled, but it won't show," etc. As sure as you do you will take your coat off or break your arm or in some way be shown the error of your way.

"What do you dress every evening for in those pretty light things when you never go out?" was asked of a den girl by her next door neighbor as she interestedly watched the proceedings.

"Why, because I feel better, I suppose. I have always done it, and it has become as much a matter of course as having my breakfast in the morning."

This same den girl, when she comes from her work at night, slips out of her clothes into a completely fresh set, inexpensive and simple, but still fresh, and feels like a "new woman." The next afternoon she may don some of the same things, but the blouse will be different because the variety, she thinks, rests her, and then this Lady Dainty, who works day by day, is prepared always either to see her friends or enjoy an evening with her books, and she at least knows the joy and power of clothes and the blessing of possessing the knack of wearing them. —New York Mail.

DRESS HINTS.

The style and trimness of a woman depend a lot upon her hat.

Never leave your veil tied about your hat, for it will become limpy and unmanageable and soon prove useless.

When altering a blouse it is a mistake to move the shoulder seam to the front. A better plan is to let it drop backward instead of forward.

A collar lining of taffeta should be cut so that the front part is on the "straight" of the material and the curved part of the collar will then come on the bias.

It is a good plan to bend steels or whalebones at the waist line when making a bodice before putting them into the casings, as the bodice will then fit closer to the figure.

The shine that shows a serge skirt or jacket to be no longer new can easily be removed by sponging the garment with lukewarm water, such as is used to laundry clothes. While still damp press the goods under a thin cloth.

Your Property.

All you had before your marriage is still yours, and in most states you have also the sole ownership of that which you acquire after marriage. Your right minded husband will wish you to have your property stand in your name, that it may be free from the possible attachment of his creditors. If your property or part of it be real estate, remember that the law of the state in which real estate is situated governs all matters concerning it. All your property is subject to the laws of your domicile. Some states require a man to join in a deed of his wife's property even though the property is really hers. Get legal advice on such points. It is seldom safe to be a party to the transfer of property without it.—Caroline J. Cook in Good Housekeeping.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Cotton For the Teeth.

Antiseptic absorbent cotton is said to be far superior to any toothbrush for cleansing the teeth. "Take a piece of cotton the size of a walnut," run the directions. "Soak it in fresh water, roll it into a wad, sprinkle your tooth powder over it and then, holding it between thumb and forefinger, cleanse the teeth with it. The advantage of cotton over the brush is that one may have a surgically clean piece of cotton every time. Again, the cotton is so soft that there is never any abrasion of the mucous membrane of the mouth or soreness of the gums."

Fashions Caused by Deformities.

Of the close connection between fashion and deformity there are many examples. Through illness Philip the Good had to have his head shaved. Shaven heads, accordingly, perforce, became fashionable at his court.

The daughters of Louis XI. hid their very large feet in long dresses; hence trailing gowns.

The wife of Philip III. set the fashion of high collars in disguising her long neck with a wimple.

Bruises.

No treatment for bruises is more prompt and efficacious than fomentations as hot as can be borne. Firm compression immediately over the injured place will often prevent discoloration, but the hot application will have the same effect. The sooner the heat can be applied the better. Alternate applications of heat and cold are very effective. For all bruises, except those on the head, heat is the remedy, but for severe blows on the head cold is doubtless better. Fomentations may be used at intervals to lessen the soreness, but should not be continued more than five minutes at a time.

Great Britain.

The island of Great Britain—so called to distinguish it from Britain Minor, of Little Britain, in France—is the largest island in Europe. Its greatest length is 608 miles and its greatest breadth 320 miles. It embraces England, Scotland and Wales. No other country in the world has such great mineral wealth in so small an area. Coal is first, and the other important minerals are iron, tin, copper, lead, silver, zinc, iron pyrites and salt.

His Time Coming.

Young Mother—Harry, dear, you mustn't go near the baby. Young Father—Mayn't I just look at him a minute? Young Mother—No, dear; he's asleep. I'll let you take him when he wakes up in the night.

A man never catches up with his good intentions for tomorrow.—Success Magazine.

Tea Stains on Fine Linen.

One of the women who knew recommends glycerin for removing these tea stains that are such enemies to fine table linen, but it must be rubbed in before boiling has set its seal on the stain or it may not be efficacious. After the glycerin has been applied wash it all out in tepid water, and the discoloration will come out with it, on this authority says.

GREAT VOYAGERS.

As a General Rule, They Came From the Smaller Countries.

Portugal is a small country, with a land area one-third less than the state of New York, but it has turned out in its time celebrated navigators, Cabral and Da Souza among them.

It is a somewhat peculiar circumstance in the history of ocean navigation that the chief navigators of Europe have usually been natives of minor kingdoms and without the advantages which would naturally accrue to a representative of one of the larger governments.

Christopher Columbus, as every schoolboy knows, was a native of Genoa at the time when the Italian peninsula was subdivided among numerous petty governments. John Cabot was a Venetian, who sailed in the service of England, as Columbus had sailed in the service of Spain. Amerigo Vespucci was a Florentine, who sailed originally in the service of Spain and afterward transferred himself to the Portuguese service and then went back to the Spanish service for a second time.

Vitus Bering, after whom Bering strait was called, was a Dane by birth, who served under the naval flag of Russia. Magellan, after whom Magellan strait was named, was a native of Alemtejo, in Portugal, and was the first to complete the circumnavigation of the globe, in 1522.

Verazzani was a Florentine, whose voyages of discovery were undertaken under the protection of the flag of France. Hendrik Hudson was an Englishman, and it seems surprising to many persons in this day familiar with the pre-eminence of England as a maritime nation that he should have been in the service of the government of Holland when he discovered Manhattan Island.

Bottles.

Ancient bottles of glass, stone and metal have been found in many parts of Europe, Asia and Africa. Perfume bottles of glass have been discovered in great numbers in the tombs of wealthy ladies of Egypt. Many bottles, tumblers and other drinking vessels have been dug from the ruins of Pompeii. The most common bottle of the ancients, however, was of leather, the skin of a calf, goat or ox being taken off the carcass with as few cuts as possible and made into a receptacle for holding water or wine. The largest glass bottle ever blown was made at Leith, in Scotland, in 1767-68. Its capacity was two hogsheads.

Bad Habit.

"Do you lost your position?" we ask of our young friend, who has demanded our sympathy.

"Yes; the firm told me I would have to quit."

"What reason was given?"

"I smoked cigarettes."

"Why, that seems hardly a sufficient reason for such drastic action."

"Yes, but I was smoking the boss' cigarettes, and he caught me at it."—Judge.

Matrimonial.

Three Germans were sitting at luncheon recently and were overheard discussing the second marriage of a mutual friend when one of them remarked: "I'll tell you what. A man what marries de second time don't deserve to have lost his first wife."—Life.

"The highways of literature are spread over," says Holmes, "with the shells of dead novels, each of which has been swallowed at a mouthful by the public and is done with."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases for dredge for good of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

CHILDREN'S ACHES.

Make Sure Whether or Not They Are Rheumatic Pains.

Rheumatism is much more frequent in children than in grown people, especially that form called acute rheumatism. Many times the symptoms of rheumatism in children are attributed to growing pains when in reality rheumatism is developing. It has been estimated that at least 25 per cent of the children in our hospitals are there because of rheumatism. As is well known, acute rheumatism in children is liable to produce heart disease, from which the child rarely recovers. The patient may live several years, but is an invalid, and there is little hope for his entire recovery. Therefore, it is very important that rheumatism in children should be guarded against in every possible way.

There are three things that mothers can do to guard their children against rheumatism, especially during cold weather:

First.—See that they are dressed in warm flannels or at least fleece lined cotton undergarments; that their feet are kept dry by wearing overshoes when outdoors, which should be immediately removed when indoors.

Second.—An overindulgence in sweets, cheap candies, syrups and sugar tends to the production of rheumatism; hence the use of such things, especially between meals, should be prohibited. A liberal amount of sweets with meals should be allowed, but cheap candies between meals are productive of urates in the blood, which are a predisposing cause of rheumatism.

Third.—The child should be encouraged to drink freely of pure water. The habit of taking a glass of water before each meal is a very good one. To keep this up during the cold weather requires some attention on the part of the mother. During the warm weather the child is naturally inclined to drink water enough without any prompting, but during the winter season, when rheumatism is more prevalent, drinking water is neglected.—Medical Talk For the Home.

paint or stained in color, of chestnut either stained or varnished or of other kinds of hard wood, varnished and polished to show the grain of the wood. The pictures at the top may be either water colors, affixed by a narrow molding, or a tooled sketch.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Wardrobe.

One of the most important things to be remembered in the care of one's clothes is keeping the wardrobes and cupboard in which they are hung in perfect order and cleanliness, and, above all things, do not forget that they need frequent airing. On a sunny day the doors should be left open for several hours and the fresh air allowed to circulate thoroughly. A bottle of spirits of camphor, with the cork removed, may be hung on a hook. This will keep out moths and give a fresh, clean odor to the garments, but not strong enough to make them offensive when worn. Cedar oil, if preferred, may be used in the same way. A dress bodice should never be put away without airing.

A Clothes Tree.

The furniture of a sewing room should always include a clothes tree, which may be purchased at small expense. For hanging unfinished garments it is of the greatest use, and, of course, there should be a supply of coat hangers, which cost only a few cents each. This is decidedly the best method of disposing of garments that are as yet in unfinished stages. Quite often they must be left with sleeves pinned in or trimming pinned on in such a way that it is most inconvenient to fold them. If the clothes tree is covered with sheets the garments will be quite as free from dust as if folded away in drawers.

For Shabby Leather.

For improving shabby leather chairs take a pint of linseed oil, boil it and let it stand till nearly cold, then stir in half a pint of vinegar. Stir till mixed, then bottle for use. When required, shake the bottle well, pour a little on a soft cloth, rub well into the leather, turning the flannel as it gets dirty, then rub with a soft duster till the polish is restored. This polish softens the leather and prevents it from cracking.

SLEEPING CARS.

The First Crude Ones Were Thought the Acme of Comfort.

Current advertisements describing the luxurious appointments offered the modern traveler on sea and land give point to the contrast afforded by the facilities of the middle of the last century, which were then regarded as the height to which the passengers had a right to aspire. The issue of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Mining Register of June 28, 1856, said:

"The Buffalo Car company lately shipped a lot of cars for the Illinois Central railroad which are far ahead of anything in their line yet seen in the west. One of them contained six staterooms, each room having two seats with cushioned backs, long enough for a person to lie upon. The backs of the seats are hung with hinges at the upper edge, so that they may be turned up at pleasure, thus forming two single berths, one over the other, where persons may sleep with all the comfort imaginable. In one end of the car is a small wash room, with marble washbowl, looking glass, etc. On the opposite side of the car from the staterooms is a row of seats with revolving backs, similar to barbers' chairs, so arranged that the occupant may sit straight or recline in an easy attitude at pleasure. The other five cars have each two or three similar staterooms."

The birth of the Pullman car came a little later. In the spring of 1858 George M. Pullman remodeled at Bloomington, Ill., a few of the cars of the Chicago and Alton and made them the first Pullman sleeping cars.

HORSESHOES.

The Three Lucky Elements That Are Associated In Them.

The superstition that associates the horseshoe with good luck is very old. It is said to prevail not only among English speaking people, but in all the races of Europe and in southern Asia. Antiquarians are undecided whether its origin has to do with the material from which the horseshoe is made or with its shape.

The ancients believed that iron as a metal had great secret powers, and they drove nails into their walls as a protection against pestilence. The Arabs when overtaken by severe storms in the desert cry out, "Iron, iron!" which they think will propitiate the evil spirits which have raised the storm. The Scandinavians have held from time immemorial the idea that it was lucky to find a piece of iron.

As regards the form of the horseshoe, there is no doubt that among the ancients the crescent form was much favored as having lucky or preservative powers. Ornaments were shaped in this way to drive away evil spirits. The Chinese have their tombs built in a semicircular form, like a horseshoe, and the Moors use the same form in their architecture.

It may be remarked that in the mythology of Europe horses were also regarded as luck bearers, and superstition once supposed that a horse's hoof placed under the bed would cure certain complaints. The horseshoe therefore may be said to unite within itself three lucky elements—it is in the shape of a crescent, it is made of iron, and it

A Secret Defined.

A secret is a thing which you communicate to one whom you can trust. He, in turn, tells it to somebody that he can trust, and that somebody reveals it to another somebody whom he can trust. And so it goes the rounds, but it is still a secret, although everybody knows it.

Wonders About Skin Pores.

Each square inch of the human skin contains no less than 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiration pores. Each of these tubes, although wonderfully minute, is about one-fourth of an inch in length. Each of these sweat tubes may be likened to a tiny drainpipe. We find that the average adult has about 2,000 square inches of skin on the surface of his body. Each square inch of this outer cuticle is, as we have said, literally permeated with its 3,500 quarter inch perspiration ditches. If we could put each of these little tubes end to end we would find that they would extend a distance of not less than 201,166 feet. Had you ever before stopped to consider the fact that the aggregate length of the tile ditches for draining the human body is almost forty miles?

Schliemann's Luck.

It is told of Schliemann, the exhumer of buried cities of the ancient world, that he was pursued by ill luck in his earlier undertakings. Mentioning the fact to a friend, the latter asked him which leg and arm he first inserted in trousers and coat. Schliemann said he habitually inserted the right. "That is the cause of your misfortunes," said his friend. "You have offended the left hand fairies, and they take out their vengeance on you. Reverse your habit and see." "And," said Schliemann in telling the incident in his later and prosperous years, "you see how it changed my luck."

Nicotiana Affais.

Nicotiana affais, the border flower, which opens about 6 o'clock and gives a powerful and pleasant fragrance during the night, takes its name from the botanical term for the tobacco plant, nicotiana, which was named in honor of John Nicot of Nismes, ambassador from the king of France to Portugal, who procured the first seeds from a Dutchman, who had them from Florida.

A Secret Defined.

A secret is a thing which you communicate to one whom you can trust. He, in turn, tells it to somebody that he can trust, and that somebody reveals it to another somebody whom he can trust. And so it goes the rounds, but it is still a secret, although everybody knows it.

Wonders About Skin Pores.

Each square inch of the human skin contains no less than 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiration pores. Each of these tubes, although wonderfully minute, is about one-fourth of an inch in length. Each of these sweat tubes may be likened to a tiny drainpipe. We find that the average adult has about 2,000 square inches of skin on the surface of his body. Each square inch of this outer cuticle is, as we have said, literally permeated with its 3,500 quarter inch perspiration ditches. If we could put each of these little tubes end to end we would find that they would extend a distance of not less than 201,166 feet. Had you ever before stopped to consider the fact that the aggregate length of the tile ditches for draining the human body is almost forty miles?

Schliemann's Luck.

It is told of Schliemann, the exhumer of buried cities of the ancient world, that he was pursued by ill luck in his earlier undertakings. Mentioning the fact to a friend, the latter asked him which leg and arm he first inserted in trousers and coat. Schliemann said he habitually inserted the right. "That is the cause of your misfortunes," said his friend. "You have offended the left hand fairies, and they take out their vengeance on you. Reverse your habit and see." "And," said Schliemann in telling the incident in his later and prosperous years, "you see how it changed my luck."

Nicotiana Affinis.

Nicotiana affinis, the border flower, which opens about 6 o'clock and gives a powerful and pleasant fragrance during the night, takes its name from the botanical term for the tobacco plant, nicotiana, which was named in honor of John Nicot of Nismes, ambassador from the king of France to Portugal, who procured the first seeds from a Dutchman, who had them from Florida.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Rio Tinto mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

What mattered it to her that the storm raged outside with demon like fury? Her very soul was burning with a fever of unrest. She must know the truth ere the light of the morrow dawned, or the suspense would drive her mad.

The house was wrapped in a mantle of gloom and darkness as the slender figure, heavily cloaked and veiled, crept noiselessly down the stairway.

A small revolver, belonging to one of the servants, had been carelessly left on the velvet divan in the marble corridor.

Only Heaven could have foretold the impulse that caused the poor girl to thrust it into the pocket of her long cloak. Reine had left a little tear-blotted note for Bernard—enclosing the paragraph, and telling him where she had gone,—believing it would not be found until the next morning.

Silently as a shadow she stole out into the bitter storm.

She took the night train, and, to her consternation, found, when she was fairly on her way, that the express made no stoppages until it reached the cross-roads. No doubt she could find a stage there to take her to Dover, upon whose outskirts lay the Waldron estate.

Trembling with excitement and fatigue, Reine alighted from the express at the cross-roads. And this, dear reader, brings us back to the opening chapter of our story—to that memorable ride of a young girl on the mountain road through the terrible storm.

When Reine alighted from the mail coach at the gates of the Towers, her heart gave a strange throb. She saw that the house was brilliantly lighted, and the sound of music floated out to her over the wild warring of the pitiless storm.

Silently as a shadow she crept up the marble porch and gazed through the lace-draped window.

One quick, startled glance, then a cry that was hardly human, fell from her white lips.

She saw Waldemar Waldron, standing in the middle of the spacious drawing-room, handsome, smiling, gay as ever, and by his side, clinging to his arm, was a young and lovely girl.

Reine turned away sick at heart. She could not censure Heaven that his life had been spared. She could not wish that he had died in the dark waters that night. But, oh, the pity of it! the pity of it! he had spoiled her life.

To-morrow was to have been her wedding-day. She was to have married the man she loved. And now, it was all over. Bernard and she, who loved each other so fondly, must now part. They were separated more cruelly than if one of them lay in the grave.

Waldemar Waldron had deserted her, fled from her wilfully, left her ill and penniless among strangers. It was not likely he would seek her out now. Still, he was her husband. The fatal marriage bond, forged in a moment of thoughtless folly, bound her to him while her life lasted.

Life! How could she endure it, separated from the one love of her heart, whom she was to have wedded on the morrow? Better death than that.

The thought, born of frenzy and despair, came to her with a sudden shock. Nothing could ever release her from the fetters that galled her so, save—death. Ah, why shouldn't she die and end it all?

Involuntarily, her trembling hands sought the pearl and silver revolver which would furnish the way and means.

The poor, misguided girl raised her white face to the dark night skies.

In her anguish she did not heed the warning voice of conscience. She forgot everything save her supreme misery, and her one yearning desire to end it all, then and there. When morning dawned she would be the pale, cold bride of death.

One moment she leaned heavily against the frame-work of the long French window, her white lips parted in the tremulous word. "Forgive!" The next instant there was the clear, ringing report of a revolver. But the fatal bullet, owing to the unsteadiness of her hand, missed its mark wide, and instead of piercing the white breast of its victim, crashed through the plate glass window, whirred over the heads of the panic-stricken guests, and buried itself in the opposite wall.

And at that instant, as their gaze was riveted to the window, they caught a fleeting glimpse of a white, terror-stricken face, framed in dishevelled golden hair; but, swiftly as a shadow, it was lost to view in the darkness and storm of the terrible night.

CHAPTER XXXII.

In an instant the wildest confusion prevailed at the Towers, and, despite the fury of the storm, the gentlemen dashed from the drawing-room out on to the porch in search of the beautiful, desperate, golden-haired young girl whose terror-stricken face had been seen at the window.

The foremost of them nearly stumbled over the prostrate form of a woman lying, face downward, among the wet grass.

Despite their belief that the bullet must have been intended for some one of the party in the drawing-room, they raised the cowering form with tender hands, and bore her into the marble corridor, and laid her down on a velvet divan.

Reine had not swooned, she struggled up to her feet like a hunted deer driven at bay, still holding the veil closely down over her face, which shielded her from recognition.

"I—I did not mean the bullet for any of you," she cried, incoherently. "I meant it for myself. I wanted to die and end it all."

"Why, you are so disappointed to you?" asked a fair-haired young man, pityingly.

"You ask me that, Waldemar Waldron?" she cried quivering with intense excitement and passion. "You ask me that?—you who have spoiled and wrecked my life?"

She drew back and looked at him with bitter scorn, clenching her little white hands together, her eyes blazing like blue fires, even through the thick veil.

"There is evidently a strange mistake here," he said quickly. "I am not Waldemar Waldron; I am Clarence Waldron, his younger brother. The likeness between us is said to be striking. Am I right in supposing you have mistaken me for him?"

"Not Waldemar Waldron!" Reine murmured, brokenly. "Am I mad or dreaming? or are my senses playing me false?"

Like a flash, a sudden thought occurred to the young man.

"My friends," he said gravely, turning to those about him, "will you kindly leave me alone with this young woman? There is a grave mystery here."

Intense as their excitement was, there was nothing else for them to do but readily acquiesce to their host's request.

He closed the door carefully after them and wheeled suddenly around, facing Reine.

"I see it all now," he exclaimed, excitedly: "You are the young lady whom my hapless brother wedded, and—Heaven pardon him for it—deserted—"

"Hold—hear me through," he added, as Reine nodded in the affirmative and attempted to speak. "This matter is quite clear to me; I see

The Ideal Duster.

The process of dusting as generally carried on would be almost as much "honored in the breach as in the observance." No good housekeeper should own that petty abomination known as a feather duster, the gay flirting about of the same merely displacing the dust, which quickly settles elsewhere, says Table Talk. A soft chamois skin, not too large, soaked in cold water and then wrung out, is the ideal duster. It can be used on the finest woods, leaving a clear, bright surface. After every piece of furniture has been wiped with the moist chamois the rooms may be considered really dusted.

Onion Porridge.

Onion porridge is a good old fashioned country cure for an influenza attack. Peel a large Spanish onion, divide it into fourths and put it into a saucepan with half a saltspoonful of salt, two ounces of butter and a pint of cold water. Let it simmer gently until it is quite tender, then pour into a heated bowl, dredge a little pepper over it and eat it as hot as possible before going to bed.

Servant and Kitchen.

One way to solve the servant problem is to make our kitchens attractive. Dingy walls and ceilings, oilcloth that has outworn its usefulness, decrepit and few in number cooking utensils, wear on the nerves and spirits of a maid and tempt her to "give warning."

As a rule, a girl goes from one place to another to better herself in material as well as financial things. A cook who has had the use of devices for lightening her work, such as whipped cream churns, vegetable cutters and slicers, fruit preservers, bread mixers, and has been spending her waking hours in a bright, well furnished kitchen is not going to "take a place" where these things are lacking.

An up to date cook wants ramekins and casseroles and blue and white baking dishes and all the modern kitchen ware that makes her work satisfactory and her kitchen sightly and attractive.

The Tusas Peak Gold and Copper Mining Co. Will Give Three Hundred Shares of Its Stock Free to Every Person Who Visits Its Mines During the Month of May, 1906. We Don't Ask You to Take Our Word. We Can and will Prove Every Statement We Have Ever Made

Seeing is Believing

THE TUSAS PEAK GOLD AND COPPER MINING COMPANY owns a total of 260 acres of valuable mineral lands in the Bromide Mining District of Rio Arriba County, in the northern portion of New Mexico. All of this property has been proven to contain either gold, silver or copper ores in quantities sufficient to make their mining profitable.

One of these mines owned by the company, the TAMPA MINE, is equipped with a complete plant of mining machinery, consisting of steam boiler, hoist, air compressor, pumps and machine drills, with substantial buildings and every facility for extensive and economical mining operations. This mine is open to a depth of 406 feet, with with about 1400 feet of underground cross-cuts, drifts, stopes, winzes, etc., and in these workings are found exceedingly rich gold, silver and copper ores in great abundance; the vein averaging in width about 14 feet on the lower levels, and the length undetermined as yet, but proven to extend for more than 365 feet to the east and at least half that distance to the west.

Ores from this mine have been shipped to the American Smelting & Refining Co., at Pueblo, Colo., also to other smelting companies, and in every instance it has been proven that the TAMPA ORES were richer in copper than any of the other great bonanza copper mines of the world; and still the company could make no profit on these shipments because of the excessive freights and smelting charges, combined with the ridiculously low prices which these smelters pay for the gold, silver, and copper contents of the ores. Therefore the Tusas Peak Gold & Copper Mining Co. are now building their own reduction works within two miles of their mines, whereby means of the Waterbury Extraction Co's Leaching Process, these ores will be reduced directly into mental without paying charges or royalties to any smelting or ore refining companies. It is proven that in the TAMPA MINE is now blocked out ore enough to supply this mill with fifty tons daily for the next five years. It is proven that from this ore by means of this mill now building, that this company can produce copper for less than seven cents a pound, delivered at the New York markets. Mining engineers and experts predict that annual profits exceeding $ 90,000, will be earned by this mill for the company, and this after liberal deductions have been made for extending the mine workings, building enlarged mills, water power plants, etc. Now we offer to you an opportunity to more than double your money within a short period of time, and this without any risks being taken with it. Our mine is developed beyond all doubt or possibility of failure. We have proven its value.

Machinery for this mill is now en route and it has been paid for.

We need some more money, but not much, to pay for additional machinery which we need, and also for the actual building of this mill building. Exclusively for this purpose, we are offering a limited amount of our treasury stock at 40 cents per share. Its par value is $1.00, and all stock is full paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability. This is strictly a business men's company, without mining sharks or stock jobbers among its members. Every officer of this company is in business of some kind and you may learn their financial standing and business reputation by consulting Dun or Bradstreet or other authorities, or you may write to any or all the banks in Manistee, Mich. and learn for yourself just how they are regarded in their home communities. There are no millionaires in this company, neither are there any salaried officers ensconced in palatial offices at the expense of the stockholders. On the contrary we are all men of moderate income and are cheerfully donating our services to the company's welfare, because by so doing we are increasing the value of our personal holdings, as well as those of every investor in this stock. Now we offer to you a square mining investment and all that we ask is for you to investigate. Learn for yourself, and you will be convinced. On May 1st the treasurer of the company will pass through Chicago on his way to the mines of this company. He will be accompanied with several people who are going to see for themselves just what our mines look like and whether we have been telling the truth about our immense ore deposits or not. The round trip rate from Peterboro to the mines, including a day in Chicago, and another in Denver and including the ascent of Pike's Peak and visit to Cripple Creek, Colo., will cost about $125.00 which will include sleepers and meals for the whole trip as well as teams and board and lodging at the mine. As a pleasure trip alone, this is exceedingly desirable. With this is combined the opportunity to see for yourself, and prove by actual inspection, the great extent and value of the mines owned by this company, and the opportunity to see just where and for what every dollar has been expended to the amount of nearly eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars in the past four years.

St. John's Parochial Report.

Rev. Canon Davidson on Sunday morning at St. John's church presented the annual parochial report. The report was a most favorable one. The number of Holy Communicants during the past year was 2,928, an increase of 508 over the previous year. The number of communicants on Easter Sunday alone was 390, an increase of 61 over the previous year.

RECEIVES A STROKE

Mrs. John Morrison, Springville is Stricken With Paralysis.

Yesterday morning when Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, set out to drive from Cavan to their farm located near the village of Springville, they little anticipated the trouble that would overtake them on their way. As Mr. Morrison was driving along the county road, talking over the prospects of the coming season, his wife was suddenly seized with a paralytic stroke. Mr. Morrison at once went to the Springville telephone office, and called up Dr. Greer of this city, who at once drove to Mr. Morrison's farm.

G. T. R. IMPROVEMENTS

The Railway Yard at Lakefield Being Graded and Gravelled.

That the growing importance and shipping business of our Petty Trent northern suburb, Lakefield, is drawing attention is verified by the fact that the G.T.R. is making numerous improvements to its yard in that village. New siddings are being built and the yard generally improved. The gravel for the work has for days been drawn on flat cars from the pit at Millbrook. Since Thursday about thirty cars per day of gravel have been drawn to Lakefield, or about two trains per day.

The yard at Lakefield is being greatly improved and modernized, and will greatly facilitate business there. New siddings are being put in to make connections with certain lumber yards. The work will probably be finished today.

Fred's the Fire Horse's Epitaph.

Last night an admirer of the horse that for 17 years belonged to the local fire brigade, and that died Sunday, handed in the following:

FRED THE FIRE HORSE.

Fred you did well!
For seventeen year,
With no sighs or tears,
You answered the bell.

N'ere again will poor Fred,
With glistening eyes
And heard straining thighs,
Leap quick from his bed.

When the fire alarm sounded,
N'ere a thought of an oat,
Nor a badly parched throat,
Tempted Fred. He just bounded.

Wherever his duty might be;
Whether hauling the reel
Or engine he'd feel,
He belonged to the P.F.B.

Tho' out of this valley of tears,
Fred has gone to his rest,
Deserving the best
To award his 22 years.

Should horses like men,
Arise from the dead,
Oats for poor Fred,
Should be up to Amen.

Child Killed Near Blackwater.

Lindsay Post says; As the express from Midland was nearing Blackwater this morning, at the first crossing north this side two-year-old son of Section Foreman Robinson, ran out upon the track. The engineer applied the brakes, but the train could not be stopped in the short distance, and the engine struck the child, killing him instantly. No blame rests on the train crew.

"Fred" the Fire Brigade Horse Dead

Died at the advanced age of 22 years, after 17 years faithful services to the local fire brigade, "Fred," the well known horse. Fred died Sunday night, after as fested a faithful service during many years, without a day off duty till his recent fatal sickness set in last week.

MORE FRISCO NEWS

Mr. F. E. Bell Gets Pleasing News From His Son Mr. C. W. Bell.

Yesterday Mr. F. E. Bell, the well-known local accountant, received from his son, C. W. Bell, who is in the Citizens' National Bank in San Francisco. The letter was written on a small piece of ordinary card and came without a stamp. The card read as follows;

1715 Pacific Ave.
San Francisco, April 23, 1906.

Hope you got our telegram and letter. We are doing well and are located in a nice house. Grub is plentiful and the soldiers are keeping good order. What we long for is a bath. The bank will start as soon as we get a permit.

CLARENCE W. BELL.

Local Doctor's Horse Runs Away.

Last night about seven o'clock, the good citizens taking their after supper airing on Water street, between Brock and King streets, had a regular Roman hippodrome, in which the chief and only participant was a horse, belonging to a local doctor attached to the owner's buggy. The horse, which left Lakefield alright, ran away with the buggy, fortunately empty at the time. It fled at a pace that would give the ordinary "plug" heart disease to even take a look at, up Water street, and turning at the canoe company's factory, fled at a wild gallop down Brock street, until finally captured near Dr. Scott's new residence. The damage was trifling.

CURES WORST CATARRH

Not until Hyomei was discovered, had it been possible to say truthfully that a remedy for catarrh was known. Hyomei cures the worst cases of catarrh simply by breathing the remedy through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. Using the treatment in this way for a few minutes four times a day, every particle of air taken in the air passages and lungs is laden with germ-killing and health-giving Hyomei.

Stomach drugging often causes disordered digestion, and never makes a permanent cure of catarrh. Hyomei not only kills the germs in the throat and nose, but penetrates to the minutest air cells in the lungs and enters the blood with the oxygen killing the catarrhal germs in the blood.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a vest-pocket inhaler and medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1. If this does not effect a complete cure, extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

MR. TIFFIN HERE

Supt. Northern Division G. T. R. Arrives in Special Car.

Yesterday morning one of the Grand Trunk Railway magnates, Mr. W. R. Tiffin, with headquarters at Allandale, superintendent of the northern division of the Grand Trunk Railway, arrived on a special car on the 11.45 G.T.R. train from the west. He went east to Lakefield and inspected the improvements being made there, as noted elsewhere in this issue. He expressed himself as being well pleased with the work being done there.

Mr. Tiffin left on the afternoon train on an inspection of the line to Bellerville.

Burglar Got Booty After All.

Mr. W. E. Smith, whose blacksmith shop on George street, was robbed on Friday night, of which a report was contained in The Times of Monday, has since discovered that the midnight mechanics stole a lot of valuable tools, the loss of which he did not discover for some time. The stolen tools included a number of taps and dies which were enclosed in a wooden box about 2 1-2 feet long by 1 feet wide and were worth about $25. The instruments are used for cutting threads on bolts. The thieves were evidently well posted in the blacksmith line, and knew just what tools were valuable, as things unfamiliar with blacksmith tools would not have chosen the dies and taps.

Building Committee Met Last Night.

Last night the building committee of the Board of Education, in charge of the new south ward school, met last night, in closed session, to consider the tenders for the erection of the said school. It is probable a special meeting of the Board will be held this week to receive their report and award the contract.

Bore the Maple Leaf to Victory

Sherring of Hamilton Won the Marathon Road Race of 27 Miles at Athens, Defeating the Best Runners of the Whole World.

Athens, May 1.—The Marathon road race was won by Sherring of Canada.

The Marathon road race started at eight o'clock.

The King and Queen of Greece arrived at the Stadium at 8.15 p.m., and were greeted by an immense excited crowd, the most numerous since the opening day, filling the arena and awaiting the finish of the great race.

SHERRING'S VICTORY.

The victory of "Billy" Sherring at Athens today is one of the most notable achievements of Canadian athletes on record. The race is run over the old classic course from Marathon to Athens, a distance of 42 kilometers, or about 27 miles. This was the event in which the Greeks of old took most interest, and their descendants, the modern Greeks, think it the greatest honor to win the race. The best Greek athletes took part in the event today, and the best runners from the United States, New Zealand, Australia and Europe, also participated, the sturdy runners from England and Ireland, and the speedy Sprags from New York being conceded a royal chance of capturing this race.

To win the olive wreath in this event is an honor for Sherring that has no equal in Greece, and time was when the winner became a national hero, as he will, no doubt, be regarded today throughout Canada as at least.

All Greece was aroused over the struggle, Sherring's performance recalling to the native the wonderful run of the young Grecian peasant, who came down from the hills unknown and unsung in 1896, at the revival of the games, to compete in the Marathon race against the famed athletes of the world. The lad's victory, with the romance of tradition, brought interest to a fever heat.

SHERRING'S RECORD.

Sherring has been running in Hamilton for a number of years and has a most enviable record in all the long-distance events.

In 1900 he won the Herald road race in Hamilton, in its way one of the biggest events of its kinds in America, and the leading long-distance in Canada. It is an annual event and last year was won by Sprag, whom Sherring beat today at Athens.

In 1903 Sherring hung up a new mark for the race, which is held around Burlington Bay, a distance of 19 miles, 686 yards. It is run on Thanksgiving Day, and of late years has attracted many of the American cracks.

Sherring took part in the Marathon race at Boston, in 1900, but the heat he could do was to get second to Caffrey, another Hamilton boy.

Sherring is 27 years of age, and is only five feet high. He tips the scales at 122 pounds.

HOUSE OF REFUGE

Committee of County Council to Let Tenders To-morrow Morning.

A meeting of the building committee of the County Council has been called by Chairman Garbutt for to-morrow morning at ten o'clock to complete arrangements for advertising for tenders for the house of refuge.

Architect Belcher has the plans and specifications completed and ready for the contractors. So it is up to the council now to get busy if the building is to be ready for occupation before the snow flies.

MONSTER MERGER OF COAST TRADE

C. W. Morse Said to Aim at Control of Coast Steamship Trade.

New York, May 2.—With $30,000,000 back of him, Charles Wyman Morse, former ice king, seeks monopolist control of the Atlantic coast steamship trade, freight and passenger, of North and South America. His actual purchase of steamship companies to date represents in stock and bond issues $32,000,000. In Wall Street it is regarded as certain that Morse within a short time will be the absolute dictator of all sea transportation along the Atlantic coast. The companies which Morse already controls are the Clyde Steamship Company, the Metropolitan Steamship Company, the Eastern Steamship Company, and the Hudson Navigation Company. In the Eastern Steamship Company, Morse has consolidated the Portland Steamship Company, the Boston and Bangor Steamship Company, the Kenebec Steamship Company and the International Steamship Company.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday morning owing probably to the sunshine heated comfortable walks on which to enjoy the "dolce far niente," the Sunfish club did not turn up at the police court. Only one case was tried, that of two young lads, Norman Henry and John Carrol charged with stealing a ride on a C.P.R. freight car on April 28th Saturday without consent of the railway authorities.

Samuel Wright, a C.P.R. inspector, and H. F. Brown, a C.P.R. constable, appeared as complainants. They said that on Monday night at 9.45 they saw the prisoners lying on the side of the track in the C.P.R. yards here. About 10.20, the boy Carrol, said when questioned by them that he had driven in from Pontypool to get a job, producing a card with the name of the man with whom he alleged he was going to work. This card, however, convinced the officers that the man they claimed would give them a job had gone to the United States. Carrol admitted having stolen a ride on a freight car from Toronto to Pontypool.

Carrol, when asked by Acting Magistrate H. Rush to explain matters, and say whether he taken the free ride, said the lad told him to Mr. Wright, but it was not true.

Carrol then was placed in the witness box and sworn. He said he and Henry left Toronto Saturday night, and had walked and ridden at times on wagons from Toronto to Pontypool.

Mr. Wright remarked to His Worship, "Now that the boy has sworn to this fact, after lying to me before, I shall have to ask a remand till I can bring the conductor of the train here, with whom they rode, as a witness."

At this stage of the trial it developed that the two officers could not get back here for thirty days, and they being principal witnesses, the magistrate had the charge amended to read that they had walked upon the railway tracks, so as to save the lads being detained in jail for a month. They pleaded guilty to the charge as amended, and were fined $5 each to be paid forthwith, or ten days in Castle Nesbitt. They took the ten. Before going to jail, one of them, remarked, "Well, we will be out in time for the 24th."

LICENSE RULES

Local License Commissioners Determined That the Law Shall Be Kept.

The License Commissioners of West Peterboro, have risen in their might and issued rules and regulations superseding those of a by-gone age, age, that will greatly assist in the liquor laws being observed. They have enacted the following rules that should be strictly enforced as they are fair and in the interest of both the general public and law-abiding license holders. The newly added laws read as follows.

1. That all windows of every bar room and shop where liquor may lawfully be sold within the said license district, shall be kept free and clear from any and every curtain, blind, shutter, artificial frosting, colored glass and obstruction of every kind that may obstruct or tend to obstruct the view of the public from the exterior of any such bar room or shop, between the hours of seven o'clock p.m. on each Saturday and six o'clock a.m. on each following Monday, or during the hours prescribed by The Liquor License Act in which liquor shall not be sold therein.

2. No card playing or throwing dice shall be allowed at any time in or upon the premises of any tavern licensed to sell intoxicating liquors in the license district of West Peterboro.

And it is hereby further resolved that any person or persons guilty of or concerned in any breach of the above regulations shall forfeit and pay to and for the use of his Majesty a penalty not exceeding $50.00 exclusive of costs for every such offence to be recovered in manner provided by the law, and in default and until payment thereof, he shall be imprisoned in the common jail of the county of Peterboro, for a period not exceeding twenty-one days.

VESUVIUS' NEW TERROR

Gales of Mud Now Descending From the Volcano.

Naples, May 2.—Another disaster has occurred in the Vesuvian region. Throughout the past night torrents of rain fell, accompanied by a heavy gale of wind, causing large avalanches of mud, sand, ashes and cinders to fall over Somma and Santa Anastasia, destroying bridges, blocking the roads, flooding many habitations, interrupting communication by telegraph and carrying away portions of railways. Troops and military wagons were hurriedly dispatched to the assistance of the sufferers.

The inhabitants of the stricken places were awakened by a roaring, rushing sound which was absolutely new to them, and on running out of their houses they found their property threatened by a new horror, the fall of avalanches of sand, ashes, etc.

Their terror was extreme. The women and children fled, screaming with fright, into the open country. No loss of life has been reported. It is believed that while the storms rage Vesuvius is liable to be a continued menace to life and property, and that the people in the region of the volcano may have visitations of a more serious nature than last night's avalanches.

A CHAMPION MURDERER

Thirty-six Bodies Have Already Been Discovered.

Mogador, Morocco, May 1.—A series of murders probably unexampled in the annals of crime was traced last week to a native cobbler named Hadj Mohammed Meslawi.

Under his shop in the Rayad Zaitoun no fewer than 36 corpses were unearthed.

This led to the discovery of 18 more in a yard which had been rented by the murderer.

All these victims were women.

Meslawi will be crucified on Thursday next, when an immense concourse of spectators is certain.

This form of capital punishment has not been practiced within living memory.

FIRST ROYAL PERSON

To Receive the Golden Rose From the Pope is Princess Ena.

Rome, May 1.—The pope will invest Princess Ena of Battenburg with the Order of the Golden Rose in recognition of her conversion to the Church of Rome.

She will be the first English royal person to receive it, with the title "Defender of the Faith."

Few sovereigns in modern times have been recipients of the Golden Rose, Pius IX. having bestowed it on Napoleon III., the Empress Eugenie and Isabella II. of Spain.

The emblem is beautifully wrought to represent a spray of leaves, flowers, buds and thorns, containing in an invisible pocket a piece of palm blessed by the pope. The making of the insignia is intrusted to the Chevalier Tassani, who receives $1,000 for it.

Should the order be bestowed on King Alfonso's bride it will be carried to her in a golden vase, in charge of a papal noble of high rank as special envoy.

THE DICKSON CO. SELLS THEIR TIMBER LIMITS

THIS CITY SEES A DEAL THAT INVOLVES FULLY $600,000.

The Transaction Although Made By Syndicate of Outside Capitalists Will Not Affect Personel of Old Company.

Yesterday the business world, not only as refers to this city's portion of it, but of the whole Dominion, witnessed one of the most important purchase transactions that has occurred in Ontario for many a day.

The Times has, for some weeks been aware that this deal as described below was on the tapis, but for reasons easily understood by business men, did not divulge our privately ascertained information.

For some time the Dickson Company, represented by Mr. J. C. Shook, the general manager, and Roger & Bennet, their solicitors, and the purchasers, W. D. Lummis, of Toronto, and H. J. Bartlett, of Orillia, have been negotiating for the sale of the valuable timber limits of the Dickson Company in Cavendish and Anstruther townships. The Times is now in a position to announce that the sale, which includes the plant of the company in the various camps, was completed yesterday.

The price paid for the limits and plant at the camps is said to be $600,000.

The purchasers include a very wealthy syndicate of lumber merchants.

The Dickson Company retain their mills both at Lakefield and Peterboro, but the purchasers are to have the use of the Lakefield mills for five years, just as soon as the logs on hand at the mill are cut.

Mr. H. J. Bartlett, representing the syndicate, who conducted the deal yesterday, left last night.

In an interview held with Mr. G. M. Roger, of Messrs. Roger & Bennet, who were largely instrumental in carrying through the deal, and who attended to all the legal details involved, a Times' representative was assured, that, as far as could be learned, the syndicate will make no change in the personnel of those employed by the former owners. This will set aside fears that might naturally arise among those directly interested. Mr. Roger added that the new owners will probably increase the working staff so as to accelerate operations. He also noted that representatives of the purchasing syndicate have had farmed experts at work making a thorough and practical examination of every portion of the limits, and that they make a very favorable report. This purchase will probably result in bringing to the city several wealthy men and their families, who will be a great and welcome acquisition in our midst.

The limits of the Dickson Company which were disposed of yesterday, consist of about 105 square miles located principally in Cavendish and Anstruther townships. The timber affected is principally pine.

MR. HENDRIE IS DYING.

Hamilton, May 1.— The family of Mr. William Hendrie were summoned to his bedside yesterday, the physicians having given up all hope. He is slowly sinking.

A MAN WHO KNOWS

Sorrows of a Citizen Finds Vent Through the Times.

"I am a man of peace," said a north end citizen, as he stepped off a George street car in front of The Times office, "but if that man don't let up on me I shall break loose and do him damage."

"What man, and what has he done?" asked The Times' man.

"I don't know him, but for the last two weeks he has come down with me of a morning and on each occasion he has got alongside of me to quote statistics. This morning, when I was anxious to read The Times, he crowded in and got my elbows wedged fast and began:

"My dear sir, has it entered your mind that we are traveling at the rate of sixteen miles an hour and that if this car should be suddenly stopped dead still each one of us would be flung forward a distance of thirty-eight feet nine and one-half inches?

"I made no reply to him, but he was not in the least put out. He simply got his breath and continued:

"You do not seem alarmed, sir, and perhaps there is no occasion, but I can demonstrate to you that should this car travelling at this rate strike a stone wall 19 feet 11-3 inches thick the force of the impact would be exactly equal to the force of a wave 11 feet high and half a mile long breaking on a sandy beach with a pitch of three inches to the foot.

"I tried to get up and find another seat," said the victim, "but he had his hand on my shoulder and asked me to remember that the tears shed in America each day in the year amounted to exactly 34 barrels 32 gallons 2 quarts and 1 pint. Before I could get away he added that this amount of water would run a 10 horse-power engine 17 hours and 19 minutes, and that the energy wasted in the weeping of tears would plant 9 1-2 acres of corn.

"Yes, this thing has got to stop," said the sufferer as he set his jaws. "I shall either take some other route to come and go, or I will inform that statistician that a blow delivered on the chin of a man weighing 300 pounds is equal to the fall of a bag of sand from a heighth of seven feet, and if he is taken to the hospital it will only be what he deserves."

MR. HIGGINS ANGRY

Cowardly Dog-Poisoners Again at Their Nefarious Work.

Yesterday morning, shortly before the police court went into executive session, Mr. W. Higgins, the Hunter street hardware man came into the police station with well founded wrath bristling from every pore.

He noted that a valuable Newfoundland dog belonging to him, yesterday morning staggered to the back door of his residence, 1043 Water street.

Mr. Higgins thinking the dog, which was highly prized by the family, as a fine specimen of his breed, and most gentle in his disposition, was only suffering from a fit, gave orders that milk be supplied it. He then went to his place of business. Shortly after arriving at the store, his sister brought the unwelcome news that the animal was dead, having evidently died from the effects of a dose of strychnine, seemingly given with intent to kill. Mr. Higgins cannot understand why his dog should have been chosen by dog poisoners, as he was most docile in his disposition, and never left the yard except when accompanied by someone belonging to the house. He remarked to a Times' representative, "I would not have taken $100 of any man's money for that dog. It was almost like losing one of the family.

Mr. Higgins is now on the trail of the party killing his pet, and if he discovers him, there will be "Blood on the face of the moon."

ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Board of Health and Finance Committee Meet Toronto Authorities.

Yesterday at 2.30 p.m., the board of Health, and members of the Finance Committee of the City Council met Doctors Hodgetts and Bruce Smith, leading officials of the Ontario Board of Health in the committee room of the city building.

Those present were: Chairman Eyres, Messrs. Schneider, Neil and Dr. McNutty for the board, and Mayor Best, Aldermen Elliott, Ball, McWilliams for the council, Architect Blackwell and Dr. Blackwell and Dr. Hoghton, M.H.O.

After Chairman Eyres had satisfactorily explained the object of the meeting, and had introduced the distinguished visitors, Dr. Hodgetts and Dr. Smith, the latter gentleman, in a few words gave a lucid description of the imperative necessity existing for the city to have an isolation hospital, wherein patients suffering from contagious diseases, now by law debarred from general hospitals could be treated. They explained that the cost of such building need not necessarily be great, but that to retain the Government grant the city must have such accommodation.

A general friendly, though strictly business like, conversation ensued in which the Toronto medical men answered several pointed questions put.

Dr. Bruce Smith when asked concerning what other cities, about the size of Peterboro, were doing in this matter, said that Brantford has an isolation hospital for treatment of contagious diseases, in the same grounds, as the general hospital, but 150 yards away. The same nurses attend but are isolated whilst on duty on the contagious cases.

St. Thomas has an isolation hospital at a different part of the city, under control of Board of Health, Windsor the same. Guelph has just completed an isolation hospital on the same farm as St. Joseph's hospital, but at a safe distance from it as required by law.

Dr. McNutty thought the management of the isolation hospital, should be left with the local authorities. As regards erection of the building, he agreed with Dr. Smith, that an expenditure for a good enough building could be effected, at a cost of from $1500 to $2000.

Mr. Eyres advocated having an isolation hospital irrespective of any and from the hospitals, which refuse to take contagious diseases in.

Ald. Ball then asked Dr. Smith what bearing the exacta from such a contagious diseases hospitals would have on general health by passing through the public sewers.

Dr. Smith and Dr. Hodgetts both said if plumbing in the houses were properly tested by smoke and otherwise, there would be no danger. Dr. Smith then gave the city fathers present a dig about the city not giving a cent towards their hospital assistant-manager, saying "You have not got the hospital habit here." This brought Mayor Best to his feet with a reply that the city, on debentures spends over $1,000 per annum on its hospitals.

Mr. Neil moved, seconded by Ald Elliott that Drs Hodgetts and Smith be requested to furnish the city with a report as to its requirements regarding an isolation hospital, the cost of maintenance, cost of building, etc. —Carried.

Before the resolution was put, Dr. Hodgetts said to do this, he must be furnished with a list of the average number of contagious diseased patients for, say, the past five years, as a basis to work on. This will be supplied by the city clerk.

A cab then took the Toronto visitors and the members of the Board of Health to inspect the West Ward school and look into the sanitary or otherwise, conditions existing there.

TO HARNESS THE WAVES

Inventor Has Completed a Wonderful Motor.

Los Angeles, Calif., May 1.—Are the restless waves to be harnessed to do man's bidding, and convert into docile, tractable energy the mighty power that is hourly going to waste?

Theodore Rapp, of Los Angeles, has a wave motor completed by which he expects this will be done. The contrivance has been built after months of weary toil. The motor occupies a protected position within the circle of the new crescent pier at Ocean park. If it proves the success expected by its creator there will be a revolution in the world of electricity. Power for all purposes can then be produced so cheaply that present expensive plants for its generation for commercial uses will look like 30 cents.

Simply stated, Mr. Rapp's motor consists of a series of heavy Russia iron floats, each connected by means of a perpendicular piston rod with a lever. This lever, by means of a friction clutch designed by Mr. Rapp, is expected to convert the perpendicular motion of the rising and falling conical floats into rotary motion. The main shaft is made fast to the floor of the pier and is equipped with balance wheels. There are counter shafts and gearing that transmit the lever's rotary motion to the line shaft. There is a separate gear apparatus for each float, and each works independently of the other, although all are connected in the same manner with the main shaft.

When a rising wave causes the piston rod to rise, the rod in turn will elevate the lever, engaging the upward clutche and causing the geared wheels to revolve. This motion will be conveyed by multiplied gear wheels to the main shaft. As the float falls to a lower level as the wave recedes, the upward clutch releases its hold and the downward one becomes engaged, and so on with each succeeding wave and with each of the floats.

Do You Know That Copper Mining Pays $40,000,000 IN DIVIDENDS ANNUALLY?

Do you realize that mining is one of the world's most profitable industries? Did it ever occur to you that all money and all advantages of civilization are founded almost absolutely upon the products of the mines of the world?

TUSAS PEAK GOLD & COPPER MINING CO.

A corporation engaged in legitimate mining under the direction of reputable business men who give its management able and careful consideration.

260 Acres of Rich Mineral Lands

owned by this company and every part demonstrated by actual mining work

Immense Deposits of Copper Ores

average values higher than those found in any other great copper camps

Values Proven By Developed Mines

with thousands of feet of workings extending to a depth of over 400 feet

Equipped With Substantial Machinery

consisting of steam hoists, air compressors, machine drills, pumps, etc.

Complete Modern Ore Reduction Mill

is now being built where the ore will be converted direct into bullion

Annual Profits of $90,000.00 Assured

by expert mining engineers based on ores actually blocked out in mines. $80,000.00 has been expended in mine workings which prove these facts.

Stock at 40 Cents a Share

The final issue of treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. The entire proceeds will be used to pay for the machinery for the mill. The day this mill is completed the mine will begin to earn dividends.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

If you had invested one thousand dollars ten years ago in any one of a dozen different mines whose names we can give you, you would today be worth at least one hundred thousand dollars—and we are offering you a like opportunity—the chance of a life time with success absolutely sure. A letter places you under no obligation and will bring you further details.

Paris An Armed Camp Yesterday

May Day Demonstration Results in Many Arrests and the Expulsion of Anarchist Leaders, But No Grave Disorder Took Place.

STORY BY BULLETINS.

Paris, May 1.—Cavalry and infantry detachments have taken up the positions assigned to them throughout Paris and in the outskirts of the city, as a precaution against May Day disturbances. As this despatch is filed the authorities have completed all their arrangements to preserve order.

9.25 a.m.—The boulevards, the Place de la Concorde, the Place de l'Etoile and the Place de la Bourse present their normal aspect. Traffic is uninterrupted except in the case of cabs. Workmen are quietly gathering on the Place de la Republique.

10.55 a.m.—In addition to the occupation of the Place de la Bourse by troops early in the day prior to the opening of the Bourse a battalion of infantry was stationed on the terrace of the building and detachments of cavalry were drawn up at each of its wings.

11.20 a.m.—Owing to an increase in the excitement on the Place de la Republique the troops intervened and a hundred arrests were made. The prisoners were immediately taken before magistrates, who quickly passed upon the cases and the disturbers of the peace were taken to jail. Detachments of troops have just taken up a position around the Bank of France.

12.30 p.m.—The striking printers attempted to march in procession, singing a revolutionary song. They attacked the police who intervened and the latter were compelled to draw their revolvers.

1.30 p.m.—A squadron of Cuirassiers with an ambulance has occupied the part of the Place de l'Etoile facing the Champs Elysees. Detachments of cavalry are patrolling the thoroughfares in the vicinity of the Ministries and the Quay d'Orsay. A police guard has been stationed at the American Embassy.

ANARCHISTS EXPELLED.

2.25 p.m.—Many anarchists have been expelled from Paris, including Stepniak, Guertzikoff and one woman, M. Leby, secretary of the Confederation of Labor, and M. Frumentin, the wealthy anarchist, have been arrested.

3 p.m.—The Place de la Republique is the scene of continuous arrests. The number of disorderly persons has increased by several thousands. A detachment of four hundred infantry has stacked arms on the Place de l'Etoile.

3.35 p.m.—A squadron of cavalry eventually charged the manifestants on the Place de la Republique, forcing the rioters toward St. Martin Canal. Dragoons then formed a cordon, cutting off ingress to the square. Fifty additional arrests were made.

4.00 p.m.—At Brest the strikers, carrying a black flag, were charged by the police. A severe fight followed, the flag was seized and many arrests were made.

Paris, May 2.—The day for which the Government made prodigious preparations finds many quarters of the city presenting the appearance of an armed camp. The forces concentrated under Prefect of Police Lepine are estimated at 50,000 troops, 12,000 police and 8,000 Republican Guards, gendarmes and detectives. Detachments of troops of all arms took up positions in the main centers at an early hour. The bulk of the military forces had been strictly confined to barracks since midnight, and remained under orders to be ready to move at a moment's notice. The troops at midnight began to guard the public sources of water, gas and electric supplies.

MRS MORRISON'S FUNERAL

The Late Mrs. John Morrison to Be Laid to Rest Today.

In our issue of yesterday's date, we noted that an unexpected and most lamentable stroke of paralysis, seized Mrs. John Morrison, who lived on a farm near Springville, whilst driving with her husband on Sunday from Cavan to their farm.

We regret to say that Mrs. Morrison passed away on Tuesday evening. The funeral will leave the family residence west of Springville today at one o'clock, and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

A GREAT PARADE

The 57th Regiment With Band Attract Much Admiration.

Last night the 57th Regiment held their first march out this season. The route of the parade was as follows; —Drill hall to George street; George to Simcoe, Simcoe to Aylmer, Aylmer to Hunter, Hunter to Water, Water to Brock, Brock to the drill hall.

The boys in red turned out in almost full force, and were accompanied by the splendid brass band that every citizen hears with pleasure and pride.

SHOT TWO MEN

And Hunted Murderer Again Made His Escape.

Woodburn, Ore., May 2. — Frank Smith, the alleged slayer of Policeman Hanlon, of Oregon City, and an escaped prisoner from the city jail at Portland, early today shot and fatally wounded Sheriff J. S. Shaver, of Clackamas County, and seriously injured Captain O. D. Henderson, of Company D, Oregon National Guard.

Smith, who was surrounded by a posse in a clump of bushes, made a sudden dash, and escaped after shooting the two men.

MOUNT HECLA'S ERUPTION.

Edinburgh, Scotland, May 1. — Steamers which arrived at Leith yesterday from Iceland report that Mount Hecla has been in eruption, ashes being scattered over a wide area. The disturbance, however, was not serious.

Mount Hecla is a volcano on the southwest coast of Iceland. It rises to an altitude of about 5,000 feet and has three craters. In historic times eighteen eruptions were recorded, the last of which took place in 1845. The lava beds surrounding it cover about 262 square miles.

Crews for Kawartha Steamers.

Capt. P. J. Young, of the steamer Majestic, was in the city yesterday, arranging for the crews of the two Young's Point steamers, for this season, which will be as follows, steamer, Stony Lake—W. R. Seaford, captain; Frank Young, first mate; G. Durrell, second mate; Messrs. Watt, engineer; and Godfrey, fireman. Steamer Majestic—P. J. Young, captain; J. Robin, mate; Fred Young, engineer; Peter Ayotte, fireman.

A Postponed Meeting.

The most necessary and too often maligned class of men, whose work is done by night, and by the expression we do not refer to burglars or other law-breakers, belonging to this city, recently decided to form a company for mutual protection and to formulate a regular schedule of prices. This meeting was called for three o'clock Monday afternoon, but unfortunately two of the most likely candidates for the offices of president and vice-president, imbibed not wisely but too well, so the meeting was, perforce postponed sine die.

The First Budget of News.

London, May 1.—In the House of Commons yesterday the Speaker were full when the Chancellor of the Exchequer rose to introduce the first budget of the new Liberal administration.

Mr. Asquith began by reviewing the past financial year, pointing out the clearing fact that the revenue was larger and that the expenditures was greater than the estimates; hence the country was in the happy position of having realized a surplus equal to $17,280,000.

COAL TAX REPEALED.

Among the budget announcements was that the export duty on coal will be completely repealed Nov. 1.

The duty on stripped tobacco will be reduced twopence halfpenny, and on tea by one penny from July 1.

Pin Your Faith on Ferrozone

A Time Honored Cure for Spring Ailments that Every Physician Recommends.

But every year has seen the popularity of Ferrozone increase, and today it is used by the people of many nations for weakness, debility and the characteristic ailments of spring.

Let Ferrozone help you:

It enriches the blood supply and thereby vitalizes the quickens the whole body.

Humors and impurities are driven off. Disease germs of every kind are destroyed.

Nutritious material is supplied for restoring the waste, and day by day the process of rebuilding goes on till health that outlasts old age is established.

Mr. W. A. Renwick, of 225 Hunter street, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "A year ago I became run down and lost my health. My strength was greatly reduced and on account of the weakness of my heart I was afraid to take up work.

"On going up stairs or walking fast my heart would beat like an engine. I would gasp for breath and get exhausted quickly. At night I would wake up in an excited condition and find my heart going like mad.

"In this terrible state nothing helped me but Ferrozone. Such good it did me I can hardly explain. It built up my strength, put new life in my heart and made me feel like a new man."

Even in advanced cases of weakness Ferrozone is unfailing. Your druggist sells it at 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

IS THE HOUSEFLY DOOMED?

The house fly has fallen upon evil times. After having long been tolerated, under the impression that it was one of nature's wisely provided scavengers, the bacteriologists have decided that it is an active agent in the spread of disease, and its doom has been ordained.

It is claimed that experiments made at Manila show that the buzzing and all-pervading house fly was the medium of spreading cholera and that, when the insect was carefully excluded from the prison, the epidemic was checked. There are many other counts in the indictment of the house fly. It is charged with energizing the family milk jar as a bacteria factory and staying more innocents in the city of New York in a single season than fell before the sanguinary edict of King Herod. If the bacteriologists are to be believed, the house fly is responsible for the greater portion of the summer mortality of New York, and a war of extermination has been decided upon. Even the mosquito, somewhat widely famed as a dispenser of disease, is now obliged to take a minor position in this exploitation of the house fly.

The method of ridding the metropolis of this newly diagnosed cause of disease would not seem to be as easy as pointing out its dangers. It has been declared that cleanliness, particularly in stables, will greatly reduce the evil and consequently improve health conditions. It is also doubtless true that the abolition of horse stables in a large and populous city would tend to the betterment of health conditions, regardless of the alleged pernicious activity of the house fly.

It is not unlikely that the conclusions of the insect experts have a foundation of truth. At the same time it has not been shown that the long established theory that the house fly has merit as a scavenger is without warrant. In any event the merits and demerits of the fly will not be determined at once, and it will be many months before it is effectually eliminated.

OUR VAST HERITAGE.

A Chicagoan who attended a luncheon of the Winnipeg Canadian Club a few days ago sent to the papers of the Windy City a report of a striking address given by T. R. Deacon, president of the Manitoba Iron Works, on the "Industrial Possibilities of Central Canada." The address was very complete, and the picture given of the vast wealth and possibilities of the country between the lines he took for Central Canada—from the meridian at North Bay to the base of the Rockies—was one to fill with enthusiasm the patriotic Canadians as to the future of his country. In the New Ontario section of the country there are first of all immense and valuable forests, including pine, hardwood, and unlimited quantities of spruce for pulp and paper making. There is a clay belt of most valuable agricultural land amounting to 16,000,000 acres, while the climate presents no obstacle to settlement. Then, there is an enormous mineral wealth in this district, as yet barely touched. Add to this the numberless waterfalls affording a source of electric power almost unlimited and this country will be seen to be the most valuable "wilderness" ever possessed as a one-time unconsidered asset of the great Dominion. But leaving this and coming to where for a thousand miles the prairie stretches westward and northward also for many leagues, there is a possible wealth in these millions of acres of fertile soil incalculable by man. Some day soon, when every quarter-section from Winnipeg to Calgary is occupied by an industrious settler, it may be possible to estimate in some degree the tremendous tide of commerce and wealth that will flow through the channels of traffic in the west. Mr. Deacon is of opinion that the pot of gold under the rainbow, which men have ever been hunting, lies in the golden wheatfields of the western prairies.

The Engineering Magazine

The Engineering Magazine for May opens with an admirable discussion by Mr. St. A. Oudin, of American commercial relations, especially as relates to the certainty of future need and future search for larger foreign markets. It is pointed out that the movement will inevitably involve serious international problems, for which the United States should in wisdom prepare now by closer attention to economic and industrial questions and their solution.

The second article in the number deals with another matter of keen present importance—the attempt to force the use of the metric system. The author, Mr. H. H. Suplee, points out clearly the fallacy of the position of the metric advocates, the enormous confusion and expense into which American industries would be plunged, and the disastrous results which would follow the proposed meddlesome paternalism.

There is a very interesting and beautifully illustrated account of the new railway work in the Philippines, by Mr. L. W. Bennett, the engineer in charge of construction. Mr. Charles F. Scott, the distinguished electrical engineer, concludes his review of electric motors and their uses; Mr. Becker treats of the use of the new high-speed steel tools; Professor J. H. Hart discusses refrigerating apparatus from a new point of view; Mr. F. W. Jessop describes the stores-room methods of his company; and Mr. F. E. Saward sums up with a succinct outline of the conditions prior to the coal strike, and relations of the various districts to one another, and the questions at stake in the conferences between operators and miners. This number concludes, as usual, with the complete Review and Index of the Engineering Press.

Ants Who Raise Grain.

In one of the South American countries there are ants which, besides carrying out in their minute way their wonderful social and commercial economy, help the natives by raising grain for them. Of course they do not do it intentionally, for their object is to provide food for themselves. They take the ripe seeds which fall on the ground and, burrowing under the earth, bury these seeds in the dirt for food for the rainy season. When the rains have passed the seeds which the ants have not eaten burst their shells and eventually a good crop of wild grain will reward some lazy native who is too idle to provide food for himself. When you see a little ant hurrying along with its tiny burden be careful not to tread upon it, for it is such a wonderful little creature that you never can tell in what unexpected ways it may be serving you.

Sentence of Long Words.

Administrator general's counter revolutionary intercommunications excircumetantiated. Quartermaster general's disproportionableness characteristically contradistinguished unconstitutionists' incomprehensibilities.

A Young Artist.

Little Willie made a drawing.
And he showed mamma with pride.
"What is that?" he asked, exultant.
"'Tis a puppy," she replied.

Then he took it to his father,
Who exclaimed: "I wonder, now!
"It's a quadruped for certain.
I should say it was a cow."

Willie wondered that his parents
Did so strangely disagree.
"It was meant to be the sofa
In the parlor," murmured he.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces except sections 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7, for one annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the holder may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5, renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

STOCKS - THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD - BONDS

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tinto mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

through this whole matter quite plainly. You, the deserted wife of my poor, unhappy brother, saw the paragraph in this afternoon's paper, and, of course, believed it. Part of the statements made by the reporter were quite true, others sadly mixed up. It was true, Waldron did not die in the waves on the Florida coast; he was picked up by an outward-bound vessel and was landed in China, ill unto death. It was long months before the ravages of fever left him, and he was able to set sail for home; and on that homeward-bound steamer, the first persons whom he saw, upon coming up on deck, were my bride and myself with a party of friends. The second day out, my brother confessed to me the whole story of his misspent life; I came here to take possession of the Towers with my bride and requested that all the neighbors hereabouts should be invited here to meet us. Through my perfect resemblance to my brother Waldemar, I was taken for him by those who saw me drive up from the station. It did not take long, however, to explain the situation, when my curious, wondering guests arrived. A pretty mess these papers have made of it, to be sure. Waldemar will be here to-night. I am expecting him every moment."

Reine listened to the strange recital with speechless amazement. Waldemar really not dead! and this his younger brother! No wonder the newspaper reporter who had made such a strange blunder had been deceived by the close resemblance between the brothers.

But now that Reine observed him more closely, she saw many points wherein he differed from Waldemar.

There was a hasty step in the corridor outside, that both of them recognized.

"Ah, here is Waldemar now!" his brother exclaimed, adding hastily, "I will leave you alone together to settle your differences."

Reine would have detained him, but he hurried from the apartment, and, an instant later an opposite door was flung open and Waldemar Waldron stood on the threshold, with glowering eyes—red and bloodshot—even at the distance he was standing, the horrible odor of rum reached her.

For a moment Reine was stricken dumb, a terrible sound filled her ears, flashes of red, glaring light seemed to play before her vision, but through it all, she raised her terrified eyes to the harsh, mocking face before her.

"Well," he cried, harshly, "you have led me a pretty dance, haven't you?" and, as he spoke he banged the door after him, and strode up to her, and a hand, hard and heavy, clutched her white arm, hissing in her ear.

"I have just heard how you came here, and fired in among the crowd. I knew that the heavily veiled woman they were all talking so excitedly about was you. What did you do it for, I say! Did you mistake my brother Clarence, who was standing there, for me and attempt to pop him over, thinking it would rid you forever of me?"

"Waldemar," she murmured, faintly, "hear me; I—I—never meant to fire into the room among those people—I—I—well I may as well tell you the truth," she said, desperately; "I did take your brother for you and I determined to kill myself to end it all." As she uttered the words, no cry fell from her white lips; although the grip of the hard, steely hand that grasped her arm, grew cruelly harder each moment to bear.

A sneering laugh broke from his lips, a laugh horrible to hear.

"When you ran away from me you thought I should never be able to find you, did you," he cried, tauntingly.

"You left me, Waldemar," she corrected.

"It's a lie!" he cried, brutally, giving vent to such a volley of horrible oaths, that Reine's heart seemed to die within her. She shrank back from him, coweringly.

"It's a lie!" he repeated, fiercely, "and you know it. I only wrote that letter to frighten you into getting some money from the old man, or from somewhere else—it didn't matter much where. I stayed away three days to bring you to your senses, and when I came back you were gone, glad of the excuse no doubt, and ever since I have been searching for you, and you have led me a pretty dance of it, I say."

"I did not know, Waldemar," she murmured, faintly.

"Do you think I'm fool enough to believe that?" he cried, fiercely.

"It is the truth, Waldemar," she said.

"And there's another affair that came to my ears as I was coming up the mountain pass; the report of my death, which you have circulated, and last but not least, that you were about to marry Bernard Cheleigh—curse him—is it true? Answer me!"

"We were to have been married to-morrow," she replied, falteringly, "but when I found you were alive, and supposed to be here, I came here too."

"To put me out of the way," he interrupted, and again he broke into such a volley of horrible oaths Reine was fairly electrified. He seemed to not stop to catch breath until he had exhausted his whole vocabulary.

"Don't," she cried faintly; "you are killing me, Waldemar," but her remonstrance only made him all the worse. He stopped at length through sheer exhaustion, for a moment, and in that moment the door was suddenly opened again and Bernard Cheleigh, with a face white as death, stepped into the room.

It was Reine to whom he turned, ignoring Waldron's presence altogether.

"I had your note," he said, simply, "and I could scarcely credit what you said was true; I believed there was some terrible mistake, Reine, and followed you here in all haste to see if what you wrote were possible."

The remainder of [illegible] human lips broke from Reine's. With an almost superhuman effort she wrenched herself from the detaining hold of Waldron's steel-like hand and flew like a wounded bird that has the arrow of death in its heart, to Bernard Cheleigh's arms, clasping him with her white arms as though nothing but death should loosen her clinging hold and part her from him.

"Bernard, my love, save me from him," she gasped. "Oh, save me from him, or kill me with your own dear hands."

Before Bernard could answer, Waldemar Waldron had torn her white arms from his neck, thrust her back and stepped between them. Waldron had pushed her so roughly that she had fallen backward, at Bernard's feet.

Bernard sprung forward to raise her—a low cry breaking from his lips.

"Do not touch her, do not dare to touch her, Bernard Cheleigh," he cried, in a voice of thunder; "she is my wife!"

"Just this once," implored Bernard, "let me raise her in my arms and whisper one poor word of comfort to her, we have loved each other so well, and on the morrow," he said huskily, "she was to have been—my wife,—I know she is yours; I am not going to dispute your right. Let me raise her just this once and look into the face that has been heaven on earth to me, then I will go quietly away."

"Stand back! lay your hands upon even one hair of her head and I will kill you," cried Waldron, his face

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go further in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Dr. Hamilton Cures Rheumatism

Rheumatism begins and ends in the blood which at no time is ever free from poison. But if the kidneys are healthy, they will filter out the waste and poisons.

In case of rheumatism, the kidneys are not doing their work. As a result poisons crystalize around the joints and cause pain almost akin to torture.

There can be no sure, no permanent relief until the kidneys are stimulated. First get them into working order. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills excel all other remedies; they heal and strengthen the kidneys as no other poisons depart from the blood and all medicine can do. Once the kidneys are renewed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills the trace of rheumatism disappears.

Mr. Case to Use Chronic to Yield to the Marvellous Influence of Dr. Hamilton Pills.

"I spent nearly three years experimenting with rheumatic remedies," writes Geo. E. Sunbury, of Portland. "I had almost given up hope, when I tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they completely cured me. No remedy could be better."

You will never regret using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a supply today from your druggist, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Folsom & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—The Finance Committee will meet tonight.

—The Finance Committee of the Council meets tomorrow night at eight o'clock.

—Three large packages of nice, clean newspapers for putting under carpets, for 10 cents, at Times Bookstore.

—The Board of Works met last night and considered several applications for sewers, and attended to other routine business.

—The 57th marched out last night. Many a maiden's heart went pit-a-pat as they went by in gallant style, and the swing of veterans.

—The customs returns of this city for April last amounted to $31,119.18. This was over $1,000 a day, a pretty fair showing for a city of 15,000 people.

—Back numbers of newspapers for wrapping parcels or putting under carpets, in bulk at half a cent a pound for orders mailed for this morning. Times Bookstore.

—The adjourned meeting of St. John's church vestry will be held this evening. An adjourned meeting of All Saints' church vestry, will take place on Monday night next.

—Mr. Frederick Nicholls, Toronto; general manager of the Canadian General Electric Co., was in the city yesterday, it is understood in connection with the proposed additions to their plant as noted in a former issue of The Times.

—Mr. D. Hall, the Charlotte street barber yesterday received from Messrs. Treat two sprays, that are the first of their kind in this district. They are used in shaving and save both perfume and a great application of hard work to a customer's face.

—The Toronto World on Saturday, says; "Parkdale Camp No. 20, Woodmen of the World, will run an excursion by C.P.R., to Bobcaygeon and Peterboro on Saturday, July 14, with tickets good for three days. This is the first excursion that has ever been run to the former place."

—The building committee of the Board of Education met in secret session, Monday night to consider the tenders for the new South Ward school. Those present had nothing to say, but it is understood that they did not finish their business, and another meeting will have to be held before the Board can take action.

Souvenir China.

For a dainty little souvenir of fancy china with hand painted view the Y.W.C.A., St. John's church, Hiller look or Jackson's park. See the variety we have put on sale this morning in trays, jugs, bowls, vases, trinket box with lid etc. Choice of any article for 15 cents each or two for 25 cents. Times Bookstore.

Iron Moulders Get 5 Per Cent More.

There will be no trouble between the iron moulders and their employers. A meeting held in Foresters' Hall, accepted the terms of the latter, viz., a 5 per cent. increase. The moulders had asked for a 10 per cent. raise but a happy medium of compromise has settled the trouble that might have occurred on May 1st. Mr. Barnett, business agent of the moulders, was here Monday.

An Epworth League Presentation

Mr. A. S. Armstrong, who for the past three years has acted most efficiently as president of the Charlotte street Epworth League, and who is about to remove to Moosejaw, was on Monday evening presented with a valuable locket by the young people. The locket bears the inscription "A.S.A." on one side, and a suitable inscription on the other side. Mr. Tremeer read an appreciative address, and Mr. Armstrong made a suitable reply.

Mr. S. A. Clarke presided during the evening, and at the close, refreshments were served and a pleasant social time spent.

Trout Fishing Began Yesterday.

Yesterday quite a number of local citizens who are disciples of the late lamented Isaac Walton, evidently remembered not to forget to remember that trout fishing was in season. Three different parties left for various trout streams yesterday, armed with rod, line, worms and bait (the latter in glass with a Government stamp certifying as to age and purity) One enthusiastic fisherman told a Times' representative he found that the worms are still deep in the ground, and that before he had secured a sufficient number, he had dislocated the back bone in eleven different spots whilst digging his bait.

LICENSES GRANTED

Local Commissioners Regrant all Shop Licenses.

Monday the License Commissioners of West Peterboro, met in Inspector Cochrane's office, and considered not only the shop licenses, left over at their previous meeting, but heard several of those they had either curtailed on time or refused renewals of hotel licenses. Their meeting was a very long one, only terminating about the time the cocks crow after midnight.

The first matter considered was that of Mr. T. Cavanagh's license left over from the former meeting.

He was granted one month's extension on his license to give him a chance to sell out his stock. This, however, does not mean that the hotel was debarred from a renewal, but simply done owing to the present uncertainty as to its future proprietor.

The following were granted shop licenses,—

F. J. R. Mitchell.
J. C. Sullivan.
Alex. Elliott.
Arthur Rountree.
Chas. A. Kelly.

The applications of Mr. Overead of the Oxford hotel, Mr. Cassidy of the Windsor hotel, Mr. Allen of the C.P.R. hotel, represented by Mr. G. M. Hatton, and Mr. Brooks of the Palace hotel to have their licenses renewed as formerly were not granted, the board standing by their first decision.

Thirty bartenders have already made application for licenses, and with one exception, a man under 21 years of age, were granted upon the payment of the required two dollars. The sons of a landlord of a licensed hotel if they are over twenty-one years of age, do not require to take out a bartender's license to sell liquor on their father's premises. This is the last day for the payment of the license fees. A bartender's license may be taken out at any time.

Next year holders of shop licenses will be required to have premises for the sale of liquor.

The Peterboro Club's license was renewed.

Campbellford Made Happy.

The Campbellford Herald says: The announcement that the canal is to come our way will be hailed with joy by the people of this locality. Now that the matter is definitely settled the frontier towns which hoped to be the terminus will no doubt take their medicine cheerfully, especially as they were fighting on the losing side. A correct solution to the problem has been arrived at.

TOOK VENGEANCE

Dr. Gray Shoots Valuable Dog For Killing His Hens.

Now the popular coroner of this county has gone gunning, his quarry being a valuable bull terrier, belonging to the family of Mr. Peter Hamilton, of Water street. The dog was highly prized and had been owned by Mr. Hamilton for about 9 months. A brother of the dog, which was shot, won two first prizes at the Buffalo dog show.

Dr. Gray alleges that the dog was killing the fowl in the yard at his residence on Charlotte street, when he shot him. The doctor states that the dog had many chickens killed by dogs within a short time.

They Stand Alone.

Standing out as a unique and unapproached frank and honest [illegible] and afflicted, are Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak over-worked, debilitated, nervous, "run-down," pain-racked women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous remedy for weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness, all catarrhal affections whether of the stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, nasal passages, throat, bronchia, or other mucous passages, also as an effective remedy for all diseases arising from thin, watery or impure blood, as scrofulous and skin affections.

Each bottle of the above medicines bears upon its wrapper a badge of honesty in the full list of ingredients composing it—printed in plain English. This frank and open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves, and is the best guaranty of their merits. They cannot be claimed as patent nor secret medicines for they are neither—being of known composition.

Dr. Pierce feels that he can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines freely before them because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended. Therefore, the afflicted do not have to rely alone upon Dr. Pierce's recommendation as to the curative value of his medicines for certain easily recognized diseases.

A glance at the printed formula on each bottle will show that no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines, they being wholly compounded of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American forest plants. These are best and safest for the cure of most lingering, chronic diseases. Dr. R. V. Pierce can be consulted FREE, by addressing him at Buffalo, N. Y., and all communications are regarded as sacredly confidential.

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines sell them.

Warning to Paper Thieves.

Yesterday a subscriber to this paper, who lives near the corner of Antrim and George streets, stopped a Times' representative, and in serio-comic manner stated that his morning literary treat, The Morning Times, had not reached him for several days. Yesterday morning, like the good paterfamilias of the story books, and, in fact, of modern common custom, he got up early to put a match to the kitchen stove, and retire to finish dressing. As is come down he noticed The Times lying at his front door; on his return to finish dressing he noticed the papes was gone. Suppressing the mortification the felt over missing his morning paper as well as he could, the subscriber went upstairs to dress. On his coming down again to breakfast he saw a certain party he knows, returning The Times to his door. Now the point is that whilst not begrudging any one a few minutes' reading of this paper, the subscriber remarked, "You know I have been blaming the delivery boy for not leaving my paper. If that party would always return my paper as he did yesterday, I would not care so much, but he has not always remembered to put it back." This is "A word in season," to paper thieves.

Count Witte is Down and Out

His Resignation as Premier Has Been Accepted By the Czar---A Bad Lookout for Russia.

St. Petersburg, May 3.—The resignation of Count Witte as premier has been accepted. He will be succeeded by M. Goremykin, present Minister of the Interior.

The official announcement of the changes in the cabinet will be made today.

Count Witte has for years been the great outstanding figure in the political life of Russia. He was disgraced for its opposition to the policy responsible for the war with Japan, but later was called in to arrange peace terms, extricate the nation from its financial troubles, and avert an armed revolution. By his determination and diplomacy, honorable conditions were secured from Japan; by his moderation and liberal tendencies, position has been held in check at home, and by his astute knowledge of the financial situation, he has just succeeded in concluding a loan for Russia of 400 million dollars. He is the one statesman in all the Czar's dominions who in a measure had the confidence of the constitutional democrats, who seek reform by peaceful methods, if possible, and the acceptance of his oft-tendered resignation just before the inauguration of Russia's first national parliament, is an event of the utmost significance. It is possible that he may be followed into private life by his bitter enemy and reactionary Durnovo but his succession by M. Goremykin would seem to indicate that the bureaucracy or court party has again got the upper hand, and that the last hope of a peaceful reformation of political conditions is departing. At no time was Premier Witte more needed at the helm than now, when a popular assembly, eager for reform, is about to meet. Repression is sure to be the resort of the temporarily triumphant reactionaries, and the spirit of the nation will not tolerate it. The future is shrouded in impenetrable gloom.

Count Witte's task for the past twelve months has been one of the most difficult and thankless attempted by any statesman. He was constantly between two fires, endeavoring on the one hand to placate the advanced socialist democrats, who wanted a whole loaf or none, and who plotted his assassination while he strained every nerve on their behalf, and, on the other hand, holding back single-handed the powers of oppression, which were dominant throughout the empire. Though Premier of the country, the man at the head of the army, and national police force, and the majority of his own cabinet, were conspiring against him, and against any concession of popular government, and by bullish plots seeking to incite class massacres, with the object of convincing the Czar that the people were not fit to govern themselves. At his back stood a weak vacillating monarch, afraid to loyally support him, and, till now, equally afraid to let him go. At last the overwrought statesman has been relieved from his post, but his gain is Russia's irretrievable loss.

TELEPHONE ENTERPRISE

The Bell Telephone Co. Name Route of Underground Work.

Our readers will remember that in a former issue of The Times we noted that the Bell Telephone Company with their characteristic and provermal enterprise and determination to have only the best for their customers, and to comply with all that affects the good of the municipality, some time ago decided to place their wires in the business portion of the city under ground, and to remove their poles from the streets.

The company has now gained permission of the Council to open portions of the following streets in the vis;

George street, between Sherbrooke and Brock street.

Charlotte street, between George and Aylmer.

Simcoe street between Water and Aylmer.

Hunter street between Water and Aylmer.

Brock street between Water and George street.

The company wants to place lines of telephone wires under ground, and to lay the necessary branches intersecting streets and lanes.

They also request that the city instruct the city engineer, to supervise the carrying of the wires under ground.

The Board of Works has referred the matter to the city engineer and the company will be asked to submit a plan.

PRICES ARE RAISED

A New Scale of Prices at Little Lake Cemetery.

The old schedule of prices charged for interment and other work, in connection with the Little Lake cemetery has been materially raised.

Messrs. W. H. Moore, president; E. A. Peck, secretary; Messrs. B. Shortly, G. Stapleton, E. H. D. Hall, and Jas. Stevenson, members of the Board, as a result of their annual visit, in company with Mr. Frank Wise, the superintendent, after making a careful inspection of the grounds and considering what improvements and repairs were required, during the current year, decided that an increase should be made in the charges for the perpetual maintenance and sodding of all graves. The following is the new schedule of charges, as compared with the prices charged formerly;

Opening adult's grave in summer, former charge $4.50, new rate $5.50.

Opening adult's grave in winter, former charge $5.50, new rate, $6.50.

Opening child's grave in summer, former charge $3.50, new rate $4.25.

Opening child's grave in winter, former charge $4.25, new rate $5.00.

Opening adult's grave for brick vault, but not brick, etc., former charge $6.00, new rate, $7.00.

Opening child's grave for brick vault, but not brick, etc., former charge $5.00, new rate $6.00.

Removal and re-interment of adult's body, former charge $4.00, new rate $7.00.

Removal and re-interment of child's body, former charge $4.50, new rate $5.25.

Perpetual sodding of adult's grave, when not done at time of burial, former charge, $1.00, new rate $2.00.

Perpetual sodding of child's grave when not done at the time of burial, former charge 75c., new rate $1.50.

Sunday interments will henceforth be $5 instead of $3 as heretofore.

It might be noted that, even under the new advanced scale, which goes in to immediate effect, charges for interment in the Little Lake cemetery compare very favorably with those of other cities the size of Peterboro, and are much lower than those of larger cities.

THE VERDICT STANDS

McAuliffe's "Reserved Case" Argument Not Sustained.

It will be remembered that in the recent trial of Patrick McAuliffe, sentenced to three years and six months in Kingston Penetentiary, for the killing of Fred Hudson, on June 1st, that Mr. Denniston, who so ably defended him, called Mr. Justice Anglin's attention to the fact that the original indictment by the Grand jury had been lost.

At the High Court of Justice Chambers on May 1st., Mr. Denniston's motion for a reserved case in Rex vs. McAuliffe, came up before Mr. Justice Anglin, with the following result;

Rex vs. McAuliffe—Judgment (E. B.B.) on motion by prisoner for a reserved case. Defendant having been charged with murder, the grand jury for the county of Peterboro, at the autumn sittings in 1905, found a true bill for manslaughter against him, to which defendant pleaded not guilty. Owing to the absence of a material witness for the prosecution the trial was traversed until the spring assizes of 1906. At the opening of the spring assizes counsel for the crown informed the presiding judge that in the interval the indictment against the prisoner had been mislaid or lost, the circumstances rather indicating that it had been stolen and asked the direction of the court, as to further proceedings. Anglin J., directed that a new indictment for manslaughter be preferred before the Grand Jury at the assizes then opening, that being, in his opinion, the proper course in the circumstances. This was done. The grand jury returned a true bill. The prisoner having, through his counsel, declined to plead, the court directed that a plea of not guilty be entered for him under sec. 657 of the criminal code. The trial then proceeded and the prisoner was convicted. His counsel moved for a reserved case to determine the propriety of the direction to submit to the grand jury the new indictment and the validity of the conviction upon such indictment. Anglin J., refused the motion, stating that he had no doubt either as to the regularity or the sufficiency of the proceedings. E. Meredith, K.C., for the Crown, R. M. Denniston, and F. D. Kerr, Peterboro, for the prisoner.

SIXTY FEET LONGER

And Five Feet Deeper Than the Largest Afloat These Liners Will Be.

London, May 2.—The two new Cunard Line's steamships, the largest vessels the world has ever seen, are nearing completion, and will be launched—one in June and the other in July. They will be named Mauritania and Lusitania. Each will have a gross tonnage of 13,700, while they are 60 feet longer than any other lines afloat. They are 88 feet in beam, and in this respect are the first vessels to surpass the famous Great Eastern, which was 83 feet in breadth.

The new vessels will have accommodations for over 3,000 passengers each, and will carry a crew of 800 each. They will be propelled by turbine engines capable of developing 68,000 horse-power, and are expected to travel at a minimum speed of 24 knots an hour.

LOCAL OPTION

Peterboro Citizens Have Trouble in Getting Accomodation.

Yesterday morning a gentleman, well known in market circles, who uses hundreds of hogs every week, called to a Times' representative, his experience at Lakefield, the day before yesterday. Our informant who buys more hogs than most men in the province, when asked, "How did you find Lakefield under local option?" replied that he found it "dry. So dry that dust would blow during a rain storm." Not being a drinking man, our informant said that he and eleven other gentlemen, anxious to procure keep "For man and beast," tried first one hotel for dinner and feed for their horses. Here they were told that the quondom hotel was a "hotel" no longer, and that neither they nor their horses could get either dinner or hay. Then they went to the other "hotel." Here they found or were told that that morning even the boarders in the hotel were refused breakfast. On objecting to the proprietor, he said, in reply to their request for dinner, "No, gentlemen, I have no hotel now. I cannot give you meals nor accommodation for your horses at any price." After arguing the point for some time, the ex-hotelman said, "Well, if I give you dinner, it will cost you $1 each." The hungry strangers regretted that dinner was of more consequence than price, and that both they and their horses must be fed.

The outcome was that they and had their meal at 40 cents each, and horses in proportion.

Our informant told us that there were kegs of liquor and barrels of ale standing sparkling in the sunshine. The law, under the present local option, preventing its sale or presence within the premises.

Two American gentlemen, who with their families, on the way to the lakes, and unable to get accommodation in Lakefield, were heard to remark, "Well I guess we will travel 10,000 miles before coming to this part of the country again."

Those who have taken other laxatives without satisfaction—and those who have taken such quantities of other laxatives that they have lost their effect—will find a pleasant surprise in LAX-ETS. ### ALBERT GOT DRUNK

English Immigrant with $40 in His Clothes Arrested.

Yesterday evening, P. C. Stewart, picked up and brought to the Hotel des Cops, an Englishman, who had a cargo aboard, that judging by its effect on the bearer might well fill a transatlantic steamer of large tonnage.

The prisoner told a Times' representative last night that his name was Albert Oborne, hailing from Essex, England, and now, as alleged by him, residing at 21 Division St. Albert said he has only been six weeks in this country, and consequently has not had enough experience to "take a throw" out of Canadian extract of barley. Albert was a sight that contained seventeen volumes of temperance lectures, with an appendix thrown in. His action, whilst under the influence, reminded the casual observer of every trouble inherent to human frailty from Talipes Equino Varnes to Hos Anorum. He will explain matters to his worship this morning, at 10 a.m.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday afternoon a special session of the police court was held to try a young man accused of stealing brass from a large local company. The young man pleaded guilty, and was remanded for one week, being allowed to go on his own recognizances.

Local Lodges Aid Sufferers.

Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., after considering the great suffering existant in San Francisco, resulting from the recent earthquake, has decided to make a grant of $10 out of the general funds.

The local tent of the Knights of the Maccabees, have also voted $10 towards the assistance of homeless Maccabees there.

It is expected that other fraternal societies in the city, will render aid to brethren in distress.

LAW MUST BE KEPT

Mr. E. Dickie, Sec'y Ont. License Ass'n Gives Good Advice.

Yesterday afternoon some twenty to twenty-five local license holders met in the Ontario Bank chambers, with President J. M. Brooks in the chair, to hear Mr. E. Dickie, Toronto, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Hotelders Association.

There were present nearly every member of the Peterboro License Holders Association, only one or two being absent through unavoidable detention. The chairman, after congratulating those present upon the well attended meeting explained that the object of the meeting was not so much of a local nature as to hear Mr. Dickie expound the existing conditions under the law, affecting license holders.

Mr. Dickie, after congratulating those present upon the good turnout, which included holders of shop licenses as well as those in the hotel business, gave a well-worded and business like address. The whole burden of his speech was "Keep the law," not only because the law must be observed, but in the interests of license holders themselves. During the whole course of his address, there was not one word uttered but what would have been applauded to the echo by the most pronounced temperance advocates. One point that Mr. Dickie dwelt on, was the necessity of giving customers, not alone what they called for, but what the goods purported to be. He said that any magistrate or J.P., might, at any time enter any bar and procure, a sample of liquors sold, and if such were not as represented, the party selling such goods under false pretences was liable to a fine of not less than $20 for each and every offence. Mr. Dickie strongly advised every license holder, in the matter of "case goods," never to try refilling a bottle, as doing such would render him liable to a heavy penalty.

Mr. Dickie covered very thoroughly, every detail connected with the sale of liquor, and to sum his arguments up in fewest words, his whole speech was, "Keep the law in every respect." He said that Hon. Mr. Hanna had made great concessions to the temperance party, and, at the same time, had given license holders a square deal.

Before the meeting closed, all present, with one exception, that of a hotelman, who is trying to sell out as quickly as possible, rejoined the association, and paid their annual fee of $5, which is payable 1st May.

After the meeting was over a Times' representative interviewed eight or ten of the local license holders to inquire their opinion as to Mr. Dickie's speech. Without a single exception, the unanimous sentiment was, "Dickie is right, and it is now up to us to keep the law in its entirety, and we will keep it as well as seeing that others do likewise."

ADJOURNED VESTRY MEETING

Of St. John's Church—Sidesmen and Ushers Appointed—Reports of Societies.

The adjourned vestry meeting of St. John's church was held in the school house last night; the rector, Rev. Canon Davidson, presiding.

The following gentlemen were appointed sidesmen and ushers for the year 1906-7;—

Sidesmen—Messrs. W. M. Denniston, A. Stevenson, K. Hardley-Wilmot, W. H. Cluxton, W. Conway, D. Hughes-Charles, Dr. Burnham, P. Campbell, W. H. Walkey, H. Long, A. H. Stratton, McFarlane Wilson, H. Rush, sr., T. D. Mackelcan, F. D. Kerr, Mr. Yokome.

Ushers—H. Rush, sr., Jas. Bell, W. H. Walkey, jr., J. Comstock, J. Perry, Stanley J. Cahill, T. Dawson, C. Graham, C. Reid, A. N. Howard Moore, James E. Johnston, Robert Dawson, Geo. Buchanan, Geo. Armstrong.

The rector's warden is Charles H. J. Mitchell, and the people's warden, Robert Fair.

A building committee was appointed, comprising Messrs. K. Hardley-Wilmot, convenor; Dr. Halliday, D. Wallis, and the wardens; Mrs. Best, Mrs. Poussette, Mrs. Birdsall. The committee have power to add to their number. Plans and specification for the enlarged vestry will be submitted to a special vestry meeting to be called at an early date.

The reports of the several societies connected with St. John's were of a highly satisfactory character, and demonstrated marked progress.

300 Babes Born in Park.

Toronto, May 3.—Mr. J. D. Jones, representative of J. C. Green and Co., wholesale milliners, who has lately returned from a sojourn of a year or two in California, received yesterday a letter from his former pastor, Rev. Raymond Brooks, Pilgrims' Church, Portland. Among other items Mr. Brooks' letter conveys the interesting information that on the day after the big quake, no less than 300 babies were born in Golden Gate Park. The church which Mr. Jones and his family attended while in Oakland, has been turned into a refuge for the destitute, and religious services therein have been suspended in the meantime.

CANADIAN BRIEFS.

McCraw, the murderer, who has been sentenced to hang at Three Rivers in June next, has been granted a new trial.

Alvin Burtch, an elderly man whose home was at Otterville, was killed by a shunting engine in the Grand Trunk yards at Berlin, Ont.

A magnificent audience greeted Madame Bernhardt at Winnipeg last night. People were there from Fort William on the east to Calgary on the west, and the advance sale was over $6,000, a record for Western Canada.

At a largely attended meeting of the Kent Bar Association a resolution was unanimously passed regretting the proposal made in the House of Assembly, Toronto, to divide the Province and appoint a second Drainage referee for Ontario.

PARIS QUIET TODAY.

Paris, May 3.—The city has resumed its usual appearance. The military and police patrols have been withdrawn and most of the labor organizations have resumed work.

King Edward has arrived there on a three days' visit.

BROUGHT MANY SETTLERS.

Berlin, Ont., May 3.—Jacob Y. Shantz, the father of the button industry in Ontario, and the oldest born native Berliner, is 84 years old today, and is bright as a man of 70. He has done probably more than any man in Canada today towards bringing in settlers in earlier days. He was the moving spirit behind the Russian Mennonite immigration movement from 1895 to 1900, which brought into Manitoba over 9,000 of this people. The cost of the enterprise was $120,000, guaranteed by Mr. Shantz and his fellow Mennonites.

San Francisco is Recovering

Business Being Done Again and Rebuilding is in Progress. Plans for Rebuilding. Street Cars Are Now Running.

San Francisco, May 3.—Conditions of life are gradually becoming more normal in this city, and the work there was to-day started in earnest. The Oregon and Milwaukee, and the battleship South Dakota. The steamer City of Pueblo, which was sunk in the bay, has been raised, and is being repaired. Workmen are also engaged in fixing the steamer Columbia, which was turned on her side.

The hulls of the new Hawaiian-American Steamship Company's liners were pitched about four feet to the south, but were uninjured and only need to be replaced in position.

PLANS FOR RE-BUILDING.

At a conference held last night at General Greely's headquarters, plans for re-building the city of San Francisco with Government aid was discussed. There were present was Gen. General Greely, James D. Phelan, Dr. Edward Devine, Mayor Schmitz and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, Mr. Victor Metcalf. It was thought that Secretary Metcalf might be able to carry back to to Washington a comprehensive idea of the needs of this city, and the ideas of some of her leading men. No definite request was made, nor was any plan of action fully outlined.

AGNEWS ASYLUM RUINED.

San Jose, May 3.—Architect Hudson, of Los Angeles, who has inspected the asylum buildings at Agnews, declares that all the buildings had been irreparably ruined. In his report to the Governor, Mr. Hudson will recommend the speedy erection of cottages to accommodate the patients until modern structures, not as high as formerly, and in which neither fire nor earthquake are possible, can be erected by the State.

COL. SAM HUGHES WAS DEFEATED AGAIN

Wanted Mr. Sifton's Former Secretary and a Stenographer Brought Back and Promised Immunity.

Ottawa, May 3.—At the meeting yesterday of the Agriculture Committee of the House of Commons, a motion was moved by Col. Sam Hughes in favor of putting A. P. Collier, former private secretary to Hon. Clifford Sifton, ex-Minister of the Interior, and Miss Violet Kelly, formerly one of the departmental stenographers, for examination in regard to the Government's contract with the North Atlantic Trading Company. In his motion Col. Hughes stated his belief that Mr. Collier could give valuable testimony on this agreement, and that Miss Kelly returned her stenographic notes in regard to certain transactions. The motion contained also a clause pertaining to ensure the witnesses protection against prosecution in this country.

It was stated in the course of the discussion that the witnesses are now in the United States.

The point was taken by the Minister of Agriculture that the committee had no authority to guarantee anyone immunity from prosecution in regard to any other than matters arising out of the testimony he might give in the committee enquiry.

Mr. F. D. Monk, M.P., contended that Parliament could protect a witness against prosecution from any quarter.

"The only powers that Parliament lacks," added the member for Jacques Cartier, "is the power to change a man into a woman."

Dan Derbyshire, M.P., one of the humorists of the House, caused a laugh by expressing his regret that Parliament is not vested with power in this regard, because he knew several members of the committee he would like to change.

Hon. Mr. Fisher's contention was upheld by several other members. The Minister of Agriculture declared it would take a special Act of Parliament to protect any witness at a private prosecution. Upon a vote being taken, Col. Hughes' motion was rejected by a large majority.

CHARGED WITH POISONING

Wm. O'Connor and Mrs. H. Allen, of Lansdowne Suspected of Murder.

Kingston, May 2.—Charged with poisoning, Henry Allen, a young farmer of Lansdowne, who died on December, after a few weeks' illness, the widow of the deceased and Wm. O'Connor have been placed under arrest. The alleged deed is supposed to have been the result of a desire of the two prisoners to marry. Lately the woman changed her mind. The arrest resulted from suspicious statements made by O'Connor. The body of the supposed victim has been exhumed, and the stomach sent to Toronto for analytical examination. O'Connor comes from a good family in Essex, and Mrs. Allen is from the old country.

CHEESE AND CREAM

Result of More Attention to the Sanitary Condition of Factories.

Toronto, May 3.—Cheese factories and creameries are being put in a proper sanitary condition, where this is necessary, as a result of the action of the Government in providing for more strict supervision of them in that regard.

Reports received at the Department of Agriculture from dairy instructors show that owners of factories are making special efforts to put factories and all buildings in proper condition, and are repairing them generally to that end.

The May make of cheese is the early part of the month will not be as large as usual, but indications are that the latter part of the month will see as large a production as ever. The prospects for a successful season were never brighter. Prices are high, very little fodder cheese is being made, and as a natural result the quality of first shipments will be above the average.

COMING TO CANADA

Big American Concern Moving Mills to Georgian Bay District.

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—The Nester estate of Detroit and Harbor, are decided to dismantle its large mill in Ashland, Wis., and move the machinery to the Georgian Bay district in Ontario, where it recently purchased a tract of one hundred and fifty million feet of timber.

—Three large packages of back numbers of newspapers at Times Bookstore for 10 cents.

Choir Practice To-night.

The boys of St. John's church choir will meet in the church tonight at 7 o'clock for practice, and the full choir at eight o'clock. As the boys will give a musical entertainment at an early date it is important that they attend all be present this evening.

A New Club.

Last night representatives of the Albany Club and the new Elks Club met, and arranged the transfer of the property of the former to the latter organization. It is understood that the majority of the members of the Albany Club are joining the Elk's Society under whose auspices the new club will be run. This should result in establishing a strong and popular social club in Peterboro.

Do You Know That Copper Mining Pays

$40,000,000 IN DIVIDENDS ANNUALLY?

Do you realize that mining is one of the world's most profitable industries? Did it ever occur to you that all money and all advantages of civilization are founded almost absolutely upon the products of the mines of the world?

TUSAS PEAK GOLD & COPPER MINING CO.

A corporation engaged in legitimate mining under the direction of reputable business men who give its management able and careful consideration.

260 Acres of Rich Mineral Lands

owned by this company and every part demonstrated by actual mining work

Immense Deposits of Copper Ores

average values higher than those found in any other great copper camps

Values Proven By Developed Mines

with thousands of feet of workings extending to a depth of over 400 feet

Equipped With Substantial Machinery

consisting of steam hoists, air compressors, machine drills, pumps, etc.

Complete Modern Ore Reduction Mill

is now being built where the ore will be converted direct into bullion

Annual Profits of $90,000.00 Assured

by expert mining engineers based on ores actually blocked out in mines. $80,000.00 has been expended in mine workings which prove these facts.

Stock at 40 Cents a Share

The final issue of treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. The entire proceeds will be used to pay for the machinery for the mill. The day this mill is completed the mine will begin to earn dividends.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

If you had invested one thousand dollars ten years ago in any one of a dozen different mines whose names we can give you, you would today be worth at least one hundred thousand dollars—and we are offering you a like opportunity—the chance of a life time with success absolutely sure. A letter places you under no obligation and will bring you further details.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Disease Prevalent Now But Can Be Cured Quickly with Hyomei.

Until very recent years, it was thought that catarrh was a disease of the blood, but now modern science has proved that catarrh is a germ disease, and can be cured only by a treatment that will kill the germ and heal the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.

Therefore, when you have catarrh, you can readily see that if you want to cure it, you should use Hyomei, which medicates the air you breathe, thus killing the catarrhal germs and healing the smarting and raw membranes of the passages through the nose and throat. In breathing Hyomei you are really treating your catarrhal troubles with the only natural method, for it will make the air you breathe as pure, healing and antiseptic as that found on the mountains where the pine forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei, and a medicine dropper, costs only $1, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Terror of Spring is Sickness

What Are You Doing to Protect Your Weak Body Against Spring Fevers?

A delay gives the germs and weakness a better chance to take hold.

Don't wait, think of your small resisting powers, and begin building up today!

For weakness, overwork and debility the doctors prescribe Ferrozone; let it help you now.

Vitality and power are instilled into the blood; this means new strength for all weak organs.

The fire of youth will dance in your veins, and new found energy will increase your desire to work.

Ferrozone supplies the nourishment and tissue-building material your system lacks. Isn't this "a reason why."

From Cobbermere, Ont., Mrs. Jno. Grant writes as follows: "For a number of years I was sickly in the springtime. I felt tired, nervous and had headaches. My blood was weak and damp days brought on rheumatism. My nervous system was unstrung, and I felt utterly worn out. Ferrozone revived me in a short time. In two days my appetite increased and I could feel a building up process going on. This great tonic made a new person of me, and I don't think a more strengthening medicine for the spring can be found."

Wouldn't it be just fine to get back your old time spirits and vigor? Easily done with "Ferrozone;" commence today. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE POWER OF VIBRATION

On account of the danger of vibration caused by the heavy street traffic and the amount of underground tunnelling done for the railways and drains, London is becoming seriously alarmed as to the safety of many of its walls and buildings. Several collapsing walls have been traced to this cause, and it is feared that many more districts are becoming dangerous for the same reason. The wonderful force of vibration is recognized in all its powers by few architects and builders. It would amuse them if they were told that the most solidly built of their walls would be injured by the continuous scraping of a bow across the violin. Every one knows that a squad of soldiers or any body of marching men break step in crossing a bridge, no matter what its size and strength may be, for none could withstand the vibrations of the concerted action. Even the tread of a dog may make a bridge shake because of the regularity of the vibration, so that on many of the big suspension bridges dogs are not allowed unless carried in the arms of their owners. A good illustration of the power of vibration can be found in the Greenwich Observatory. It stands on the top of a hill on whose slopes hundreds of children play on fine evenings. Their favorite play is to join hands at the top and and dash headlong to the bottom, where they fall in a heap. This starts the vibration of the hill to such an extent that the scientists of the observatory are unable to carry on their observations, which depend upon the motionless state of a tray of mercury. The solid hill is in such a state of [illegible] that the vibrations continue till long past midnight, when the children who have caused it have been asleep for hours. But the most wonderful illustrations of vibration is the human throat. Sixty vibrations a second is the least number by means of which a sound may be produced, and this sound is never used in speaking, and is only found in the voices of men. The highest sound produced by the human voice is caused by 1631 vibrations per second, but it, too, is seldom found except in the voices of well-trained female singers. As an illustration as to how much vibration there is going on in the air all the time, and all around us, it may be stated that during every minute a person speaks the vocal chords vibrate from 24,000 to 32,000 times.

LOAN COMPANY METHODS

The disclosures in connection with the investigation into the affairs of the insolvent York County Loan Company have caused a demand for legislation to protect the interests of depositors and shareholders in such institutions. We are inclined to think, however, that existing laws are ample for the purpose, if they are vigorously administered and steps are taken to see that the statements issued by the companies accurately represent the facts. In many cases we have little doubt that these statements are treated as mere matters of form, and that the official, whose duty it is to examine them, accepts them without taking the trouble to ascertain the facts by personal examination. In the case of the York Loan Company it would seem that a proper periodical examination by an independent person into the company's affairs, would have disclosed the extraordinary methods adopted in its management. The large amounts of the deposits that were used to carry on a number of enterprises of a more or less speculative character, should have caused the inspector to make such inquiries as would have exposed the situation.

Against every danger which may befall depositors or shareholders in loan companies, it is, of course, impossible to guard. From the nature of the business a large proportion of the deposits in these institutions belongs to persons who are ignorant of business methods. Consequently they risk their money in a manner that would be unlikely were they better informed. The offer of a higher rate of interest than can be obtained in the Government Savings' Bank or the chartered banks is a great inducement to many persons to entrust their savings to loan companies. It is impossible to guard these people against the risk which the greed for higher interest causes them to take, and in the case of the York County Loan Company the prospect of better returns on their money than they could get elsewhere induced many people to entrust their savings to it.

The history of the large and old established loan companies in Ontario during the last ten years, has shown that it is becoming increasingly difficult for them to make satisfactory profits unless they can get large amounts of deposits at a low rate of interest. Most of those companies have a permanent capital, which is a guarantee to depositors. The risk is necessarily greater with companies the capital stock of which is repayable at certain dates. Practically the holders of such stock are depositors who receive a higher rate of interest and take additional risks in the liability they assume to the ordinary depositors.

Often-times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

A FEAT OF STRENGTH.

How to Break a Stone With a Blow of Your Fist.

If any one told you it was possible to break a stone with a blow of your fist, you would laugh at him. But there is a way by which you can accomplish this feat entirely by your own strength and without injury to your fist.

First select your stone, or, rather, two stones, each of which should be about twelve inches long, but one should be only a slab one-half inch thick, while the other is three or four inches thick. Lay the thin stone flat, firmly and immovably on the ground, and on it place one end of the other stone, raising the opposite end to an angle of forty-five degrees. The raised end of the second stone must be over the center of the stone on the ground and must be kept in position by a piece of twig or stick the necessary length.

You are now ready to demonstrate your tremendous strength. Strike the elevated stone a smart blow at about the center, with the little finger side of the hand. The prop, of course, will give way, and the bottom stone will be broken to pieces as the elevated stone falls upon it from its angular position.

Thus you have broken the stone into pieces by one blow of your bare fist, to the astonishment of any one who may have doubted your ability to do so.

A State's Coat of Arms.

The flag of the United States may not be used for advertising purposes, neither may the coats of arms of the several states, according to a decision of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia on an appeal taken by Cahn, Belt & Co. of Baltimore from the decision of the commissioner of patents refusing to register a trademark containing the coat of arms of the state of Maryland. SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7. A per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet." The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

fairly purple with rage. "You have stolen Reine's heart from me, and I curse you for it—curse your low, smooth, winning ways and proud, aristocratic face. But for you she would be willing enough to go back home to New York with me. No doubt you would like me to give her up to you," he sneered, but without waiting for Chesleigh to utter the words that were on his lips, he added:

"Know this, that I do not love her, I never loved her. I hate her with the bitterest hate—for her white face, tearful eyes, and moping ways—yes, I hate her, but she will go with me all the same. It will be a glorious revenge to me anyhow, to know that I have wrested her from you, Bernard Chesleigh. No matter how she may shrink from me, she must go with me. I am her lord and master," he cried, boisterously.

She had struggled to her feet, poor, beautiful, hapless Reine. Her white face was turned to Bernard, oh, so pathetically lovely in its terrible woe! and a voice, tragic in its despair, cried faintly—

"Must I leave you, Bernard—oh, must I leave you, love, and go out with him into the bitterness of death?"

"Certainly," retorted Waldron, frowning darkly; "what need to answer such a question. You are to go with me—your husband, certainly."

Still she looked at Bernard in her piteous despair.

"Are you quite sure I should go with him, Bernard?" she repeated. "Ah, it would kill me, my love."

"Dare to speak to him like that again at your peril," foamed Waldron furiously. "I am sure that you are to go with me whether he is or not. He will do well to not interfere between us."

Poor Reine! her heart died within her when Bernard's head drooped and a heavy sigh of anguish broke from his lips. Then, poor child, she knew there was no hope for her. Without another word she fell prone on her face among the lilies of the carpet in a deep swoon.

If he must leave her, better that he should leave her now, Bernard told himself. "Good by, my lost love," he murmured, letting his eyes linger for an instant on the white face lying there so cold and still, and with a sudden movement, knelt down and kissed the spot her feet had so lately pressed, then tore himself away.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

The carriage which had brought Bernard Chesleigh to the Towers stood at the entrance gate. He sprung into the vehicle, saying hoarsely to the driver.

"Take me back to the station at the cross-roads. When does the next train pass that goes to New York?"

"At midnight, sir," replied the man; "but it doesn't stop, sir."

"I suppose it can be flagged and made to stop," said Bernard.

"Oh, yes sir," answered the man, "it has been done, but it's rather uncommon."

How he passed the time after he had reached the station until the train came in, Chesleigh never knew; for some time he was like a man bereft of reason.

Once, the thought had come to him, as he stood looking gloomily through the narrow window, how easy it would be for him to end his sorrow there and then, by flinging himself headlong down the deep mountain gorge into the ravine below; but the next moment his better judgment had reasserted itself; such an act as he had contemplated would be cowardly, and only cowards had recourse to such a way out of difficulty as that. No, he would live; he knew he should never know what happiness was again; it would be a dead letter for him forever after.

He knew that time might blunt the keen edge of his grief, but forget her, ah, he could never do that, go where he might, her face would be always before him. He had won Reine's love, too late.

"I ask from heaven what I have done that I should be so cruelly punished," he ruminated bitterly, as he paced up and down the narrow waiting-room. But from the darkling heavens to which he appealed, there came no reply.

"Some men meet with a cruel fate," he mused, "but they deserve it. In my life I may not have done much good, but I have done no great harm. I have committed no crime—yet, never since the world began has a man's life been so wretchedly wrecked as mine, and happiness so near me twice."

From afar off he heard the shriek of the midnight express—in a few moments more it had flashed around the curve of the mountain and stood panting and quivering like a thing of life before the station.

Chesleigh boarded it and sank into a seat, but instead of rushing on after a moment or so, it still stood upon the track whistling shrilly.

One or two of the impatient passengers started out to learn the cause and reported that the down express was some twenty minutes late and that the train would have to wait there at the cross-roads probably some twenty minutes or more.

"I have known a train that was late to cause no end of disaster from one end of the line to the other," grumbled a commercial traveler sitting back of Chesleigh. But Bernard paid little heed to these remarks, and the fellow traveler rather piqued at his neighbor's silence, sauntered off into the smoking-car, leaving that portion of the train in which Chesleigh sat, quite without occupant other than himself.

"Reine," he murmured, "it is hard to give you up, but alas—"

The sentence never was finished—the door of the car was flung suddenly open and Reine—yes, it was really Reine, never into it.

At the first glance she beheld Chesleigh and in an instant she was kneeling before him.

There was no mistake, he was neither mad nor dreaming, it was Reine, kneeling at his feet, her long dark

A Gladstone Story.

A story of Mr. Gladstone was told by the late Mr. Rhinelander, president of the United States Museum of Art. A miniature painter had been employed to paint a portrait of Mrs. Gladstone in her old age. It was intended that it should be a present for Mr. Gladstone on one of his birthdays. Mrs. Gladstone was particularly well pleased with the portrait, but some of the grandchildren had opinions of their own about it. One of the younger grandsons drew Mr. Gladstone aside, and asked him if he did not think that the portrait was somewhat flattering. "It isn't much like grandmother, is it?" he asked. "My boy," replied Mr. Gladstone, in his beautiful voice, "it is the truth beautifully told. That's all."—Dundee Advertiser.

Latest Type of Freight Steamer.

Of the very latest type of freight steamers is the British ship Bellerophon, built without masts, instead of which she has four pillars, two abreast fore and aft, for derricks. The hold is made especially to accommodate heavy machinery and other bulky consignments for the China and Japan trade. Twenty-six winches and derricks can be worked from the dock.

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Dr. Hamilton Cures Rheumatism

Rheumatism begins and ends in the blood which at no time is ever free from poison. But if the kidneys are healthy, they will filter out the waste and poisons.

In case of rheumatism, the kidneys are not doing their work. As a result poisons crystalize around the joints and cause pain almost akin to torture.

There can be no cure, no permanent relief until the kidneys are stimulated. First get them into working order. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills excel all other remedies: they heal and strengthen the kidneys as no other poisons depart from the blood and all medicine can do. Once the kidneys are renewed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills the cause of rheumatism disappears.

No Case is Too Chronic to Yield to the Marvellous Influence of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I spent nearly three years experimenting with rheumatic remedies," writes Geo. E. Sunberry, of Portland. "I had almost given up hope, when I tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they completely cured me. No remedy could be better."

You will never regret using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a supply today from your druggist, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Many Musk Rat Skins Bought.

Mr. Thos. Harris the enterprising George street furrier, has purchased over 10,000 musk-rat skins within the past few weeks. These come principally from Rice Lake and Chemong Indians. The average price was 19 cents each.

Aylmer Street Extension.

Aylmer street will probably be extended from Romaine street to the boundary this year. There is no doubt but what Aylmer street must be extended. It is even more necessary than George street. At present to get to any of the cross streets between Lake and Lansdowne streets from Aylmer street, it is necessary to travel around by Park street or George street when it is extended.

The proposed extension of Aylmer street will be laid away between George and Park streets, and parallel with George street, when extended. This will give a direct route to the new subway, and open up a new section for building lot purposes.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—Last night the heavy lightning struck a pole on King street, belonging to the Light and Power Company, and the electric fluid was conveyed to a pole place in the Snowden House yard. Here the transmitter was burned out.

—Yesterday Mr. M. Commons, proprietor of the City hotel, began a great improvement in this place of business. A new plate glass front is being placed in the hotel which will not only much enlarge the lobby and office of the hotel, but will materially improve its appearance.

Whenever your bowels skip a day without a movement—take a LAX-ET. Whenever your breath is bad—your skin waxy, or sallow—your tongue coated—your breath foul—take a LAX-ET only 5c. Sold by J. D. Tully.

—Mr. M. W. Porter, the enterprising butcher, of 410 George street, yesterday completed some considerable improvements on his store. These include removing the back partition and Sligo refrigerators some twenty feet to the rear, thus greatly enlarging the shop. A new show-window office has been added that will materially improve existing conditions.

Two Splendid Horses.

Mr. Joseph Jacobs, the well known horseman of Montreal, is in the city, looking after his celebrated stallions "Rathby King," and "General Buller." These splendid horses are what are known as "shires," and are especially adapted to heavy draught work. Each of these stallions weighs over 2,000 pounds. Rathby King has won many first prizes in the old country, and Mr. Jacobs expects that there will be a great demand for the use of this horse during the present season. Rathby King has started out for the season through South Monaghan and Otonabee.

General Buller, who has a great number of admirers, will travel from here to Norwood and return to the city, via Kerrs. Mr. Jacobs, who ought to know, told a Times' representative yesterday that farmers having colts by these animals will have something always marketable at good prices.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Was "Ghost" a Result of "Spirits"?

In our issue of yesterday's date we noted that rumors had been current in regard to an alleged ghost haunting a house in Otonabee. It now seems that there is no ghost in connection with the house Mr. Fitzgerald who lives in the house in question, says there is no foundation in the report, which was, of course, only given in humorous vein. It is, however possible that the rumor of ghost is attributable to the consumption of too much "spirits," by those spreading the reports which reached the city.

West Ward School Unhealthy.

Dr. Hodgetts, Toronto, the expert Health officer, who on Tuesday, with Dr. Bruce Smith also of the Ontario Health Department, says that the West Ward school is in a most unhealthy condition. Both ventilation and air are very bad, owing in part to the notorious, but, as far as the Board of Education is concerned, compulsory overcrowding of the building.

Peterboro-Port Hope Personals.

The Port Hope Guide says: Miss Graham, of Peterboro, who has been visiting her friend, Miss Reid, Armour street, returned home this morning.—Messrs. Harry Galbraith, of Oshawa, and Martin Commons, of Peterboro, are in town today, attending the executive meeting of the Midland League.—Mr. W. H. Bradburn, of Peterboro, is in town today on business.

Good Luck with the Trout.

Mr. T. J. Parker, of Peterboro, accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. I. Eastwood, went on a fishing expedition to Cavanville creek, and on Tuesday caught twenty-two trout. Mrs. Parker, an amateur fisher, caught one weighing 1 3-4 pounds. Congratulations and a broiler are in order.

Police After Stone-Throwers.

Nicholas Martin, an Italian living at 206 Sherbrooke street, yesterday complained to the police that boys in that neighborhood, are in the habit of throwing stones at his residence. The chief is going to make things sultry for any boys that bother the old man henceforth, as he is a decent hard working old man.

LIGHTNING'S WORK

The Electric Fluid Plays Havoc in Asphodel.

The lightning and consequent thunder which probably awoke thousands of our citizens yesterday morning, seems to have got busy in earnest in Asphodel township where a poplar tree near the residence of Mr. Wm. Knox was struck, some six miles from Norwood. The lightning completely destroyed the tree, and tore a trench in the ground about fifteen feet long, two feet wide and one deep. Twenty-two panes of glass were shattered in the house, which trembled violently, and the family had a narrow escape.

The dwelling of Mr. Kincaid across the road was also struck by the same flash, and all the glass except two panes broken.

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

That the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice endorse and recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung diseases (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula on the bottle wrapper is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous or harmful agents and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful ingredient in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

A booklet of extracts from eminent, medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE WAY TO DO IT.

Exercise three times a day,
Feed yourself on simple fare,
Mostly made of bran and hay,
Revel in the open air,
Never give way to your fears,
Sleep just like a baby,
Then you'll live a hundred years—
Maybe.

Wear no wraps about your throat,
Do not eat late lunches,
Do, oh, do not rock the boat!
Shy away from punches,
Do not drink too many beers,
Let not debts distress,
Then you'll live a hundred years—
More or less.

Don't dispute with men who wear
Larger fists than you,
Do not give way to despair
Though the rent is due,
Do not waste your strength in tears,
As for trouble, scout it;
Then you'll live a hundred years—
Doubt it?

Do not umpire baseball games,
Don't for office run,
Do not call a fellow names
If he has a gun,
Unto wisdom lend your ears,
Shun the feather schooner,—
Then you'll live a hundred years—
If you don't die sooner.

Three Men Drowned By Sinking of Clipper

Tug Sprang a Leak in Georgian Bay and Vessel Struck a Rock When Captain Tried to Beach Her.

Owen Sound, May 4.—The tug Clipper, of Midland, owned by the Spanish River Boom Co., sprung a leak and sank near the Bustard Islands on Monday. Three men, the captain, Peter McIntosh, of French River; the engineer, Ed. Fischer, of Ontario, and the fireman, R. Johnston, whose home is unknown, were drowned. The one deck-hand, whose name was Beattie, succeeded in reaching the shore, where he was rescued fifteen hours later by William Hazard, a fisherman. M.

The "Clipper" was on route from Midland to Spanish River, and on Monday morning sprang a leak in some unaccountable manner. The water was pouring into the hold, and Capt. McIntosh decided to seek the nearest land and beach the tug. Accordingly, he steered for the Bustard Islands, off Bruce Peninsula, and in an effort to reach the tug ran foul of a hidden rock a considerable distance from one of the islands. Their predicament was thus rendered more precarious, especially as a wild spring gale arose and threatened to shatter the small vessel as it lay helpless, impaled upon the deadly rock. Despair rapidly gained possession of the four helpless men on the small craft. At length, as grey dusk stole over the chill waters, the deckhand Beattie, rendered desperate by hope deferred, tore in door from the small cabin and declared that he would attempt to reach the shore. He endeavored to persuade his associates to do likewise, but they preferred to remain aboard the tug in the hope that a steamer or fishing boat would pass by in a short time. Beattie, bidding them farewell, and lowered himself into the icy water. After a long period of desperate struggling he succeeded in reaching a small island, one of the Barnards. Unfortunately it was not the main island, on which is located the Dominion Fish Company's fishing station.

THIRTY-TWO HOURS' EXPOSE.

For fifteen hours he remained upon the islet, and this, together with some seventeen hours spent on the tug, made a total of thirty-two hours' exposure. At length he was discovered by a fisherman, William Hazard, who immediately conveyed him to the fishing station, where he received every attention, and he is now fully recovering from the effects of this terrible experience.

In the morning the hull of the tug still remained on the rock, but the cabin had been swept off, and of course, there was no sign of the three sailors.

News of the disaster was brought to Owen Sound last evening by the steamer Manitou, which brought down the body of the engineer, Ed. Fischer, which was discovered by his brother, Engineer Fischer, of the Manitou. He is a son of the Customs officer at Ottawa.

The Clipper was a staunch craft, 60 feet in length, and was engaged in trading business. The other bodies have not yet been recovered, but grappling appliances have been secured and a thorough search is being made for them.

HAD CLOSE CALL

Mr. White Has Chair Torn From Under Him by Lightning.

Those of our citizens who were awakened by the electric storm on Wednesday night, and whose lady relatives seriously considered retirement to the safety of the cellar, had cause for any alarm that may have filled their minds.

Among other places honored by the electric fluid was the Snowden House. Here the terrible power of Nature got busy.

During the storm a flash of lightning hit the wires in front of the house. Passing along the wires the current passed into the hotel, emerging at the rear. The electric fluid burned out the fuses on a post in the yard, plunging the hotel in darkness. A bottle on the bar was struck and broken. The lightning passing out via the rear verandah, where Mr. Frank White was sitting, tore the chair from under him. Mr. White had a close call, and will hereafter wear insulators during a storm.

MR. BROUGH'S DEATH

Brother-in-law of Mr. Widmer Hawke Toronto Passes Away.

The many friends in this city of Mr. Widmer Hawke, managing director of O'Keefe's Brewery, Toronto, will regret to learn that his brother-in-law, Mr. Theodore G. Brough, general manager of the Dominion Bank died in London, England, on Wednesday.

The late Mr. Brough was one of the most widely known banking men in Canada, and had personal friends in this city. He was in the service of the Dominion Bank, having entered the Uxbridge branch in 1875, for over 30 years. He was 51 years of age and was the son of the late Judge Brough of Goderich, and brother of the late Redmond Brough, who was at one time engineer of the city of Toronto. He married a daughter of The late George Hawke, a sister of Mr. Widmer Hawke. Shortly before Easter Mr. Brough went abroad, partly in connection with the bank's business and to meet his wife, who was then in the old country, as well as his daughters, Miss Brough and Miss Widmer Brough, who were in school in Paris. On receipt of the news in Toronto of his sudden illness, Mr. Brough's two youngest daughters, Misses Helen and Elizabeth, accompanied by Miss (Col.) McDougall, left for England. They sailed from New York last Thursday.

Mr. Brough was appointed general manager of the Dominion Bank in 1900, succeeding the late R. D. Gamble, who died on the ocean, while returning from a trip to the old country. Since his appointment as general manager the bank has grown from 22 branches to 43. The capital, which in 1899 was $1,500,000, is now $3,000,000. Mr. Brough was prominently connected with the congregations of St. James Cathedral. He was a member of the Toronto Club, the Hunt Club, Royal Canadian Yacht Club and Ontario Jockey Club.

Dawson will take charge of the business and conduct it in future. The stock is a large one, and is worth about $50,000.

WHO MADE THIS SECRET GRAVE?

Stratford, Ont., May 4.—The village of Avonbank, six miles from St. Mary's has been thrown into great excitement over the finding of a new made grave in the Presbyterian church cemetery there, for which there is no record.

Crown Attorney McPherson, of Stratford, has ordered an investigation, and a constable has left for the scene.

The find was made in this way; Yesterday a resident of the locality applied to the caretaker of the cemetery for a burial plot. Upon examination of the plot decided upon, the startling discovery was made that a freshly-made grave of adult size, apparently not more than two months' old, was already there. Reference to the cemetery charter showed that the plot had never been let, and the caretaker, who has entire charge of the cemetery, states that he was entirely unaware of the presence of the unknown grave.

To add to the mystery of the find, the grave is situated in an oblique position to surrounding graves, and so close to one of the grave walls, being, as stated, a depth, points to the interment having been made clandestinely and at night. The result of the investigation is being awaited with keen interest.

GAME PROTECTION

Many Branches of Ontario F. & G. P. A. Established.

Peterboro being one of the leading headquarters in this province, for fishermen and hunters to assemble at the proper seasons, it will interest our readers to learn that the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association is being encouraged in a most practical way wherever fish, ducks or deer are captured, and that branches have now been established at the following points: Lakefield, Parry Sound, Chatham, Berlin, Gravenhurst, Windsor, Bobcaygeon, Orillia, London, Sudbury, Huntsville, Guelph, Sturgeon Falls, Hamilton, Scarboro, Sturgeon Point, Hastings County, Lindsay, Peterboro and Wiarton.

All local sportsmen are invited to join the Peterboro branch of the association.

Mr. J. D. Collins, the able and efficient president of the Peterboro branch organization, which should have a membership of at least two hundred is willing and anxious at all times, to receive applications for membership and give full information on any subject connected with the inception and ideas of the local branch.

The annual fee is the nominal sum of $1 per year. Copies of the constitution and by-laws can be obtained from Mr. J. D. Collins or will be mailed to any persons writing for the same. The only stipulation demanded of those who favor saving the game of our country and province from slaughter by pot-hunters, is that they sign the following agreement, viz:—

"I hereby agree to obey the game laws of the province, to encourage others to do the same, and to endeavor to prevent anyone from breaking them."

More News From San Francisco.

A letter from San Francisco received by a lady living in Lindsay, and published in The Post, says that the loss of life was much greater than reported by the eastern press. The correspondent says among other things that;

"Fissures opened in the streets—a hole two blocks away from us sank into the earth, when it opened up, so that a person could touch the roof, and it was five stories high. Some 60 people in it were buried alive.

The fire reached to one block from us; we live near the corner of 21st street and everything was buried. Of course we had to leave, and spent one night in the hills with what few things we could carry. We are not starving, as we are getting Government rations."

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday morning, shortly before the police court went into executive session, reporters of the Peterboro papers, who as usual were assembled in the police station, awaiting the stroke of 10, were enabled to convey to Police Magistrate Dumble the unwelcome news that he had early that morning been a victim of the fire fiend.

About one o'clock yesterday morning the fire laddies were hailed out of their downy beds of ease and compelled to go to the south end of the city on duty. Mr. Dumble's barn situated behind the Nicholls hospital, but outside the city, was the scene of the trouble. In a short time it was reduced to a heap of ashes. It is not known how the fire originated, but it is thought it was started by some tramp. The loss to Mr. Dumble will be about $75. There was insurance.

GOOD LAND DEAL

Mr. J. Hore of Keene Cleans Up Tidy Sum in North West Land.

Mr. John Hore of Keene, is a lucky man as well as a keen (no pun intended) judge of land and probable fluctuation of its value. News has been received from Regina stating that Mr Hore is between two and three thousand dollars to the good by a big land deal made in that section of the country.

It seems that Mr. Hore about a year ago, purchased a section (640 acres) of land in the vicinity of Regina at $14 per acre, and this week he sold it again for $19 per acre, or a total of $12,160, an increase of about $5 per acre. Mr. Wm. A. Forbes who resides near Regina, was the purchaser.

SASKATOON DESCRIBED

Lindsay Grocer Says That the Western Town is Booming.

The Lindsay Post says; About one month ago, Mr. Malcolm Cole, the William street grocer, left for the Northwest to pick up land. He has located for the present in the thriving and much talked of town of Saskatoon.

Mr. Cole writes that on their arrival at Saskatoon, there was a general rush to the several hotels to get rooms, but trouble was in store for many. Mr. Cole states that the lack of accommodation is very noticeable and the prices are steep. A single room costs from $8 to $10, and in private boarding houses from $5 to $6 per week. Many of the newcomers had to sleep on hay in the barns, and for this privilege they were charged 50c.

In describing this western center of population, Mr. Cole says the climate is very fine. It has been said that Saskatoon is booming, but the nature of this boom is puzzling. It seems to be the work of a number of citizens who have boomed the town in their own interests, as everybody is out for money, but the citizens as a whole are not of the poorer classes. A number of lots are selling for $150, but many have brought in the thousands —as high as $5,000—and the real estate business is a live one. The G.T.P., which will pass through Saskatoon, is a great help, and if the C.P.R. builds a line through—as it is generally understood they will—the town will certainly take on rapid development.

Mr. Cole intends to locate in this western town and make money with the rest of them.

On this way to Saskatoon, Mr. Cole had a short chat with Mr. Wilder, who has intentions of returning to the east.

HIS LORDSHIP ILL

Bishop Sweatman Asks for Coadjutor to be Appointed.

It will be of interest, and at the same time a cause of regret to many of our local citizens, to learn that the Toronto Star says;

"On account of failing health, Bishop Sweatman is said to have asked the Synod that he be allowed to resign, or that a coadjutor be appointed to assist him. Although attending to his work daily it has become an ever-increasing strain. The Synod has asked him to reconsider his action, suggesting that he take an extended leave of absence."

City Clerk in Ottawa.

City Clerk S. R. Armstrong is in Ottawa, and appeared before the Railway Commission yesterday as a representative from Peterboro, with many representatives from other municipalities. The committee took up the Bell Telephone Company's legislation.

IS IT DANGEROUS?

"Citizen" Objects to Using Old Dickson Dam Bridge.

(To the Editor of The Times-)

Dear Sir,—I see by the evening papers of yesterday, that this city council intends replanking and improving the bridge generally known as the Dickson dam bridge, for use during repairs or rebuilding of the Smith street bridge, now condemned. I would like to ask those favoring this plan a few straight questions.

Is it true that the Dickson dam bridge is absolutely unsafe, and as dangerous as the Smith street bridge? Is it true that Contractor O'Toole, who had the contract for building the new and splendid dam for the Cereal Co., considered the bridge so unsafe, owing, to the second to last pier on the far side of this river being washed out under neath, that he would not allow his teams to cross with loaded wagons, and that he had to lay a track for cars for his material, and would not allow men to ride on the cars. Is it true that Mr. O'Toole, tried to fill in the foundation of this pier, without success? If this question cannot be answered in the negative, is the council justified in preparing the bridge so that teams may cross, if this bridge should be unsafe, and risk loss of life as well as possibly incurring suits for damages to be paid by the city. If Mr. O'Toole did consider this bridge to be absolutely unsafe, would it not be better, whilst Smith street bridge is being rebuilt, to compel the use of the Hunter street bridge?

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

LOCAL CADETS DRILL

First Meeting This Year of C. I. C. C. Receives Instruction.

That ambitious and most commendable body of our growing youth, the Collegiate Institute Cadet Corps, has been reorganized for the season, and has had its first drill with a good attendance. Lieut. J. E. Hodgson, of the 57th Regiment, is the instructor, and the following officers have been chosen.

Captain—E. Leahi.
1st Lieutenant—C. Arnott.
2nd Lieutenant—Harry Hall.
Sergeants—H. Blackwell, H. Moore, W. Harvey and W. Cox.

The quiet corps, as noted in a former issue of The Times, has a sub-target gun and it is expected that some good practices will be held later on at the rifle ranges.

TONIGHT'S MEETING

A Good Program, With Speech By Col. S. Hughes and Others.

The great Orange meeting under auspices of the Loyal Orange Association, takes place in Bradburn's opera house this evening. The proceedings will be interspersed with musical selections and an enjoyable evening is assured.

Addresses will be delivered by Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., Victoria; Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, Omemee; and Mr. H. C. Hocken, editor of the Orange Sentinel, Toronto.

It is expected that there will be a great rally of the Orangemen of this and nearby counties. No admission fee is charged.

Found Out

Trained Nurse
vs.
Coffee

No one is in better position to know the value of food and drink than a trained nurse.

Speaking of coffee a nurse of Wilkes Barre, Pa., writes: "I used to drink strong coffee myself and suffered greatly from headaches and indigestion. While on a visit to my brothers I had a good chance to try Postum Food Coffee, for they drank it altogether in place of ordinary coffee. In two weeks, after using Postum, I found I was much benefited and finally my headaches disappeared and also the indigestion.

"Naturally I have since used Postum among my patients, and have noticed a marked benefit where coffee has been left off and Postum used.

"I observed a curious fact about Postum used among mothers. It greatly helps the flow of milk in cases where coffee is inclined to dry it up, and where tea causes nervousness.

"I find trouble in getting servants to make Postum properly. They must always serve it before it has been boiled long enough. It should be boiled 15 or 20 minutes and served with cream, when it is certainly a delicious beverage."

"There's a reason" for Postum.

Hon. Peter White Died Yesterday

The Best Speaker the Canadian House of Commons Has Ever Had--He Was One of Sir John's "Old Guard."

Pembroke, May 4.—Hon. Peter White, M.P., for North Renfrew, died at Hot Springs, N.Y., yesterday morning.

A BUSINESS MAN IN POLITICS.

Ottawa, May 4.—The Hon. Peter White was an unusually good example of the business man in politics. He managed a large and important business with diligence and success and at the same time was a keen politician, a powerful debater, a master of Parliamentary practice, possessed of considerable influence in the councils of his party and with an unusual admixture of firmness and public spirit of a certain sort. He enjoys the special distinction of being probably the best Speaker the House of Commons has ever seen.

Mr. White was one of that distinctive class, the lumbermen of the Ottawa Valley. His father, Lieut.-Col. Peter White, came out from Scotland, entered the lumber business and founded the town of Pembroke in 1828. Ten years later, on August 30, 1838—according to Morgan, the future Speaker was born in Pembroke. His education was confined to the local schools, and early in life he went into business, founding with his brother, A. T. White, a firm which only went out of business a few weeks ago. The firm never entered the company of the square lumbermen—the Booths, Edwards, Mackenzies and so on—but kept its footing among the secondary firms.

HIS POLITICAL LIFE.

After some preliminary experience in local politics, Mr. White was elected to the House of Commons in 1874 in the Conservative interest for North Renfrew. He was unseated, however, and it was not till 1876 that he took the place in Sir John Macdonald's "old guard." He sat for North Renfrew until 1896, when he was defeated by Mr. Thomas Mackie. He was also beaten in 1900, but that year returned to the House.

After years of service, which included the chairmanship of a committee, Mr. White in 1891 became Speaker. He had made a name as a debater. Not particularly ready to speak, he seldom rose without having something definite to say, and his strong sense, plain reasoning and power of expression made his words telling. He filled the additional advantages of presence, an advantage not to be discounted from the good stead which he became Speaker.

WOULD NOT COERCE MANITOBA

During the election of 1896 Mr. White abandoned the Conservative position in favor of coercion, and spoke against interference with Manitoba. Despite this, his relations with Sir Charles Tupper remained unimpaired, and had the Conservatives been victorious he would have been taken into the Tupper Ministry. When he returned to the House he proved of the greatest service to his party. Mr. Borden found him of great assistance in matters of procedure. In the Autonomy debate, for instance, the Government, who had an undertaking of the kind which Mr. Borden was going to take, intended to hold that his amendment was out of order. Thanks, however, in large part to Mr. White's assistance, it was so contested as to frustrate this intention. His services were chiefly those of the counsellor, although he occasionally spoke, often on points of procedure. In this field, as the already been remarked, he was the best authority available after the death of Sir John Bourinot, and he was listened to with respect by the Government. In one heated passage, when the Speaker was having trouble, Mr. White questioned a somewhat hasty ruling, and no spectator of the scene will easily forget the bent old man standing with a placid pertinacious determination, perfectly respectful and perfectly firm, that was pathetically at variance with the feeble frame.

A TRAGEDY OF THE SUBMERGED.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 4.—A man known as "Old-Gus," about 55 years of age, was burned to death early yesterday in a fire which destroyed the upper floors of a saloon on Fourth street. It is said he had a brother, a doctor, in Pittsburg.

A BARN BURNT

Mr. D. W. Dumble Has His Barn Destroyed By Fire.

Only once was fired at yesterday's police court that of a charge against Geo. Stevens, of having received stolen goods, namely a large quantity of straw alleged to have been stolen from the Peterboro Light and Power Co. Mr. Wood appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. O'Connor for Mr. Stevens. Mr. O'Connor, for the defence, pleaded guilty with extenuating circumstances, viz., that when Stevens purchased the straw, it being all new stuff, went to the employee of the man from whom he bought the goods to enquire if it was all straight. The employee not having missed any of the goods, they being taken from another firm, of course did not know anything about the matter.

The magistrate reserved sentence until Saturday, May 12th, and allowed Mr. Stevens to go on his own recognizance in the sum of $500. He instructed Mr. Stevens to pay the P. L. and P. Co., for the goods, which they value at $150, by the meantime.

The history of the brass as concerns Mr. Stevens, is that it was turned by mistake to Lindsay, by H. Letts, who purchased it here on March 5th, and on March 6th shipped from Lindsay to Franks' Bros., Toronto. Hence it was at once shipped to Cleveland, O., so that it impossible to get the goods back.

It will be an expensive purchase for Mr. Stevens, who would probably pay about eight cents a pound, or $20 for the 250 pounds, and then have to pay the light and power company, $150, the price the goods cost them.

S. S. Teachers' Union.

The primary and junior union of Sunday school teachers will meet this evening from 7 to 8 o'clock in the board room of the Y.M.C.A. for the study of next Sunday's lesson. The primary lesson will be taught and illustrated by Mrs. J. S. Knapman, while the junior lesson will be conducted by Mrs. Minty, both representing George street Methodist Sunday school.

REV. S. J. SHOREY D.D.

Victoria University Confers Degrees Upon People Known Here.

The many friends and admirers in this city of Rev. S. J. Shorey, now of Oshawa, will be pleased to learn that at the convocation in Victoria University, Toronto, the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon this gentleman, who holds so prominent a spot in the hearts of many of our local citizens.

The degree of B.D., was conferred upon Rev. D. R. Clare, B.A., of Selwyn, and upon Rev. J. M. M. Craig, B.A., of Frankford. He also won the Ryerson prize in New Testament history. His brother, Rev. H. H. Craig B.A., won the second regent's prize (educational sermon.)

BOYCOTTING IS ILLEGAL

Important Judgement Rendered in Toronto by Three Learned Men.

Toronto, May 4.—A judgment which would seem to have a significance for trade unions throughout Canada has been delivered by the divisional court and signed by Chancellor Boyd, Mr. Justice Magee and Mr. Justice Meredith. It dismissed with costs an appeal entered by Local Union No. 30 Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, against a judgment given by Judge McMahon, awarding $7,500 and costs to the Toronto Metallic Roofing Company.

The company was embarrassed in its business some two or three years ago by a boycott of the members of the union consequent on a disagreement as to an open and closed shop. As the union was not a corporate body the officers were sued by the company which got judgment. The union then appealed and the case has been in the courts ever since. Their lordships find that boycotting is illegal.

Outfit of a Fishing Party.

Yesterday afternoon a party of local fishermen were after the elusive brook trout. Their camp equipment for the trip consisted of their rods, lines and hooks, one tin tin of worms, two bottles of ginger ale, one dozen Quaker oats extract of malt, one half-gallon of something in a demi-john, 50 cigars, two dozen sandwiches, one corkscrew, two glasses, five cents worth of matches, and a determination to report the capture of 92 trout on their return. A friend not belonging to this party tried to smuggle a redherring in on their basket but was caught in the act. We understand that a sardine box was taken along to bring back their catch.

Now is The Time

Chance for Profit Offered Times' Readers—Let No One Fail to Benefit.

Imperfect cooking and hurried eating result in indigestion. At first the stomach and digestive organs are strong enough to accommodate themselves to all manner of ill treatment, but the time soon comes, when the walls of the stomach are inflamed, and the gastric juices are not secreted in sufficient quantities to digest the food, so that it is passed through the system imperfectly digested, giving but little nutrition and strength.

If one can only recognize the symptoms of indigestion in the early stages, he is then in position to protect himself by proper attention. "He is twice armed who is forewarned."

Now is the time to be benefited. Just as soon as you find that your food can be tasted after eating, when the abdomen swells or bloats, when the tongue is furred, the breath heavy, the appetite poor, the head dull and aching occasionally, then is the time for treatment with Mi-o-na. It cures but like a box.

This reliable remedy is a perfect restorer and strengthener of the whole digestive system. It restores lost functions to the stomach, strengthens the nervous system, and enables one to eat what he likes without fear of distress or trouble.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

REBUILD YOUR TIRED, ACHING BODY

Winter has left you in a state of fatigue and weariness.

The vitality of your blood is gone.

Your nerves are wretchedly weak and you find it hard to sleep.

The temptation to "brace up" with an alcoholic mixture is great,—but it's uselessness is plain to everyone.

Better follow Nature's plan; it's always a sure one.

First create new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, nourishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic "Ferrozone" which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every sickly person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Sadie E Hislop, of Whitby, Ont., who writes: "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerve force was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

Your druggist sells it in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from E. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., W. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

KEENE

—Mr. M. McNamara passed through the village on Tuesday last.

—Mrs. Gilbert Rancier returned from Kingston, where she had been visiting her mother.

—Mr. James Leahy and Mr. John O'Leary have about 300 hogs feeding in the cheese factory yards.

—Mr. P. Torpey shipped a car load of hogs from here on Thursday last, the price per hundred being $7.50.

—A number of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flinders assembled at their residence on Wednesday evening last to bid them farewell, before their departure from their present abode to the beautiful Allen grove terrace on Douro street. A short address was read by Stephen Murphy, explaining the pleasure it was to the village to see them making headquarters in a new residence, which Mr. Allen has already equipped with the most up-to-date fixtures. Indian Rivers's gain will be Douro's loss.

—The bachelors held a rousing meeting on Tuesday evening last. Mr. M. O'Leary, who has been president for two years, was disqualified on the ground that he has not been fulfilling his duties promptly. Mr. Andrew Quinlan and Mr. Patrick Cavanagh were nominated to fill the president's chair. It was moved by Arthur Fife, seconded by Wm. O'Leary, that Frank Devlin inspect the mustaches of Andrew Quinlan and Patrick Cavanagh and the one whose mustache was most developed was to be appointed president at the next meeting. General committee: David Devlin, John Burke, John Sullivan, John Faucett, Herb. Nelson, Gib. Stanhope and James Foley.

INDIAN RIVER

After a vacation of two weeks the Sons of Rest met on the park. Minney Wale, the president, opened the meeting at precisely eight o'clock. He then rose and gave expression to his feelings of gratitude to Providence for His goodness and mercy to the members of the order since they last assembled together on the park. When I glance around me tonight I perceive that all the old members are present and appear to be enjoying meanpres of health and strength. For these mercies and blessings we all should feel grateful and in order to show our gratitude I ask all the brethren to unite in singing "Praise God from Whom all blessings flow." The brethren complied with his request and sang the ode in right good style. The president then said that he wished to remind the brethren that Fatty Drummond did not fulfill his promise of buying a new chair. You, no doubt, are all aware that he fell through the bottom of my chair at our last meeting, and for not doing so I will now impose a fine of fifty dollars, to be paid tonight or go to jail for ten years. Fatty paid the fine and in a very audible voice told the president to go and take a roll. Fighting Archy then rose and laid a charge against Tom Decackey for eating six dozen eggs on Easter Sunday. Minney Wale censured Tom for his gluttony, and imposed a fine of five hundred dollars, to be paid in one week or go to jail for ten months. Decackey told the president that, judging from the fine imposed, eggs must be more expensive than chickens. You, says Minney Wale, you stupid, don't you know that eggs are chicken producers and, therefore, should not be wasted. Tea-merchant Kenealey laid a charge against Banker Lundy and Becombe for singing in the Methodist choir. The president imposed a fine of ten dollars each, or one month in jail. They canned up and asked for a clear receipt. They received a receipt at once. Howden Doris laid a charge against Pedar Hall for escorting a young lady half way home from church. The president fined him fifty cents, with a warning to go all the way with the young lady next time. Bob-tail Fox now rose and said that he purposed to give an address tonight on false flirtation, but as the night was far spent he would postpone it until next meeting night. Minney Wale now rose and said we must close, and asked Wazy McFarlane, Banker Becombe and Banker Lundy to sing the closing ode. They sang it well, I tell you; they are corkers. The meeting was then closed until next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock sharp.

"God Save The King."

IN ENGLISH COURTS.

Errors of Justice Will Be Less Frequent When Court is Established.

A new principle in English law is laid down by the Lord Chancellor's bill to establish a Court of Criminal Appeal.

The pressing need of such a bill has been shown by the Beck case of wrongful conviction. During the past few years many men have suffered severe penalties for crimes they did not commit, and had a Court of Criminal Appeal been in existence their innocence might have been established.

The effect of the Lord Chancellor's measure, which is a very far-reaching one, will be to give a person convicted on indictment of a criminal offence an unrestricted right of appeal on all points.

As the criminal law stands at present, the convicted person's only chance of appeal rests on a technicality. Should the judge agree to this appeal it is considered by the Court for the Consideration of Crown Cases Reserved.

All this is swept away by the new bill, and the appeal is allowed as the privilege of the citizen both in law and in fact.

The Court of Criminal Appeal will consist of "at least three judges of the High Court." The bill affects all convictions in ordinary criminal cases tried at assizes or quarter sessions.

The prerogative of mercy is not interfered with, and a prisoner is to be allowed the privilege that at present exists of appealing to the Home Secretary. That Minister can, however, remit the case to the Court of Criminal Appeal if he considers it outside his discretion.

Appeal in cases where sentence of death has been passed is not allowed, but is permissible in every other case, whether at the assizes or quarter sessions. When it is reheard in the Court of Criminal Appeal, that body can either quash the conviction and direct acquittal, or quash the judgment passed at the trial and pass what other sentence they may think fit.

The Criminal Appeal Court may also consider that an appellant was insane at the time the offence was committed and order him to be kept in custody as a criminal lunatic.

Notice of the desire to appeal must be given within ten days of conviction. Should the convict exercise his privilege, the judge who has tried him shall make a report to the Appeal Court. That body, however, cannot pass a severer sentence than has been imposed at the first trial.

The Criminal Appeal Court may sit either in public or with closed doors. It has the right to hear the case in the absence of the appellant, but it may assign him legal aid should his means be insufficient to obtain it for himself.

The act does not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

MR. BURNS' COURT SUIT.

Made by the Firm Which Supplied His Uniform When a Page Boy.

At last the secret as to who made John Burns' court suit has been divulged. Messrs. Hill Brothers of Old Bond street had the privilege.

W. Rines, the mayor of Battersea, who is a tailor himself, tells, in Tailor and Cutter, the story of how every tailor in London wanted the order and how every pressman tried to penetrate the secret.

"Why Mr. Burns went to Hills is a question which naturally arises in many minds," he says. "We cannot do better than give Mr. Burns' own explanation to ourselves.

"In thinking over the matter," said Mr. Burns, 'I thought I could not do better than patronize, as a Cabinet Minister, the firm whose workmen had made and presented me with a suit, and so made me an honorary customer of the firm, when I first entered Parliament as a private member.'

"This makes the third occasion upon which Mr. Burns' career has been linked at important points with the firm. Some thirty-five years ago, when he became page-boy, the gentleman with whom he took service happened to be a customer of the Bond street firm, and his first uniform was made there.

"This sequence of events is remarkable, to say the least of it. First as page-boy, then as plain M. P., now as a Right Honorable, with Cabinet rank.

"Who shall say what the future has in store? Some day, perhaps, we shall have to chronicle the fact that Hill's have made his Prime Minister's uniform."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is entitled to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7. (per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 150x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

cloak dripping with rain and bespattered with mud thrown about her—her head uncovered, her long golden hair, wet and dishevelled, falling all about her white, terrified face, and her hands clenched tightly over her heart that beat with great strangling, spasmodic throbs.

"Bernard," she cried, shrinking down at his feet, clasping his knees and looking up into his face "with great, terrified, dilated eyes; "save me—oh, Bernard, take me with you, dear, anywhere—anywhere, save me, Bernard!"

"Reine, my poor child!" he exclaimed; "tell me, dear, what does this mean?"

A laugh that was more horrible to hear than the cruelest sob could have been, broke from her lips.

"It means," she cried wildly, "that he tried to murder me, Bernard, after you had left me with him When I woke to consciousness from my swoon, I saw him standing by the mantel; he had not even summoned help for me, and he did not know whether I was dying or not.

"I saw him standing there drinking brandy from a flask he carried about him. He was bad enough when you saw him; he is a fiend incarnate now.

"As I struggled to my feet he approached me, hurling me back on my knees. 'Stay there!' he cried, with a demoniac laugh; 'stay where you are, and say your prayers if you know any, for your time has come to die! I will show you how I deal with those who are faithless to me,' and with that, and before I could cry out for help, he struck me and whipped out a revolver, and holding it close to my heart—from it was so near the fire burned my arm, Bernard; but his hand was unsteady, and the murderous ball crashed wide of its mark.

"Terror lent me strength. With a scream I sprang to my feet, and dashed precipitately through the open French window out in the storm and the night He pursued me, with cries of rage, firing right and left. The brandy had driven him into a frenzy; he was like nothing human.

"I thought you had come to the station to take the train, and I ran here every step of the way. Oh, save me, Bernard, for the love of Heaven! Let me stay with you, dear; if he finds me, he will kill me!" and the words died away with a bitter wailing cry of mortal fear.

Bernard Cheseligh was so filled with horror and dismay that the very power of speech seemed to have deserted him.

"See, Bernard," she sobbed, holding up her white arm to him, "there is where the powder burned me, and here"—flinging back her rain drenched cloak—"there is where the fire burned my dress—right over my heart; see, Bernard!"

It was more than mortal man could bear. Surely Heaven could find pardon for him, that in that moment he lost all self-restraint. His calm reason, his better judgment, his nobler self, all had vanished. He only heard her words—"Take me away with you, Bernard, if he finds me he will kill me!"

"I will take you away, Reine," he cried, breaking the clinging clasp of the white hands that clung round his knees, and drawing her to a seat by his side, and holding the poor, shivering girl close "He has brought the last tear to your eyes—you shall not stay here—you shall not be the victim of a madman. Your very heart is crushed. I will save you. We will go so far that no one who has ever known us will look upon our faces again. You shall know nothing but love and happiness all the rest of your life. We will fly to the other end of the world together, and live only for love and each other."

Ten minutes before, he would as soon have thought of shooting himself as to ask Reine to fly with him to escape her husband; for, no matter what the man was, he was still —her husband.

Now that Bernard's passionate nature was in the ascendancy, it seemed to him that to rescue her from this tyrant was a right thing to do. He had a most chivalrous feeling for women a woman's tears were to him irresistible, and while she clung to him with trembling hands and he was protesting to her that she should never regret coming with him, slowly the train moved out; another instant and it was whirling along at a terrific rate of speed on through the storm and darkness of the night. But all in a moment as the train had moved out, Bernard Cheseligh began to realize what he had done. Great Heaven! he, who had always been the very soul of honor, had done so dastardly a thing as to fly with another man's wife; what had he been thinking of!

But of what use were regrets now? Why startle Reine—who was still clinging to him with hands trembling with fear? There was no returning—they had burned their bridges behind them.

"Are you content, Reine?" he asked, slowly—huskily.

"Yes, Bernard," she sighed. He clasped her closer, and soon, despite all the cold and the chill of her garments she sank to sleep like a child in his arms.

"Poor Reine," he murmured compassionately. "Heaven have mercy on us both"

He sat quite still, trying to think out what their future should be. The angels in Heaven who had watched it all, and wept over poor Reine, had marked out that future.

How long they sat thus, Bernard Cheseligh could never afterward quite fully recall—the train whirled on past hills and dales and leaping rivulets—on and on rushed the lightning express—on with a terrible roar until it reached a high bridge that spanned a dark, deep ravine—and then—

There was a horrible crash, a quiver, a sudden blinding light flashed through the car for an instant—and in that instant the engine plunged down through the bridge—down the steep height to the dark-vine-wreathed valley below. Then came oblivion to Bernard Cheseligh.

It was many a long day after when Bernard Cheseligh awoke to a realization of what was transpiring around him.

He found himself in a small, unfamiliar room, with strange faces bending over him.

"Where am I?" he asked, faintly. But before the good woman could answer, a cry of anguish broke from his lips

"I remember. Great Heaven! I remember The accident. Where is—is—"

"You are not to talk," said the nurse, gently. "It was a terrible accident! Many were wounded, many were killed outright; you were found terribly wounded, and brought here, where you have been for many a long week. Look through the window; see those snow flakes scurrying past, it is winter now; you have had a long siege of it." She went on: "There was a lady near you, a young and beautiful lady, lying there dead—quite dead—when they found her, which was at daylight. Her hands were crossed over her breast like a tired child's There was a smile on her lips. Everyone said the angels must have been hovering very near her when that accident happened, watching for her soul. She was so young to die—poor, pretty young thing. There was only a little purple mark on the temple to show how death had met her, that was all.

"Some one came up from Waldron Towers, away down in Virginia, and took her home with them—the body I mean, and I heard since that they buried her on the slope of hill—just back of the Towers."

Bernard Cheseligh turned away with a groan, turning his face to the wall. It seemed to him that her death lay on his soul.

One stormy winter night, a fortnight later, a man made his way through the snow-drifts close to a small enclosure, which was fenced off in the most isolated portion of the Tower grounds

He need not have taken so much pains to steal along in the shadow of the trees, for there were none to see him. The old Towers was closed again. Its occupants gone, none knew whither, and surely his tread could not awaken her who slept beneath the marble shaft toward which he bent his steps.

He lit a match and read the inscription on it; it bore simply this:

Sacred to the Memory of REINE.
Aged 18 Years.

The flaring match which shed its light upon the tomb fell upon the man's face,—the pale face of Bernard Cheseligh

From that night Bernard Cheseligh was never seen again. For a time those who knew him missed him, then forgot him.

Many a winter's snow fell deep upon Reine's grave, and many a summer's storm showered down blood-red rose leaves from a wild vine that had clambered round the shaft and over the grave, ere the inmates of Waldron Towers returned. It was summer then and the wild-rose vine was still in bloom They found the wild-rose vines twined so closely about some object lying on the grave that they had to bend closer to see what it was. To their surprise and horror they found it was the skeleton of a man, but who he had been, or how he had come there no one knew; only this, some one must have lain down to die on the moss grown grave that was "Sacred to Reine,"

They never knew they were carrying out the last fervent prayer he had uttered on earth, when they dug his grave and laid all that remained of him beside Reine

THE END.

Nickel Indications in New Ontario.

The mineral discoveries in the belt along the new Temiskaming Railway, which have led the Government to remove the land from sale or lease, are nickeliferous. Some of the ores are unlike any that have hitherto been found in quantity in this Province. For instance, the mineral niccolite, otherwise known as kupfernickel, which contains about 44 per cent. of nickel, and which up to the present has furnished cabinet specimens only, has been discovered in what, judging from surface indications, seems to be commercial quantities. A cobalt-nickel arenide has also been found resembling smaltite and carrying, according to one assay 6 per cent. of nickel and 18 per cent of cobalt. Both the niccolite and smaltite are rich in arsenic, the former carrying 56 per cent., and the latter up to 72 per cent.

In addition to these, native silver occurs, some exceedingly handsome specimens of which have been found.

The value of these discoveries, if they turn out to be extensive, can be realized by a comparison with the famous Sudbury deposits. In Sudbury 3 per cent. of nickel in the ore is the average, and 5 per cent. is exceedingly rich. In the new discoveries the ore carries 44 per cent. of nickel A much smaller body of nickel, therefore, in Temiskaming will constitute a mine than in the nickeliferous pyrrhotite region of Sudbury.

Where the Jews Are.

Prof Haman, of Basel, an authority on the subject, has lately printed a paper dealing with the geographical distribution of the Jews. He says the total number of Jews is 10,000,000 of whom two-thirds are in Europe. Russia has 5,500,000; Austria-Hungary, 1,860,000; Germany, 568,000; Roumania, 300,000, and Great Britain, 200,000. The United States has 1,000,000; Asia has 250,000; Africa, 270,000, and Australia, 17,000. He says that not less than 200,000 Jews embraced the Christian religion in the nineteenth century.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 600,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage. Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore productions; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Deranged Kidneys

When the Kidneys Are Weak It is Impossible for Any Woman to be Happy or Healthy.

If the girls and women who are silently suffering with what they appear to "female trouble," would look to their kidneys they would soon find the source of their ill-health.

The kidneys are very closely allied with the female organs and if the vitality of the kidneys is in any way impaired, great suffering is sure to occur.

No better medicine is known for the kidneys than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Buttermilk; they stimulate and strengthen the kidneys and thereby assist the other organs to do entirely work. Instant benefit and certain cure are guaranteed in every case.

Sufferer, don't wait, begin treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they will cure you as they did Mrs. A. B. Coburn, a well-known resident of the town of Portland. Read her experience;

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; to-day I am perfectly well."

Every woman can take Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit. Their occasional use keeps the system in healthy, well regulated order. No medicine more gentle or more prompt in results. Now is the time to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn. U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Grocery Stores Closing Early.

Wednesday night the grocery stores of the city started early closing. This will be continued during the spring and summer months. The stores will all close at 6.30 p.m., instead of 8 or 9 o'clock.

Peterboro Boy's New Ambition.

Mr. Geo. A. Perry, an old Peterboro boy and one of the best known printers in New York State, has considered cast lots a new line now. He is now an optician of growing reputation and skill. A few years ago Mr. Perry took up the science as a pastime but is now turning his knowledge to practical and remunerative use.

Teachers' Convention Opens Today.

The teachers' institute of the city will hold a two days' convention in the Central school, beginning this morning at nine o'clock. The program has already been published in these columns. This evening Rev. Dr. Clarke, of Toronto, will deliver an address on "Books and Reading" before the members of the institute in the Y.M.C.A. hall. The public is cordially invited to attend the evening meeting.

California Excursions.

Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Line. Meeting Imperial Council, Nobles Mystic Shrine, Los Angeles, Cal. May 7th to 12th. Official route of the Imperial Potentate's special train. Round trip tickets at very low rates will be sold April 30th to May 9th. Final return limit July 31st, 1906. Choice of routes going and returning. Favorable stopover arrangements. Full particulars furnished on application to B. H. Bennett, General Agent, 3 East King street, Toronto, Ont.

Clever Work by Local Police.

Both Chief Russel and P. C. Adams deserve great credit for their intelligent and successful management of the discovery and location of the brass stolen last spring from the P.L. & P. Co., as stated in this issue. Both these officers displayed great tact and ability that might well class them among the detective experts of Ontario. The chief had much correspondence over this matter with the Toronto police and others interested.

Evangelist Kennedy Heard From.

The Times has to thank Mr. H. D. Kennedy, the well-known evangelist, who as before noted in these columns was in the earthquake shocked region surrounding San Francisco, for a copy of the San Francisco Bulletin of April 18th. This paper has in large display type, across the whole front page, the cheering sentence, "Millions in gold for San Francisco."

The paper gives several views of the wrecked city that show clearly how dreadful the shock must have been in its power, and accompanying the paper gives the pleasing intelligence that Mr. Kennedy was not hurt at all. A pathetic feature of this paper is to be noted in nearly all the advertisements which include the words, "We have secured temporary quarters."

Dickson Dam Bridge to be Used.

The city council has made arrangements whereby, during alterations to or rebuilding of, the notably dangerous Smith street bridge, a temporary right of way has been secured, by making certain improvements across the old Dickson dam bridge. This will be a great convenience for many farmers and their children.

Proposition to Extend Rose Street.

It is now on the tapis that the city should, particularly since the Smith street bridge has been closed and the Dickson dam bridge is about to be opened, should extend Rose street to Nicholls park east. The Dickson Company, which owns lot No. 76, on Dufferin street, the terminus of Rose street, have suggested the sale of it to the city. This lot is 66 feet wide and extends from Dufferin street eight rods to the southern boundary of Nicholls park. Mr. Stock, manager for the company, places a value of $7 per foot on this land, bringing the price up to $462 or say $460. The matter seems feasible.

Eminent Doctors Praise its Ingredients.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator * * * makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "In Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anaemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions * * * and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal:

"Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Signs of Heart Trouble

You can Surely Secure Heart Health and Strength through Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Heart weakness which can be dealt with as all is nerve weakness. Just as your head troubles when its nerves are weak, when your heart nerves are weak your heart flutters and palpitates. Other signs are shortness of breath after slight exercise; fainting spells; pain or tenderness about the heart caused by irregular heart action; choking sensation, often as if the heart was in the throat; smothering sensation in the chest, showing that the heart isn't working right; pain when you lie on one side—usually the left side, but frequently the right, general and different smothered feeling. Thousands who recently suffered with heart trouble, nervousness, sleeplessness, and kindred ills, have found permanent strength to their hearts through Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Now why not you? Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring back the strength to the heart nerves always. There is nothing in this remedy to create habit; nothing that tends to weakness. The strength that it gives is natural and permanent. It is just the same strength as Nature gives to those who are well. Dr. Shoop's Restorative creates strength which extends over the whole human nerve system—it overcomes the cause of the trouble as well as the result. For sale and recommended by

Ontario's Gift to William Sherring:

Not Less Than $500, and May Reach $2000, Mr. Whitney's Complimentary References to the Winning Athlete

Toronto, May 5.—"I believe the Government thoroughly appreciates the very creditable performance of William Sherring," said Premier Whitney this morning, replying to the Hamilton deputation introduced by Mr. Carscallen. "The fact that the young man placed out alone, paying his own expenses, adds to his credit and that he is an Ontarion, born and residing in this Province.

"But particularly am I glad to know that the young man is an amateur in the true sense of the word. Good, healthy, moral amateur athletism among our young men should be encouraged, and I believe it is possible that great good may result to the young generation by this young man's achievement.

"I shall tell you more than I tell many deputations," concluded the Premier. "I shall personally urge my colleagues to join in granting the young man not less than the minimum amount Mr. Carscallen mentioned."

FROM $500 TO $2,000.

Mr. Carscallen in introducing Messrs. R. B. Harris and J. G. Gauld, representing the citizens of Hamilton, asked for $2,000 and said he hoped this Government would not consider less than $500. Both gentlemen spoke heartily, urging a liberal grant.

Premier Whitney was accompanied by the Provincial Treasurer, Hon. Col. Matheson.

"What is Sherring's occupation?" asked the Premier.

"A moulder," was Mr. Carscallen's response.

"Is he able to resume his position and make progress in his work?" Mr. Whitney again asked.

"I believe so."

"I'm glad to hear it," said the Premier. "I am glad you didn't ask me to bring them down under this roof at $400 and $50 a pair."

"What are you proposing to do with the money?" was the Premier's next question.

Mr. Gauld said a public testimonial was considered.

NOTHING FOR FIREWORKS.

"What this Government does," added the Premier, "its gift is from the people of the Province and must go to Sherring. The money mustn't be spent in fireworks. Why not put it with other subscriptions in buying him a house and lot?"

The delegation thought the suggestion was an excellent one.

"I read the New York papers," smilingly added Mr. Whitney, "and I see where Smith and Jones and Robinson, always of the United States are always winning. Even Thompson is another victor, coming in second. I won't say that what he has touched a sentimentally and kindly chord in my heart to read of the genuine victory at Marathon, the real achievement of a plucky Canadian-born amateur athlete. I think we're all proud of Sherring!"

A STRANGE STORY

General Koroki is Believed to be the Mysterious MacDonald

Dombay, May 4.—A curious tale is going the rounds of the bazaars in Imus. It is believed General Koroki, the marvelous Japanese commander, is no other than Sir Hector MacDonald.

Many persons have never believed that the brilliant Englishi general is dead, and not long ago there appeared in the London Times an offer of a reward of £6,000 to any one who has seen his dead body.

It is also a fact that Sir Hector was once invited to go to Japan to train the Japanese army.

Both the life and death of Sir Hector MacDonald was full of romance and mystery. His exact age is not known. The circumstances of his death and burial are obscure. What is known is that MacDonald was a Scotch crofter lad; that he enlisted in 1871, and that he served in the ranks 10 years. His rise to a Major General and K. C. B. was the result of pure soldering.

In the Afghan campaign, at Kabul, on Majuba Hill and at Omdurman he won fights and fame. After the Boer campaign he was given a high command in India, and then in 1903 came the report that he had suddenly left Hindustan "on private business."

On this business he reached Paris, and then read in a newspaper that he was to stand a court-martial on "grave charges." Then came the report that immediately on reading this paragraph he went to his room and shot himself.

MR. P. CLANCY'S DEATH

Former Peterboro Resident Dies in Brandon.

Mr. Patrick Clancy, a former resident of this city, died at Brandon on Tuesday evening. The deceased was taken ill one day about a week previous and went to the hospital. He was home on a three months' visit last winter. No particulars of the death have as yet been received. He died on the Kingston & Pembroke.

The deceased had many friends in Peterboro, who will deeply regret to learn of his death. He is survived by four brothers, Simon and Cornelius, of Peterboro, and Edward of Smithfield, Wm. and John, in the Northwest district; and three sisters, Annie, Mary, at home, and Mrs. Wade. The deceased, who was about sixty years of age, was unmarried.

The funeral will take place here, probably on Monday.

LETTERS BURNED.

Toronto, May 5.—Of 200,000 letters in the Toronto postoffice when the fire occurred, less than 3,000 were destroyed.

A DELIGHTED AUDIENCE

Witness Closing Exercises of the Y.W.C.A. at the Opera House.

Last night a large and well pleased audience filled the Grand Opera house, to testify by their presence to the appreciation in which the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium classes and exercises are held.

The splendid exhibition of calisthenic training, diversified by dumb-bell drill, was highly enjoyed by a very good musical program was given under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A., which institution had spared neither trouble nor expense to present a most charming entertainment.

The gymnastic drill, in which head and leg exercises were admirably shown, was given by the junior class, dressed alike in white. Tuesday class gave a dumb-bell drill that showed good training. The fancy marching was a very pretty spectacle as was the May pole dance, the latter by the junior class; this was a very pretty affair, as the girls, holding to pretty white and red ribbons, descended from the pole, formed about it. The wand drill, by the Friday class was also highly appreciated, the participants going in perfect unison. The fancy steps, by the intermediate class, dressed alike in pink were very prettily executed.

The musical part of the program was rendered by such well known artists as Miss Davies, Mr. Shaw, Miss Rogers and Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot. Miss Degby gave some readings that were given in fine voice and clear enunciation.

MUNICAL OWNERSHIP.

Kingston, May 5.—About two years ago the ratepayers of Kingston, with some trepidation, took over the plant of the Light, Heat and Power Company, from the private company, at the cost of $153,000. Since that time the sum of $50,000 has been expended upon it out of the earnings. At the same time, the cost to consumers has been reduced in the case of lighting gas from $2 to $1.50 per thousand, for lighting by electricity from 10c. to 10c. per kilowatt hour and for electrical power, formerly 8c. to 10c., to 8c. with prospect of still further decrease. The council is about to submit a by-law to raise $35,000 to be used in extending the plant. The bylaw will doubtless carry, as in the light of the experience of municipal ownership, the feeling is most favorable.

POISONED BY SHELL FISH.

Quebec, May 5.—Coroner Joncas has just held an inquest at Mont Louis, Gaspe, on the body of an 11 year old child named Severin Robinson, who died of poisoning caused by eating shell fish. A number of others had a narrow escape from a similar fate.

LAST OPPORTUNITY

to secure an investment that will bring you in dividends which will insure you an income for life.

The Pralin Mines Company offer for only a short time a limited amount of their Capital Stock at five cents per share. Capital $150,000. Owners of one of the richest mines in the worlds famous Lead and Zinc Mining District of Joplin, Mo. Lead ore is today selling for $70.00 per ton. Zinc ore at better than $50.00 per ton. Our one-hundred ton mill, which will soon be completed, will handle one-hundred tons of dirt per ten hour shift.

The most conservative estimates of experts state that this dirt will run from six to twenty per cent. pure Zinc. In addition the immense quantities of lead found in these deposits, which alone will undoubtedly pay all operating expenses, thus leaving from five to ten tons of Zinc per day, net profit.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR

BASEBALL.

Mr. Martin Connors, the indefatigable supporter of baseball and one of the most enthusiastic exponents of the game in this city has noticed the grass grow under his feet this year.

His splendid aggregation of ballplayers, the "Pirates" will open the present season at Riverside Park at 2.30, this afternoon, when they will play the George Street team of the Guild League. The Pirates will have almost the same talent as they had last season. Among those who will figure in today's game will be Rattray, Graham, Whitcroft, Shea, Sheridan, Connors, Callaghan, Quinlan, J. Pilling and Carter.

"Jimmie" Pilling will share the pitching honors with Quinlan. There is every reason to believe that with a little experience he should make good.

The Methodists will be represented by a strong team and they should be able to keep the "Pirates" busy. It is likely that Quinlan, McCarry and Bellingham will be in the points for them. There should be a large attendance to encourage the boys.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Rev. Father McColl Gives Good Address

Yesterday the schools of the city were closed on account of the long anticipated meeting of the City Teachers' Institute, which opened in the morning at the Y.M.C.A., within very large attendance.

The President, Mr. D. Walker, B. A., occupied the chair, and in a short opening address set forth the object of the association.

The first speaker was Rev. Father McCoid, who gave a very instructive address on the "Influence of the Teacher." According to circumstances and way of living at present the teacher had a wonderful influence. The tendency of the present day was to throw the burden of responsibility upon the teacher. It was a mistake, as in this the parent should do primary.

Education was a deliberate attempt to improve the human race. Future people should be superior to the present. To bring about this depends upon the teacher. We should develop the physical, mental and moral for only by balanced training of these do we get a well-balanced man or woman.

Education is primordial by self-activity and should be the object, not learning. Learning is what we know of thoughts and feeling of others. Education is the power to think and solve difficulties through our own individual efforts.

To acquire knowledge pupils should be inflamed with high ideals, and should be stimulated to self-exertion. The teacher should create in them enthusiasm and the cultivation of willpower and should instil in them the essentials of punctuality and perseverance.

The next speaker was J. Malcolm McCulloch, M.D., who gave an excellent paper on this "Teacher and Preventive Medicine." The doctor dealt with prevalent diseases of the present, to which pupils were exposed, their causes and preventive measures that could be employed to forestall their spread and favor the maximum of immunity of such disease to the people. He dealt at some length with ventilation, lighting, water supply and heating and also the advisability of a medical inspector for schools, quoting good results from these centers where such an officer was employed.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered those taking part.

LOCAL BATTERY

Major Young will be Commanding Officer of 24th Field Battery.

As stated in a former issue of The Times the 24th Field Battery, has been in process of organization, and now arrangements have been completed, by which this city becomes headquarters.

Col. McNaughton, of Cobourg, commanding officers of the tenth brigade was in the city this week, the guest of Major (Dr.) Young, completing the work of organization. The tenth brigade is composed of the 14th Field Battery of Cobourg and the new Battery of Peterboro.

The 24th Field Battery will have a strength of one hundred and one, officers and men. The officers are as follows: Major Young, commanding officers; Capt. Hiram Ritchie and Lieuts. Carnegie Hall and R. H. Leary. The guns and other equipment for the new corps will arrive here in a few days. It will be a four-gun battery, the equipment including four caissons, four gun carriages and four ammunition wagons.

Recruiting under charge of Major Young, will be begun at once.

The 24th Battery will go into camp at Cobourg on June 13, and will be under canvas until June 30.

BOND WILL TAKE ACTION.

St. John, Nfld., May 5. — Premier Bond, in the Legislature last night, signified his intention of introducing a bill today amending the Foreign Fishing Vessel Act, which was passed last season and excludes American fishing craft from preferential treatment in colonial waters. The text of the bill is not yet known, but it is presumed the measure deals with the recent developments dispute.

NO UNIVERSAL PENNY POSTAGE.

London, May 5.—The Postal Union conference at Rome has rejected the proposal for a universal penny postage paid in bribes.

CHILDREN SAVED BY SHELTER

Three Children Are Placed in the Charlotte Street Shelter.

Three children, two girls and a boy have been placed in the Children's Shelter on Charlotte street, from the north end of this city, by the inspector of the Children's Aid Society. Mr. George Cochrane. The girls are eight and ten years of age, and the boy is four years old. The children, who were most wretchedly clothed and showed evidences of neglect, were taken from a house in the north end of the city. They resided with their mother, who evidently paid no attention to the wishes of the children. Her husband has left her, and her conduct lately has been of a questionable nature. She has been often warned by the inspector. The woman will come up in the police court at an early date.

The home where the children were taken from was in a very squalid condition and the little ones were growing up without the restraints of parental control.

A QUIET WEDDING

Miss L. C. Perkins the Bride of Mr. G. R. Coleman

Yesterday a quietly celebrated wedding was performed at the rectory of All Saints' church, when the rector, Rev. W Major united a son and daughter of Albion in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The happy couple were, Mr. Geo. R. Coleman, son of Mr. Chas. Coleman, of Wiltshire, England, who chose as his bride, Miss Leonie Constance Perkins, formerly of Devonshire, England.

The bridal party were unattended. Both young people have only been residents of Peterboro for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman left on the 5.10 C.P.R. train on a honeymoon trip to Toronto.

FLEEING FROM ZION CITY.

Chicago, Ill., May 5.—Dowie is said to be near death. People of Zion City are suffering acutely from want of proper nourishment. Distress is evident on every hand, and necessities of life are difficult to obtain; parents are unable to respond to the cries of their children for bread. Forty-eight citizens left Zion City for various parts of the country today. Others are ready to go as soon as they can raise sufficient money to take them away.

THE BISHOP EXPLAINS

Bishop Sweatman Says Newspaper Reports are Exaggerated.

His Lordship Bishop Sweatman of Toronto, in reference to recent notices in the press concerning his illness, says;

"I have no intention of resigning." All these reports are untrue."

"The last of the matter is this, he continued. "I have been incapacitated from time to time during the past year from attending to my Episcopal duties. Several times I have had to ask another bishop to do my work, for there are certain duties which all the rural deans and archdeacons in the world could not perform for me.

"In view of this, I am thinking of applying to the Synod, through this executive committee, for the appointment of a suffragan and coadjutor, to perform my Episcopal duties when I am unable to attend to them. I have not yet done this, however."

WAR TROPHIES AT TOKIO.

Tokio, May 4.—The Emperor today reviewed 65,000 troops of all arms who took part in the war with Russia. One hundred and thirty-nine standards, which had belonged to Russian cavalry and infantry regiments, and a vast quantity of captured rifles, swords, and other war material, were displayed.

WARSAW SHOPS CLOSED.

Warsaw, May 4.—The situation here is causing great anxiety. Many socialistic proclamations have been issued summoning workmen to organize for a general strike and for street processions. Business men are boarding up their shop windows, and the Governor has ordered the garrison to be in readiness for any emergency.

Ministers on the Press

A meeting of the Ministerial Association will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday morning at 9a o'clock. The subject will be, "Newspapers, their uses and abuses." The principal speaker will be Rev. Dr. Crothers.

CHINA SECURES THIBET

Pays Expense, However, of British Expedition

Pekin, May 5.—The Anglo-Tibetan treaty is, according to information which has reached the Associated Press, in substance, as follows:

China pays the expenses of the recent British expedition to Lhassa in instalments and Great Britain recognises China's sovereignty over Tibet. China opens two towns to trade, namely, Gyangse and Natehu, the only place now open being Yatung.

Railways, telegraphs and mines are to be built and operated by China and Great Britain, but Great Britain will not interfere here China or Chinese merchants provide the capital for enterprises of this character.

Applications from British investors for interests in such enterprises are to be made to the Chinese governor of Lhassa. If he approves, ratification by the Chinese government will be necessary. On the full payment of the expense of the military expedition, Great Britain will withdraw her troops from Chumbya, but may withdraw sooner. After the withdrawal of British troops, China must protect British trade.

Political relations will be conducted with the resident at Lhassa.

A tariff on British imports will be arranged later by a separate convention.

LAWSON'S STARTLING CHARGE

Boston, Mass., May 5.—Thomas W. Lawson today declared that over 70 members of the Massachusetts Legislature have been bribed to vote against the "racing-shaper" bill. Lawson adds that more than $6,000 has been paid in bribes.

Port Hope Still After T.V. Canal

The Port Hope Guide, says, and with seemingly good argument; That if the outlet of the Trent Valley Canal is at Port Hope small steamers as those of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, the Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Steamboat Company and the Lake Ontario Navigation Co. will be able to reach Peterboro, and will give water connections for passengers and freight between that city and Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Montreal and Rochester and other lake towns and cities. At Port Hope, Peterboro, with also large direct connection with the great steamers of the Montreal and Lake Superior Co. which call at Port Hope twice weekly and carry freight from Quebec to Fort William. It will also be in the best position for the cheap importation of coal. For all practical purposes Peterboro would be a greater lake port and would have all the advantages of lake freight rates. If the outlet of the canal is at Trenton, Peterboro will only have connection with an inland port which is far removed from the great highway of water traffic. As will be practically as much cut off from lake traffic as it is at present. If the canal is to be of real benefit to Peterboro the outlet must be at Port Hope.

Bethany Tabernacle Organizes a Young Peoples Society

The young people of Bethany Tabernacle recently organized a young people's society and are holding a regular young people's meeting every Friday evening. The following officers were elected for the first six months:

Pres.—Geo. Brenton.
Vice Pres.—Miss Gertrude Dunsan
Sec.—Miss Grace Johnston.
Treas.—Miss Minnie Faux.
Chorister—Wallace Moore.

A New Mill at Stoney Lake

The Stony Lake correspondent of the Northwood Register says; Messrs. Hicks and Taylor, who run a wood and lumber yard in Peterboro, have put in a saw mill at the head of Stony Lake, on Mr. Frank Newall's place, to cut what logs the took out last winter on their own land. They draw the lumber to what is known as South Bay, and will ship it from there as soon as Peterboro by the Trent canal.

MAY DEMORALIZE RATES.

New York, May 4.—Much concern is felt in railway passenger circles over the outcome of the conference of the Central Passenger Association to be held in the middle of May. It is charged that the Erie, among others, has been paying commissions to steamship agents as a means of secretly nullifying the differentials that the Grand Trunk has demanded. The latter has retaliated and is supposed to be paying commissions and the Wabash has, it is charged, followed suit. If the main question of the Grand Trunk differentials cannot be settled, it seems probable that general demoralization in westbound immigration rates and perhaps in other directions will result.

COLONY IS NOT ALARMED.

St. John, Nfld., May 4.—Colonial authorities claim they are not concerned over the Washington report that the state department is protesting to the British Cabinet against the recent action of the colony in fining American fishing vessels for alleged breaches of colonial fisheries regulations in coast line.

Where Americans enjoy fishery rights under the treaty of 1818 the Colonial officials contend Americans are subject to regulations wherever they are not inconsistent with rights conferred by the treaty and hold that all restrictions which bind colonists are equally binding on Americans, because their right is only that of fishing in common with British subjects.

READY FOR SEPTEMBER.

London, May 5.—Signor Marconi has assured the stockholders of his British company that wireless communication between America and Great Britain will be thoroughly established for full commercial purposes by next September. The station at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, is already in daily unbroken touch with the station on this side at Poldhu, Cornwall, a distance of 2,000 miles.

The Italian inventor's latest wireless discovery is an apparatus for directing and controlling the electric waves so that they may be aimed like a shot at a specific point. Hereafter Marconigrams will be directed to a single ship sailing the high seas or the particular land station desired.

MANY LOTTERY TICKETS SEIZED

New York, May 5.—Secret service officers seized over half a ton of lottery tickets and $2,5000 worth of steel engraving plates in a local warehouse. The confiscated goods were said to be the property of the Honduras National Lottery Company, commonly called the Louisiana lottery. The authorities said there would be arrests in connection with the sale of tickets, alleged to amount to $1,000,000 a month in the United States.

A NEW DOCTOR IN TOWN.

Dr. J. E. Middleton Purchases an old Established Business.

It will be of interest to our readers to learn that Mr. J. E. Middleton, L.D.S., D.D.S., has purchased the old established dental practice, so successfully conducted for many years by Mr. R. Nimmo.

Dr. Middleton, who is a graduate of the Faculty of Dentistry of Toronto University, also of Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Toronto, is an old Peterboro boy, being a son of ex-Warden Jas. Middleton. He received his early training in the Collegiate Institute here, and for some time was in the teaching profession. Dr. Middleton entered the study of dentistry four years ago and his training has given him the most modern skill in dental surgery.

Dr. Middleton will occupy the rooms formerly used by Mr. Nimmo, 374 1-4 George street, where he has installed a most up-to-date set of dental appliances.

We venture to predict that this latest addition to local dental circles will obtain a good share of Peterboro's patronage.

Col. Sam Hughes Spoke Last Night

The great Orange Meeting of Last Night Applauds Speakers Who Supported Principles of the Order.

Last night Bradburn's old opera house was fairly well filled with an audience, in sympathy with the principles inculated by the Orange Order. Many ladies were present in the body of the house. Shortly before eight o'clock, the speakers and leading officials, admid clapping of hands, ascended the platform, on which were seated, Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, B.A., B.D., grand secretary of the Grand Orange Lodge of Eastern Ontario, Messrs. H. C. Hocken, editor of the Orange Sentinel, Toronto Col. Sam Hughes, Lindsay; W. Kindred, of this city; Rev. A. H. Brace, pastor of of the Park street Baptist church, and others.

Rev. Mr. Whitelaw inaugurated the proceedings of the evening by saying that, as an annual meeting of the Order, the proceedings should be opened by prayer, and asked upon Rev. Mr. Bruce to open the meeting. Rev. Mr. Bruce responded to the invitation by ordering a most fervent appeal to the Almighty.

The chairman then congratulated the city upon the gathering present, and especially upon the number of ladies present. Owing to Col. Hughes being to leave for Lindsay, and consequently anxious to get away, introduced that hero of South African and loud applause.

Col. Hughes on his initial remarks, thanked the chairman for his flattering remarks. In all his travels there are no happier or better citizens than in our good old Midland district. He expressed the pleasure at seeing two clergymen upon the platform. He said there are too many Protestants and masters not acquainted with the principles of the Orange Order of which feel proud.

We do not race in our Orange lodges to decry Roman Catholicism, before being admitted to enter an Orange lodge every candidate must swear to defend the King, whether Catholic or Orangeman.

The Orange Order is the only order in the world that gives equal rights to every one.

The relationship between every corporation and the state is yours, when any church interferes with the citizens' rights, it should be suppressed.

In days of old, people were governed, by being ground down. "Is this right? No, sir!" (Applause.)

In the old days the church was dominant and people were hewers of wood and carriers of water, the principles of the Orange Order are against this.

It has fallen to his lot to win from the Roman Catholic Church several hundred of his people. He has no ill-feeling against the Church. His first duty is to educate his fellowmen, and it is marvellous what may be done with a young intelligent Irishman.

Ninety-nine came out of a hundred, by proper training, the seed of freedom will take place if well sown.

Protestantism and Roman Catholicism are not necessarily antagonistic, it is the practice on either side that counts. Col. Hughes then gave a resume of the initial stages of the Greek and Roman churches. The Roman Church of today represents the autocratic or overbearing system of imperial Rome.

Ninety-nine out of over hundred Protestant churches labor under the delusion that their church is an offshoot of the Roman Catholic Church. This is not so. He then went on to describe the order of the Pope whereby 50,000 objectors to the Church were slain in cold blood. When Cromwell ruled in England, he sent a mandate to the Pope of Rome, and the persecutions ceased. (Applause.)

There is no use in treasoning with a tyrant, there is only one way to touch him, and that is through public opinion. It was not the love of the people that brought the Czar of Russia to his senses last year, but the fear of the people. The Hugenots of France, who were the first settlers in many countries in this continent, but the tyranny of Rome wiped them out. They, however have left their mark. Any standard history of the world show that all the democratic churches of today, trace their origin not to Rome but to the Greek Church. The world has made its greatest progress since the battle of the Boyne, and such victories there is no 100,000 years of ancient history, owing to man being allowed to act according to the dictates of his mind and conscience. Orangemen has done more for civil than religious advancement.

We must stand for our free political as well as civil and religious institutions. The Boys of Derriman and Victoria, led by Rev. Mr. Armour, rallied to the flag in 1837 during the threatened rebellion, and this day have done whenever trouble has before or since threatened the Dominion. There were many good Catholic Canadians in the Canadian troops in South Africa and 1000 out of every 5000 Canadian troops there belonging to the Orange Order. Col. Hughes here illustrated a well told remarks of the battle of 1837 by whatever the "Protestant Boys," said uproarious applause. The speaker then resumed himself as he tried to enroll his train.

The chairman next introduced Mr. Kindred who gave a well rendered vocal solo. The chairman then, in complimentary terms introduced Mr. Hocken, editor of the Orange Sentinel of Toronto.

Mr. Hocken's remarks will be shared with Col. Hughes' remarks about his not having been trained for the pulpit. He had been 25 years in daily newspaper work, and when he succeeded Mr. Clarke he was the editor in a new field. He has noticed a distinct revival in the Orange Order within the past year. Over 5,000 new members joined in Ontario last year, and Toronto contains a membership of 10,000. The speaker then read several passages from the ritual. The organization is not only a religious but a political association. We owe it to William Prince of Orange, that we, today have civil and religious liberty. It is owing to William the Silent, that we owe in great part, our liberty of today. He, as an Orangeman stands today bound by his oath of office to protect his Roman Catholic neighbor in his civil rights. This every Orangeman must do. The Roman Catholic religion and the Roman Catholic policy are two different things.

Michael Davitt, an Irish Roman Catholic points out the difference between the spiritual rule and the political rule of the Roman Catholic Church are wide apart. The Roman Catholic Church has always been fair and tolerantly treated in this Province of Ontario. The separate school system was forced upon this Province by the lower house in 1863. When the law was fostered upon us there were 21 Upper Canadians voted for it, and 31 against it, so that it was forced upon us against a majority in the house of ten members. This shows the influence of the Catholic Church upon the politicians. He compared the proud history of Canada with that of the United States, where murders and divorces were so much prevalent. In France the ultra-Montaine power became so strong as to stifle all religious liberty or freedom of thought. The ultra Montaines today control the politics of Canada. The force we have to fight cannot be met but by organization. We have in Canada a great Protestant element, which without the aid of Orangeism could not meet the wrongs of the Church of Rome, which is always after temporal power. We must organize outside the Protestant churches.

The Orange Order can never equal the secrecy of the Roman Catholic Church. The speaker then went on to say that the positions at every election go about, saying, "Sir, don't say anything that might be objectionable to the Church!" (Applause.)

He does not ask that Orangemen be placed in public office. The Catholics have a system of espionage that is very far reaching. As the time Mr. Massey was head of the Central Prison he never had a day's peace, as the Church watched his every action. He believes that the intelligent element of the Catholic Church, does not agree with the Church's grab for temporal power. The Roman Church is making anarchists and atheists, as exemplified in the recent demonstration in Montreal. He hoped that in this country we will never have a revolution, but the time must come, unless a great change takes place, that this country will see a struggle somewhat similar to the great struggle of '98. He hoped the time will come when, instead of saying, "What will the Church say?" to "What will the Orangemen say." He would up by saying, "The one aim of the Orange Order is to establish civil and religious liberty in Canada." (Great Applause.)

Mr. H. D. Campbell in good voice and clear enunciation gave a patriotic song.

Rev. A. H. Brace then moved a vote of thanks to Col. S. Hughes, Mr. Hockey and the Rev. chairman.

This was seconded amid great applause by Mr. Kindred.

This practically closed this most interesting part of the meeting.

C. P. R. Employees Get Raise.

The Times has it, on reliable information, that the C.P.R. trainmen, who have been asking for an increase in wages, have had their request granted. Just how much the increase is the officials will not say. The raise went into effect Tuesday, and applies to engineers, firemen and train hands.

CAN YOU RESIST DISEASE GERMS?

Yes, and becomes "Germ-proof" by Driving Out Blood Humors and Restoring the System.

Why are doctors and hospitals so busy in spring-time? Easily answered. People haven't made surplus vigor in the spring; it was all used up in fighting off colds through the winter.

With thin blood and low vitality, the germs of disease become active and cause fevers and debility.

Your one protection is to get the abundant vigor that Ferrozone so quickly supplies; it gives spring sickness that "tired feeling," restores nerve energy and invtilie vim and force into every ailing organ of the body.

No ather restorative is known than Ferrozone; its influence is not temporary but lasting, laying a sound foundation of health that lasts till old age.

Mr. Nazaire Begin, of Wattos, P.Q., Que., who received enormous benefit from Ferrozone, writes: "I cannot speak too highly in praise of Ferrozone. If any one had told me that any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I wouldn't have believed it.

"Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health.

"I didn't get enough sleep at night and felt poorly in the day time.

"Ferrozone has filled me up with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Your health through the summer depends on clearing away all traces of spring sickness; the remedy is Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

MYSTERY OF THE EXODUS

One of the mysteries of the day is, why so many of its well-to-do citizens are leaving Ontario. A contemporary notices that farewell parties, addresses and presentations to young men and women leaving for the west are very numerous. These tokens bespeak a worthy class of people, not drones, incapables or never-do-wells. They are among the best the country produces.

The London Free Press asks why do they leave a portion of the Dominion so well favored as Ontario? They cannot expect to make haste more quickly in the North-West except at the sacrifice of good prospects and many personal comforts enjoyed in this Province. If they advance in wealth in the new land, it may be at the price of privation to which their class in the older settled Provinces are strangers. All the same they yield to the "going fever," and the spirit of unrest, which is not an affair of class, but adheres to the young in every sphere of life. Some achieve their desires, others after a season of turmoil and unsatisfied ambition, are well pleased to return to where they started from.

The experience, however, is good for them, although they fail to reach the goal that appeared so luminous and full of promise. Their mental horizon is enlarged, and their conceptions of life broadened in beneficial ways. Moreover these outgoers from Ontario are not lost to Canada. Their allegiance is not transferred to another flag. If the North-West had not been found out and opened up they might have drifted southward in search of the grand elixir, and to swell a population which, man for man, is no better off, if as well.

But it is curious to reflect that a land so rich in every element of potential wealth, as Ontario is, where the soil is fertile and its products are near to the most profitable markets, where mines are opening up the promise of enormous wealth, should be forsaken by the flower of its population for what may prove only the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow. The mystery is that the hardy, industrious and enterprising do not appreciate to a greater extent than is seen, the opportunities which lie inviting right here in older Ontario, where, as Prof. Barr lately remarked at an agricultural meeting, dairy farming is better than gold mining, but where dairy farming is only a part of the business yielding good profit to the habit of thrift.

A MODERN MIRACLE

The Inventor's Wit Has Now Overcome Perpendicular Distance.

This issue of The Times is rendered even more interesting than usual by containing an illustrated account of what may truly be termed an up-to-date miracle.

For many years the intelligence and closely applied study of many of the master inventors have been devoted to the problem of finding ways and means whereby to overcome the difficulty and danger heretofore incumbent on working at great heights.

One often reads of the Staple-Jacks whose wonderful skill and daring have enabled lofty structures such as church steeples, factory chimneys, flag poles, etc., to be repaired or painted. Again one frequently hears of the valor displayed by intrepid firemen, who, taking their lives in their hands, save life and property at great distances above the street levels.

Whilst admiring the courage displayed by such men, one cannot but regret the necessity for such exposure to danger of human life.

By the completion of what must rank among the most typical triumphs of modern ingenuity, the Fleming Aerial Ladder, all such risk of life and limb are eliminated from work requiring the actual presence of men at a great height. This almost miraculous invention, which will enable firemen, painters or mechanics of any class to work at dizzy heights as safely as though upon terra firma, will be hailed with joy not only by those who will use it in person, but by those who, having work of the above noted character to be done, can save time and expense by its employment.

Take the case of a local building recently destroyed by fire, the American Cereal Company's mill, since rebuilt: the use of the Fleming Aerial Ladder would have enabled our firemen to take their appliances to the tenth story and thus to have extinguished the flames forthwith.

The illustrations in this issue show the manifold uses to which the Aerial Ladder may be put to better than words could explain.

The machine is constructed with expansible standards, composed of sides, formed by a series of cross bars pivotally connected together at their point of intersection, connecting bars between the ends of the cross bars, and means of adjusting the height of the standard. A platform at the top of the standard for carrying up any load required. The power for lifting is compressed air or fluid of any kind stored in the tank, and forced into the telescopes which force up the top platform and opens up the expansible arms. A great feature, as regards general utility under varying conditions of requirement, is that the top platform not only revolves, but is furnished with two expansible rolling platforms, which can be extended to a distance of 40 feet on either or both sides, thus enabling those at work to apply their energies to either or both sides of the street.

In view of the wide sphere of utility of this wonderful yet practical machine, its use must at once be seen and taken advantage of in every city of the world, by firemen, builders, painters and other people working at great heights.

The future of the Fleming Aerial Ladder is certain and those fortunate enough to secure stock in the company now being formed to manufacture and place these ladders on the world's markets, will reap fortunes as surely as did those getting in on the ground floor of the Bell Telephone Co. The shares now being sold at $10 each, in all human probability will before perhaps four years be worth $50 each. For full particulars as to stock apply to W. Kelsey Hall, Fiscal Agent, Peterboro, or to The Fleming Aerial Ladder Co., 16 Yonge Street Arcade, Toronto.

MISS DELLA STROEBE
Rural Route No 1, APPLETON, WIS

Miss Della Stroebe, Rural Route No. 1, Appleton, Wis., writes: "For several years I was in a run-down condition, and I could find no relief from doctors nor medicines.

"I could not enjoy my meals and could not sleep at night. I had heavy dark circles about the eyes.

"My friends were much alarmed. I was advised to give Peruna a trial and to my joy I began to improve with the first bottle. After taking six bottles I felt completely cured. I cannot say too much for Peruna as a medicine for women in a run-down condition."—Della Stroebe.

Mrs. F. W. Hoffman, 601 North 6th street, Kansas City, Kans., writes: "For eight months I suffered with bearing down pain—dizziness, and wretched headaches. The doctors called it by different names, but all agreed that I had female trouble, which was really the cause of my illness.

"They prescribed for me, and I took their medicines, but kept getting worse, until a friend told me I would never get well until I took Peruna.

"Within a week after I started to take it I felt much better and I continued taking it for two months with almost marvelous results.

"I am without an ache or pain, feel ten years younger, and feel that I owe my life and happiness to Peruna."—W. F. Hoffman.

"The doctor insisted on an operation as the only chance to get well, but I had always dreaded an operation and strongly objected.

"My husband felt disheartened as well as I, and when a friendly druggist advised him to bring me a bottle of Peruna he did so, and I started to use it.

"In a short time my health began to increase, and my aches and pains diminished. Within eighteen weeks I was like another being, in splendid health.

"Words fail me when I try to tell you how glad and grateful I am."—E. M. Merald.

"I had headaches, pains in the back and frequent dizzy spells, which grew worse every month.

"I tried two remedies before Peruna, and was pretty discouraged when I took the first dose; but my courage soon returned as I could see that I was being benefited, and in less than two months my health was restored."—M. Brickner.

LITTLE DORRIT'S ORIGINAL.

Lovers of Dickens' May Be Interested to Know That "Little Dorrit" Is Still In Land of Living.

The crypt of the Church of St. George the Martyr, Southwark, so closely associated with Dickens, is "to let" for storage purposes, and passers-by who read the notice are reminded at once of "Little Dorrit."

The original of the character is still alive in the person of Mrs. Cooper, who, as Mary Ann Mitton, was a playmate of Dickens and the sister of his closest school companion, has lived at Southgate for more than half a century. Although more than 90 years of age, she is still in full possession of all her faculties, and takes an outdoor walk every fine day.

In a conversation Mrs. Cooper showed how keen a pleasure it affords her to talk of the far-away times when as a girl she attended St. Pancras Church with "Charles," and of the visits afterwards paid by him to Manor Farm, Sunbury, where the Mittons lived later.

Of the boy Dickens she retains the fondest recollections. One of her quaintest anecdotes tells how as a girl she teased him about his future wife.

He declared that she must possess an intellectuality which would qualify her to take a keen interest in his work, and when the girl remarked, "Then I wouldn't do for that, Charles," he agreed. "No, Dorrit, you wouldn't do for that."

How keen an interest both she and her brother took in the young writer's work is shown from the tales she tells of how "Charles" used to bring his manuscript and read it aloud to them. "If we thought anything was not quite as it ought to be, we would tell him straight: 'No, no, Charles, that won't do at all,'" Mrs. Cooper would say.

Of Dickens, the man, the old lady says: "There never was such a man. He was so gentle and kindly to every one, and clever, for he never really had much education; but he had a natural gift for noticing things and describing them."

The old lady has still in her possession many relics of these old days, notably part of the bed upon which Dickens slept when he used to visit her brother during holidays at Sunbury. She is proud also of having received many letters from the great novelist in his younger days.

She dearly loves to tell of the trouble she used to get into in the early days of young Dickens' sojourn in Camden Town (Mrs. Cooper was born in Hatton Garden), when, instead of returning straight home after the service at St. Pancras Church, she used to listen to Charles' persuasions, and go to see the "beadle in his gorgeous dress," or some such other wonder of childhood.

Speaking of the life at Sunbury, she said: "You could always find Charles lying out among the hay, absorbed in some book."

Mrs. Cooper often pays a visit to London, and she told her visitor that next week she intended, weather permitting, to do a little shopping in the city.

How few of the passers-by in the busy streets will recognize the little white-haired old lady as the original "Little Dorrit."

NEW ZEALAND PENSIONS.

Ninety Dollars a Year is the Maximum For Old Age.

New Zealand looks after its old folks. Every person of 65 years and upward who has lived for twenty-five years in the colony, has enjoyed a tolerably good character during that period, and led a sober respectable life for at least five years past, is entitled to an old-age pension of the state funds. It is provided, however, that no pension can be awarded where the income from other sources exceeds $260 a year, or where the applicant has more than $1,360 worth of property. Asiatics and other aliens are ineligible. Wives draw a pension as well as their husbands, provided the total income of the household does not exceed $390 a year. The full State pension is $90 a year, but $5 is deducted from every $5 of income over $170 derived from other sources. Thus a pensioner with $260 a year income would draw $60 as his old age pension. The system has been in operation seven years, and the number of pensions in force is close on 12,000, involving an annual payment of over $1,000,000. Last year the pensioners included four centenarians, two of whom were 103 years old. The pension is paid on the first day of every month, through the postal department.

Poor is a Farmer.

That a scientist who is also a peer can at the same time be a good business man is proved in the case of Lord Rayleigh. Lord Rayleigh is one of the greatest scientists of the day. He was senior wrangler and professor of experimental physics at Cambridge; is a professor of natural philosophy and has innumerable decorations and scholarships in addition he is a good business man. He owns a large estate, Terling Place, near Witham, Essex, England, and this he has converted into a huge dairy farm, from which he supplies the three stores he runs in London under the name of "Lord Rayleigh's Dairies."

His profits from this source are very large. Lord Rayleigh is a brother-in-law of the Hon. A. J. Balfour, and is staying with him at Carlton Gardens in the house which Ambassador Choate once occupied. Lord Rayleigh married Miss Evelyn Balfour, a sister of the former Premier.

WHERE ENOCH WAS AHEAD

Modern Arden Gave Up His Forsaken Wife For $50 and Kept Away.

During a lull in the conversation that five or six of us were holding in the smoking car an oldish man leaned forward and inquired of the man who was talking at the time:

"Didn't I hear you mention the town of Bloomingdale when I first came in here?"

"Yes, sir," was the reply. "Yes, I live at Bloomingdale."

"Glad to know it," continued the other. "I used to live there, too, but my wife hit me a crack with the poker one day and I got up and walked off and am just returning after an absence of ten years. I'm playing the Enoch Arden business, you know, and the old woman will jump a foot high when she sees me."

"Who was your wife?" asked the other in careless tones.

"Hanner Bliss, sir. Mebbe you know her—tall woman—squint eyes—long chin—peaked nose—voice like a file."

"Great Scott," exclaimed the man, "but you don't mean to tell me that the Widder Bliss was your wife! Why, she thought you dead years ago."

"Has she married again?"

"She has. The papers said you were killed in Indiana, and, after wearing mourning for a year, she married me."

"Waal," chuckled the first husband, "here I am, alive and kicking and purty healthy for an Enoch Arden. So Hanner married you, eh? Does she break out in sudden fits like she used to?"

"Say, man, this is awful!" said husband No. 2 as the sweat began to ooze out on his forehead.

"Oh, I don't see anything to get excited about. Enoch Arden didn't get a cent after skipping out and coming back, but that's where I differ with him. If you and Hanner are taking comfort and you have $50 to spare, I'll drop off at the next station and let you alone, although I'd kinder like to get square with her for that crack on the head. I couldn't get a fine comb through my hair for 'leven weeks after I left home."

The man from Bloomingdale brightened up immediately and counted out the money, and as the other shoved it into his pocket and started for the door he remarked:

"Enoch Arden is satisfied, stranger, and he hopes you are. Goodby to you—goodby to all, and let Hanner continue to imagine that I fill an unknown grave and feel sorry to think she can't plant sunflowers above me."—Philadelphia Press.

Why the Jury Acquitted Pat.

An Irishman was arrested for stealing a piece of pork. The evidence was all against him, and everybody present expected that he would be convicted. When the jury came back the verdict was not guilty.

The judge was angry.

"You scoundrel," he said, "just as sure as I'm sitting here I know you are guilty, but I can't do otherwise than as the jury says."

His own lawyer, who had given up the case, said to him:

"Tell me, Pat, how you got off scot free when I know you stole that pork?"

"Well, ye see, sorr," said Pat, "each man in the jury had a payce o' the porruk."—Judge's Magazine of Fun.

A Necessary Utensil.

"I thought they buried the hatchet?"

"Well, so they did, but the very next time Mrs. Jones had to chop the kindling she dug it up."—Puck.

Not Disinterested.

"Well, they oughter," growled Uncle Goshall Hemlock. "It gets 'em tourists enough."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Looked the Same to Him.

A well-known author, who was recently exploring a remote part of the east end of London, found himself beset by the pangs of hunger. Entering a small restaurant of somewhat doubtful aspect, he ordered a mutton chop. The waiter after a long delay returned bearing a plate on which reposed a dab of mashed potatoes and a much overdone chop of microscopic proportions and with a remarkably long and slender rib attached. Clapping this down briskly before the famished author, the waiter started off to attend to another customer without further ceremony.

"I say," shouted the author, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes, sir," answered the man; "there it is."

"Oh, beg pardon—that's true," returned the author, peering at it closely. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."—Pearson's Weekly.

Vicar's Opportunity.

A country clergyman who called on an influential neighbor, and being shown in by mistake, was amazed when twenty ladies came into the drawing-room from luncheon all in evening dress. They had come so dressed intending to play bridge all the afternoon, dine without going home, and play on all the evening into the small hours. The worthy vicar grasped the situation and at once asked for a subscription, which the hostess gave in order to get rid of him.—Vanity Fair.

WISDOM OF THE BRAHMIN.

Be that which is past no longer thy concern.
But see thou dost the things which still thou hast to learn.

If thou resign thyself at what thou canst not change,
Thou wilt gain strength for that which is still new and strange.

My perfect fellow-men I'd view with sore dismay;
They would be dull, indeed, and often in the way.

But natural and frank, and somewhat narrow, too;
Not morbidly inclined, nor bent with grief and rue

Thus would I ask of life to show them unto me;
Thus in the books I read would I my neighbors see.

If life brings to my view men made of different clay,
That ill books with such I promptly put away.

Adapt thyself unto the world, and it will send Thee many things to cheer thy pathway to the end.

—Westminster Gazette.

CARDIFF'S SEA DOCK.

Work Is Now Completed That Makes It a Great Sea Port.

The new deep sea dock at Cardiff, England, said to be the greatest work of its kind in the world, has now been completed. It occupies 34 acres, exclusive of the space allotted for two big dry docks to be constructed in conjunction with it. It is 2,550 feet, or nearly half a mile, in length, 800 to 1,000 feet in width and 50 feet in depth, being intended to accommodate the largest vessels afloat at almost any state of the tide. There is a communicating passage connecting it with the Roath dock, where the bulk of the steam coal, which forms such a heavy export item, is shipped, and to aid the work of shipment there is a series of giant cranes, unique in their mechanism. Each machine is capable of dealing with 16 tons at a single operation, and the coal can be shipped with a fall not exceeding a foot—an important point in view of the extreme brittleness in the value of coal caused by breaking up. On these cranes alone a sum of $500,000 will be expended. The commercial importance of Cardiff has grown enormously during the past half century. The first dock was constructed in 1839. Thirteen years later the exports and imports had reached a total of 1,051,739 tons. A second dock was opened in 1859, and in that year the figures rose to 1,586,773 tons. With the coming of the Roath dock in 1887 the total reached 8,893,832 tons. In 1905 these figures were 10,-189,831 tons, including exports of 8,-065,839 tons. Arrangements are already being made for the establishment of several new and important lines of steamers between Cardiff and Canada in the near future.

LIVE ON FOURPENCE A DAY.

Four London Men Are to Experiment For Three Months.

There are four men who have agreed to try the experiment of living for three months on the fruitarian diet advocated by Dr. Joseph Oldfield in London, England. The home in which they will live is well situated and roomy. The men will have the use of a pleasant common room for their clerical work and recreation, a comfortable refectory for their meals, and simply furnished, well ventilated bedrooms.

For three months they will lead the simple life. They will get up at seven, and after prayers they will be busy with the necessary domestic work till 9.30, when breakfast will be taken.

During the morning they will be engaged in manual work in the open air, the first days being devoted to improving the garden of the house, and at 1.30 will come to dinner.

The afternoon will be devoted to indoor work of various descriptions. Six o'clock is tea time, and then two hours of rest and recreation will bring them to supper at eight and bed at nine.

Cleanliness is naturally a necessary condition of success, and hot and cold baths will be regularly taken. No alcohol and no tobacco allowed under any circumstances to be taken into the house.

It may be repeated that each of the four men has agreed not to leave the house and its grounds for twelve weeks, and the object of the experiment is to endeavor to prove whether four men of varying ages and varying histories can live satisfactorily at a gross cost for food of fourpence per day per man.

The Laird's Invitation.

The Duke of Hamilton had invited one of his neighbors, a plain-spoken laird, to stop at the palace for luncheon after the conclusion of a business transaction.

The laird was not used to the luxuries of life, and watched with an impatient eye the fittings about of a liveried servant, who seemed to be everywhere at once, anticipating the laird's wants in a way that struck the rustic as positively uncanny.

At last the guest turned deliberately about in his chair and addressed the servant in a tone of considerable irritation.

"What are ye dance, dance, dancing about the room for, man?" he demanded. "Can ye no draw in your chair and sit doon? I'm sure there's enough on the table for three."

Some English Bulls.

Sir Harry Samuel, a Unionist candidate for Parliament, is the author of this bull: "The legislative garden of the Liberals," he said, 'is an arid swamp." If such a Parliamentary authority as Mr. Gladstone said, "It is no use for the honorable member to shake his head in the teeth of his own words," lesser lights who blunder in the political arena have no reason to be ashamed. Mr. Balfour once spoke of "an empty theatre of unsympathetic auditors," and Lord Curzon congratulated his party on the circumstance that, "though not out of the wood, we have a good ship."—London Chronicle.

Important Judgement Rendered in Toronto by Three Learned Men.

Toronto, May 4.—A judgment which would seem to have a significance for trade unions throughout Canada has been delivered by the divisional court and signed by Chancellor Boyd, Mr. Justice Magee and Mr. Justice Meredith. It dismissed with costs an appeal entered by Local Union No. 30 Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers against a judgment given by Judge McMahon, awarding $7,540 and costs to the Toronto Metallic Roofing Company.

The company was embarrassed in its business some two or three years ago by a boycott of the members of the union consequent on a disagreement as to an open and closed shop. As the union was not a corporate body the officers were sued by the company which got judgment. The union then appealed and the case has been in the courts ever since. Their lordships find that boycotting is illegal.

Denied the Only Shade.

It was a broiling-hot day in the park, and those walking therein were well nigh exhausted, when a very stout old lady came bustling along one of the paths, closely followed by a rough looking tramp. Twice she commanded him to leave her, but still he followed just behind. At last the old lady, quite disgusted, turned angrily around and said:

"Look here, my man, if you don't go away I shall call a policeman."

The poor fellow looked up at her with a tear in his eye and then remarked:

"For goodness' sake, mum, have mercy and don't call a policeman, for you're the only shady spot in the park."—Judge's Magazine of Fun.

This cut shows how the Fleming Aerial Ladder will look out of action, ready to be housed, and the construction of the same from a side view. It will be noticed that the arms are collapsible, and they can be made any length to go any desired height. In the centre of the machine there are telescopes which are supplied with compressed air from a tank in the rear of the machine. There are four worm-screws underneath that are turned by a crank to lock the machine and assist it in raising. The top will revolve in any direction. It will be 7x9 in size for men to stand on. It will have an extension bridge on both ends that can be thrown out 40 feet. The men mount on the top platform, and are carried up with hose, and all apparatus ready for action. To invest in necessities is the sure way to get rich. This is an old saying and a true one. The Fleming Aerial Ladder is a necessity and it is almost impossible to find a more profitable investment.

THE FLEMING AERIAL LADDER

One of the greatest inventions ever conceived by man is the Fleming Aerial Ladder. It is a remarkable improvement on aerial ladders and lifts, and is the only one of its kind known in the world today that promises to accomplish so much and be of such universal benefit in ascensions to any desired height in fighting fires, rescuing life, carrying weights and generally of supreme utility. It has been found, through the patent offices of different countries, that inventors have been working and experimenting since 1849, and millions of dollars have been spent trying to perfect what has now been accomplished. The machine is constructed with expansible standards, composed of sides, formed by a series of cross bars pivotally connected together at their point of intersection, connecting bars between the ends of the crossbars and means of adjusting the height of the standard. A platform at the top of the standard for carrying up any load required. The power for lifting is compressed air, or fluid of any kind, stored in the tank and forced into the telescopes, which force up the top platform and opens up the expansible arms. Four worm-screws work in conjunction with the compressed air at the bottom, and as it ascends upwards these worm-screws lock and hold the ladder where desired.

The platform at the top revolves and can be turned in any direction, with two expansible rolling platforms that can be extended out 40 feet on each side if desired, making a revolving bridge. When the machine stands in the middle of the street with the bridges extended communication can be had between the buildings on both sides of the street. The bottom is so constructed that the machine can be levelled in an instant upon arriving at place required.

Two of the strongest and cheapest known powers are used to elevate to any desired height, compressed air and worm-screws.

This machine is capable of ascending at the rate of 40 feet per second, but so constructed as to go quickly or slowly as desired, it being under perfect control at all times, one man being able to raise or lower it without any exertion.

The illustrations to be seen in this paper show the usefulness and the great necessity there is in the world at the present day for this Aerial Ladder. It will be the means of saving money, time and labor, and also life. There are many other ways in which it may be used that we have not attempted to illustrate here, but its usefulness makes it a necessity in any and every civilized country. It is the ambition of the present generation, in all countries and continents, to attain a higher height than the other in observation towers and buildings. At present the Eiffel Tower in Paris, is the highest standing erection, being 985 feet. The Fleming Ladder is shown in the illustration at a height of 1950 feet.

This machine is so constructed and supported by guy-wires that, as the machine ascends, the guy-wires are released to go with it, never loosing their hold at any time, and the same thing occurs when the ladder descends; the wires work in connection with the worm-screws and can only travel and do their work according to the raising and lowering of the ladder, so at all heights the ladder is perfectly firm and absolutely safe.

The illustrations show the ladder in use from 70 feet in height up to 1750 feet. In the 1250 feet tower we will have an observatory with palm room and cafe, which will have a seating capacity for a large number of people; each person will be supplied with strong magnifying glasses. The observatory will be revolving, enabling people to see in all directions; at night it will serve as an illuminating tower, lighted with thousands of electric lights of all colors from top to bottom, and strong search lights shooting out from the four sides will enable a view for a great distance.

The machine exhibited at the Toronto Exhibition, September 1905, was commended by hundreds of firemen and thousands of people from all over the world. The history of this enterprise, giving an infinitely varied character of its uses, should be of unfailing interest to everybody.

If you are looking for a good investment, here is your opportunity; to invest in necessities is the sure way to get rich, and here is the article, the Fleming Aerial Ladder, that once shown to the world, they cannot do without; so be a safe and sane investor and get as much of this stock as your means will allow; it will pay you a life income in handsome dividends, giving you an income for life better than a salary. Rather reap the dividends from a successful enterprise than reap the regrets of a lost opportunity.

Here is the opportunity to make money; a safer and surer investment cannot be found; the means of getting rich with little or no exertion, for every dollar you invest in this ladder will reward you handsomely, so do not delay, buy your shares now before they raise in price, as a short time hence you may have to pay double for the same shares.

WONDERFUL AERIAL LADDER.

One of the greatest inventions of the age is the large working model of the Fleming Aerial Ladder, on exhibition in the Implement Building. This device is far in advance of anything heretofore attempted, and the future for it is assured. Inventive genius has reached a remarkable state of perfection in this appliance, the ladder at once impressing one with its simplicity, completeness and perfection. This striking device is mounted on a wagon, and owing to its marvelous construction is much more portable than most of the fire-fighting appliances of today. On arriving at fire the firemen mount a circular platform eight by ten feet in diameter placed above the ladder, which, when folded, only reaches a few feet from the ground. They can be raised to a height of 150 feet in five seconds owing to the use of compressed air and a worm-screw, two of the most powerful forces known. As the platform rises it provides its own foundation by means of telescoping tubes and a folding frame work. From the platform two steel bridges can be thrown out, forming a complete suspension bridge, reaching from one side of the street to the other. The platform revolves and forms an ideal location from which to fight the flames. When occasion arises the whole may be covered with a fireproof asbestos tent, with loop holes, through which the fire-fighters may carry on their work. As fast as people are rescued they are allowed to regain the bridge or descend to the ground by means of rope ladders. The whole is of inestimable value in fighting flames or saving lives. The stock is selling fast at $10 per share, and can be obtained at the office, 52 Yonge Street Arcade.—The World, Sept. 7th, 1905.

A WONDERFUL AERIAL.

"That's really a wonderful thing,—remarked Mayor Urquhart yesterday afternoon, after critically examining the Fleming Aerial Ladder exhibited by Mr. R. Fleming, in the Implement building.

The News reporter arrived on the scene just as His Worship was inspecting the machine. The Mayor ascertained that the smaller size of this Aerial could be used to wash windows, pick fruit, paint the house or fix the eavetroughs. In its larger size it is the best thing ever invented for carrying hose and firemen and saving lives at a fire. The patented principle of the aerial in the ladder, which shoots up in the air by the application of a simple crank.—The News, Sept. 5th, 1905.

FLEMING AERIAL LADDER.

"Whose idea?" queried an aged Chicago fire-fighter pointing at the model of the Fleming Aerial Ladder in the Machinery Hall.

"A. W. Shaw," was the reply of Mr. Robert Fleming. "The idea came to him while watching Toronto's twelve million dollar fire."

"Well, if it cost Toronto twelve millions to produce that idea it will save thousands of lives and billions of dollars of property. Its the best thing I ever saw."

Like all valuable inventions, the Fleming Aerial Ladder is simple in idea and operation. It consists merely of a twin replica in steel of the old extension hat-rack idea. It is a folding tower of steel with a platform from which the firemen work. From its station in the centre of the street the men on the top of the tower may operate extension bridges both ways to open up avenues of rescue for imperiled human beings, or to facilitate the work of fighting the flames. This tower may be erected 150 feet in five seconds, while the best aerial tower time for half the distance is nearly three minutes. The tower may also be put to many purely commercial uses. From it high towers may be painted, chimneys built, observations taken, and wireless messages received.

The Canadian rights for the invention have been sold and a stock company formed for the manufacture of the aerial ladder in all its forms. Those who want to get in on the ground floor in this company should communicate with the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co. The model fire ladder, which has been critically examined during the Fair by hundreds of mechanical experts, was built by the Wells Pattern Co., of Richmond Street East. The practicability of the idea in any feature has never yet been successfully criticised.—Star, Sept. 6th, 1905.

This is a view showing how the Fleming Aerial Ladder will fight fire at fourteen stories, and also rescue people and lower them by wire baskets. There are always folded up underneath the platform, six of these wire ladders which can be dropped in an instant, also three canvas bag chutes that can be dropped, and put in use at any time an emergency arises. If you are looking for a good investment, there is the article, the Fleming Aerial Ladder, that once shown to the world, they cannot do without. So be a safe and sane investor, and get as much of this stock as your means will allow. It will pay you a life income in handsome dividends. ### A TRIUMPH OF INVENTION.

Of all the manifold products of inventive genius seen at the Fair, not one can have a brighter or more assured future than the Fleming Aerial Ladder, a large working model of which is to be seen in Implement Hall. This marvellous device consists of a wagon, bearing a huge extension ladder, the latter being surmounted by a circular platform. In fire-fighting the firemen mount this ladder, and by the use of two powerful forces, are hoisted 150 feet in five seconds. From the circular platform two steel bridges may be extended, making a complete bridge from one side of the street to the other, a contrivance of inestimable value in fighting flames or saving life. The ladder may be placed to many other uses, which will at once suggest themselves. The stock of the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co., Limited, is now on the market at $10.00 per share, and should be eagerly taken up as a safe and profitable investment.—Mail and Empire, 6th Sept., 1905.

RISTED UP WITH SAFETY.

Nothing on the Fair grounds has attracted more attention than the aerial truck in the Agricultural Building. Builders, contractors, firemen and those who want to reach high places in safety should see the aerial truck.—Globe.

REAL FIRE-FIGHTING INVENTION.

"Why didn't you think of that before the big Toronto fire?" asked a visitor who inspected the Fleming Aerial Ladder in the Implement Building yesterday, and gave expression to wonder at such a remarkable invention. There is no limit to its utility. Shares in the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co. are having a ready sale at their offices, 52 Yonge Street Arcade. Buy now.—Globe, Sept. 6th.

A WONDERFUL AERIAL LADDER.

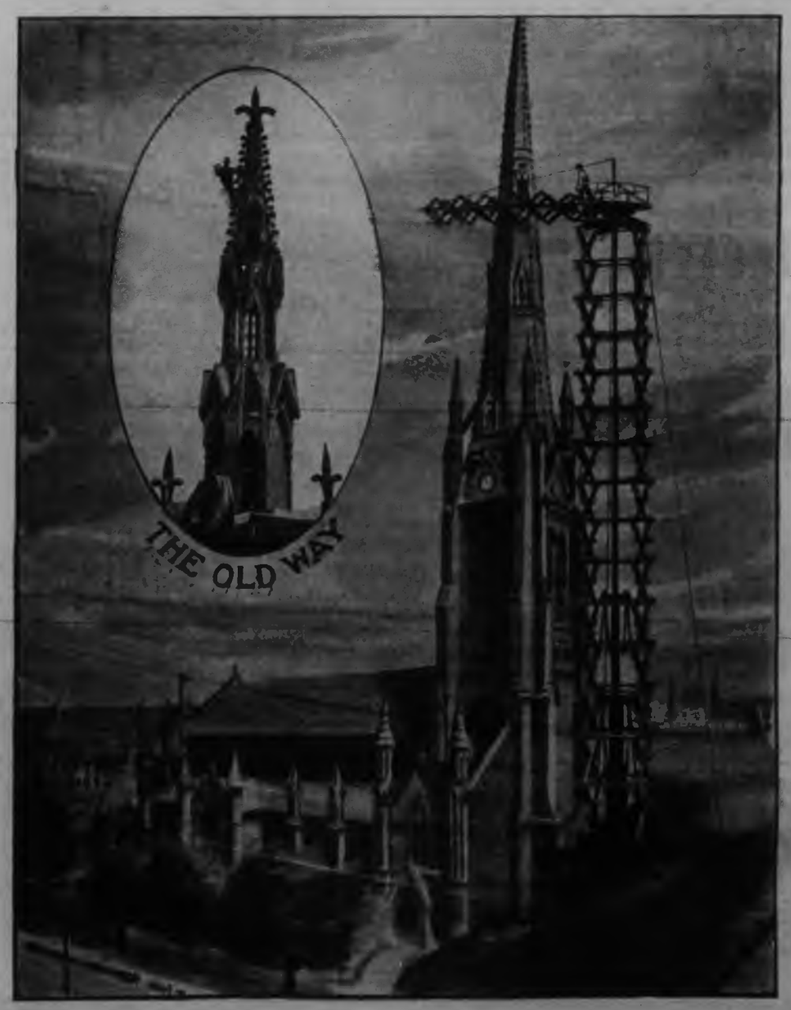
An invention which bids fair to revolutionize modern fire-fighting methods is the Fleming Aerial Ladder, a working model of which is shown in Implement Hall. Since the Fair opened the model has been inspected by Mayor Urquhart, and a party of fire chiefs from the United States, and Canadian firemen and thousands of visitors, and it is a significant fact that not one of these has been able to point out a tangible objection or suggest an improvement. The ladder will not only be invaluable in fire-fighting and life-saving, but can be used as an observation tower, as a wireless telegraph station, or as a platform in painting high buildings and steeples. The Fleming Aerial Ladder Company's stock, just placed on the market, is being eagerly taken up by shrewd investors, who realize its opportunities for immense profits.—Mail, Sept. 7th, 1905.

See page six for Stock Coupon and further particulars.

This is the greatest life saver and fire fighter in the world today, and is a necessity in every civilized country. A splendid opportunity is afforded every one to make money—by purchasing stock in the Fleming Aerial Ladder—as it promises to be one of the greatest money makers on the market today. $10.00 per share, and they are going fast, so be one of the fortunate ones, and secure as much of this stock as your means will allow.



This shows how the Fleming Aerial Ladder, extended, will enable the painting and repairing of church spires, and also shows the old way. Opportunity knocks but once, do not miss this one, for by investing your money in the Fleming Aerial Ladder, you are sure to reap large profits, as it can be used for so many purposes.

This is a view showing how the Fleming Aerial Ladder, standing in the middle of an auditorium, will enable men to paint and decorate ceilings [illegible] It is found to bring large profits; no anxiety as to its prospects, you see for yourself in these illustrations, that each and every way it is used, fortunes can be made, and every share you buy is sure to pay you handsome dividends.

The Water Powers of The Dominion

The question of water powers has come up prominently for discussion in the Dominion House of Commons. It was brought up by Mr. Monck, local leader of the Conservatives in the Province of Quebec, and had the promise of careful consideration of Premier Laurier and Hon. C. S. Hyman, Minister of Public Works. It was conceded that Canada had more water power available for utilization in industry than any other country in the world; and that, therefore, a policy of conservation and development was of the utmost importance in the future. It has been suggested that the geological survey at Ottawa should take the matter in hand and after careful investigation of our resources in this respect make reports in a manner similar to the reports upon the mineral resources of the country. Of course, there is the question of jurisdiction to consider. The Provinces evidently have the power to deal with all the phases of water power excepting when electricity is exported outside of their limits, when it comes within the jurisdiction of the Dominion. That is to say, the Dominion has to do with the regulation of the export. It is claimed that when a water power exists on a navigable river it belongs to the Dominion, but as a river cannot be said to be navigable where falls occur, it is doubtful whether the contention will hold. However, that does not in the least affect the question of the geological survey reporting on the water powers which exist, as a matter of information for the whole of the Dominion, and with the same object in view as have the reports in connection with mineral deposits and mineral formations. It is most important that we have full information upon the subject. Under modern conditions, which make the production of electricity the main factor in industrial operations, it follows that the country with the greatest water power for that purpose must eventually become the greatest manufacturing country in the world. The Niagara Falls and the St. Lawrence River have great potentialities in power but these are only two out of hundreds of rivers, less in magnitude. It is true but with immense driving power nevertheless. Don't let us forget that in British Columbia we have a considerable asset in water power.

C. P. R. Employees Get Raise.

The Times has it, on reliable information, that the C.P.R. trainmen, who have been asking for an increase in wages, have had their request granted. Just how much the increase is the officials will not say. The raise went into effect Tuesday, and applies to engineers, firemen and train hands.

Often-times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

This is a view of the Fleming Aerial Ladder, when extended, showing painters at work with seventy feet platform to work on. It can be lowered and raised as they desire. Here is the means of getting rich with little or no exertion, for every dollar you invest in this ladder will reward you handsomely, so do not delay. Buy your shares now before they rise in price, as a short time hence you may have to pay double for the same shares. Rather reap the dividends from a successful enterprise than reap the regrets of a lost opportunity.

LORD OF AGRICULTURE

MINISTER LORD CARRINGTON IN THE BRITISH CABINET.

Derives His Income, Estimated at $500,000 a Year, Exclusively From Land, and Does Not Own a Single Share of Stock or Bond of Any Sort Whatever—One of King's Oldest Personal Friends.

No more appropriate appointment could possibly have been made in the Liberal Administration in England than that of Lord Carrington to the post of Minister of Agriculture, writes the Marquise de Fontenoy. For perhaps alone among the members of the House of Lords, he derives his income exclusively from land, that is to say, from agriculture, and was able to boast the other day at the banquet of the Farmers' Club at Whitehall Court that he did not own a single share of stock or bond of any kind whatsoever, an extraordinary condition of affairs when it is borne in mind that he is a rich man and that his annual income is rated at considerably over $500,000.

His appointment must also be extremely agreeable to the royal family. For he is one of the oldest personal friends of King Edward, and in their younger days they were almost constantly in each other's company. He is descended from the same stock as Lord Pauncefote—namely: from Abel Smith, the Nottingham banker, who flourished at the beginning of the eighteenth century. Abel had three sons of whom the first was George, who was created a baronet and whose eldest son and namesake assumed the name of Bromley in lieu of Smith, his descendant, the present holder of the baronetcy, being Sir Robert Bromley, married to the late Lord Pauncefote's daughter Lilian.

Abel Smith's second son, John, was the ancestor of the late Lord Pauncefote. The third son of Abel bore the same name and had a son of his own named Robert, who was the friend and banker of the famous Prime Minister Pitt, and for whom the latter secured, with a good deal of difficulty, a peerage from George III., the latter manifesting an invincible objection to raising "any one in trade" to the House of Lords. Pitt was of a different opinion. He held that any man of good repute, possessed of an income of $100,000 a year, derived from entailed landed property, was, ipso facto, entitled to a peerage, and he had his way.

Pitt's friend selected as his title that of Lord Carrington, and his son, following the example of the other descendants of the original Abel Smith, secured leave from the Crown to change his patronymic from Smith to Carrington.

The present Lord Carrington was one of the few cronies of King Edward of whom his mother, the late Queen, was extremely fond, and she bestowed upon him many marks of favor, promoting him from a baronetcy to an earldom, and appointing him to all sorts of offices, including those of captain of the corps of the gentlemen-at-arms, governor of the colony of New South Wales, and Lord Chamberlain. It was while holding the latter office that Lord Carrington, in fulfilling his duties as censor of the drama, had his memorable encounter with Fay Templeton on the subject of her costume, when she was appearing at the Gayety theatre in London.

Sixty-three, bespectacled, and most benevolent looking, it is difficult to represent to oneself that Lord Carrington was forty years ago the associate of his equally gray-haired sovereign in many a wild freak and harum-scarum prank, and that he was the principal actor in one of the most sensational horse-whipping scandals of the nineteenth century. The castigation was administered to Grenville Murray, former diplomat, author, and journalist, for holding up the earl to ridicule and obloquy, under the pseudonym of "Bob Carrington, Lord Jarvey," in a weekly newspaper of the society order entitled the Queen's Messenger.

Grenville Murray, who received a terrible drubbing, brought suit against Lord Carrington for assault and secured the imposition of a fine of $500. But during the course of the legal proceedings he was unfortunate enough to swear to something that was not true, and thereupon Lord Carrington proceeded against him for perjury. To escape the consequences of a certain conviction Murray fled to France, where he remained an exile from his native land until his death.

Grenville Murray was understood to be a natural son of Lord Palmerston, who was his protector as long as he lived, and who certainly gave him his first appointment in the diplomatic service. He wrote a number of books, of which the best known are "The Member for Paris," and "Sidelights of English Society," which latter is of the most frivolous description and long since out of print. He collaborated from Paris with Edmund Yates in starting the London weekly, World, and died under a Spanish name and title of count which he had obtained through his marriage late in life with a Spanish countess in her own right, that is to say, the eldest daughter and heiress of a Spanish grandee, who had no sons.

Lord Carrington is married to a daughter of Lord Suffield, the favorite lord-in-waiting of the King and the oldest member of his household, and has a younger brother, Col. Sir William Carrington, who is the controller of the household of the Prince of Wales. Sir William Carrington, who was also assistant private secretary and equerry to the late Queen, has an American wife, a daughter of the late Francis Weber.

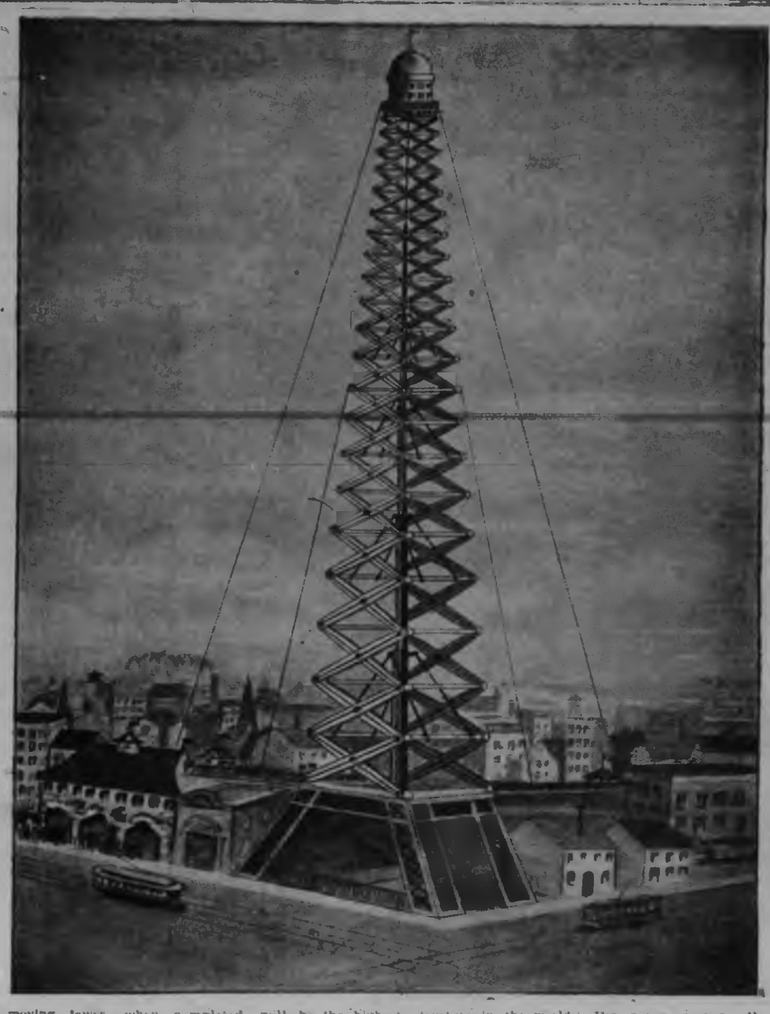
One of the quaintest duties which Sir William has had to perform has been to direct the operations of the party composed of yeomen of the guard in their quaint mediæval uniforms, and of modern garbed policemen, who on the night before the opening of Parliament search the vaults and cellars beneath the Houses of Lords and the House of Commons. This is more of a historical ceremony than a measure of precaution, and it dates back to the day of King James I. and of the gunpowder plot. It is scarcely necessary to relate here the time-honored story of how Guy Fawkes was discovered on Nov. 6, 1605, concealed in the vaults beneath the Houses of Parliament, equipped with a dark lantern and fuses, and surrounded by a large number of barrels of gunpowder, all ready to blow king, lords, and Commons into eternity.

From that time to this the vaults and cellars of Parliament have always been solemnly searched on the eve of the opening of Parliament, which, in view of the perfect manner in which the entire palace of Westminster is guarded by a detachment of London police assigned to this duty, is quite as superfluous as the lanterns carried by the yeomen of the guard on these occasions, the vaults being brilliantly lighted by electricity.

Sir William Carrington no longer is in charge of this particular duty, which he fulfilled in his capacity as secretary to the Lord Great Chamberlain, a hereditary office distinct from that of Lord Chamberlain of the Household and held jointly by Lord Carrington, Lord Ancaster, and the Marquis of Cholmondeley. According to an arrangement between these three peers, each in turn fills the office during a reign.

Lord Carrington was Lord Great Chamberlain until the death of Queen Victoria, and as such in supreme control of the palace of Westminster, that is to say, of the Houses of Parliament. When Edward VII. came to the throne Lord Cholmondeley assumed the duties of Lord Great Chamberlain, and when the present Prince of Wales succeeds to the Crown it will be Lord Ancaster who will assume the obligations of this office.

Let me add in conclusion that both Lord Carrington and his brother, Sir Bill Carrington, profess to be not merely ardent Liberals but even advanced Radicals.



This moving tower, when completed, will be the highest structure in the world. For some years the Eiffel Tower in Paris has had the distinction of being the highest, on this gigantic lever reaching up to the marvelous height of 1,750 feet, surpassing it by 35 feet. You do not climb steps to attain this height, nor are you carried up by [illegible] elevator, but you sit comfortable seated in the observatory at the top, when the whole structure is gradually raised from the surface to 1,750 feet in mid air, and again the whole structure gradually folds down, and you have been carried the distance of one-half mile, a quarter of a mile going up, and a quarter of a mile coming down. Nothing will be more popular than a ride up in this tower, search lights will be used at night from the observatory at the top, and when brilliantly illuminated by electricity, forms an enchanting spectacle. This will not be the eighth wonder of the world, but the first eclipsing the seven, that have borne that distinction for so many centuries. Here is one of the greatest money makers that can be found. The profits derived from this source alone should be immense, and by investing in the Fleming Aerial Ladder you will participate in all these great enterprises. A machine is now on exhibition at our offices, 52 Yonge Street Arcade, Toronto, Canada, and we would be pleased to have you call and inspect it.

FINDS A BIG TIMBER RAFT.

Yorkshireman Gets a Rich Treasure From the Sea.

A remarkable piece of flotsam in the shape of a giant raft containing over seventy tons of timber and about eight tons of iron chains, steel rails and plates, has been washed up by the sea at Reighton Gap, near Filey, on the Yorkshire coast.

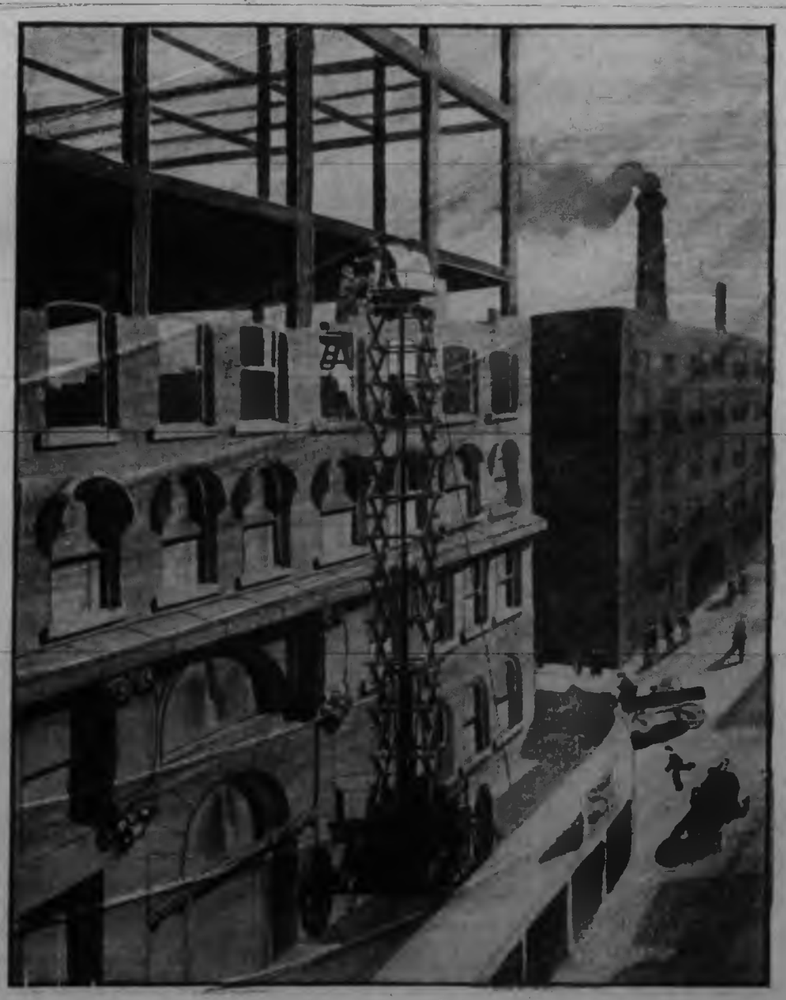
The discovery was made by a beach prospector named Jesse Smith. It was wedged well in among the rocks, and consisted of great balks of pitch-pine thirty-four feet long and seventeen inches square, with others twenty feet long across the top.

The balks were bound together with fathom on fathom of chain, and were also bolted with steel rails and protected at both ends with steel plates.

The wood is as good as new, but the ironwork is very rusty, and it was evident that the wreck had been in the sea for a long time, for clusters of mussels and barnacles were on its under side.

It came immediately from the north, from which direction the sea had been running strongly for some days, but a reasonable assumption is that it has been adrift in the track of the shipping in the crowded North Sea as a dangerous derelict, and there is no telling how black the record of its wanderings may be.

Indeed, a Filey fishing yawl reports that she ran on top of it on Friday evening, six miles away from the place where it finally went ashore. It was then awash, and was not seen till the vessel had run half her length upon it. The boat careened, but happily the raft sagged with the yawl's weight, and allowed the craft to shake clear.



This is a view of the Fleming Aerial Ladder when used as a hoist for raising building material or for any other uses. Everything goes to show that the Fleming Aerial Ladder is a valuable investment, and a highly profitable business project, and there is not a doubt but what every dollar invested should double itself in a short time.

This is a view of how the Fleming Aerial Ladder may be used with search-lights in action, as an illuminated tower, forming a most magnificent spectacle. A splendid opportunity is afforded every one to make money by purchasing stock in the Fleming Aerial Ladder, as it promises to be one of the greatest money-makers on the market today. Sixty p.r share and they are going fast. Be one of the fortunate ones and secure as much of the stock as your means will allow.

The Feebleness of Human Power

When elemental forces break loose no human power can control them. The volcano, the earthquake, the tidal wave, the tornado—and fire, when it is unconfined—serve to remind man how helpless and insignificant he is in the presence of a great convulsion of nature.

This generation is wiser than its predecessors in many ways. It has unraveled some of the mysteries of the world. It has learned how to divide, direct, and to utilize on a small scale many of the forces of nature. It has for many purposes made electricity the handmaid of man, dive the modern engineer money enough and he can remodel the face of the earth. He can [illegible] can harness Niagara [illegible] the level of a great lake as easily as his grandfather could that of a pond. No army officer of an earlier generation would have proposed to prohibit a city from taking from Lake Michigan all the water it might need. It never was imagined then that Lake Michigan could be hurt.

When the earth is at rest men can do as they please with the surface. When the day of unrest comes engineers, scientists, and captains of industry are as helpless as infants. They can stop up an oil well but not a volcano. They can check an ordinary fire, but they are powerless when they face a great conflagration fanned by high winds and find themselves, as at San Francisco, without a supply of water.

How accustomed we are to think of the surface of the earth as being stable! How seldom we realize that it is a mere crust or shell, in places only thick in comparison with the little creatures who dwell upon it! We consider it firm because it is firm to us, except in some few places or on infrequent occasions. When it is disturbed and there is a dislocation of only a few inches, the works which man has laboriously piled up on the area affected tumble into ruins. A sudden or a lingering death may be the fate of thousands.

The great convulsions of nature appear to men to be uncommon and infrequent. This is because the span of human life itself is so short. The life of the oldest man does not encompass many fearful volcanic eruptions and many fearful volcanic eruptions or earthquakes. Comparatively few men have personal experience of any of them. But they are occurring almost uninterruptedly at some point on the earth's crust. They differ only in degree, not in kind.

These blind outbreaks of nature are among the perils which are forgotten speedily when they are not seen or heard. Each generation forgets what another has suffered, or trusts that nature has worn herself out for a time and will be at rest until he has passed from earth.

The brevity of life, the transitory nature of human greatness, and man's heedless disregard of the dangers which surround him on all sides are graphically pictured in the old hymn:

> Lo, on a narrow neck of land
> 'Twixt two unbounded seas I stand,
> Yet how insensible!

Man is, indeed, insensible to the dangers that environ him, but if he were not he would spend all his days in the shadow of impending disaster and take little comfort in life. It must be owing to his reliance on some comforting theory of chances he has worked out that he can persuade himself that he has even a reasonable expectation of a long or happy life. There is great cheer for man in the assumption that he will escape the calamity his neighbor has suffered; and his life will be marked by felicity, and that he will sleep with his forefathers without knowing more of sorrow than they have known. A false hope too often! As intelligence is more widely diffused and news is more carefully collected, the troubles of the whole world come closer to every one than they formerly did. What our friends, neighbors, and fellow citizens suffer we note in larger measure than before take to our own hearts and suffer ourselves.

But we cannot alter or affect the results when the great forces of the universe are in motion. Then we can only admit the fightful weakness of man and proclaim his submission to the decrees of a higher power.

The Fleming Aerial Ladder was awarded by the Toronto Industrial Exhibition of 1903 this diploma and medal for the merits of the invention.

OLD TIME LEGAL METHODS.

When the Evidence of Ghosts Sufficed to Hang Men.

The testimony of a ghost would not now count for much in a court of law, but the day has been when it has sufficed to hang a man. There was a ghostly accuser in a case with which the readers of Scott are familiar. Soon after the "45" an English soldier wandering near Braemar met a violent death. Years passed and then came a story of a communication from another world.

A farm servant declared that in the night a spirit had appeared to him declaring itself to be the ghost of the soldier, whose bones, it is said, lay still unburied. The highlander must see to their decent interment and have the murderers, two men named, brought to justice. The highlander promised, but did not keep his word, and a second and third time the spirit appeared and upbraided him for his breach of faith. Alarmed at last and no longer daring to delay, the man called in companion and went to the spot which the spirit had indicated and there found the bones of the murdered warrior concealed in a moorland tract called the hill of Christie.

The story of the highlander came to the ears of an anti-Jacobite, who caused the matter to be brought to trial before the court of judiciary, Edinburgh. There the tale was corroborated by a woman who had seen a naked figure enter the place on the night spoken of by the man. It was an age of superstition in a district more than commonly given to superstition, and the jury seemed disposed to find the two men charged guilty of the murder, but it happened that the principal witness spoke only Gaelic. "Now," said the counsel for the defense, "in what language did the ghost speak?" "In as good Gaelic as I ever heard in Lochaber," was the reply. "Pretty good for the ghost of an English soldier," said counsel, and that question and comment saved the necks of the men at the bar. The jury could believe in a ghost, but not in an English ghost speaking Gaelic.—London Standard.

A Gladstone Story.

A story of Mr. Gladstone was told by the late Mr. Rhinelander, president of the United States Museum of Art. A miniature painter had been employed to paint a portrait of Mrs. Gladstone in her old age. It was intended that it should be a present for Mr Gladstone on one of his birthdays. Mrs. Gladstone was particularly well pleased with the portrait, but some of the grandchildren had opinions of their own about it. One of the younger grandsons drew Mr. Gladstone aside, and asked him if he did not think that the portrait was somewhat flattering. "It isn't much like grandmother, is it?" he asked. "My boy," replied Mr. Gladstone, in his beautiful voice, "it is the truth beautifully told. That's all."—Dundee Advertiser.

Latest Type of Freight Steamer.

Of the very latest type of freight steamers is the British ship Bellerophon, built without masts, instead of which she has four pillars, two abreast fore and aft, for derricks. The hold is made especially to accommodate heavy machinery and other bulky consignments for the China and Japan trade. Twenty-six winches and derricks can be worked from the dock.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $5 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

ST. PETER AT THE GATE

(Published by special request.)

St. Peter stood guard at the golden gate
With a solemn mien and an air sedate,
When up to the top of the golden stair,
A man and woman ascending there,
Applied for admission. They came and stood
Before St. Peter, so great and good
In hopes the City of Peace to win—
And asked St. Peter to let them in.

The woman was tall, and lank, and thin,
With a scraggy beardlet upon her chin,
The man was short, and thick and stout,
His stomach was built so it rounded out.
His face was pleasant and all the while
He wore a kindly and genial smile,
The choirs in the distance the echoes woke,
And the man kept silent while the woman spoke:

"Oh, thou who guardest the gate," said she,
"We two come hither beseeching thee
To let us enter the heavenly land,
And play our harps with the angel band,
Of me, St. Peter, there is no doubt,
There's nothing from heaven to bar me out.
I've been to meeting three times a week
And almost always I rise to speak.

I've told the sinners about the day
When they'd repent their evil way,
I've told my neighbors—I've told them all—
'Bout Adam and Eve and the Primal Fall.
I've shown them what they'd have to do
If they'd pass in with the chosen few,
I've marked the path of their duty clear—
Laid out the plan for their whole career.

I've talked and talked to 'em loud and long,
For my lungs are good and my voice is strong,
So, good St. Peter, you will clearly see
The gate of heaven is open for me.
But my old man, I regret to say,
Hasn't walked in exactly the narrow way
He smokes, and he swears, and grave faults he's got,
And I don't know whether he'll pass or not.

He never would pray with an earnest view
Or go to revival, or join in a hymn,
So I had to leave him in sorrow there,
While I, with the chosen, united in prayer,
He ate what the pantry chanced to afford,
While I, in my purity, sang to the Lord,
And if the cucumbers were all he's got
It's a chance if he merited them or not.

But oh, St. Peter, I love him so
To the pleasures of heaven, please let him go!
I've done enough—a saint I've been.
Won't that atone? Can't you let him in?
By my grim gospel I know 'tis so—
That the unrepented must suffer below.
But isn't there some way you can see
That he may enter who's dear to me?

It's a narrow gospel by which I pray
But the chosen expect to find some way,
Of coaxing, or fooling, or bribing you
So that their relations can amble through.
And say, St. Peter, it seems to me,
This gate isn't kept as it ought to be
You ought to stand right by the opening there,
And never sit down in that easy chair.

And say, St. Peter, my sight is dimmed,
But I don't like the way your whiskers are trimmed.
They're cut too wide and outward toss,
They'd look better narrow, cut straight across,
Well, we must be going, our crowns to win,
So open, St. Peter, and we'll pass in!"

St. Peter sat quiet and stroked his staff
But, in spite of his office he had to laugh.
Then said, with a fiery gleam in his eye,
"Who's tending this gateway—you or I?
And then he arose, in his stature tall,
And pressed a button upon the wall,
And said to the imp who answered the bell
"Escort this lady around to h—l!"

The man stood still as a piece of stone—
Stood sadly, gloomily, there alone.
A life-long settled idea he had
That his wife was good and he was bad.
He thought if the woman went down below
That he would certainly have to go—
That if she went to the regions dim
There wasn't a ghost of a show for him.

Slowly he turned, by habit bent,
To follow wherever the woman went.
St. Peter standing on duty there,
Observed that the top of his head was bare.
He called the gentleman back and said
Friend, how long have you been wed?
"Thirty years" (with a weary sigh)
And then he thoughtfully added "Why?"

St. Peter was silent. With head bent down
He raised his head and scratched his crown.
Then, seeming a different thought to take,
Slowly half to himself he spake
"Thirty years with that woman there?
No wonder the man hasn't any hair!
Swearing is wicked. Smoke's not good,
He smoked and swore—I should think he would!

Thirty years with that tongue so sharp?
Ho! Angel Gabriel! Give him a harp!
A jewelled harp with a golden string
Good sir, pass in where the angels sing!
Gabriel give him a seat alone—
Use with a cushion—up near the throne!

Call up some angels to play their best,
Let him enjoy the music and rest!
See that on finest ambrosia he feeds,
He's had about all the h—l he needs.
It isn't just hardly the thing to do
To roast him on earth and the future too.

They gave him a harp with golden strings,
A glittering robe and a pair of wings
And he said as he entered the realm of Day,
"Well, this beats cucumbers, anyway!"
And so the Scripture has come to pass
That "The last shall be first and the first shall be last."

—JOSEPH BERT SMILEY.

WYOMING COPPER

¶ Would you be open for an investment which will yield, with reasonable assurance, from 50% to 100% each year? We consider the AMALGAMATED MINING AND EXTRACTION CO., a safe, sound, high-class legitimate enterprize, and the stock at the present ground floor price of 10 Cents per Share, is without doubt a bargain which should certainly be taken advantage of by all conservative investors. We don't see how failure is possible; we have a great property which we can recommend without a shadow of a doubt. We have paying ore at grass roots. We need not go into details here as to our holdings. They are fully described in our prospectus which you may have for the asking. As this stock will rapidly increase in value we should suggest that you send in your order at once, while you have the chance to purchase at this low price of 10 Cents per share, as it will advance on the first of July. Forward your order today and own an interest in a winner.

AMALGAMATED MINING AND EXTRACTION COMPANY

1624 Curtis Street, Denver, Colo.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

THE GIANTS OF OLD

ANCIENT RACES MARVELS OF PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT.

The Semibarbarians of One Thousand Years Ago Were All Remarkably Proportioned Men—The Giants of Ancient Greece and Rome.

That the human race has degenerated in size as well as longevity is a fact well attested by various authorities. A prominent Washington physician who has made a life study of brain and cerebral developments, says that, on visiting the catacombs of Paris, what struck him most in these vast repositories of the contents of the city's ancient graveyards was the great size of the skulls in comparison with those of more modern mankind. This superiority of development in the men who lived 1,000 years or more ago the scientist attributes to the open air life then in vogue and the physical sports and exercises indulged in.

There are several races of giants mentioned in the Bible, and the Greek and Roman historians have recorded many examples which serve to show that these specimens of elongated humanity were by no means rare at one period of the world's history.

Thus it is mentioned that the Emperor Maximin was eight feet some inches high. The body of Orestes, according to the Greeks, was eleven and a half feet in height, the giant Galbora, brought from Arabia to Rome under Claudius Caesar, measured near ten feet, and the bones of Secondilla and Pusio, keepers of the gardens of Sallust, were but six inches shorter.

The probability is that outside of cultivated Greece and Rome among the semibarbarous of the greater part of present day European nations physical development reached often to more wondrous proportions.

The Chevalier Beory in his voyage to the peak of Tenerife says that they found in one of the sepulchral caverns of that mountain the head of a Guanche which had eighty teeth and that the body was not less than fifteen feet long. The giant Ferragus, slain by Orlando, nephew of Charlemagne, was eighteen feet high.

Revland, a celebrated anatomist who wrote in 1614, says that some years before that time there was to be seen in the suburbs of St. Germane the tomb of the giant Isoret, who was twenty feet high.

At Rouen in 1509, in digging in the ditches near the Dominicame, there was found a stone tomb containing a skeleton whose shin bone reached up to the girdle of the tallest man there, being about four feet long, and consequently the body must have been seventeen or eighteen feet high. Upon the tomb was a plate of copper upon which was engraved, "In this tomb lies the noble and puissant lord, the Chevalier Ruon de Vallemont, and his bones." There is, indeed, evidence in the ponderous armor and two handed swords which remain to us in museums to prove that the knight of the ages of chivlary was a heroic specimen of human architecture.

Platerius, a famous physician, declared that he saw at Lucarne the true human bones of a subject who must have been at least nineteen feet high.

Valance, in Dauphine, boasts of possessing the bones of the giant Bucart, tyrant of the Vivarais, who was slain by an arrow by the Count de Cabillon, his vassal. The Dominicans had a part of his shin bone, with the articulation of the knee, and his figure painted in fresco, with an inscription showing that this giant was twenty-two and one-half feet high and that his bones were found in 1705 near the banks of the Moderi, a little river at the foot of the mountain of Crusol, upon which (tradition says) the giant dwelt.

On Jan. 11, 1633, some masons digging near the ruins of a castle in Dauphine, in a locality which had long been known as the Giant's field, at the depth of eighteen feet discovered a brick tomb thirty feet long, twelve feet wide and eight feet high, on which was a gray stone, with the words "Theotobochus Rex" cut thereon. When the tomb was opened they found a human skeleton, entire, twenty-five and one-half feet long, ten feet wide across the shoulders and five feet deep from the breastbone to the back. The teeth were each about the size of an ox's foot, and his shin bone measured four feet.

Near Margarino, in Sicily, in 1516, was found a giant thirty feet high. His head was the size of a hogshead, and each of his teeth weighed five ounces.

Near Palermo, in the valley of Magara, in Sicily, a skeleton of a giant thirty feet long was found in the year 1548 and another thirty-three feet high in 1550. Several of the gigantic bones of the latter subject are still preserved by private persons in Italy.

The Athenians found thirty-two famous skeletons, one thirty-four and another thirty-six feet in height.

At Totic, in Bohemia, in 758, was found a skeleton the head of which could scarcely be encompassed by the arms of two men together and whose legs, which are still preserved in the castle of the city, were twenty-six feet long.

The celebrated English scientist, Sir Hans Sloane, who treated the matter very learnedly, does not doubt the facts above narrated, but thinks the bones were those of elephants, whales or other animals. But it has been well remarked that, while elephants' bones may be shown for those of giants to superficial observers, this can never impose upon such distinguished anatomists as have testified in many cases to the mammoth bones being unmistakably human.

Be patient with every one, but above all with yourself.—Francis.

NAMING A TOWN.

How Abilene Came to Be Selected by Mrs. Hersey.

Abilene was named by the wife of the founder of the town, T. F. Hersey. With her husband she had come to central Kansas in the spring of 1857. They lived in a log house on the west side of Mud creek and were the first settlers on the town site, although no town then existed nor was there one until 1860. Then C. H. Thompson, who had moved to the county from Leavenworth, bought from the Kansas Pacific Railway company a tract east of Hersey's and laid out a town.

When it came to the naming of the future city Mr. Thompson went to Hersey and asked him to suggest a name.

"No," was the reply, "let my wife do it. She is a great reader."

Mrs. Hersey was a graduate of a seminary in the east, and her little library, which she carried with her in her wanderings, was one of the ties that bound her to the girlhood life. She was a devout Methodist and knew her Bible from "cover to cover." When she was asked to name the town she turned to the New Testament for suggestion. There in the third chapter of Luke, first verse, she found this: "Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judnea * * * and Lysanias the tetrarch of Abilene."

"Call the town 'Abilene,'" said she. "It means 'City of the Plains,' and that exactly describes the location."

So Abilene it was, and in the fight for the county seat, wherein it contested with Newport, Smoky Hill and Union City, all long since passed away, good fortune attended it, and the new town became the county capital for the 378 dwellers then in Dickinson county.

Fleshmaking Food.

Cream gruel, according to an eminent English authority, is the ideal nourishment for thin folk. A teacupful taken at night immediately before retiring is said to give marvelous results. To be at its best it must be perfectly made, then thinned with sweet cream. Taken in that condition and warm, it is agreeable as well as fattening and produces just that sense of satisfied hunger essential to ideal rest. It is claimed that perseverance in the treatment yields such apparent results that the cheeks can be seen to expand from day to day.

The Pepper Vine.

The pepper vine grows best in a wooded valley where there is plenty of moisture and abundant foliage to protect it from the heat of the sun. It is given a rude sort of cultivation. The growers plant it, keeping the grass from its roots, and when the tree near which it is planted has no lower branches strings or poles are placed in proper position to enable the vine to climb the tree. It needs no further attention.

Sarcastic.

"Yes, my dear; I believe in transmigration of souls. I may be a brute in my next life."

"Wouldn't that be discouraging—or don't you care for a change?"

In Plain Words.

"What," asked the judge, "was the cause of the altercation?"

"I didn't see many, yer honor, but it was him callin' me a liar that shtarted the fight."

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Military Camp at Cobourg

The annual summer training camp for No. 3 military district will be held at Cobourg, June 18 to 30. It is expected that the following regiments will be under canvas: 15th, 16th, 40th and 45th of the 6th brigade, and the 16th, 46th, 49th and 57th of the seventh brigade.

Liquor Licenses are Paid

Notwithstanding the greatly increased prices demanded for liquor licenses the local hotelkeepers have already paid in their fees to Inspector Geo. Cochrane. The bartenders, with one exception, a youth under 21 years of age, have paid their fee of $2 each. The improvements which the commissioners ordered to be made to several hotels in the city at the time they were granted their licenses are being made.

Norwood's Population Decreased.

The Norwood assessor has completed his labors for the current year, and has handed over the roll to the village clerk. The roll shows a slight decrease in population as compared with that of 1905, while there is an increase in the total value of taxable property in the neighborhood of $40,000.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—Nothing doing at the police court yesterday.

—Orillia now has a population of 5,379, an increase of 487 over last year's census.

—The Quakers had a good work out last night on the Murray street grounds.

—The House of Refuge building committee of the city council will advertise for tenders at once.

—Norwood Register says: Mr. S. J. Griffin, sr., of Peterboro, was in the village on Tuesday attending the funeral of the late F. W. Reynolds.

—The G.T.R. "midnight" train will now leave three minutes later, viz., at 12.28, and the mails, more by train will leave at 5.18 instead of 5.15.

If you prefer to take medicine in tablet form you can now obtain Dr. Shoop's Restorative Tablets. Absolutely no change has been made in the medicinal ingredients. Sold by J. D. Tully.

—Havelock has had a really truly burglary. The residence of Mr. Jesse Weymarks was broken into and a person containing a number of bills stolen. The burglars turned all the drawers inside out, but only stole the money as above noted.

Whenever your bowels skip a day without a movement—take a LAX-ET. Whenever your breath is bad—your skin waxy, or sallow—your tongue coated—your breath foul—take a LAX-ET only 5c. Sold by J. D. Tully.

—On Thursday a white fox terrier dog, marked with brown spots, followed Mr. Max Hamilton to his residence "Auburn." The dog has a leather collar on. Will its owner please call and the animal as soon as possible.

These who have taken other laxatives without satisfaction—and those who have taken such quantities of other laxatives that they have lost their effect—will find a pleasant surprise in LAX-ETS. There is usually no pain, griping, nausea or discomfort even in severe cases. This candy bowel laxative—LAX-ETS—is only 5c. and is sold by J. D. Tully.

—The chief of police informed a Times' representative that the fortune-telling son of Egypt, who had an aggregation of birds and mice to tell any old fortune, any one might want, was allowed to carry on his business by Mayor Best. The fortunes told did not net him a sum that would purchase the Cobalt region.

A New Curate

The Toronto Globe, of yesterday's date contained the following item of interest to people in this district and more especially to Port Hope:

"Port Hope, May 3.—Rev. R. B. Grobb, M.A., of Wycliffe College, who will be ordained next June, has been appointed curate of St. John's church.

Local Men go to Cobalt

Messrs. Frank White, George Rickerby and George Irwin, all local citizens leave this morning for Cobalt. They expect to be away for at least three months and will "rough it," in the wilds of that auriferous country. Their supplies packed in tin cases and canvas sacks, including sides of bacon as the appetites of hunters and prospectors demand. They expect to discover nuggets and chunks of silver as large as their various prices of wages. Their P.O., addresses will be

Cheese is Sold

The Campbellford cheese board met this week, the factories being fairly well represented. There were 322 white and 256 colored cheese offered on the board. Bidding began at ten cents, which was increased until the final bidding was 10 13-16 for the board in colored by Mr. Cook and 10 11-16 for the board in white, AS the factories sold.

The City Bill Has Now Passed

The Legislature of Ontario has now passed the third reading of Mr. Bradburn's bill respecting the city of Peterboro. The next proposition the city will have to submit to the Government will be the annexation of the sugar beet property. This, of course, will only go to the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council.

Put Your Dog's Tag On.

The chief desires us to note that after the date all dogs found running at large without having a tag of this year's issue attached, will be destroyed. Those who have paid for tags had better take precautions to have a collar on their canines with the tag attached.

Lightning Visits Lee's Livery

During the recent thunderstorm, during which, as noted in a former issue of The Times, the Snowden House suffered by the lightning, the livery stables, operated by Mr. Bruce Lee, between Simcoe and Charlotte streets, was also visited by the electric flash. Mr. Lee's telephone was put out of business, and Mr. Medint who was sitting on a chair in the barn, had the chair torn from under him, and received a severe shock in one arm.

Meeting of Park St. Church.

The annual meeting of the Park street Baptist church will be held next Thursday, when the reports of the different organizations in connection with this church will be presented and other business transacted.

Peterboro May be Made a "See"

A Toronto despatch says that; It is now thought probable that the Diocese of Toronto will be divided in two, the diocese of Peterboro being created out of one part in order to lighten the duties of his Lordship Bishop Sweatman. The present diocese contains 150 clergymen and is the largest in the Dominion. Huron comes next."

Should such a division take place Peterboro should be made a "See" and a local rector known very well by the congregation of St. John's, is the man for such an exalted position.

HEALTH REGULATION

Chief Rossel Issues Warning to Owners of Cesspools, Etc.

By request of Chief of Police Rossel, we give below an extract taken from the Ontario Public Health Act, sec. 14 rule 3. It might be noted that in previous years the local police have issued warnings in person, but this year they have decided to discontinue the practice, of giving notice, except through medium of the local press. This is the last warning and to avoid receiving a summons in the police court those affected by it had better get busy.

Rule 3 says, "Privy vaults, cesspools or reservoirs shall be cleaned out at least once a year, on or before May 15th, and from the 15th of May to the 1st day of November in each year they shall be thoroughly disinfected by adding to the contents of the vault, cesspool or reservoir, once a month not less than two pounds of sulphate of copper dissolved in two gallons of water or other suitable disinfectant."

All owners of cesspools or privies not having such cleaned out by May 15th, will be prosecuted.

FENELON FALLS FIRE

Bank of Montreal Has a Close Call From the Devouring Element

The Bank of Montreal building at Fenelon Falls had a very narrow escape yesterday morning. It will be remembered that Mr. Miles Hamilton of this city is manager of that bank.

Shortly after three o'clock yesterday fire was discovered in the paint shop in connection with Ed. Chambers' carriage works, and in a few minutes the whole structure of wooden construction, was a mass of flames. They quickly spread to the buildings on either side.

At one time the destruction of the whole village was threatened. The Tenney House was in considerable danger.

The new Bank of Montreal was also in imminent danger. It is quite close to the block, and it was feared that it too, would fall a prey to the flames. Preparations were made to move out safe at a moment's notice.

The actual loss was very small in proportion to the impending danger.

A Trite Saying.

It is a trite saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is invigorating to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the professional endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works and will be sent to any address free, on receipt of stamps to cover mailing, or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of.

The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, by leaders in all the several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public by those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has THE BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

We might say, that Chief Rossel has now received notice that the watch has been recovered. Mr. Lephard thanks the chief for the trouble he took in the matter.

DAWSON BROTHERS LEAVE

St. Paul's Choir Bids Farewell to Two Popular Members

As foretold in these columns, some time ago, Messrs. Edward and Jack Dawson of this city, yesterday, left to take up their residence at Nanton, Alberta. They have both been valued and active members of St. Paul's church choir.

After the regular weekly practice of the choir on Thursday night an informal supper was held and farewells were said to these gentlemen, whose departure will be noted with tremendous feelings of regret at their absence and hopes for their future in their new home.

Mr. D. H. Moore presided and short addresses were made by the chairman, as well as by Rev. A. Bright, Mr. W. F. Nelson, and others members, all wishing the Messrs. Dawson success in their business venture in the west, and voicing regret at their departure.

Miss Etta Nelson, who is filling the position of choir leader and organist during the absence of Mr. John Crane in the west, presided at the organ.

Miners' Convention Call Strike Off

Will Accept 1903 Award if Dismissed Miners Who Obeyed Suspension Order Are Allowed to Go to Work.

Scranton, Pa., May 6.—There will be no strike of the miners in the anthracite coal fields. The operators will agree to give every man his old place and reinstate those who have been dismissed because they obeyed the suspension order of John Mitchell.

This was the agreement reached at Saturday's session of the convention. The convention did not adjourn, however, President Mitchell requesting that the delegates remain in Scranton until the scale committee reports the result of its meeting with the operators, which will probably be held in New York on Monday, if the operators agree to meet the miners' representatives.

The no strike decision was reached after President Mitchell and National Secretary-Treasurer Wilson had addressed the delegates recommending the 1903 award be continued.

A resolution to this effect was offered, and unanimously adopted, after which the convention adjourned.

MITCHELL'S STATEMENT.

For several months we have been endeavoring to negotiate a wage scale and adjustment of conditions of employment with the representatives of the anthracite coal mining companies. During these negotiations we made a number of propositions, each of which materially modified our original demands. We did this, not because we were convinced that our original propositions were unfair or wrong, but purely for the purpose of finding a common ground upon which we could reach an agreement that would secure and maintain peace in the anthracite coal industry. We still believe that our first proposition was reasonably fair, notwithstanding the modifications we have since made in the interest of peace. Now we are face to face with the alternative of continuing at work under our former conditions, or declaring a strike. In this crisis the committee recommended the following policy;

THE TERMS.

First, that we agree to work on the basis of the award of the anthracite coal strike commission for such a period of time as may be agreed upon mutually between the representatives of the anthracite coal mining companies and our basis committee, provided that all men who suspended work on April 1, or upon that time, or who have been dismissed because they stated that they would refuse to work if a strike were declared are reinstated in their former positions and working places.

Second, that the basis committee proceed at once to meet the representatives of the coal companies, with a view to securing an agreement upon this basis.

Third, that the convention remain in session until Tuesday, and the scale committee shall report to the convention at that time.

Fourth, that the suspension of work shall continue until an agreement has been made and its terms approved by the convention.

ADOPTED.

This recommendation was suggested by the full scale committee and was adopted unanimously by the convention. A telegram to Mr. Baer, proposing a conference on Monday, was sent. If a favorable response is received, the sub-committee will proceed to New York to arrange the details of settlement, and will report to the convention Tuesday morning.

WORK RESUMED.

Pittsburg, May 6.—The differences between the United Mine Workers of the Pittsburg district and the Great Lakes Company at Kaylor, Pa., have been satisfactorily adjusted and work will be at once resumed. The agreement is based on the 1903 scale, with the concessions since obtained, and is for two years. About 1500 men were affected.

ONE COMPANY IS BROKEN BY ITS LOSSES AT 'FRISCO

Chicago, May 6.—A petition for the appointment of a receiver for the Traders' Insurance Company was filed in the circuit court today.

Byron L. Smith, president of the Northern Trust Company of this city, was later appointed receiver of the company by Judge Julian Mack of the circuit court.

The Traders is one of the largest fire insurance companies in the west, and its distress is due to the heavy losses it sustained in San Francisco, said to the application for the receiver to be approximately $3,748,000.

The assets, it was also stated, will not exceed $3,300,000. Other claims amounting to $111,962 are unpaid. The bonds of Mr. Smith, as receiver, were fixed at $2,000,000.

PLAYED WITH DEATH

Lindsay Man Throws Dynamite on a Fire.

Lindsay Post: It may be true that if some people were made aware of the risks they had escaped they would die of fright, but Mr. Howard Walsh, nephew of Mrs. J. A. Lang, Lindsay street, doesn't feel a bit like dying today, although fully cognizant of the fact that he almost rubbed shoulders with death on Wednesday.

It happened in this way. Mrs. Lang and sister, Mrs. Walsh, reside in a house on Lindsay street, formerly occupied by Mr. Beeble, late superintendent of the waterworks, and Mrs. Walsh's son, who is at present home from Detroit, has been doing a bit of gardening and cleaning up, and had a fire going to consume the rubbish. While digging he unearthed two rolls of something wrapped in paper, and these he also heaped on the fire. A minute or two later hearing a peculiar crackling or sizzling sound, Mr. Walsh turned to the bonfire and saw that the paper wrapping on the two rolls had caught and that the stuff inside was sputtering and making the noise he heard. Like a flash he realized that the thing meant danger of some kind, and he lifted the rolls off the fire quickly and carefully with the rake and threw water over them, quenching the fire.

Then Mr. Walsh started out to think as to the composition of the curious stuff he had unearthed, and when told it was dynamite he wasn't a bit surprised because he had half expected it, but the mother and aunt, and the neighbors, were properly horrified at the tremendous danger they had been in. There was sufficient of the deadly stuff in the two big rolls to cause a first-class imitation of the San Francisco earthquake in Lindsay, and that it did not happen is due partly to Mr. Walsh's happy intuition and partly perhaps to the fact that this temper of the deadly stuff had been dulled a trifle by its winter in the cold soil. Mr. Beeble used quantities of the stuff in connection with waterworks excavating, and it is supposed the two rolls went astray somehow.

Chief Nevison was notified and he carefully resurrected the stuff in a deep hole at the back end of the lot. In the sweet bye-and-bye the dynamite may respond to the impact of a plowshare and put in its deadly work at long last.

MR. R. A. HAMILTON GONE

Highly Respected Citizen Passes Away in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The very many warm friends of Mr. Robert A. Hamilton, will sincerely regret to learn that he has at last succumbed to the disease, which some three months ago impelled the amputation of an arm.

The late Mr. Hamilton, some months ago, it will be remembered, suffered greatly from tuberculosis of a bone at the elbow joint, which necessitated his being taken to St. Joseph's hospital, when the diseased arm was amputated. Mr. Hamilton stayed for some three weeks in hospital, when, as he seemed to be improving he was brought home, to his residence on Water street, between Brock and Simcoe streets. Nine weeks ago blood poisoning, from Sarcoma set in, requiring his presence at the hospital again for treatment; unfortunately the disease had got beyond medical skill and Mr. Hamilton passed away yesterday morning in St. Joseph's at ten o'clock.

The late Mr. Hamilton leaves a wife, who was Miss Christina Speers of Dummer, and several nephews to mourn his loss. His eldest daughter no longer is the only daughter of the late Mrs. Hartwell, having predeceased him some years ago.

Mr. Hamilton who was 62 years of age, has of late years been a valued member of the Dyal Sun Life Insurance Co. staff, and was a gentleman respected and honored by all who knew him, and a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

The funeral will be held from his late residence, Water street, at 3.30 tomorrow afternoon and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

DOWIE SAYS HE'LL EXILE HIS ENEMIES

Charges He is Preparing Said to Be Alarming Zion City Leaders.

VOLIVA'S PARTY WAVERING

"Woe to Thee" Cries One Who Says Present Church Head Deceived Him.

Zion City, Ill, May 6.—Infuriated by the written charges against him, John Alexander Dowie is threatening to retaliate with similar charges against overseers and deacons who once served him, but who have deserted to Voliva.

Zion awaits in much alarm the wielding of the "muck rake." Several of the rebellious leaders are frightened by Dowie's threat. Dowie declares that some of the men who are now pointing the finger of shame at him have been accused of gross irregularities in their private lives. The deposed leader insists, moreover, that the financial difficulties of Zion have been caused by the greed, incompetency and dishonesty of some of his subordinates.

AIMING AT OFFICERS.

His answer to the Voliva charges, it is said, will consist largely of countercharges against officers of the church. Attorney Emil C. Wetten has been hastily summoned to Zion as soon as it was definitely known that written charges against Dowie had been prepared. Attorney Wetten deprecates such a duel and will try to persuade Voliva and his side that all interests will be served better if the contending factions avoid scandal.

Voliva, however, has expressed no intention of withdrawing the written charges and Zion City is now confronted by a new and disgraceful clash at arms.

"Both sides seem to be willing to make dreadful accusations that are not easily proved," said one deacon, who holds a neutral position.

Shiloh house has again become the center of extraordinary interest as a result of the sensational way in which the domestic relations of John Alexander Dowie and his wife were discussed at the tabernacle. Many of the most intelligent people in Zion City deplore the fact that the controversy in the church has led both Dowie and the spokesmen of the Voliva faction to drag Mrs. Dowie's and Gladstone Dowie's names in the mire.

SCORE VOLIVA BY LETTER.

The nature of the charges for which Mrs. Dowie and Gladstone Dowie were suspended was not understood in Zion City except among the officers of the church, who were called to Shiloh house by Dowie last August to consider the matter at an all night conference. That the bitterness existing between leaders who support Voliva and the leaders who follow Dowie is growing is evidenced by a letter Voliva has received from Elder W. W. Goy, of Boston. Following are extracts from Elder Goy's letter:

"Woe to thee, thou dark visaged, subtle, scheming child of God—now fallen.

"Woe to thee that thou are become a villian before the eyes of your own counselors, for one of them told me in these twelve hours that the trouble in changing leaders in that Voliva misstated so many things publicly that we are beginning to feel we cannot follow him."

OFFICERS ELECTED

Local City Teachers' Institute Gets Down to Business and Elects Officers.

The City Teachers' Institute, on Saturday continued their session, which was rendered very interesting by some ably prepared papers, read by well qualified writers. They included.

A clever paper on "Nature Study," given by Mr. F. J. A. Morris, M.A., of Trinity College School, Port Hope, in which the speaker dealt on man's attitude to nature.

This paper was followed by a very interesting and instructive address on Drawing and Brush works, by Miss Amy K. Bennett.

The following officers were elected;

Pres.—Mr. J. W. Kelly.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. J. E. Hodgson.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. McDonald.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. F. E. Kerr.
Executive Committee.—Misses Yeaman, William Smith, Miss Morrow, Miss O'Connell, Miss Cairns.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Saturday morning the police court session was a short but busy one. Three cases were tried, which resulted in two serious warnings, and one $2 fine. The Sons of Rest and Sanitab Cabs having discovered that, since the raise in the price of licenses, many locals have decided to still dispense 5-cent rye as in the good old days of yore, instead of sending deputies to the dispensary of justice, took advantage of the old prices whilst they last; consequently there was a small attendance at Saturday's police court.

The first case tried was that of a local professional man, with a seeming penchant, who was charged with having been drunk, and who pleaded guilty to the soft impeachment was fined $2 and given ten days in which to dig up the wherewithal.

Two small boys were charged by the chief of police with having ridden bicycles, which were not furnished with bells as required by law. They pleaded guilty, and owing, to their immature years, were allowed to go with a warning, "Don't do it again."

H. Walters, who, as noted in a previous issue of The Times, has had the honor (?) of appearing before his worship before, was charged with being a vag., i.e., with having no fixed place of abode, nor having any ostensible means of support. His worship allowed Walters to go "this time" but plainly intimated, that should Walters appear before him again, the interview would result in Henry going on a six months' sojourn within the moss-clad walls of Central Prison.

Walters henceforth, when feeling thirsty will probably keep his name sake "waters" in memory, and leave [illegible] juices that get people into trouble.

Henry Walters is an Englishman, and although of husky build, has a a love for booze as strong as is his dislike for steady employment.

Henry was in the police court on Saturday morning charged with vagrancy. He was allowed to go, the magistrate telling him if he ever came back to that court, he would be accommodated with a six months' order for board and lodging in the Central Prison. Henry either thought the magistrate was joking, or is desirous of satisfying his curiosity regarding the practical modus operandi of this great Toronto prison, as he blew into the police station Saturday night in quest of lodging, and armed with a breath that would ignite if approached by a lighted match. He will find out this morning whether the magistrate was joking in his allusion to the Central.

MRS REVEL'S DEATH

Well Known Lady of East Ward Passes Away.

On Saturday there passed away at her residence, Rogers street, east ward, in the person of Mrs. Robert Revel, one of the oldest and most generally respected residents of our city.

The late Mrs. Revel, whilst not having been in robust health for some time, was only taken seriously ill on Friday, so that her death on Saturday evening may be said to have been unexpected. Her death was due to a complication of troubles, added to a general breaking down in health. The deceased was a staunch supporter of the Anglican church, her father being the late Rev. M. Burnham. Mrs. Revel was a sister of the late Mr. John Burnham, ex-M.P., and of Dr. Geo. Burnham, Water street. Her family consisted of four sons, Walter and Albert, who predeceased her, and Harold of Toronto, and George of Nelson, B.C., and her daughters, Mrs. Edward Peck of the East Ward, and the Misses Florence, and Charlotte, now living in Chicago. The late Mrs. Revel who was 73 years of age, had survived her husband for many years.

The funeral will be held from her residence, Rogers street to the Little Lake cemetery on Tuesday, but the hour had not, as yet been determined, awaiting the arrival today of her daughters from Chicago.

A BELATED INQUIRY.

Guelph, May 6.—Provincial Detective Greer and High Constable Merewether, are up north to investigate the death of James Cannon, who was killed by a G.T.R. train near Gordstone in September last.

Dr. Morrow investigated the death at the time and reported it as accidental.

FOUND DEAD ON FLOOR.

Belleville, May 6.—John Cronin of this city died of heart disease here yesterday. He lived with his daughter, Annie, who worked out for a living. She went home at noon yesterday, and found her father lying dead upon the floor of their house.

Mr. Cronin, who was 66 years old, was walking about the streets in the morning, apparently in his usual health.

Subscribe Toward Anarchistic Plot

Paris Police Profess to Have Documentary Proof of Political Designs in Labor Strike.

Paris May 6.—Papers seized by the police during the present domiciliary searches, it is claimed show, [illegible] to a series form an important [illegible] a student calmness that the torpedo of Vincennes bombs were not meant for Paris, but were intended to be used as the opening of the Russian parliament, May 10.

A bomb was found today on the steps of a church in the suburb of Courbevoie. The person who placed it there is believed to have been connected with the recent revolutionary agitation.

At a cabinet council yesterday War Minister Berteaux announced that the troops assembled here for May 1 had returned to their garrisons.

Foreign Minister Bourgeois announced at yesterday's meeting of the cabinet that he was holding a series of conferences with Sir Charles Hardinge, the British permanent undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, who is accompanying King Edward. It is understood that these meetings relate to Anglo-French co-operation, particularly in the Turkish situation.

REBELS IN RUSSIA PLAN REVOLUTION

Will Strike Determined Blow at Czar's Government During Coming Summer.

TROOPS ARE IN UGLY MOOD

Soldiers and Sailors Await Opportunity to Avenge Schmidt and Other Mutineers.

St Petersburg, May 5.—Russia is facing another uprising. When the bleak winter landscape shall have been replaced by the glow and bloom of summer the revolutionists will start forth in a final movement against the government.

It will be a movement more determined, better organized and more desperate than that of last year, the leaders of which declare was premature.

The ringleaders in the forthcoming insurrection have been working for months to perfect their plans. With the collapse of the revolt last winter, they, having seen many flaws in the fabric of their scheme, immediately busied themselves with building a terrible rebellion, which should include the army, navy, anarchists and all enemies of the autocracy. Agents were sent to all parts of the civilized world to bespeak funds for the revolution. They were most active in Europe and the British Isles, but they also worked in the United States with success.

These agents have met with wonderful success, and have gathered money in plenty to carry on the fight for freedom.

PLANS NEAR COMPLETION.

With the influx of gold the black schemes of the leaders have approached completion. All that remains is the actual fitting of their forces with arms and accoutrements.

This duty will not consist merely of putting firearms in the hands of ignorant peasants in mob formation. Instead of the wild, disorganized bands of rioters who were the revolutionists in the last struggle, there will be organized squads under intelligent leaders, who will direct the fighting as do army officers.

The Social Democrats' convention began a secret sitting today with 122 delegates present, including not only Russians, but representatives of the Polish Social Democrats and Jewish Bund and the Letts, Caucasian, Little Russian and Finnish organizations. Quite a number of the delegates have been arrested while on their way here.

UPRISING TO BE GENERAL.

The ostensible object of the meeting is the unification of the organizations, but the real purpose is to perfect plans for a general uprising. George Plekhanhoff, who represented the Russian Socialists abroad for years, and Danian and Dahn, the most prominent leaders of the group of peasant members-elect of parliament, also are meeting here today.

The retirement of Premier Witte lends zest to the plans of the revolutionists, for it was the stern hand of Witte, tempered with an avowed desire to help the people, that ended the revolt last year. With Witte out of the way, the leading minds of the revolutionists feel competent to win against the government.

The rebellion will be pushed to the end, one of the rebel plotters says, and no quarter will be shown or sought.

FIRE, BOMB AND BULLETS.

This man would not give any of the details of the plot, but says the rebels will stop at nothing. Fire, bomb and bullets will be their weapons, and they will fight until their demands for freedom have been acceded to.

In connection with the plans of the revolutionists, it is learned that the Czar's soldiers again are showing discontent and many troops are ripe for mutiny. The execution of Lieutenant Schmidt and others from the army and navy concerned in the mutiny last year has stirred resentment in the hearts of the soldiers and sailors, and they are awaiting an opportunity to avenge these men. It is said that if a rebellion were to come now only the Cossacks could be depended upon to stand by the government.

The hope of the revolutionists is in the military and they are doing all possible to stir the troops to a revolt.

BY-ELECTION IN RENFREW

Government Will Probably Try to Delay Contest in Riding Where Personalities Have Outweighed Politics.

Ottawa, May 6.—The Fitzpatrick bill, provided for by-elections automatically, is not yet a law. Had it been up to the government to decide whether North Renfrew shall remain vacant until after the proroging of parliament.

Elections in that riding have been largely personal contests between the Hon. Peter White and Thomas Mackie, also deceased.

One or the other has sat for the riding since 1874. They were both of them wealthy and prominent men, who made their fortunes out of the lumber industries of that district. They employed between them, a considerable section of the west and this wielded a tremendous influence beyond their political organizations.

E. A. Dunlop, M.L.A., will no doubt receive the Conservative nomination, and Albert Mackie, son of the late Thomas Mackie, will likely stand in the Liberal interest.

The government is very unwilling to fix an election just at this time. On the other hand, North Renfrew, is the one riding in Canada where it is unsafe to delay a by-election.

It will at once recall the outrages of the Ross government upon that riding.

LOCKS UP HOUSE-HOSPITAL

New Liskeard, May 6.—Provincial Health Inspector Scott of Toronto, had an exciting episode here yesterday.

Two cases of contagious fever had been sent down from the north, and the patients had been safely housed in a building which had been rented by the authorities as a local isolation hospital. The owner of the building subsequently repented of his bargain, and locking the building up refused any access to the sick, who were safely locked in. They were thus robbed of both attendance and purgatives.

Mr. Scott had to break open the doors, and now threatens to lay information against the owner of the property, who was so willing to vent his spleen on the unfortunates, who were ill to help themselves.

The Harvest Mining Co.'s

Property is in the heart of the BLACK HILLS of SOUTH DAKOTA

And is the pioneer mining company of Rapid Creek Mining District. Perhaps you are not aware of the magnitude of these words! Let us explain! Pioneer companies are always the ones that are branded with success, for the reason that they are the first in the promising districts and, consequently, take the best property to be obtained and, for this reason, it is invariably the case that the investors in these companies are the ones that reap the rich reward, and not the investors in the cheap "boom stocks" that come later and are selling on the merits of what their neighbors have.

We appeal to your reason and personal knowledge: The Homestake was the pioneer company of the Ida Gray Mining District; the Golden Reward was the Pioneer of the Ruby Basin District; the Parlone (Colorado) was the pioneer of the Cripple Creek District; The Anaconda (copper) was the pioneer of the Silver Bow Mining District; the Calumet and Hecla were the pioneers of the Lake Region, and they are the companies that have made their stockholders rich, for the reason that they were first and had first choice of all the property to be had. "The property on which the ore bodies were located"—and this is what The Harvest Mining Company has done. We have come first and acquired 160 acres of the best property to be had in the whole Rapid Creek Mining District, a property that is most suitable for working in both manner of mining and milling. First—We are near railroad and have lots of timber for mining purposes. Second—Our ore is a smelting proposition and we will not have to go to the enormous expense of installing costly machinery.

Our ore carries an assay of 20 per cent. lead, 1 ounce silver and $3.50 in gold, and is classed as a wet ore by the smelting companies. Ore carrying lead is also a basis of monopoly at the smelters, as the lead is used as a collecting agent in separating and collecting the gold and silver.

A shaft has already been sunk to a depth of 40 feet on the main ledge and we have exposed a vein of about 20 feet in width. The vein is strong and well defined between two walls of granite and schist, dipping slightly east with a northerly strike, and it is for the purpose of sinking this working shaft to a greater depth that the company is offering a small amount of their treasury stock at 25c. per share (which is fully paid and non-assessable) to help do the dead or development work that is non-productive, preparatory to shipping ore to the smelter.

Although we have numerous ledges on our property, and the famous copper glance lead which also passes through it and is exceptionally rich in copper, the company has deemed it best to concentrate its work on the gold, silver and lead vein and put that to producing money before the development is begun on the others.

We wish to call your attention to some of the mines that are gold-silver-lead mines and have produced millions, among which are: "Daly West," "Le Roi," "Bunker Hill," "Sullivan," and others, and The Harvest Mining Company is offering an lucrative investment as any of the above. We have the gold, silver and lead ore in sight, and are inviting you to become an equal owner to help do the primary development work. Our Treasury Stock Certificates have the condition "Treasury Stock" printed on the face, which assures the investors that their money goes for the development of the company.

Black Hills, an area less than 100 miles square, has produced $150,000,000.00 in the past 20 years. In the same period of time to come it will probably more than double the past production, and The Harvest Mining Company, being situated as it is in the richest section of the Black Hills, is extending to you the most exceptional advantage of an investment. We appeal to your reason: "Read the past and you will know the future." Our property is offering today the same as the big mines of the continent have offered in the past, and now is the time to become a stockholder.

Wasted Lives In Peterboro

Men and Women Who Are in Need of a Helping Hand.

It is hard for those who are never ill, or who have simply a sick day or week occasionally, to realize the wretched existence and wasted lives of those beset with chronic indigestion.

There is no more irritating or nerve-racking condition than that caused by a weak stomach. It gnaws and wears upon every nerve fibre in the body and results in sleeplessness, headache, backaches, rheumatic pains, furred tongue, distress after eating, poor appetite and general weakness and debility.

As we look to a weakened stomach for most of the chronic or lingering ills that weaken and rack our lives, it is of the greatest importance to know that a remedy for stomach troubles is at last offered by the reliable drug firms in Peterboro.

Knowing the formula of Mi-o-na, we feel that it will be successful in every case where it is used in accordance with directions, that is, one tablet before each meal.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets costs but 50 cents, if it helps you, nothing unless it restores health.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

Your 'Fagged' Feeling is Spring Sickness

This Unhealthy Weather Will Intensify Your Exhaustion Unless You Have Good Medicine.

Time won't help; matters grow worse instead of better if your system isn't rid of its poisonous burden.

Your blood is not only thin, but is contaminated with a whole winter's accumulation of wastes.

A stimulating blood tonic is required.

What's it going to be?

No bitters or alcoholic dope, but concentrated cure in the form of "Ferrozone" which is known as the best of all spring rejuvenators.

It creates keen appetite.

Produces prodigious digestion.

Converts food into nourishment.

Gives richness and vitality to the blood.

Makes strong nerves and hardy muscles.

Ferrozone possesses power that can't be doubted. It will do for you what it did for Walter Wood, of Beaufort Car Co., N. D., who writes: "I can say that Ferrozone has given me a new lease of life. A year ago I suffered much from nervous weakness. I was really scarcely able to drag myself around. My appetite was gone, I had no color or ambition and felt generally used up. The first box of Ferrozone started me back to health. I took a number of boxes, but it was worth while as my health was completely restored."

Get back to health with Ferrozone. Your druggist sells it, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE MAKING OF GARDEN.

This is the time of year when the man with the hoe is everywhere in evidence. Sometimes he has a rake or a spade or other garden utensil, but his occupation is unmistakable. The mania for digging in the ground is wafted with the first breezes of spring and your office-hardened man is first to catch the fever. For weeks and weeks he has pored over the seed catalogues with their lurid covers and startling pictures of vegetable monstrosities that never grew since creation's dawn. These pictures are made to deceive the unwary and trap the amateur. They suggest vegetable hysteria, and the man or woman who once glances into the fatal pages of a seed catalogue becomes obsessed with determination to become a gardener.

Garden-making is one of the most delightful occupations a city man may enjoy. Nowadays street car facilities are such that it is cheap and pleasant to live in the suburbs where everyone may have a garden, and to one who is confined in an office all day the exercise of garden-making is highly beneficial. One of the difficulties of maintaining one's enthusiasm for the occupation is that many people try to cultivate too large a piece of ground. If the undertaking is on too big a scale it becomes labor instead of exercise and there is not half the fun in it. Blistered hands and aching back are incidental to the first few days of gardening, but they yield to the general physical regeneration that comes of fresh air and healthful and delightful employment.

CITIES HARD TO DESTROY.

The great Boston fire occurred on the night of November 9th, 1872, says the Boston Transcript. On the night of the 9th of November, 1872, exactly a year after the great disaster, the whole burnt district had been rebuilt, and with better and more costly structures. Continuing, it says: "A city is a difficult thing to destroy. Fire will not do it; nor the earthquake shock, so long as the trade routes are undisturbed. The French Terrorists thought they had destroyed Lyons when, after all the disasters that civil war had visited upon the city, they levelled its buildings with battering rams, and decreed that the site should bear a new name. But in less than ten years Lyons had revived as Lyons, and was on the way to be the great city it has since become. Marseilles was almost as hardly treated, only to come up again. The situations of Lyons and Marseilles decreed they should be great cities. Most of the cities which were important in the middle ages and have since declined owe their decline to the change of trade routes. Venice is a familiar example. English Boston, which once pressed London hard, is another. Liverpool and Glasgow, on the other hand, owe their greatness to the development of new trade routes. Neither was important two centuries ago in comparison with Bristol and Leith. San Francisco is one of the greatest trade routes in the world, whose greatness will be increased by the completion of the Panama Canal."

CHINA SECURES THIBET

Pays Expense, However, of British Expedition

Pekin, May 6.—The Anglo-Tibetan treaty is, according to information which has reached the Associated Press, in substance, as follows:

China pays the expenses of the recent British expedition to Lhassa in instalments and Great Britain recognizes China's sovereignty over Tibet. China opens two towns to trade, namely, Gyangze and Gatcko. The only place now open being Yatung.

Railways, telegraphs and mines are to be built and operated by China and Great Britain, but Great Britain will not interfere where China or Chinese merchants provide the capital for enterprises of this character.

Applications from British investors for mines or in such enterprises are to be made to the Chinese governor of Lhassa. If he approves, ratification by the Chinese government will be necessary. On the full payment of the expenses of the military expedition, Great Britain will withdraw her troops from Chumbya, but may withdraw sooner. After the withdrawal of British troops, China must protect British trade.

Political relations will be conducted with the resident at Lhassa.

A tariff on British imports will be arranged later by a separate convention.

WARSAW SHOPS CLOSED.

Warsaw, May 1.—The situation here is causing great anxiety. Many socialistic proclamations have been issued summoning workmen to organize for a general strike and for street processions. Business men are boarding up their shop windows, and the Governor has ordered the garrison to be in readiness for any emergency.

Coinage Laws.

The first law of congress on the subject of coinage provided that the coins should be dated according to the year in which they were issued, and accordingly the coins issued under the law of 1786 were dated in the following year.

Tinware.

Tinware was first made in this country in 1770.

Pedro the Cruel.

Pedro of Castile was designated the Cruel on account of his barbarity to prisoners taken in battle, who were fortunate if they were put to death at once without torture.

Right as a Trivet.

"As right as a trivet" is a piece of household slang. The trivet was a rod placed across the fireplace for the purpose of suspending from it a pot over the fire. It was necessary that the trivet should be exactly horizontal or disaster to the pot and its contents would result.

The Three Cent Piece.

The silver three cent piece was authorized by act of congress March 3, 1851, and its coinage was begun the same year. Its coinage was discontinued Feb. 12, 1873.

Luther's Bible.

A museum in Berlin has Luther's Bible which he used in his study. Its margins are covered with notes in the reformer's handwriting. It was printed in Basel in 1509 and is in an excellent state of preservation.

A Kicking Horse.

A kicking horse may be cured by tying one of his fore legs with a rope to the hind leg on the other side. Then, as soon as he commences to kick, he jerks his front leg off the ground and goes down in a heap. Two or three doses of that kind will cure the worst case possible.

Spiders.

Spiders always come out of their holes shortly before a rain, being advised by their instinct that insects then fly low and are most easily taken.

LAST OPPORTUNITY

to secure an investment that will bring you in dividends which will insure you an income for life.

The Pralin Mines Company offer for only a short time a limited amount of their Capital Stock at five cents per share, Capital $100,000. Owners of one of the richest mines in the worlds famous Lead and Zinc Mining District of Joplin, Mo. Lead ore is today selling for $70.00 per ton. Zinc ore at better than $50.00 per ton. Our one-hundred ton mill, which will soon be completed, will handle one-hundred tons of dirt per ten hour shift.

The most conservative estimates of experts state that this dirt will run from six to twenty per cent. pure Zinc. In addition the immense quantities of lead found in these deposits, which alone will undoubtedly pay all operating expenses, thus leaving from five to ten tons of Zinc per day, net profit.

Act at once, as this advertisement will not appear again. Thousands have made their fortunes in Zinc within the last few years. Join this band and become independent.

WYOMING COPPER

¶ Would you be open for an investment which will yield, with reasonable assurance, from 50% to 100% each year? We consider the AMALGAMATED MINING AND EXTRACTION CO., a safe, sound, high-class legitimate enterprize, and the stock at the present ground floor price of 10 Cents per Share, is without doubt a bargain which should certainly be taken advantage of by all conservative investors. We don't see how failure is possible; we have a great property which we can recommend without a shadow of a doubt. We have paying ore at grass roots. We need not go into details here as to our holdings. They are fully described in our prospectus which you may have for the asking. As this stock will rapidly increase in value we should suggest that you send in your order at once, while you have the chance to purchase at this low price of 10 Cents per share, as it will advance on the first of July. Forward your order today and own an interest in a winner.

AMALGAMATED MINING AND EXTRACTION COMPANY

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

PEKING'S OPIUM DENS.

Efforts to Reduce Their Number and Restrict the Smoking.

Peking, the capital of China, is fighting the opium shop evil. Efforts are being made to reduce the number of dens and to restrict the smoking of the drug and to curtail the loafing and vice that accompany opium smoking by compelling each shop to take out a license and to pay a tax according to the number of "lamps" in each shop. The shops are divided into four classes, and the fees are graded accordingly from $1 a month to 20 cents for each lamp, payable on the 10th of every month. The recent proclamation of the Peking sanitary department reads as follows:

"Opium smoking is extremely harmful to the health, and the shops where opium is smoked are the retreats of loafers. Such places should really be altogether prohibited, so that the people might enjoy more prosperity, and dens of thieves would thus be done away with. But as opium smoking has become such a habit it cannot be got rid of entirely and at once. The evil can only be removed gradually.

"There are in the outer city of Peking many opium shops, and it is evident that the smokers are increasing every day, which is very bad. This department has taken into consideration the matter, and arrangements have been made for those who will abandon the habit. In addition the opium shops opened in the outer city of Peking have been divided into four classes and are to be taxed after certain regulations. They are to register themselves according to their classes and the number of lamps for the payment of taxes so that inspection can easily be effected.

"Shop owners are hereby informed of the regulations and that they are to come to this department for registration beginning from the 30th day 1st moon 31st year of Kuang Hsu. If any one dares to make a false declaration as to his class or the number of lamps, opens shops without license or refuses payment of the tax, if discovered, the building used for smoking opium will be confiscated and the owners strictly fined as a warning to these private dealers in opium shops. All must respect this order and not disobey."

Gold Used In Jewelry.

France heads the list as the country which uses up most gold in the making of jewelry. Her jewelers work up 36,000 pounds weight of gold every year—that is, about one-thirtieth of the whole amount produced. Great Britain accounts for an almost equal quantity, and the United States takes 32,000 pounds weight for similar objects, while German craftsmen for that country worked up 30,000 pounds of virgin gold in the last year. Small as Switzerland is, she absorbed nearly 20,000 pounds weight of fine gold, while Italy and Russia between them took a similar amount. We can procure no accurate statistics from Turkey or India or China, but as each of these countries uses a large quantity of gold for purposes of ornament we shall not be very far wrong if we say that the world's jewelers use more than half of all the gold produced.

Million Bushels of Wheat Wasted.

"During 1905," writes George R. Metcalfe, M. E., in the Technical World Magazine, "the railroads of the United States ordered new locomotives to the number of 6,300, together with 3,300 passenger cars and 340,000 freight cars. These last figures give a good idea of the relative importance of passenger and freight traffic to a large railroad. The rail mills started the new year with orders for 2,500,000 tons on their books.

"In spite of these great orders and in spite of the best efforts of the railroad managers pile after pile of thousands of bushels of corn has been heaped up on the ground in Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska for want of storage room or transportation facilities, while in North Dakota alone over a million bushels of wheat have rotted on the ground for want of freight cars to move it."

Attention Moves the World.

"Knowledge," it is said, "begins in wonder." But wonder is the result of attention, and by attention the world is moved beneficently or madly, as in the blind and bloody turmoils of the Russian people, attentive at last to their wrongs and the possibilities of liberty. Without the attention of individual and collective minds nothing goes forward on an earth so full of objects and ideas that selection must be forced from the outside or deliberately exercised from the inside before anything good or bad can be done. It is the business of the good man to study means of attracting attention to good causes, to necessary betterments and to all that is fair and lovely and wholesome in this distracting, distracted and multitudinous universe.—Century.

A Remarkable Child.

Dr. and Mrs. Julian P. Thomas of New York are the parents of a remarkable child, aged seven years. Some of the playthings, provided at his own request, are a skeleton, his favorite, whose every bone he knows by name; a physiological chart, which has enabled him to study the muscular tissue, the nervous and circulatory systems; a fully equipped automobile, boy's size, which he operates and repairs; a great globe, which has caused him to spurn all geographies. He is a talented musician and makes an exception of his music and drawing teachers in the sweeping refusal to deal with instructors.

The Gnat's Mouth.

The gnat's mouth consists of a small lancet for piercing the skin. This instrument is inclosed in a delicate sheath, and beneath it there is a pumping apparatus for drawing out the blood of the victim. The gnat is so small that the red corpuscles of the blood would be too large for its system, and it sucks only the serum.

The Reed.

The reed, mentioned in several places in the Bible as a measure, was six cubits, or ten feet eleven inches.

Beef.

Beef is the most nutritious of all animal foods and can be eaten longer continuously than any other kind of meat, resembling rice and bread in this respect. Fresh beef is almost completely digested more completely than milk is by an adult.

Violins.

Violins are very susceptible to changes of the weather. The strings of a violin always become more taut and thus give a sharper tone when a storm is coming on.

Clapboards.

To put in position a thousand clapboards requires the use of about eighteen pounds of sixpenny nails.

Cats and Locomotives.

It is said that a great many more cats than dogs are killed each year by locomotives. An old railroad man explains this by saying that most of the cats are killed at night, when the glare of the headlight attracts their attention and renders them unconscious of impending danger.

Alfonso the Rattler.

Alfonso I. of Aragon was surnamed the Rattler. He was quarrelsome in disposition and perpetually engaged in broils with his neighbors.

The Hottest Peppers.

The hottest of all red peppers is made from that variety which grows on the coast of Guinea, in Africa. There is believed to be some element in the soil of that country which produces the biting quality of the pod. Guinea pepper is to ordinary red pepper what Scotch snuff is to Maccaboy.

Wheat Plants.

There are several plants of the wheat family which are perennial and reappear in the same fields or localities from year to year indefinitely.

Charles the Affable.

Charles VIII. of France was surnamed the Affable. He always removed his hat in answer to a salutation, even if the greeting came from a peasant.

The Treadmill.

The treadwheel, or treadmill, as it is usually termed, its purpose generally having been for grinding corn or turning machinery, was the invention of Mr. Cubitt, an engineer of Lowestoft, England, the notion of such a piece of mechanism owing its conception to an accident.

A Gill.

When small measures are not convenient it is profitable to know that eight tablespoonfuls make one gill.

Time at Sea.

Time is kept at sea by watches. Each watch is four hours long, and every half hour is marked off by strokes upon a bell. Thus half past 8 is one bell and 12 is eight bells, half past 12 one bell, and so on.

Souvenir China.

For a dainty little souvenir of later china with hand painted view the Y.W.C.A., St. John's church, Fitzlook or Jackson's park. See the variety we have put on sale this morning in trays, jugs, bowls, vases, trinket box with lid etc. Choice at any article for 15 cents each or two for 25 cents. Times Bookstore.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $25 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed, Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

St. Andrews Brotherhood Meeting.

Yesterday S. Andrew's Brotherhood of St. John's church, had charge of the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. The subject before the meeting was "Faith and Fellowship." A large attendance of men was present at the meeting, which was of deep interest to all.

Local Restaurant Improvements.

Mr. W. McCallum, the enterprising George street restaurateur, has recently made extensive improvements in his place of business. The improvements include a modern dish-washing plant, and extensive additions to his already up-to-date soda water fountain. A spray, enclosed in glass, has been placed outside the main George street entrance which is a great ad for Mr. McCallum's enterprise, and a good drawing card to catch trade.

California Excursions.

Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Line. Meeting Imperial Council, Nobles Mystic Shrine, Los Angeles, Cal., May 7th to 10th. Official route of the Imperial Potentate's special train. Round trip tickets at very low rates will be sold April 24th to May 9th. Final return limit July 31st, 1906. Choice of routes going and returning. Favorable stopover arrangements. Full particulars furnished on application to B. H. Bennett, General Agent, 1 East King street, Toronto, Ont.

LINDSAY MAN HURT

"Bob" Preston a Relative of Dr. Morrow Injured.

Lindsay Post in referring to a brother-in-law of Dr. R. F. Morrow, dentist of this city, says;

"News was received among railroad friends this morning that Mr. 'Bob' Preston, foreman of the G. T. R. shops, at Midland, and an ex-Lindsayite, had met with a serious and very painful accident. While stepping off a train he was thrown to the track, the wheels badly mangling one arm, which afterwards had to be amputated, and also breaking three ribs, and badly bruising his face. The injured man's numerous railroad friends in Lindsay will wish him speedy recovery."

—Lindsay Post: Peterboro is in luck. The Bell Telephone Company are applying to the council for permission to place all their wires on the leading streets under the ground, and it is safe betting, that the aldermen will have no time in giving their official sanction.

—Mr. John Clarke has almost completed his work on the Ontario Bank improvements and he has made a good job of it. The plate glass goes in this week.—Millbrook Reporter.

HON. MR. HYMAN AGREES

Ald. Elliott and City Clerk Armstrong in Ottawa.

Messrs. Ald. Elliott and City Clerk Armstrong last Friday, while in Ottawa, secured an interview, through Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., with Hon. Mr. Hyman, Minister of Public Works, in regard to the dredgings being taken from the Otonabee river between the two bridges.

They showed beyond possibility of dispute that both the city and the government would gain by dumping the scrapings into the gully instead of the expensive plan of taking them away in scows.

Hon. Mr. Hyman acknowledged the arguments used by Ald. Elliott and City Clerk Armstrong, and promised to send an engineer to Peterboro at once.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Form Lodge and Elect Officers for Coming Year.

Marathon Lodge, No. 39, Knights of Pythias of the Grand Domain of Ontario, has been instituted in this city in the Templars' Hall, George street.

In the absence of Grand Chancellor Burdick, W. C. McDonald, P.G.C., of Toronto, presided, assisted by A. Coulter, G.K.R.S., and Past Chancellors W. T. Daniel, B. D. Humphrey, J. A. Wilson, Toronto; T. B. Hubert, Brantford, and Grand Inguard Gough of Smithboy.

Thirty-two members were put through the three degrees. The Marathon Lodge will meet every second and fourth Wednesday in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street.

The Knights of Pythias is one of the most important and highly respected organizations on this continent.

The following officers were elected;

C.C.—S. J. Sheridan.
C.V.C.—M. Bywater.
M.W.—J. T. Evans.
M.E.—Dr. Bagshaw.
M.F.—W. Comstock.
K.R.S.—O. N. Barber.
M.A.—S. H. Baker.
I.G.—Robt. McEwen.
O.G.—B Patterson.

Mr. S. H. Baker was appointed representative to the Grand Lodge meeting in Sarnia on July 10.

S A Olre, J. T. Evans, S. H. Baker, R J. Sheridan and J. Harper, were appointed past chancellors.

The following K.P.'s were present from Toronto.

C. W. Baron, T. Oberndiffer, G. H. Mitchell, H. S. Tracey, W. Grange and W. G. Donaldson.

LOCAL ODDFELLOW HOME

Bro. J. A. Tully Home After Booming Oddfellowship Out West.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Mr. James A. Tully has for the past three weeks been travelling through the west in the interests of the Oddfellows' Relief Association. Mr. Tully visited all the cities, towns and villages in Alberta, and was also in Saskatchewan. He met many Peterboro old boys in the new provinces.

He has now returned to this city and reports that the west north as far as Edmonton and as far west as Banff. He was instrumental in organizing seven new I.O.O.F. lodges, and in writing $200,000 insurance among the brethren of the mystic triple links.

Is Kinmount Killing Fish?

Mr. H. H. Charles, who has for some time been out at Kinmount, gauging water for the Trent Valley Canal, so that the water levels will be uniform all the year round in this city, accompanied by Mr. W. James, who was with him on the same job. They report that the new mill at Kinmount is dumping sawdust into the water to the certain death of the fish out in those waters. If matters are as represented, the local fish and game protective association should get busy and stop this thing.

STEAMER LAUNCHED

Capt. White's New Purchase the Water Lily Now Afloat.

An interesting event occurred at the East Ward docks on Saturday morning, when the fine steamer, "Water Lily," formerly owned by the Calcutt Company, but now the property of Captain W. H. White, formerly of Lakefield, was launched.

The "Water Lily," one of the most popular steamers plying upon the Rice Lake and Kawartha lakes route, has, within the past few months, been completely remodelled from stem to stern.

The hull has been practically replaced by a new one, which is four feet four inches wider than the old one. The timber used in the hull is of British fir, and is sixty-five feet long. Captain White has had a new fore and aft compound engine installed of the very latest type.

Mr. White, as noted in a former issue of The Times, has had a dynamo installed, and the steamer will be lighted by electricity. There is a 2,000 candle power searchlight placed in position over the wheel house, which will throw a clear light ahead for about three-quarters of a mile. There are also twenty-five smaller lamps placed about the boat.

The electric plant was installed by Johnston Grier, the local expert electrician. The wires are now visible, they being placed in the mouldings.

Her crew will be: W. H. White, one of the most expert navigators of the inland waters of Canada, captain; Alex. Young, mate; Andy Lajeunesse, chief engineer.

NEW LUMBER CO.

Purchasers of Dickson Co. Limits Take "Peterboro" as Their Trade Mark.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, a syndicate of American capitalists, last week completed arrangements whereby they purchased the limits, camp plant, etc., of the Dickson Company of this city. The purchasing firm will be known as the Peterboro Lumber Company, Limited, and will carry on the business under that name. The members have applied for a provincial charter and notice of incorporation will appear in an early edition of the Ontario Gazette. Mr. W. D. Lummis of Toronto, will be the president, and Mr. H. J. Bartlett, of Orillia, secretary.

Both of these gentlemen were in the city last week, and on Saturday inspected the mill at Burnham's Point. That afternoon they went to Lakefield to examine the big mill there. Mr. Lummis is managing director of the Sunnis Bay Lumber, and Timber Company, which has its head offices at Sarnia. Messrs. Lummis and Bartlett, say that Peterboro will be the headquarters of the Peterboro Lumber Company, by which name the purchasing firm will be known, and they will operate the mills as the Dickson Company did. They will purchase all the supplies possible in this city, and, so far as the employees of the mills are concerned they will, as noted in Friday's issue of The Times, make no changes of importance.

In Womanly Ailments and Weaknesses

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure Soothes, Heals and Cures while the Patient Sleeps.

The best remedy which physicians know for Female Weaknesses is composed of parts of a certain white lily. To this are added other remedies which draw out the poisons and heal the inflamed membranes. This soothing and tepid local application is known by druggists and physicians everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—because, all cures while the patient sleeps and the morning finds the pain, the inflammation, the discharges, abated. The lives of many women are records of martyrdom. They suffer, they are sick, they never know a well day—not realizing that this suffering and sickness is unnecessary. Many women may be made to exclaim—because the fever and vitality of youth and perfect health are restored. It is to this over-increasing number that Dr. Shoop's Night Cure will come as a balm of Gilead. You may not know your trouble by the name physicians give it, but remember Dr. Shoop's Night Cure may be relied upon in all cases of womb ulceration, falling of the womb, pains in the womb or ovaries, leucorrhoea, whites, inflammation, congestion, irregular or painful menstruation. Ask for Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. Recommended and sold by

J. D. TULLY.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST GUARANTY OF MERIT.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation turned full upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of the weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's special use, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence by such open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which in the long run so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise all the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.

C.G.E. Co. will Extend its Plant Here

If Given a Fixed Assessment of $150,000, Will Spend $200,000 to $400,000 in Increasing its Buildings and Plant.

The Canadian General Electric Co. are anxious to considerably extend their buildings and plant here, and will undoubtedly proceed to put their plans into effect, if their request for a reasonable fixed assessment is agreed to by the city.

The following communication in this connection received by the City Council last night, speaks for itself:

E. G. Patterson, manager Canadian General Electric Company, wrote stating that the company intend to extend its buildings and plant, either here or on the property in the Township of York, near Toronto. One advantage of extending buildings near Toronto, is that the company's assessment there is fixed at $150,000 for twenty years from January 1st, 1906, and no additional taxes would be imposed.

The company now has fixed assessment there of $100,000 on property originally acquired, on which school taxes only are payable, and this extends until 1910. Mr. Patterson is naturally anxious to have the proposed extensions made in Peterboro, and if the council would give the company York he could assure this being done.

Continuing, he wrote that if the council would agree to give the company a fixed assessment of $150,000, including business tax, for twenty years, on all property now owned in Peterboro, or hereinafter purchased for manufacturing purposes, this to be done by by law, to be confirmed by the legislature, the company is prepared to spend from $200,000 to $400,000 in increasing its manufacturing facilities in this city.

In the event of the legislature insisting that school taxes shall be paid on the full assessable value of the company's property, that the fixed assessment for general rates other than school taxes be fixed at $100,000.

The term of this bylaw to be from the termination of the company's present agreement with this city.

The company upon the passing of this bylaw by the council are prepared to start and prepare plans, and call for tenders for the addition of buildings required.

This matter was referred to a committee of the whole council, to meet this evening.

New Invention Moving Stairway

The Detroit Free Press, one of America's brightest newspapers, in yesterday's issue, contained a fine portrait of the moving stairway in connection with the Electric Park of that city. Our readers will remember that an issue of The Times recently published a large adv. of this great Detroit place of amusement, which promises to be one of the best paying investments on the Amegican continent. We might remind our readers that Messrs. T. Paterson & Co., the well known local financial agents are representatives for the stock of this company, which is now offering stock at par which will soon be worth several hundred per cent. premium. The moving staircase depicted in the Detroit Free Press, installed at heavy expense, will carry 17,000 pleasure seekers to the upper floor every hour. For almost certain profits, the Electric Park Amusement Company's stock, surpasses anything now on the financial boards for investors.

City Cement Mixer Has Arrived.

The recently purchased cement mixer, bought by the city, which is much larger than the old one, was unloaded at the G.T.R. yesterday. This recent addition to the Board of Works' outfit, will, it is claimed do more work, at less expense than any other make. The Brantford manufacturers have agreed to give the city a thirty-day test of the machine before paying for it.

It is the intention of the Board of Works department to put it into commission at once on sidewalk work.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday the Pate of the Pavement Quo had a fair representation at the police court, complaining about the regulations which necessitate their presence at 9 a.m. The first case called was that of Henry Watters, the Englishman who, as the chief stated, walked into the station Saturday afternoon staggering drunk, and was charged with vagrancy. Henry pleaded guilty and smiled broadly when the magistrate said, "Six months in the Central Prison." Henry was easily pleased.

The old running case of Edward Greer, charged, some months ago, with having stolen certain articles from John Strehan, away back last spring, was called Greer who was out on his own recognizance did not respond when his name was called.

A young man belonging to the city was charged with having on May 3rd, drawn a pistol on another citizen, and having said to him, "I will drop you."

The complainant who wanted defendant placed under bonds to keep the peace, went into the witness box and said he had forbidden defendant from entering his premises on May 1st. His premises are in the old Hilliard homestead. Defendant came on his premises several times afterwards.

Complainant said that on Thursday night as he and his family were having supper, a woman who rents part of the house, and a boarder of hers, threatened complainant's family with murder. He took his family up stairs from danger, when the woman and her friends followed him upstairs, repeating their threats. He then went to the police station and on his return the woman and defendant were standing in his private doorway. He told defendant to get out of the house, whereupon defendant struck a revolver into his face, saying "I'll drop you." Defendant refused to leave. He said defendant sleeps at the woman's house but does not board there. The magistrate warned defendant to keep away from the premises altogether, and discharged the case.

Shortly after defendant left the court a young man named Williams, with a battered looking visage, in which sticking plaster was the most prominent feature, swore out a warrant for the defendant in the last case, saying defendant had attacked and done him grievous bodily harm on Thursday last. Then P. C. Adams, in the meantime had followed up, captured and brought back the former defendant. The case was enlarged until Wednesday morning.

NAVY COSTS MILLIONS

London, May 7.—Some interesting figures are given in the abstract of the navy appropriation account for 1901-5, issued as a parliamentary white book.

For instance, Rear Admiral Sir Percy Scott, the inventor of many appliances for improving heavy gun shooting and inspector of target practice, receives a gratuity of $40,000 for his inventions.

A "retired engineer captain" gets $1,000 for improvements in the Whitehead torpedo, a "naval officer" is awarded $700 for the invention of a steam steering device, and $1,000 is divided among the officers and men of the merchant ship City of Cambridge "for their praiseworthy behavior in saving life on the stranding of H. M. S. Sybille."

A gross expenditure of $154,298,905 is the price of British sea power during the financial year ending March 31.

Of this total $173,280,416 has gone toward the maintenance of the active service, and the remainder in such payments as half pay, pensions and gratuities.

The heaviest single item is for contract work under the heading of shipbuilding, to which no less than $50,-000,000 is devoted.

The cost of the active personnel, including the Royal Marines, during the year has been $33,000,000, and of the Royal Naval reserves $2,000,000. It is safe to say that no public money has been spent less grudgingly.

Naval armaments cost $18,000,000. This, of course, not only includes all the guns and mountings for new ships, but also the replacing of the weapons of the Majestic and Ocean classes, about which a fitful scare was raised last year.

Often-times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

—Peterboro again owns the heavyweight championship for wrestlers. Eugene Hurtubise did it, defeating Jack McDermott, also a Peterboro man, in Mutual street rink, Toronto, Saturday night.

The Harvest Mining Co.'s

Property is in the heart of the # BLACK HILLS of SOUTH DAKOTA

And is the pioneer mining company of Rapid Creek Mining District. Perhaps you are not aware of the magnitude of these words! Let us explain! Pioneer companies are always the ones that are branded with success, for the reason that they are the first in the promising districts and, consequently, take the best property to be obtained and, for this reason, it is invariably the case that the investors in these companies are the ones that reap the rich reward, and not the investors in the cheap "boom stocks" that come later and are selling on the merits of what their neighbors have.

We appeal to your reason and personal knowledge: The Homestake was the pioneer company of the Ida Gray Mining District; the Golden Reward was the Pioneer of the Ruby Basin District; the Portland (Colorado) was the pioneer of the Cripple Creek District; The Anaconda (copper) was the pioneer of the Silver Bow Mining District; the Calumet and Hecla were the pioneers of the Lake Region, and they are the companies that have made their stockholders rich, for the reason that they were first and had first choice of all the property to be had—"The property on which the ore bodies were located"—and this is what The Harvest Mining Company has done. We have come first and acquired 160 acres of the best property to be had in the whole Rapid Creek Mining District, a property that is most suitable for working in both manner of mining and milling. First—We are near railroad and have lots of timber for mining purposes. Second—Our ore is a smelting proposition and we will not have to go to the enormous expense of installing costly machinery.

Our ore carries an assay of 20 per cent. lead, 7 ounce silver, and $1.80 in gold, and is classed as a wet ore by the smelting companies. Ore carrying lead is also a basis of monopoly at the smelters, as the lead is used as a collecting agent in separating and collecting the gold and silver.

A shaft has already been sunk to a depth of 40 feet on the main ledge and we have exposed a vein of about 30 feet in width. The vein is strong and well defined between two walls of granite and schist, dipping slightly east with A northerly strike, and it is for the purpose of sinking this working shaft to a greater depth that the company is offering a small amount of their treasury stock at 10c. per share (which is fully paid and non-assessable) to help do the dead or development work that is non-productive, preparatory to shipping ore to the smelter,

Although we have numerous ledges on our property, and the famous copper glance lead which also passes through it and is exceptionally rich in copper, the company has deemed it best to concentrate its work on the gold, silver and lead vein and put that to producing money before the development is begun on the others.

We wish to call your attention to some of the mines that are gold-silver-lead mines and have produced millions, among which are: "Daly West," "Le Roi," "Bunker Hill," "Sullivan," and others, and The Harvest Mining Company is offering as lucrative investment as any of the above. We have the gold, silver and lead ore in sight, and are inviting you to become an equal owner to help do the primary development work. Our Treasury Stock Certificates have the condition "Treasury Stock" printed on the face, which assures the investors that their money goes for the development of the company.

Black Hills, an area less than 100 miles square, has produced $100,000,000.00 in the past 20 years. In the same period of time to come it will probably more than double the past production, and The Harvest Mining Company, being situated as it is in the richest section of the Black Hills, is extending to you the most exceptional advantage of an investment. We appeal to your reason a "Read the past and you will know the future." Our property is offering today the same as the big mines of the continent have offered in the past, and now is the time to become a stockholder.

New School Bylaw Passes City Council

$35,000 Will Be Raised By the Issue of Debentures, For New School in Ward One—Agricultural Society Ask City to Guarantee $1,000 for Exhibition Purposes.

The city fathers met in regular monthly session last night, when there were present His Worship Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Johnston, Tovey, Hicks, Mason, Elliott, Graham, Ball, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre, McWilliams and Adams.

The minutes of the preceding meetings were confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Separate School Board, asking that two entrances be placed on Reid street, opposite the new school—Board of Works.

From the Colonial Weaving Company, asking that they be remitted taxes on their assessment over $4,000. In 1903 a bylaw was passed fixing the assessment at $4,000, but owing to some technical error the government would not fairly assess. The company has more than fulfilled its side of the contract.—Manufacturers' Committee.

TAX COLLECTOR'S STATEMENT.

The following statement was received from Tax Collector W. J. Green for month of April:—

Amt. on roll, 1905 ... ... ... $114,611.27
Amt. deposited ... ... ... 109,516.78

In Bank ... ... ... ... $5,034.49
Amt. deposited in April ... $1,954.48

A communication was received from ratepayers asking that the water commissioners be instructed to extend mains south on Mark street to James street—Fire, Water and Light.

The matter was referred to Ald. Foley—Finance Committee.

From secretary Board of Health; enclosing copies of resolutions passed in connection with an isolation hospital—Finance Com.

From residents in vicinity of Dublin and Downie streets, asking that a light be placed at that corner—Fire, Water & Light.

From ratepayers asking for a plank walk to be laid on Euclid avenue from Erskine avenue to Cameron avenue—Board of Works.

From E. M. Elliott, notifying the City Council that the county had appointed a committee to distribute the funds for charity available from.

From E. H. D. Hall, notifying council that the county council had appointed Messrs. Carey, Buck, Stinson, and Webster as the representatives for the county. Also that it lives for the county. Also that it would be necessary to appoint a committee from the city of two besides the Mayor—Finance Committee.

From the Arm ur ate to re the extension of Hunter street—Board of Works.

From T. O. Quartermaine, re a letter received from the publisher of Rod and Gun, asking the city to insert an advertisement to advertise Peterboro as a place for tourists — Received.

Petitions for sewers were received for the following streets; Burnham street, from Hunter street to James street; Hunter, from Rogers to Concession street; Dublin, west to 18-ft. east of lane between Fife and Kendry's Mark street, Hunter to Douro street; Concession street, from Clifton street to Smithtown boundary of Nobelle Park—Board of Works.

Gravel sidewalks are wanted on the following streets; South side of London street, from Reid street to 115ft. west on London; east side Water street, from Antrim to Smith streets; West side Downie street, from Simcoe to Hunter streets; North side Douro street, from Driscoll to Rogers streets—Board of Works.

From the secretary of the Board of Health, enclosing a resolution that the Board recommends this city council to construct a sewer on Queen street, from Simcoe street to Hunter street, and on Simcoe street, from Queen to Water, for this purpose of draining that locality for sanitary purposes as a local improvement, and asking the council to proceed with the work at once—Board of Works.

From W. D. Lighthall, hon. secretary, U.C.M.L., asking the council to have a special representative present at the meeting of the Railway Committee on the morning of Wednesday, May 9th, to support the other cities in obtaining the prevention of more charter powers being granted to infringe on municipal home rule and street control—Moved by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Wilson that the Mayor and Ald. Elliott and the city clerk, be a committee to go to Ottawa—Carried.

From N. A. Belcourt, House of Commons, Ottawa, asking that the municipal corporation to endorse the action of the Canadian Parliament, in extending the invitation to His Majesty King Edward and Her Gracious Majesty Queen Alexandria, to visit Canada at as early a date as possible—Received.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

Messrs. D. Hughes-Charles, K. Fairley-Wilmot, Alex. Elliott, R. Munro, F. J. A. Hall, Wm. Irwin, were a deputation from the Peterboro Agricultural Society, who waited upon the council with a view to getting city assistance toward defraying the expenses of this year's agricultural exhibition. Mr. D. Hughes-Charles explained that by reason of past experience the directors are confident this year of effecting a considerable saving in running expenses. He thought the city should encourage this fair by owning the grounds, and not letting the whole thing fall directly upon the directors. He suggested that in view of this, the city give a guarantee of $1,000, which sum, however, will in all probability, not be called upon, should the weather during exhibition days be at all favorable.

Vice-President Alex. Elliott, concurred in Mr. Hughes-Charles' remarks, and added that while the directors are willing to give their time in the interests of the fair and the city, they did not feel justified in assuming all financial responsibility.

Messrs. H. Wilmot and Wm. Irwin, also addressed the council and urged that this annual event in the interest of the development of good stock, etc., be substantially encouraged by the city.

Mr. Hughes-Charles added that two members of the council are named directors of the Exhibition Society, and three honorary directors. Of course, should the society sustain no deficit, the city would not be called upon for a cent. He also complained that the patronage of Peterboro's fair is disappointingly small.

The council will take up this matter at an early date.

BRIDGE ACCOMMODATION.

Mr. Jas. Kendry appeared in behalf of north end citizens, and pressed that the Smith street bridge be opened without delay, as its closure is a detriment to the interests of all residents from Smith street north. The Auburn Woolen Company, who are large shippers of goods, and residents in that neighborhood, are seriously affected thereby. Mr. Kendry also asked that fire protection be furnished the mills and vicinity. He also remarked that as fixed assessments are being handed out to manufacturing concerns, the Auburn Woolen Company, a very old and reliable industry, be given the same consideration in this respect as other manufacturers.

His Worship explained that the matter of repairing the Smith street bridge will be looked into at once.

The question of increased fire protection for the Auburn Woolen Company, was referred to the Fire, Water & Light Com.

PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL.

Messrs. R. Fair, Dr. Morrison, B. F. Ackerman, Wm. Pringle, W. H. Hill and Geo. W. Morrow, and D. W. Dumble, the building committee of the Board of Education, together with Architect Blackwell, and Secretary Geo. W. Morrow, waited upon the city fathers, requesting the School Boards demand for sufficient money to build a public school in the South Ward. The estimated amount required is in the neighborhood of $35,000.

Mr. Pringle informed council that the lowest tender received for the erection of this building, including purchase of land, plumbing, lighting, heating, etc., for eight finished rooms, and four in an incomplete state, figures up to $34,400. He was quite satisfied that it would be folly to erect anything smaller than a 12-room school, as small buildings will not permit of children going through the whole Public School curriculum under the one roof. The lowest tender for an eight-room school was $32,700, and the highest for a 12-room building over $39,000, including everything except sewerage.

Messrs. Dumble, Fair and Hill also addressed council in defence of their proposition, and urged that a by-law granting them $35,000, be passed without further delay.

The council acquiesced in the Board's demand, and a bylaw providing for the borrowing of the sum of $35,000 to meet the requirements of the School Board in erecting a new 12-room school in ward No. one as already published before in these columns, a council then passed its three consecutive readings.

The Board will now proceed with their plans for the erection of this school.

IS THIS AN INJUSTICE?

Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., asked council to consider seriously the justice of allowing the construction of pine-lath wall buildings for residential purposes within the fire limits. He himself, after securing a permit, had commenced work on a seven or eight roomed house, and had discovered the fact that the building bylaw will not permit of anything less than 13-inch walls being erected within the fire limits. This he thought an injustice in the case of small buildings, and urged that this bylaw be amended to provide for nine-inch walls in the case of dwelling houses. He could understand a 13-inch wall being insisted upon in the case of big commercial or public buildings.

Ald. McIntyre supported Mr. Turner, and urged that it is an injustice to demand that dwelling dwelling houses within the limits, must be of 13-inch walls when all builders agree that nine-inch walls for such structures would meet all requirements. He contended that the building bylaw should be amended and the limits extended.

The matter was referred to the Board of Works for immediate investigation and action.

DANGER SPOT.

Ald. Duncan drew attention to the dangerous condition of the bridge on George street, over Smith's bay. A child would fall through between the sidewalk and rail.

The matter will be attended to.

NOT SATISFIED.

Ald. Ball remarked his opinion that if the street commissioner is paid $1,000 a year for twelve months' work, he should at least see that the roads are kept passable during the winter.

Ald. Hicks and Johnston thought the commissioner did all that could be expected from one man.

Ald. Ball pointed out that the late Mr. Pope, when street commissioner used to see that the sidewalks were kept clear of snow.

SIDEWALK TO C.P.R.

On motion of Ald. Ball, seconded by Ald. Duncan, the city will give notice of its intention to construct a gravel sidewalk on east side of George street from opera house to C.P.R. station.

Thos. Williams was awarded the contract for a refuse ground at $300.

The matter of accession from the Armour estate the right of way from Hunter street east to C.P.R. lock on payment of $400, coupled with exemption to the estate from taxation for local improvements in front of their property, through which the right of way would run, was left in the hands of his Worship, and Aldermen, Adams, Elliott and Ball, with power to act.

The council adjourned to meet in Committee of the Whole this evening.

To Test the New Stone Crusher

A representative from the Lawyer-Massey Co., of Hamilton, arrived yesterday to start the new stone crusher working. The crusher has been at the gravel pit since its arrival in the city a couple of weeks ago, but it has never been used yet. The new duster screen is also here and it will be put on the crusher before it starts. In a day or two now the Board of Works department will have machinery enough to keep a big gang of men at work all season, and there will be no excuse for delay as the machinery is new.

KILLS CATARRHAL GERMS

Breathe Hyomei a Few Times Daily and be Cured—Goes Right to the Spot.

In treating catarrhal troubles, the first thing necessary is to kill all catarrhal germs that may be present in the nose, throat and lungs, thus freeing the system from the poison they produce.

Stomach dosing cannot kill these germs. A direct local treatment is absolutely necessary, and for this purpose nothing else equals Hyomei.

Its base is the famous eucalyptus oil. This is combined with other healing, aromatic gums and balsams, making a germ-killing, health-giving treatment for catarrh, entirely unlike anything else known. When using Hyomei the air you breathe is like that on the mountains, high above sea level, where the pine forests fill the air with fragrant and healing balsams that give health and strength to those suffering from diseases of the respiratory organs.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, Hyomei reaches every tissue of nose, throat and lungs giving immediate relief, and effecting a permanent cure in the worst cases of catarrh.

The complete outfit, consisting of an inhaler, medicine dropper, and one bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1. Extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

DREAMERS HOPE TO SEE EMPEROR RULING FRANCE

Make Use of the People to Overthrow the Republic

ROYALISTS INTRIGUE WITH COMMONERS

Each Faction Seeks to Gain Following From Elements in Revolutionists.

Paris, May 7.—The dreamers of France dream while awake. They have watched with open eyes the progress of events since the throne was brushed away and the hated republic established, and all the while they have dreamed the same dream—the restoration of a monarchy. Just now they fancy the dream has the hope of becoming reality.

The shadow of revolution is dark upon France. It is not cast by the aristocrats, the nobles of the old regime. They have dreamed much but plotted little and without effect. They have hoped, but have not dared, for the reason that they lacked a following. France had a proletariat that was fairly well satisfied with conditions under the republic.

But with the Dreyfus affair came a glimmer of hope. It served to divide the sentiment of the people, and it revealed the existence of a sentiment in the army that presaged well for the ultimate substitution of emperor for president.

PEOPLE LOSE SOLIDITY.

Since then the French people have lost their solidity. No political party is sure of itself. Ministry after ministry has crashed down to failure when seemingly certain of brilliant success. Labor unions have waxed strong, socialism has spread, even anarchy has flaunted its red badge of defiance and a revolutionary party exists. Strikes have been numerous and violence has been considerable. This has been true of both the provinces and Paris.

Of those who would like to see France once more a monarchy there are two classes—the Bonapartists or Imperialists and the Legitimists. Each is aristocratic and monarchial, but the Legitimists, Bourbon to the core, despise the descendants of Napoleon as bitterly as their fathers hated him.

The Imperialists have two members of the house of Bonaparte, Prince Louis Napoleon and his elder brother, Prince Victor. They are sons of Prince Napoleon, "Plon-Plon," who was the son of Jerome, King of Westphalia and brother of Napoleon I.

LOUIS BEFORE THE PUBLIC.

Prince Louis is the idol of his following. Prince Victor never having won friends. He has held aloof and done nothing, while Prince Louis has always kept before the public. He has fought under many flags, only lately having left the services of Russia and returned to France.

The Legitimists have no active aspirant to the throne. They exist more to oppose the restoration of the Bonaparte dynasty than to advance the interests of anyone, except, mayhap, some member of the house of Orleans. Despising the canaille, each nevertheless is trying to use it. The plots have been revealed to some extent. Bonapartists and Legitimists alike have connived and intrigued with various elements in the revolutionary movement, hoping to obtain a following strong enough to attempt a coup d'etat and win the throne of France once more.

The government has acted promptly, and the dream may never be anything more than a dream. Paris is filled with soldiers, but the monarchists, remembering Paffaire Dreyfus, may regard that rather an advantage than otherwise.

Dream or reality, republic or monarchy—that is the question of France today.

TAKES STAND FOR ORDER.

"The first duty of a government worthy of the name," said M. Barrion, "is to insure order in the streets and freedom to work without interruption. We are resolved to apply the law without passion and without weakness to all disturbers of the peace, whoever they may be, whatever names they assume or whatever the end they seek. A country like France can prosper and develop commerce, increase wealth, and ameliorate the lot of the members of its social fabric only through order, peace and work. Violence can only benefit the forces of reaction and discredit the noblest cause."

Beat Assailant With Parasols

Two Ladies Forcibly Repelled a Drunken Insulter on Smith Street.

A gentleman whose veracity is unimpeachable and who is a personal friend of the ladies in the case, yesterday notified The Times that on Sunday morning, shortly before the church bells pealed their invitations to service, as two ladies, friends of his, were walking along Smith street, near Jackson Park, they were assaulted by a resident of the city, who was driving in a buggy. Their assailant was evidently under the influence of liquor. He attempted to caress one of the ladies, who is married. Fortunately being near her own home, and the man, now her husband come out of the house, jumping in his buggy, rapidly drove off. Before he made his "get away," the ladies, with most commendable pluck, roundly hammered the drunken blackguard with their parasols.

Damp Spring Weather Ruinous to Health

Causes Weakness, Headaches and Feeling of Unrest; the Cure is Simple.

That peculiar weakness so common in the spring, is demoralizing to body and mind alike.

Stupid, absent-minded and dull,—You feel the need of a stimulating tonic.

To impart quickness and great vitality to the entire system nothing acts like Ferrozone.

In a short time it makes you feel fit and fine, creates a feeling of youth and strength that's surprising.

Ferrozone revives and graces the sickly because it nourishes and builds up the organs that are weak. As a spring tonic, appetizer and blood-strengthener it is unequaled.

A well known resident of Utopia, Ont., Mr. H. H. Hastie, writes: "From long experience I am convinced that everyone requires medicine in the spring. As a rule the blood is thin and impure and the whole system is congested with poisons that should be carried off. I use Ferrozone because it clears up the system, gives you an appetite and makes you sleep well. One winter I had serious palpitation of the heart, nervous headaches, and an extreme tired feeling. Sleep was not restful and by spring I was in bad shape. I took six boxes of Ferrozone and was made the picture of health."

Ferrozone makes permanent cures. Absolutely safe because it is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol. Concentrated cure in tablet form,—that's Ferrozone, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, MAY 7, 1906

THE RIGHTS OF LABOR

New York is beginning to muster up the courage to fight the union labor men who have had that city by the throat for several years, retarding its building operations by strike disturbances and bloody assaults upon non-union men, and levying a tax upon men engaged in industrial enterprises who found it cheaper to buy off the blackmailing labor leaders than to suffer the losses of a strike. In sentencing a union iron worker to the penitentiary the other day for deadly assault upon a non-union worker, Recorder Goff summed up the case in this concise and comprehensive manner:

"I wish to say just a word to you, Hawkins, and if it could only reach men associated with you it would be a great benefit to this community. The law gives you and every workman the right to organize for the betterment of your condition; the right to sell your labor to the highest bidder; the right to refuse to labor for anyone that you don't like; the right to withhold your work except on conditions that are agreeable to you. The law even goes so far as to extend to you the right to persuade other men to adopt the same course, but when men representing organized labor step over the very broad and generous provisions of law and use violence as an argument to enforce their views for their fellow men, then the law is violated, and not only the rights of the individual are trampled upon, but the peace and safety of the community are in danger."

An admirable statement of the rights of labor, clearly drawing the deadline between liberty under beneficent laws and the tyranny which some classes of organized labor seek to impose upon industrial society. It was a pretty brave utterance, too, for a politician who who usually fears the union labor vote and betrays his duty rather than antagonize it. Recorder Goff's position is impregnable from any point of view.

WILL OPEN MILLS TODAY.

Montreal, May 6.—It is announced by the management that the Hochelaga and St. Ann's Mills of the Dominion Textile Co., will resume operations on Monday morning.

There has been no extension of the strike to any other mills and as the company, as the result of the conferences that the officials have had with the delegates from the employes of the different departments have received assurances that the wages offered to compromise are acceptable to a considerable number of the hands, the mills will be opened.

A BELATED INQUIRY.

Guelph, May 6.—Provincial Detective Greer and High Constable Merryweather, are up north to investigate the death of James Cannon, who was killed by a G.T.R. train near Goldstone in September last.

Dr. Morrow investigated the death at the time and reported it as accidental.

DUAL TRAGEDY AT ALTAR

Double Killing at Church in Spain During the Celebration of Mass.

Madrid, May 7.—Father Pedro Morales, a famous Jesuit priest, was celebrating mass at the high altar of the church of Santo Domingo Murcia today, when Father Martinez, who was assisting him, drew a revolver from beneath his cassock, shot Father Morales twice in the head, instantly killing him. Father Martinez then shot himself in the heart.

The reason for the murder and suicide, which caused the greatest excitement, is unknown. It is supposed Father Martinez was insane.

Father Morales was one of the most brilliant preachers in Spain.

A RISING PROFESSION.

Street Railroading's Opportunities and Some of Its Successes.

Street railroading has grown to be one of the important modern professions. Less than twenty years have passed since Richmond, Va., gave the first practical demonstration of the superiority of the trolley car over the old time horse car, yet today the buzz of the "people's automobile" is heard throughout the land, attracting not only millions of suburban travelers, but also thousands of men seeking a chance to climb the ladder of success.

For the fact is that street railroading is a business with rare opportunities. The man of humble birth has just as good a chance to rise in it as his more fortunate neighbor, though, as in other professions, the well educated man is likely to get along fastest. Oren Root, nephew of the secretary of state, for instance, who entered the business eight years ago after his graduation from college, is now general manager of the big Metropolitan system in New York city. But there are equally notable examples of the rise of less favored men. Richard T. Laffin, general manager of the street car system in Manila, started not many years ago as conductor on one of the suburban lines of the Boston Elevated Railway company. The president of the rapid transit system in New Orleans, E. C. Foster, some years ago drove a horse car between Lynn and Boston. Hugh J. McGowan, president of the street car lines of Cincinnati and Indianapolis, is another magnate who has risen from the ranks, and a very notable case is that of P. S. Sullivan, president of the Massachusetts Electric companies, who also began at the bottom of the ladder.

In Boston particularly, as strangers generally notice, the transportation system attracts on the whole perhaps the finest set of men to be found in public service anywhere. In the first place, as sobriety and honesty are prime qualifications and inexperience is no drawback, the Boston Elevated company gets the pick of the rising generation in the country to the north of the Puritan capital, and, on the other hand, the outdoor life as well as the opportunities to reach lucrative positions draw many well educated young men and others who have abandoned the overrun professions. The company has among its employees a poet of more than local reputation, a playwright who courts the dramatic muse between trips, a former editorial manager of a publishing house and a musician who was formerly a member of a well known band.

These Boston examples, which are no doubt typical of those to be found in every big city, go to show how attractive a calling the street railroading is nowadays to men of intelligence and good habits.

The Trade in Dried Flies.

A curious lawsuit came up in a London court recently which involved a balance against a corn dealer of 4 shillings "for dried flies." "What on earth do you do with them?" asked the astonished judge.

"They are used in the making of chicken food," replied the plaintiff. He explained that a bag of eighty-one pounds of dried flies was supplied to the defendant at eightpence a pound, and according to the custom of the trade the gross weight was charged for.

The defendant contended that he ought to pay only for the net weight.

"You surprise me when you talk about eighty-one pounds of dried flies in bulk," said the judge. "Where do you find all these flies?"

"They are imported."

"Where from?"

"America."

It is an export trade that deserves encouragement.

FOUND DEAD ON FLOOR.

Belleville, May 6.—John Cotton of this city died of heart disease here yesterday. He lived with his daughter, Annie, who worked out for a living. She went home at noon yesterday, and found her father lying dead upon the floor of their house.

KINGSTON SUFFERS, TOO.

Kingston, May 6.—At a meeting of the hotel men it was decided to raise the price of liquor sold over the bar. All "ease goods" liquors will now sell at 15 cents per glass, instead of 10 and drafted liquor is raised from 5 cents to 10. The prices of beer, etc., will remain the same, but the size of the glass will be decreased. The new regulations will go into force on the 15th.

BURNED TO DEATH

By Her Little Brother Was the Babe Left in an Armchair.

Winamac, Ind., May 7.—Mary Edith Connor, aged 13 months, the daughter of Monroe Connor, a farmer near here, was burned to death today, her four-year-old brother today. Mrs. Connor had left the baby in an armchair while he joined her husband, who was plowing in a field. During her absence her little boy started a fire among some newspapers, and his sister's clothing was ignited. Upon Mrs. Connor's return the child was found with clothing crisp, as well as the armchair.

to secure an investment that will bring you in dividends which will insure you an income for life.

The Pralin Mines Company offer for only a short time a limited amount of their Capital Stock at five cents per share. Capital $100,000. Owners of one of the richest mines in the worlds famous Lead and Zinc Mining District of Joplin, Mo. Lead ore is today selling for $70.00 per ton. Zinc ore at better than $50.00 per ton. Our one-hundred ton mill, which will soon be completed, will handle one-hundred tons of dirt per ten hour shift.

The most conservative estimates of experts state that this dirt will run from six to twenty per cent. pure Zinc. In addition the immense quantities of lead found in these deposits, which alone will undoubtedly pay all operating expenses, thus leaving from five to ten tons of Zinc per day, net profit.

Act at once, as this advertisement will not appear again. Thousands have made their fortunes in Zinc within the last few years. Join this band and become independent.

¶ Would you be open for an investment which will yield, with reasonable assurance, from 50 to 100 each year? We consider the AMALGAMATED MINING AND EXTRACTION CO., a safe, sound, high-class legitimate enterprize, and the stock at the present ground floor price of 10 Cents per Share, is without doubt a bargain which should certainly be taken advantage of by all conservative investors. We don't see how failure is possible; we have a great property which we can recommend without a shadow of a doubt. We have paying ore at grass roots. We need not go into details here as to our holdings. They are fully described in our prospectus which you may have for the asking. As this stock will rapidly increase in value we should suggest that you send in your order at once, while you have the chance to purchase at this low price of 10 Cents per share, as it will advance on the first of July. Forward your order today and own an interest in a winner.

AMALGAMATED MINING AND EXTRACTION COMPANY

1624 Curtis Street, Denver, Colo.

ONE OF THE RICHEST PROSPECTS EVER DISCOVERED.

The Iron Spar Mining Co.

The Iron Spar Copper Mining Co., owning valuable property on the divide between the States of Idaho and Montana, a copper proposition of exceptional promise, a property that even a novice, by personal inspection, ought to discern merits in, so apparent are the indications which guide the prospector in the work of making great mineral discoveries. An immense copper bearing ledge traverses the ground from east to west and is so well defined and conspicuous in its surface outcrop that anyone however unfamiliar with outward appearances of mineralization, once shown the ledge, may follow it uninterruptedly for several thousand feet. The fact is that copper ores appear in the vein gangue even to the grass roots.

The vein is large, 15 to 20 feet wide, and horizontally continuous across the whole extent of the claims, a distance of 6,000 feet. Being a true fissure and cutting the country formation at a considerable angle, it is entirely consistent with geological laws to suppose that it has also great vertical dimension.

Everybody who has made any study of the profits derived from successful copper mining operations can not have failed to observe the splendid and continuous dividends paid to investors. Copper mining has been so dependable a source of revenue throughout the world that today many investors prefer it to the more fickle high grade gold propositions. Look at the enormous and steady profits paid investors in all the great copper fields of the world, as viz: The Lake Superior mines in Michigan, Butte mines in Montana, Bisbee and Tombstone in Arizona, the mines of Utah, the great Tintic mines in Spain, and the Mexican mines. The demand for copper increases with the advance of civilization and the immense demand created by the growing popularization of electrical power justifies the belief that the supply will hardly keep pace with the demand for years to come. Copper mining is safe and profitable, once you have found a good property. That is just what we are trying to introduce to you, and you have this in the Iron Spar.

The sum of 400,000 shares of the fully paid capital stock was set aside as a treasury fund to be devoted to the improvement, development and equipment of the property. Nearly the entire block remains in the treasury at the present date, only so much having been drawn out as was necessary to defray the expenses of operation since the formation of the Company. The miners have all taken stock as pay instead of cash.

The undersigned has a limited number of Shares for sale at TEN CENTS per share. All interested should call or write at once.

USING A GAS STOVE.

How to Meet the Problem of Keeping Things Warm.

Keeping things warm is the problem which confronts every user of a gas stove.

Unless there is a broiling oven separate from the baking oven—and this is an expensive arrangement—there is no room in the ordinary gas range for keeping a course dinner hot. Even then the heat is of the kind that is death to both the flavor and looks of the dishes.

A way to manage a warming oven which is perfect, besides being out of the way, is to get a sheet iron or tin oven of the kind which is made to go on over coal oil or little flat gas stoves. Get just as large a one as you can possibly afford, as every extra square inch will pay you in more ways than one. Get a couple of deep iron brackets to set this on and fasten to the wall at a convenient height and distance from the stove. Under it set a low box or fasten a shelf and upon this set one of the little coal oil stove lamps that sell for a little over a quarter. You will find that the heat is of the mild and even kind that keeps things perfectly. The top is an ideal place for raising bread, and things which require slow baking, as custard or rice, can be cooked in it to the saving of gas.

In a kitchen in which a coal range keeps its place beside the gas stove the problem is made simple by setting the little lamp under the warming oven of the range while cooking by gas.—Exchange.

FRENCH BREAD.

The Way It Is Made and Why It Is Always Sweet.

French bread is always sweet and good according to the way in which it is baked. A French baker never makes a thick loaf, no matter what the shape. The loaves are two-thirds crust and are so thin that the heat strikes through them almost as soon as they are put in the oven. This stops all fermentation, while in a large loaf the process goes on a long time before it is put in the oven, and part of the sweetness is lost.

Another point which helps make the peculiar sweetness of French bread is that it is baked a long time in an oven that is made "slow" after the first few minutes.

The glazing of the loaf is produced by a pipe with which professional French bakers throw steam into the oven, and the moist heat, coming in contact with the dextrin in the bread, changes it into what is called British gum. It is, however, the glaze which improves the bread not only in looks, but in flavor, and a good imitation of it can be acquired in the ordinary oven by keeping in it a pan of hot water.—Exchange.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES.

Dates are excellent for people with consumptive tendencies, are very easily digested and contain abundance of sugar.

Malic acid is peculiarly helpful to the body, and apples, pears, plums, peaches and cherries all contain it. Tomatoes also contain it.

Potatoes, the old standby, contain all the inorganic elements of the body except fluorin. They contain a quantity of potassium salts—good for nerve and muscle.

Lemons are excellent for curing colds or allaying feverishness. Their citric acid supplies the blood with a cooling agent, making this fruit a febrifuge. Oranges act in the same way, but with slightly less strength.

Tomatoes are among the fruits rich in potash, especially good for the blood and with a marked action on digestive operations. They provide alkaline matter for the bile and are wholesome for people who suffer from jaundice or sick headaches.

Resemblance to Shaw.

A. G. Hales, the war correspondent, writing in London Opinion and To-day on the unequal talent to be found in the House of Commons, tells a story he heard of a cocksomb who was once mistaken for Bernard Shaw. He and Mr. Shaw were once in the same Turkish bath, lying on slabs, with towels over their faces. The attendant came along and touched the coxcomb on the shoulder. "Ready, Mr. Shaw?" he said. The coxcomb bounded to his feet, all aglow with pleasure at being mistaken for a man of intellect. After he had been rubbed down he gave the attendant half a sovereign, for so full was he of the pride that goeth before a fall. As he turned to go he said, "Er—my man—of—what made you mistake me for Bernard Shaw?" The attendant grinned. "Er—well, sir, you see, sir, you 'ave the same sized feet."

Played Chess and Music Together.

There is perhaps no sounder musician living than Sir Walter Parratt, the master of the King's music, and it would require something of a musical genius to accomplish the feat Sir Walter performed when staying with some musical friends at Tenbury some years ago. To while away the evening chess was suggested, and Sir Walter proposed that he should sit at the piano and play from memory, while he opposed two friends on the chessboard at the same time. The challenge was accepted, and with his back to the board Sir Walter sat at the piano and played Chopin and Mendelssohn, calling out his moves whenever necessary. He won the game in three-quarters of an hour.—London Queen.

England's Problem of Unemployed.

If the manning of British ships with national seamen became universal in practice there would be a living found for 40,000 of the unemployed.—Byron and Shipping.

Cold Water For Sprained Wrist.

A simple and efficacious remedy for a sprained wrist is to let water run upon it every morning for some minutes, holding the wrist as low beneath the mouth of the tap as possible, so that the water may have a good fall. After this has been done bandage it tightly, letting the bandage remain until the next ablution. The sprain will be reduced in a few days.

HEAT AND COLD.

Showing How the One Expands and the Other Contracts.

Here is a pretty experiment with some needles and a piece of cork, illustrating the principles of expansion by heat and contraction by cooling.

Cut an ordinary cork stopper in half down the middle and, leaving the flat part as the top, scoop a semicircular piece out of the side, as shown in Fig. 1. Now stick the point of a needle into one side, A, and let the eye of the needle rest lightly on top of the other side of the cork, B.

Take a second needle and stick it upright into the cork, letting its point pass through the eye of needle No. 1. Next to needle No. 2 stick a third one into the cork in an upright position also. You are now ready for your experiment, as shown in Fig. 2. Light a candle and, holding the cork on the side away from the needles, thrust the middle of the horizontal needle into the flame. The heat will make the needle expand, throwing the needle that is stuck through its eye out of its perpendicular position. As you remove it from the flame and the needle cools it will contract, and the second needle will return to its original position.

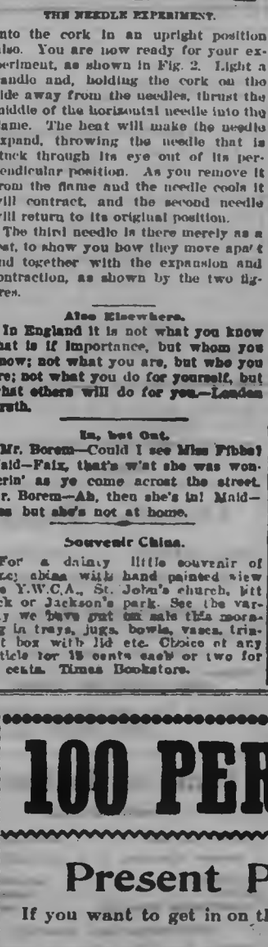

Fig 2.

THE NEEDLE EXPERIMENT.

The third needle is there merely as a test, to show you how they move apart and together with the expansion and contraction, as shown by the two figures.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $5 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5, renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

No Medicine Cures so Many Sick, Overstrained, Despondent, Weak People as DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS

The One True Medicine for Health and Strength

You will realise, as you read the following letters, the grand work being done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They have a direct action on the blood, nerves, heart kidneys and liver. All weakness is turned into strength, new energy and nourishing blood are created, buoyant good health is established in a short time.

DISCOURAGED WOMEN FOUND NEW HOPE.

"I had pretty nearly given myself up as incurable, and was made very sickly all the time, had headache, poor digestion and sinking feeling. On rising in the morning there was a feeling of awful weariness.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped from the first. They must have strengthened my blood, for I gained in strength as soon as I took them. Steady improvement followed, and I am now completely cured."

Mrs. M. E. Benson, Woodstock.

STRENGTH AND SPIRITS IMPROVED.

"No medicine could possibly be better than Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes Mr. Jos. Devine from Ottawa. "I had pains in the back and side, caused by kidney trouble, was bothered considerably with headache, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me quickly. I can recommend them to every man."

You'll become vigorous and strong, enjoy a good appetite, your sleep will be dreamless and sound, after regulating your system with Dr. Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Price 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bell Leaving Town.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bell of Park street, will leave for the North-west in a few days. Mr. Bell went out west some time ago, and a few months ago returned to the city. He is now going out to stop with Mason who has taken up land there. Mr. Bell has rented his farm near Crawford's Grove for three years.

Dominion Express Co. Will Build.

Tenders have been let for the new depot office of the Dominion Express Company, at the C.P.R. station. The erection of this office is necessary on account of the great increase in traffic which the C.P.R. have been recently experiencing. Work on the new building will be begun very soon.

To Reorganize York Loan Co.

A Toronto despatch says: "Mr. Thomas Crawford's bill to reorganize the York Loan and Savings Company in Ebby to be left over until the next session of the Legislature. It is said that the Government is not favorable to the bill. Its object is the election of a body from the shareholders of the company, to look after its affairs.

Anniversary Services in St. Andrews'

Rev. Prof. Kilpatrick of Knox College, Toronto, preached at both morning and evening services, at the anniversary services held in St. Andrews church on Sunday. His sermons were eloquent, interesting and impressive. At the morning service the choir rendered the anthem, "Te Deum," the solo part being taken by Mrs. Atkinson. A solo, "My God and Father While I Stray," was splendidly rendered by Mrs. (Dr.) Faust. At the evening service the anthem was "The Lord is My Shepherd," the solo part being taken by Mrs. (Dr.) Faust. Miss Busby sang "He Wipes the Tears from Every Eye."

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—City Council met last night. Particulars in another column.

—The Peterboro Quakers practised yesterday evening at Riverside Park.

—An adjourned vestry meeting of All Saints' church, was held last night.

—The young ladies who attended the social at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday evening wore their gymnasium suits.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Charlotte street Guild will be held this evening in the Guild room.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's church held their annual tea yesterday evening. A good program was rendered.

—Chief Bigford was called out yesterday morning to extinguish a small grass fire at the corner of Rubidge and Edinburgh streets.

Whenever your bowels skip a day without a movement—take a LAX-ET. Whenever your breath is bad—your skin waxy, or sallow—your tongue coated—your breath foul—take a LAX-ET only 5c. Sold by J. D. Tully.

—The Locust Hill football champions of the Midland League have at last handed over the Stratton Cup to Bowmanville, the rightful owners this season.

—The Board of Education held a special meeting yesterday evening to consider the awarding of tenders for the erection of the new south ward school.

—A meeting of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held in the rooms yesterday evening to make arrangements for the funeral of the late Brother Patrick Carney.

—With yesterday's chilly weather heartfelt thanks were in evidence over the alleged ending of the threatened coal strike. It won't be hard to bear brighter prices at this time of the year.

—Detective Wells, who attended the Spring Assizes, left here a few days ago, has thrown much light upon the now celebrated Barton murder, which will probably lead to a complete solution.

Misfortune Follows the Sager Family

It will be remembered that the Sager family who recently left this city to live in Buffalo, N.Y., had the misfortune to sustain a continued series of misfortunes. It seems that their misfortune has followed them to their adopted home as word has been received here that one of the boys, whilst riding on a street car in that city, fell from the car, injuring himself so seriously that his life is now despaired of. Full details have not yet been received, but his injuries will probably prove fatal.

"Those who have taken other laxatives without satisfaction—and those who have taken such quantities of other laxatives that they have lost their effect—will find a pleasant surprise in LAX-ETS. There is usually no pain, griping, nausea or discomfort even in severe cases. This candy bowel laxative—LAX-ETS—is only 5c. and is sold by J. D. Tully.

Mr. Kennedy Tells His Experience

As noted in these columns before, Evangelist H. D. Kennedy, well known in this city, is now laboring in the vineyard at Sebastopol, near Santa Rosa, Cal., and was through the earthquake.

The Times was yesterday in receipt of a letter from Mr. Kennedy, in which he gives his experience during the terrible disaster. Mr. Kennedy, among other things says;

I have seen some strange accounts concerning the earthquake in the Canadian press, and probably a few lines from me will set the minds of some of my Canadian friends at ease if you will be kind enough to publish this letter. I had a great trip but have spent three days at Moody's college in Chicago, and saw many of my old friends. I arrived here April 15th. This town is six miles from Santa Rosa, and about 50 miles from San Francisco. Work opened here very promising indeed, on April 15th, and for a few nights we had great crowds, and I intended going from here to Santa Rosa, then to Oakland, then to one of the San Francisco churches, but on Wednesday morning, April 18th, the earthquake turned the face of things. We were all in bed (They let us sleep three hours later here in the morning than at home). Every thing in my bedroom tumbled over and the pictures on the wall turned wrong side out. It seemed that some one had hold of our house and was shaking it the way a mother does her bad boy after she has told him a dozen times to be quiet, and he won't do it. The ground began to wave like the waves of the ocean, and the trees and telegraph poles to and fro till the tops touched the earth. It was like a sea-storm on land for a while, and the "prince of the power of the air," seemed to be having his way. In less than two minutes our town was almost totally flat, the business part being entirely ruined. Brick and stone buildings faced the worst, and as many of the dwelling houses were wooden, they came off safer. If it had occurred two hours later after the fires were started, and after the people were in their stores it would no doubt have proved much worse, both to property and life. No one was hurt here at all, though there are 20,000 inhabitants. Our church was not injured at all.

This is the garden of the continent; roses and lilies are as common as dandelions at home. We have strawberries three times a day, and a car of provisions standing in the middle of our town for the needy. I am safe and well, and the climate is doing me lots of good, but I don't want to see any more earthquakes.

Santa Rosa and San Francisco fared much worse, and all three are brought to a common level, and the millionaire and the workingman all line up and take their turns as provisions are passed. Still the people do not seem discouraged, and are rebuilding again. Kind regards to all Peterboro friends and best wishes for yourself.

Yours truly,
H. D. KENNEDY.

Sebastopol, Cal., May 2nd.
P.S.—Send me paper to above address.

—Rev. E. A. Lochfeldt has been invited to preach next Sunday at Grace church, Brantford, of which the Venerable Archdeacon Mackenzie is rector, and to deliver the lecture on "The Evolution of the Boy," under the auspices of the Young People's Society of that church.

A SUDDEN DEATH

The outcome of a friendly visit resulted Sunday night, with fearful and disastrous results, when Mrs. Andrew Steele, of Ord, Nebraska, who had been visiting friends in Peterboro, went to spend Sunday with Mr. Edward Davis who resides a few miles out of the city. Mrs. Steele was seemingly in the best of health, but shortly after retiring she remarked to her husband, who was with her, that she was in serious pain and a few minutes later exclaimed, "I'm afraid I'm going to die" and passed away before anything could be done for her. A doctor was hastily summoned, but to no purpose. It is expected that her death was due to heart failure. Although she had never suffered from heart trouble before.

Mrs. Steele was fifty-two years of age and her maiden name was [illegible] Sabin.

She is survived by her husband and ten children, five sons and five daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Jas. McDowell, Mrs. Mary Johnston, Mrs. O. W. Wood, and Miss Grace and Miss Alice Steele, of Nebraska. The sons are James T., Jr., James, William and Lyle Steele.

Five sisters also survive, including Mrs. W. Squires, Peterboro, with whom the deceased had been visiting.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from 75 Albert street to Little Lake cemetery, Rev. W. Major officiating.

Murray Street Church Notes.

Ten new members were received in Murray street Baptist church on Sunday. There were large congregations present at both services, and interesting sermons were preached by Rev. Mr. Cross. The regular meeting of the B.Y.P.U. was held last night. Tonight a social will be held under the auspices of the Willing Workers Society. The regular week-night prayer service will be held tomorrow evening. A meeting of the deacons will be held on Thursday night.

THE Food Cure

Put in the body what NATURE NEEDS

Find that in

GRAPE-NUTS

HOW TO BUILD A BODY

One of the most important discoveries of late is the application of the right kind of food to rebuild the lost substances of the body, thrown off by the active, nervous work of Americans.

Careful investigation by experts in food and dietetics has brought out the fact that albumen, which is contained in various foods, is acted upon by phosphate of potash, not such as obtained in drug stores, but such as is found in certain parts of the field grains in most minute particles, arranged in Nature's laboratory, not man's.

The part of the grains containing phosphate of potash is used in the manufacture of Grape-Nuts food, therefore the active, nervous, pushing brain-worker can feed the body with food that goes directly to the rebuilding of the broken-down gray matter in the brain, solar plexus and nerve centres all over the body, with the result that the individual who refreshes and rebuilds the body with proper material of this sort, obtains a definite result, which he can feel and know of and which is apparent to his friends.

A vigorous brain and nervous system is of the greatest importance to any business man or brain worker.

Are You Tired, Nervous and Sleepless?

Nervousness and sleeplessness are usually due to the fact that the nerves are not fed on properly nourishing blood; they are starved nerves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood, and thereby the nerves are properly nourished and all the organs of the body are run as smoothly as machinery which runs in oil. In this way you feel clean, strong and strenuous—you are toned up and invigorated, and you are good for a whole lot of physical or mental work. Best of all, the strength and increase in vitality and health are lasting.

The trouble with most tonics and medicines which have a large, booming sale for a short time, is that they are largely composed of alcohol holding the drugs in solution. This alcohol shrinks up the red blood corpuscles, and in the long run greatly injures the system. One may feel exhilarated and better for the time being, yet in the end weakened and with vitality decreased. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol. Every bottle of it bears upon its wrapper, The Badge of Honesty, in a full list of all its several ingredients. For the druggists to offer you something he claims is "just as good" is to insult your intelligence.

Every ingredient entering into the world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery" has the unanimous approval and endorsement of the leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice. No other medicine sold through druggists for like purposes has any such endorsement.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only produces all the good effects to be obtained from the use of Golden Seal root, in all stomach, liver and bowel troubles, as in dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, ulceration of stomach and bowels and kindred ailments, but the Golden Seal root used in its compounding is greatly enhanced in its curative action by other ingredients such as Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure triple-refined glycerine.

"The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. For 50 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, biliousness and headache.

Hoodlums Wreck a Bridge.

On Sunday the foot bridge over the creek at Stewart street gave way. The city engineer yesterday, stated that the bridge mentioned had only been built some ten years, and that it was in good repair, when as usual, it was examined in the spring. It seems that toughs of the city make a practice of destroying all destructable city property, and this bridge has suffered by their nefarious depredations. The bridge has been repaired.

Mrs. Northcott Arrives in the City.

After a sea voyage replete with exciting incidents, Mrs. Northcott mother of Mr. Walker Northcott, Park street, arrived in the city yesterday morning from England. Mrs. Northcott is 73 years old, yet she enjoyed the long voyage. She came over on the Virginian, from her home at Reading, Berkshire. Mr. Walter Northcott was the first settler from that city to locate in Peterboro, coming here three years ago. Since his arrival, he has been largely instrumental in getting fifteen families from Reading to locate here. On the voyage across the Atlantic on the Virginian a man in a fit of despondency, took the route to oblivion by jumping overboard into the briny deep.

C. G. E. Co. Taxes Fixed By Council

Mr. E. G. Patterson's Request for a Fixed Assessment Subject to Certain Named Additions, Passes.

Last night the City Council met in special session. Those present were Mayor Hall in the chair, Aldermen Adams, McIntyre, Wilson, Duncan, Ball, Graham, Elliott, McWilliams, Munro, Tovey and Hicks.

The following communication was read from the Canadian General Electric Co., viz;

The Canadian General Electric Company intends to extend its buildings and plant, either here or at its property in the township of York, near Toronto.

One of the advantages of putting the extension near Toronto, is that the company's assessment there is fixed at $150,000 for 20 years, from January 1, 1903, and no additional taxes would be imposed. Further as the property is in the Township of York the taxes would be township taxes.

The company now has a fixed assessment of $100,000 on property originally acquired, on which school taxes only are payable, and this extends until 1910. I am naturally anxious, as manager of the works here, to have the extension made here, and if the council would give the company the same terms as in the Township of York, I could secure this being done here.

If the council will agree to give the company a fixed assessment of $150,000, including business tax for 20 years on all property now owned by the company in Peterboro, or hereafter purchased for manufacturing purposes, this to be done by bylaw, to be confirmed by the Legislature, the company is prepared to spend from $200,000 to $400,000 in increasing its manufacturing facilities here.

In the event of the Legislature insisting that the school taxes shall be paid on the full assessable value of the company's property, that the fixed assessment for general rates, other than school taxes, be fixed at $100,000. The terms of this bylaw to be from the termination of our present agreement with the city.

The company, upon the passing of the bylaw by the Council, are prepared to start and prepare plans and calls for tenders for the addition of buildings required.

Yours respectfully,
E. G. PATTERSON.

Canadian General Electric Co.

Some discussion brought up by the Mayor was had, concerning the length of time, when the proposed fixed assessment would come in force. The company do now enjoyed for school purposes only, their present arrangement runs to 1910.

Mr. E. G. Patterson said it was now up to the company to decide whether they would spend their money on improvements here or in Toronto. They have a fixed assessment in Toronto of $120,000. When they go to their stockholders they have to state what they are going to spend and where. The present arrangement expires in 1910. He then went on to specify what they intended to do in the way of extensions, saying they would spend from $200,000 to $400,000. Their present taxes at six mills on the dollar on say $100,000 for school purposes is $600 a year.

The Mayor here asked Mr. Patterson, "How much do you intend to spend?" Mr. Patterson explained that the property they have purchased, or intend to purchase, will until 1910 pay the regular mill taxes. If they simply leave the land unused they have bought, without building, the land and have to pay the taxes. By moving to Toronto, they would not have to pay any more taxes. He then went on to explain how they had to pay 65 cents more per ton on coal in Peterboro than in Toronto.

In answer to Ald. Elliott's question, the property they recently bought, pays about $300 a year taxes.

Ald. Adams said, the city should no hesitate, if anything reasonable could be attained, but should close with the electric company. The company should, however, pay the full school taxes upon the property. He then referred to the possible increase of employes when the new buildings are completed, and said it was not necessary to embody the number of men in the bylaw.

Ald. Tovey said there was no spare room at the works, and any new buildings would be used for manufacturing purposes.

Ald. Hicks moved, that as the company's request was for a fixed assessment on $150,000, while they would spend much more than this in new buildings, that the application of the company be adopted, and that a bylaw to endorse it should be drafted.

Ald. Munro advocated encouraging the company and seconded the motion.

Ald. Ball expressed himself as in touch with the motion. His people receive no benefit from the school taxes.

Ald. McIntyre advocated passing the motion, as did Ald. Elliott.

Ald. McWilliams thought the proposition was just and fair. The city made a good bargain when they got the C.G.E. Co.

Ald. Hicks then rose to call attention to possible future local improvements.

Mr. Patterson then said that the company would never stand in the way of the city as to sanitary or other local improvements just because, on certain streets, they were the largest land owners. He was quite agreeable that local improvement taxes should be incorporated in the bylaw.

Ald. Duncan, Graham and Wilson, all admitted that the company's request was very reasonable.

Ald. Hick's resolution was then read as before noted, with the addition that the company shall pay local improvement taxes if so imposed.

A resolution was then passed ordering the city solicitor to draft a bylaw in accordance with the resolution.

Mr. Kendry addressed the council concerning a fixed assessment of the Auburn mills. The company has, he said, spent considerable sums in improvements lately. He asked the council to put his company on a fixed assessment. The company is anxious to develope their property, but do not want the assessors to raise their taxes from year to year. He has not asked anything of the council before. What he asked was to be treated as other manufacturers. He asked a fixed assessment of $50,000. The company has been paying on an assessment of about $64,000 to $65,000.

Ald. McWilliams noted that Mr. Kendry's written application included the water power, and asked if this was to be included. Mr. Kendry explained that the company owns the mill and the water power were the same body.

Ald. McWilliams then showed how, many years ago, the Auburn company got assistance from the city. Mr. Kendry showed that this was "Ancient history," and that since the city had got possession, the city had done nothing for the Auburn company.

Ald. Adams brought up the subject of the recent death of a horse belonging to the fire brigade.

Moved by Ald. Hicks that the Fire, Water & Light Committee be authorized to buy horses as required.—Carried.

The bylaw referring to the contract for building the fire hall, and letting the contract to Mr. Carveth, then received attention, and passed through its several readings.

WHO GETS REWARD?

Two Boys Escape From Mimico Industrial School.

Chief Rowe was yesterday in receipt of the following communication from Mr. C. Ferrier, superintendent of the Mimico Industrial School which read thusly;

"On April 26th, two boys made their escape from the Industrial School, Mimico.

William Toole, 14 years old, small for his age; has small freckled features, dark complexion, blue eyes and dark brown hair. He came from Walter's Falls, near Owen Sound.

"Percy Dyson, aged 13, has light hair, fair complexion, blue eyes and came from Guelph, but his father resides in Winnipeg.

"When they left the school, they took little or no clothing with them, having escaped from the dormitories in their night shirts, made of blue striped cotton; consequently no description of their clothing can be given. A reward of $10 will be given for their capture."

Sixty Years Ago Sleighs In Use

Those who grumbled at the comparatively cold weather of yesterday, may congratulate themselves when they learn that this day, sixty years ago, the merry twinkle of sleigh-bells were heard in the streets of Peterboro.

Mr. R. W. Errett yesterday, unfurled The Times that he distinctly remembers the 9th of May, 1846. On that day the late Rev. U. M. Rogers, father of ex-Mayor G. M. Rogers, united in marriage at the old kirk (St. Andrew's church), Mr. Robert Ford of Smith, and Miss Jones of Fowler's Corners.

There was a large number at this wedding, the happy couple being very popular, and also owing to the fine sleighing, friends drove into town from great distances.

Miller Got Sixteen Years.

Malone, N. Y., May 9.—Herbert Miller pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree for shooting his wife last October, and was sentenced to serve sixteen years in prison.

Long Fight Against Typhus.

City of Mexico, May 9.—The typhus epidemic is practically stamped out only two cases and one death being reported yesterday. Since October there have been 9,873 cases, and 788 deaths.

Mother Murdered Daughter.

New York, May 9.—Mrs. Mary A. Waters and her daughter, Agatha, were shot and instantly killed, supposedly by the mother, during a fit of temporary insanity, at their residence, 144 West 76th street, early yesterday. Mrs. Waters was 55 years of age, and the wife of John R. Waters, vice-president of the Irving National Bank.

Minister Charged With Arson.

Waterloo, N. Y., May 9.—Rev. C. Stuart Bain was arrested yesterday, charged with the crime of arson in the third degree, in having set fire to his own church, the First Baptist, which was burned down on the night of March 6.

A SUDDEN DEATH

Mr. W. B. Talbot Passes Away, an Octogenarian.

Yesterday much regret and astonishment was in evidence when the news became general that Mr. Wm. Talbot had passed away at the family residence, 37 Dennistoun Ave. The deceased was 80 years of age and was born in Weymouth, England. He came to Canada when thirty years of age, and ten years ago, moved from Cavan to Peterboro, where he has lived ever since. His life was characterized by an interest taken in the welfare of the people generally.

Mrs. Talbot, with two sons and one daughter survive. The sons are Albert L. and W. E. Talbot, and the daughter is Mrs. A. E. Flewell, all of this city.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 to the Little Lake cemetery.

FIGHT FOR AN EARLDOM

Toronto Has Likely to Be Earl of Airth and Menteith.

Toronto, May 9.—On the decision in a case before the British House of Lords rests the succession to the vacant Scottish Earldom of Airth and Menteith, and, according to reliable authorities, the result will be to place Mr. George Marshall Graham, of this city, in full possession of the title to this ancient Scottish earldom. There are two claimants to this earldom, Robert Barclay-Allardice, mayor of Lostwithiel, Cornwall, and Mr. Graham. The former is of humble origin on the paternal side and bases his claim on his maternal descent, while the latter is descended on the paternal side not only from the earldom of Menteith, but also from the earldom of Strathern, (Created 1631). The present Premier of Great Britain, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, is descended from Mr. Graham's house.

Mr. Plouffe Is Now a Benedict

A most interesting ceremony was that celebrated yesterday morning in St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mr. Eugene Plouffe of Ottawa, son of ex-Ald. M. Plouffe of that city, became the husband of Miss Margaret Moher, second eldest daughter of Mr. Daniel Moher, 20 Patterson street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McCosh in the presence of a large number of friends and guests. The wedding march was played by Miss M. Doherty. The bridesmaid was Miss Lana Plouffe of Ottawa, sister of the groom. Mr. Jas. Moher, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride was attired in a beautiful costume of cream silk voilenne over taffeta, prettily draped with embroidered chiffon. She wore a large picture hat of white.

The bride's traveling dress was of dark green. Her traveling hat was of white panama trimmed with pale blue velvet and wings.

The bridesmaid was attired in a costume of white silk trimmed with pink chiffon.

After the ceremony at the cathedral the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's father, where about fifty guests enjoyed the wedding breakfast catered by Mr. Harry Long.

The happy couple left on the 11.35 C.P.R. train for Ottawa, where an elaborate reception was tendered them last night.

The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful assortment of pearls

MRS. REVELL BURIED

Funeral of Widely Respected Lady Largely Attended.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Robt. Revell, who, as noted in yesterday's issue, died Saturday evening, took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, 333 Rogers street, east ward to Little Lake cemetery. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt.

Much regret was expressed over Mrs. Revell's lamented death, not only among her friends in Peterboro, but at her old home at Woodstock. Her life was one of kind and noble acts, and her death brought sincere regret to many a family.

Grand Trunk Buys Land.

London, Ont., May 9.—The G. T. R. Company have purchased more private property here within the last few days. It is stated that the company within the past two years has expended $750,000 for property in London.

Highwaymen Near Toronto.

Toronto, May 9.—Albert Watson, a butcher, of Malton, was held up on the York Mills road by highwaymen and robbed of $150. He was driving home from Toronto after selling a load of beef, and had on him about $150 when held up.

Will Proceed With Action.

Ottawa, May 9.—Mr. John Murphy will proceed with his action against the Hull and Ottawa Power and Manufacturing Company. The appeals maintained in the Court of Appeals, Montreal, was against the interlocutory injunction granted Mr. Murphy, prohibiting the company from using the invention from thawing the frazil and slush from water wheels.

A NEW REMEDY

Cure Recommended by Celebrated Explorer Proves Efficacious.

Berlin, May 9.—Dr. Heffa, one of the members of the commission for developing Teneriffe, who recently returned from that place, where he assisted at a reception to King Alfonso, relates that while on the voyage out he employed with the greatest success, for the first time, a cure for seasickness recommended to him by the celebrated explorer, Rugen Wolff, of Munich.

On this occasion he applied hot linen bandages to the forehead and tied them as tightly as possible. The bandages were renewed about every minute and a half for half an hour, after which Hoffa lay down for an hour. On rising all symptoms had entirely disappeared.

The doctor says the symptoms did not return during the entire voyage, although the roughest weather was experienced.

WHIPPED SCHOOL-MASTER

Brother of Little Girl Who Was Chastised, Took Summary Punishment.

Brockville, May 9.—Corporal punishment administered by a school teacher named F. Holmes, employed at Stanley, in Grenville County, has led to novel legal complications. Holmes chastized a little girl named Johnston, and the same day her brother thrashed the schoolmaster. An action was brought in the Division Court by Holmes against Johnston for damages as a vindication before the public of his position in the school section. Judge McDonald found that the plaintiff had exceeded the punishment that was ordinarily necessary upon so young a child, and refused to allow damages.

He found Johnston guilty for a breach of the law and imposed a fine of $1 and costs. Holmes intends to contest the case in a higher court before a jury, and thereby ascertain whether or not the old time exercise of the right of whipping by country school masters is to be allowed in future. In the meantime Holmes, feeling that his usefulness in the section is gone, has resigned his position.

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt Warmly Praised

Referring to one of Peterboro's most popular clergymen, the Omemee Mirror says:

A lecture was delivered by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., of St. Luke's church, Peterboro, in Christ church, Omemee, under the auspices of the Girls' Guild on Friday evening last.

The Rev. J. H. Teney, the rector, occupied the chair and introduced the lecturer in fitting terms. The title of the lecture was "The Evolution of a Boy," but it would be hard to decline the subject by any appropriate descriptive phrase. The incidents that formed the occasion for Mr. Langfeldt's humor ranged all the way from the trials and tribulations of Adam under the very disadvantageous circumstances in which he was placed in raising his boy to the vicissitudes in the life of a modern boy from the cradle to the grave. And there was not an incident in that strange, eventful history that did not afford Mr. Langfeldt an opportunity for the most mirth-provoking humor or the most heart-touching pathos. Then, too, the quality of his humor is original and unique, and, because of this, all the more irresistible. There were passages in the lecture that perhaps reminded one of certain features in one or other of the great American humorists, but Mr. Langfeldt's humor does not consist in unconscionable exaggeration—which seems to be the chief characteristic of American humor—nor does it consist in belittling and degrading sublime and holy things, or events, as is the manner of some Yankee humorists. If it has any kinship with any modern humor, it is to that of Mr. Jerome's as shown by his "Three Men in a Boat." It is the humor of incident and emotion. It is founded on the affection and a profound sympathy for human nature, and thus consists in seeing with a sympathetic eye the laughable side of the various incidents in our daily life. As it does not contain a particle of ill-nature, sarcasm is excluded; thus it does not leave in the mouth a bitter taste such as the irony that Dean Swift gives us. Thus it is that Mr. Langfeldt is able to give his hearers an hour and a half of pure enjoyment such as one gets from a comedy by Oliver Goldsmith. It has been the privilege of The Mirror to listen to lectures by most of American humorists; but from none of them was derived more pure, fine and unalloyed pleasure than that afforded by Mr. Langfeldt's lecture.

Rioters Shot By Police.

Passaic, N. J., May 9.—In a fierce battle between riotous Italian strikers and the police on Saturday four of the rioters were shot and a number of policemen injured. One of the men shot may die. Thirty-two men were made prisoners by the police.

Drowned at Quebec.

Quebec, May 9.—A young man, named Tremblay, 21 years of age, while rolling a coil of wire on to the steamer Frontenac yesterday afternoon, fell into the river and was drowned in full sight of a large crowd of people, who seemed too excited to render him any assistance.

Tells of Brutal Murder.

Merrill, Man., May 9.—Children herding cattle, near Lowe farm, found a body on the prairie and revealed to the authorities the first evidence of a brutal murder, which had been committed months ago. The jawbone of the dead man is also broken, and there were other indications of violent death, but the body had been partially devoured by wolves when found. Deceased is believed to have been one of two foreigners who disappeared last fall and who evidently was murdered by his companion for his wages.

Sympathetic Lepers.

Honolulu, May 9.—The lepers at the settlement of Molokai have held a mass meeting at which they adopted lengthy and eloquently worded resolutions in the Hawaiin language expressing sympathy for the sufferers from the San Francisco fire.

They also raised a relief fund representing the subscriptions of 600 persons who each gave from 5 cents up. The resolutions passed by the lepers are of a profoundly religious tone and provide for the forwarding of the resolutions to Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco. The money has been sent to the Honolulu Board of Health.

Murderer Escapes From the Asylum

Chalabrand or Charirand, Who Shot Constable at Webwood, Got Out by Cutting Iron Bar, and Escaped with Aid of Rope and Yawl.

Kingston, May 9.—Jos. Chalabran, alias Charirand, sentenced to be hang ed at Sault Ste. Marie for murder, but who later had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment on the plea of insanity, made his escape from the insane asylum at the penitentiary yesterday. It is thought he got several hours start.

He was put in his cell at night, and in the morning was gone. It is said he cut his iron barriers in the cell, and in the window a rope, which dangled from the wall, showed how he had escaped and scaled the eminence. The prisoner had been in the asylum for nearly two years.

Chalabran was aged 28, a sailor, weighed 140 pounds, was five feet, nine and one-quarter inches high, complexion fair, eyes grey, brown hair, bir hmark on left leg back f knee, two scars on head. One hundred dollars is offered as a reward for Chalabran's capture. The matter of the escape will be investigated by the inspector.

GOT AWAY IN A YAWL.

It seems that after dropping from the wall on the west side, the convict cut loose the yawl of the schooner Marshall, landing there at the prison wharf, and took to the water himself over to Portsmouth. The yawl was no further used. It is thought that the convict has escaped by way of the water, as he was an expert at it.

It was six years since a prisoner successfully got away. That convict hid in a building while the gang were marched back from the farm. He was never caught. It was some or of years since a convict got away from the inside. His going out generally requires aid.

Chalabrand left in his prison garb, a red and grey check. Guards and keepers are watching all the means of exit from the city, but so far have secured no trace.

Chalabrand was found guilty of murdering Constable Irwin, who went to arrest him on a train standing at Webbwood station, not far from the Soo. He escaped, and had his liberty for several days, but in the man hunt that followed, he was caught in a swamp.

The convicts were not allowed out of the cells today, the guards being used in the search. Deputy Warden O'Leary is dangerously ill with pneumonia.

Public School Baseball League

At the annual meeting of the Public School Baseball League, held in the Y.M.C.A. hall, the officers for the year were elected and the schedule drawn up for the season.

Mr. T. J. Wallace, the retiring president, occupied the chair, and the following officers were elected;

Hon. Pres.—W. H. Hall.
Pres.—D. Walker, B.A.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. Walkey.
Secretary—J. W. Kelly.
Executive Committee — Principals of the different schools.

It was decided that five innings should constitute a game.

The following schedule was arranged;—

Senior—

A. Monday, June 4 — Central vs. Separate, at Central Park.

B. Wednesday, June 6 — Ashburnham vs. South Central at Central Park.

C. Friday, June 8 — Winners of A play B at Riverside Park.

Junior—

A. May 28 — North Ward vs. George street at Nichols Oval.

B. May 28—Central vs. Separate at Central Park.

C. May 28 — South Central vs. Ashburnham at Riverside Park.

D. May 30— West Ward and winners of A, at Central Park.

E. May 30—Winners of B and C at Riverside Park.

June 1— Winners of D and E at Riverside Park.

Winners of each game are to see that results of each game are reported to the press.

The series of games promises to be of considerable interest, as the teams have been strengthened materially since last year.

Home After Thirty-Five Years' Absence

Morristown, N.J., May 8.—There was joy in the village of Vernon, near Sussex, last week, when Anna Mabee, of whom nothing had been heard for thirty-five years, returned to the home of her sister, Mrs. Hunter Mabee Lyon.

When Anna was six years old a hand organ grinder with his monkey paid the village a visit. The little girl followed the music away. The child and the organ grinder disappeared, and Anna's relatives gave her up as dead.

Miss Mabee lives in Texas. She is unable to remember anything of her strange departure from the little hamlet. A few months ago she read of the Young Men's Christian Association camp at Lake Wawayanda, in Sussex county. The old Indian name brought back recollections of her childhood, and she began inquiries which led to her return.

Soldiers in Tears.

St. John's, Que., May 9.—The departure yesterday of the troops of the R.C.R., who are being replaced by cavalry from Toronto, 325 who left from the G.T.R. station for Fredericton, presented a pathetic scene, many of the men being in tears, while the station platform was crowded with citizens accompanied by the Citizens' Band, evincing their regret at the departure, and shortly expressive of the esteem in which the regiment was held.

The quartermaster and three other officers of the cavalry have arrived arrange for the reception of the troops to arrive from Toronto.

Train West Over Him.

Ingersoll, May 9.—George Burns, of Ingersoll, was run over by a C. P.R. passenger train last evening, and was almost instant. The train had just left the station, but was moving at a good rate of speed, when the engineer noticed a man lying face downwards at full length between the rails. He was unable to bring the train to a stop before the engine and all the coaches had passed over the man, and the crew went back, expecting to find a corpse. To their surprise they met Burns walking towards them. The only injury he was aimed was a bruise on the hip. It is supposed that Burns was bloodpoisoned, but was scared by the shock.

CLOSE THE THEATER.
